ELECTION BOARD COUNT ILLEGAL?

Second District of Second Ward Tallied Behind Locked Doors.

VAN HERWERDEN CASE

Justice Bergen Grants His Petition For Recount of Votes For Councilman—To Begin at 10 O'clock Next Monday Morning.

Justice James J. Bergen, of the Supreme Court, sitting at Elizabeth, yesterday afternoon, granted the petition of Cornelius vanHerwerden, through his counsel, V. W. Nash, Jr., for a recount of the vote in the Second ward, this city, where Mr. vanHerwerden, as a candidate for Common Council on the Republican ticket, was apparently defeated by Stanley E. Gunnison, Jr., the Progressive candidate, by three votes. Monday morning at 10 o'clock was fixed as the time for the recount.

The petition sets forth that 1,021 ballots were cast in the Second ward and then gives the vote cast for each candidate in each district, Mr. vanHerwerden receiving a total of 336 and Mr. Gunnison 339.

It is claimed that the petitioner is informed that in counting the ballots, the several boards erred both in the acceptance of certain unlawful ballots and in the rejection of certain other lawful ballots, and further that the board in the Second district erred by violating the eighty-ninth section of the act to regulate elections in not counting all the ballots as cast at the election in an open and public manner.

The petitioner further charges that the board in the Second district refused to admit private citizens of the city within the voting room during the counting of the ballots and that the board locked the doors of the election polling room so that representatives of the petitioner were refused admittance during the counting of the ballots; that the board refused to allow the police officer on duty at the polling place to enter during the counting of ballots; that admittance was refused to representatives of the Plainfield daily newspapers during the counting of ballots and that the board still further violated the law by allowing some person other than a member of the board to assume the duties of the inspector during the counting of ballots; that a person other than a member of the board was permitted to string ballots and that at no time during the counting of ballots were there such a number of citizens present as to hinder, delay or inconvenience the election officers in counting ballots.

The petitioner further charges that the board erred in rejecting Republican ballots as cast for him on the ground that the same were each marked ballots; the alleged markings consisting of marking a cross opposite the name of the petitioner in black ink on said ticket and in marking a cross a little outside of the square to the left of the name of the petitioner.

The petition further cites that in the first, second, third and fourth districts of the ward, the board erred in accepting certain ballots which were unlawful and by rejecting certain lawful ballots, that the unlawful ballots should have been rejected and the lawful ones received, and that Stanley E. Gunnison, Jr., was, without legal right, declared elected councilman and that Mr. vanHerwerden was lawfully elected as councilman of the Second ward.

MANY MOURNERS ATTEND FUNERAL OF W. H. HEIDELOFF

The funeral service of N. Henry Heideloff was held at the late home, 1021 West Front street, at 7:30 o'clock last night, and was largely attended by relatives and friends, including delegations from Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., and Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., of which Mr. Heideloff was a member. The lodgemen attended in a body.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, conducted the service, reading the Scripture, offering prayer and making a short address. This was followed by two vocal selections by Bertram F. Tallamy, and the Knights of Pythias conducted their ritualistic service.

The burial took place in Hillside cemetery this morning at 9:30 o'clock. The pall-bearers were six brothers of the departed: J. J. Heideloff, Edward Heideloff, George Heideloff, Fred Heideloff, Werner B. Heideloff and Philip Heideloff.

Miss Helen Davis gave a bridal party dinner at the Park Club last evening in honor of Miss Anna Garrigues, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Garrigues, and Benson Wigton, of Boston, to whom she will be married tomorrow evening. Covers were laid for twenty, including the members of the bridal party and a few friends. The clubhouse was attractively decorated with flowers and greens.

During the evening a popular program of music was given by an orchestra in charge of William E. MacClymont. Appropriate favors were distributed among the guests. There were many pleasing features to mark the affair.

HOLY CROSS SOCIAL SEASON TO BE BRISK

Series of Events Will Draw Church Members Together Frequently.

The annual election of officers held by the Guild of Holy Cross church yesterday afternoon resulted as follows: President, Rev. William S. McCoy; vice president, Mrs. Frank Allen; secretary, Mrs. Frank B. Ball; assistant secretary, Mrs. George Worth, and treasurer, Mrs. Samuel Townsend. The Executive Board elected are: Mrs. John O. Mrs. John O. Stevens was elected chairman of the entertainment committee. Miss Louise A. Davis as chairman of the Missionary chapter, and Miss Ida W. Davis as chairman of the Altar chapter.

It was decided to hold the next monthly parish social on Tuesday evening, November 26. A general invitation was extended to the public. Arrangements have been made for a program of music which will be followed by refreshments.

Some of the notices that were given out at the meeting are: The Junior Auxiliary will hold a candy sale on Monday afternoon in the parish house from 3 until 6 o'clock; Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock the Women's Auxiliary will begin its work for the coming year. Preparations were made for the coming all-day missionary conference which is to be held at Holy Cross church on Tuesday, December 3. All the churches between Elizabeth and Somerville will be represented. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock sharp to the visitors.

The reports of the different chapters of the Guild show that active work has been done in the past year and that the work of the coming year was taken up with great enthusiasm.

Announcement was made at the meeting that the vestrymen of the church had decided upon a series of five entertainments during the winter at the Park Club. The first one will be given on Friday evening, December 20. Tickets for it will be placed on sale in the near future.

Four applications for membership were accepted.

THOUGHT BURGLARS HAD CALLED AT CALKINS HOME

Leroy Woodhull, of 939 Madison avenue, was returning home at a very early hour this morning, the police records say 2 o'clock, when he noticed a front window in the home of Leighton Calkins, at 929 Madison avenue, wide open. That burglars were the cause of the raised sash, immediately decided Mr. Woodhull, and he forthwith aroused Councilman-elect Calkins from his slumbers to tell him of his suspicions. Mr. Calkins thought the same as his neighbor and he confided his suspicions to the police.

Patrolman McCarthy sped swiftly to the scene of the supposed robbery, but found nothing wrong. It was later learned that a member of the household, opening the window early in the day for ventilation neglected to close it at night.

A "Country Store and Entertainment" will be given Friday night in the church parlors of Hope Chapel, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. Merchandise, sweetmeats of all kinds, stationery, and other useful articles will be sold and a dainty supper will be served.

The feature of the affair will be the decorations to be used to give a true countrylike appearance. Corn husks will be in evidence abundantly; autumn folliage will drape the numerous tables and the table attendants will resemble real country maids, with the bashful smile and the homemade dress.

The following members of the society will have charge of the various sales tables:

LEADS A DELEGATION TO CONGRATULATE WILSON

After Which Senator Martine Acts as Host at Luncheon Party.

Trenton, Nov. 13 (Special).—President-elect Woodrow Wilson had one of the busiest days of his political career yesterday. Visits from two notable delegations formed the culmination of a Governor's Day filled with receptions, political conferences, passing upon and signing State documents, meeting with State commissions, correspondence, interviews, and so on. The two delegations in question were the "Greater Charlotte Club," of Charlotte, N. C., about fifty strong, and United States Senator James E. Martine, United States Senatorial candidate William Hughes and ten of the eleven Democratic Congressmen elected last week.

United States Senator Martine, Senatorial Candidate Hughes and the Congressmen came to the State House to pay their respects to the Governor and congratulate him on his election. Governor Wilson received them cordially and they had a pleasant chat together. Senator Martine entertained those in this delegation at lunch. The only absentee was Congressman-elect Lewis Martin, of the Sixth District, who was unable to come to Trenton. All present favored the calling of an extra session of Congress for tariff revision.

HAS ANYONE SEEN "BILL" HUMMEL?

Constable Thos. Duffy, of South Plainfield, Would Like to Know.

HE TOOK ADVANTAGE

Just Because the Constable's Back Was Turned and There Wasn't Anything to Prevent, Prisoner Escaped Through Window.

William Hummel, 56 years old, no home, after being held to await the action of the Grand Jury by Patrick F. Kaine, a South Plainfield justice of the peace, at a hearing in the village firehouse, last night, jumped through a rear window and escaped.

Constable Thomas Duffy, in charge of the prisoner, had his back turned for a few minutes, making arrangements to keep his charge over night, there being no jail, and while thus engaged Hummel made his successful break for liberty. All efforts to locate him thus far have failed.

The prisoner was arrested on charges preferred by Philip Smith and Alexander Manning, of South Plainfield, charging him with stealing large quantities of lead pipe and copper wire. In the hearing before Justice of the Peace Kaine, the prisoner admitted having a partner named Thomas O'Brien.

Justice of the Peace Kaine said the escape should make the Freeholders of Middlesex county realize that a place to keep prisoners in was needed. "If the authorities did not have to hunt for a temporary 'cell' for this prisoner," said Mr. Kaine, "the fellow would not have escaped."

BORO WOMAN ACCUSED OF ASSAULTING STEPDAUGHTER

Mrs. McClurin, 30 years old, of 214 Grove street, arrested last night for brutally assaulting her stepdaughter, appeared before Recorder Gano, this morning, who suspended sentence with a reprimand.

According to Chief Weiss, who lives at 106 Duer street, shortly after six o'clock last night, August Wolf, a cigar maker, of 225 Grove street, came running to him, saying that Mrs. McCulrin had struck her stepdaughter with a chair, and that the girl was lying in the yard in an unconscious condition. While on the ground, he said, the step-mother also kicked the girl several times.

Chief Weiss investigated, while Wolf ran for a doctor. Mrs. McClurin, evidently becoming scared at her act, ran from the house. She was arrested later in the evening, however, by Marshall Herman.

Before Recorder Gano this morning she said her husband paid more attention to his daughter than to her, and this so enraged her that the attack followed. Mr. McClurin said his wife had a very jealous nature and a bad temper.

According to neighbors, Mrs. McClurin often attacks her stepdaughter for apparently nothing at all.

WOMAN'S LIFE COST CENTRAL R. R. $7,700

New Brunswick, Nov. 13.—Formal verdicts were taken in court yesterday in the suits of Samuel Zucker, both personally and as administrator of his wife's estate, and of Eugene Nauheun against the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey. As was stated last week these suits were setled out of court, but it was necessary to have the verdicts given by a jury, by agreement of counsel.

Samuel Zucker will recoved $3,700, the estate of Mrs. Louise Ernestine Zucker will receive $4,000 and Eugene Nauheun, a chauffeur, will receive $7,350.

Mrs. Zucker was killed in an automobile accident near Bound Brook during the summer when her auto was run down by an inspection train filled with officials of the road. The chauffeur was confined to the Somerset Hospital for some time.

WILSON, TOO, HAS VISION OF EQUALITY

Touches on One Evil of Special Privilege at a Dedication.

Trenton, Nov. 13.—Governor Wilson motored to the State Home for Girls in the outskirts of Trenton yesterday afternoon to attend the dedication of a new dormitory to be known as the Wilson Cottage. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson and Miss Jessie Wilson. David T. Kenney, of Plainfield, a member of the Board of Managers of the institution, took a prominent part in the exercises. Among the 200 present was Judge Atwater, of Union county, Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, delivered the benediction.

In a brief address the Governor discussed the general responsibilities which, he said, rested upon State charitable institutions.

In part the Governor said: "The great argument (you will not suspect me of touching upon a party question) against special privilege is simply the argument that it gives one set of people an advantage that others do not enjoy, and therefore is not a basis of moral equality or of equality of opportunity, so that society is constantly studying its moral responsibilities. Public questions would be almost uninteresting if they were merely material questions. America would be deeply uninteresting if it did not have its life and being in a conception.

"We have had a vision of brotherhood, of mutual helpfulness, of equal rights. We are going to spread a great policy over this continent which will embody these things and make them real. We are going to keep our doors wide open, so that those who seek this thing from the ends of the earth may come and enjoy it."

George Fatouros, a Front street fruit dealer, and a native of Athens, Greece, will sail the early part of next week for the scene of the war against Turkey. WILSON LED 'T. R.' IN UNION CO. BY 1,226

Taft's Vote Over 3,000 Behind Roosevelt's in Once G. O. P. Stronghold.

Elizabeth, Nov. 13.—The Union County Board of Elections has completed its count of the vote for Presidential electors in the county. The highest vote given for electors follow:

Wilson, 9,695; Roosevelt, 8,429; Taft, 5,421; Socialist, 1,084; Socialist Labor, 45; Prohibition, 82.

This count gives Wilson a lead of 1,266 over Roosevelt. The Progressive vote was 3,008 over that of the Republican and the Democratic vote was 4,274 over that of the Republican. The canvass of the Assembly and Freeholders' vote is now in progress.

Surrogate-elect George T. Parrot was sworn in before Judge E. S. Atwater, this morning, former Governor Foster M. Voorhees and J. H. Alexander being the bondsmen in the sum of $10,000 each. There was a report that inasmuch as Mr. Parrot had been sworn in, it would prevent James P. Kelley, the Democratic candidate, from securing a recount of the votes, but there is nothing to substantiate this according to the opinion of lawyers at the county seat.

ADJUDGED NOT GUILTY OF STRIKING WOMAN

Elizabeth, Nov. 13.—A verdict of not guilty was returned by a jury in the Court of Common Pleas yesterday afternoon in the case of the State against Raffe Tozzi, of Plainfield, wso was indicted by the Grand Jury for assault and battery on Mrs. Emma Coffey, in Plainfield on August 25. The jury was out for two hours and it was believed at first that there would be a disagreement. That the verdict of not guilty should have been returned caused some surprise.

Tozzi was accused of striking Mrs. Coffey in the face with his first, rendering her unconscious. Eye witnesses testified to having seen the blow struck. The defense denied the charge and contended that Tozzi, after ordering the woman off his property, merely put his hand on her shoulder, and that she slipped and fell, striking her face on the steps of the house.

MRS. R. H. HOOD SEEKS A DIVORCE

Husband Denies Indiscretions and Puts on Record an Odd Letter.

WANTED ESTATE BACK

Sued in Chancery for Recovery of $90,000 Property He Gave Wife—Husband a Retired Civil Engineer—Married Eleven Years Ago.

Prominent New Jersey families are involved in the divorce suit brought by Mrs. Frances Sparks Hood against her husband, Richard Haden Hood. The couple have resided in Stelle avenue, this city, for about five years and are noted for their wealth and wealthy connections.

In her petition, Mrs. Hood says that they were married July 31, 1901, at Kennebunkport, Me., and lived together until September 8 last. She charges indiscretions with a young woman who has moved in the fashionable society circles in this city, at the Hotel Charlton in London and on the high seas on board the Kronprizessen Cecille.

Mr. Hood has filed an answer in which he claims to have received the following note from his wife: "You can do anything you feel like doing with anybody and I have the same privilege."

He says that she absented herself between June 21 last, and October 4 and he made no attempt to learn anything of her movements. He admits motoring at all times to respectable places of amusements, and visiting theatres, restaurants, museums, gardens and gaieties, such as any father would take his daughter to.

Mrs. Hood, who is occupying the family mansion, was in New York today and Mr. Hood, who has removed to another part of the city, could not be found. When the latter's counsel, Isaac P. Runyon, was asked about the matter, he refused to say anything other than "the woman in the case" was a fictitious person. He added, however, that Mr. Hood's answer filed at Trenton clearly sets forth his defense.

McCarter & English, of Newark, and Charles A. Reed, of this city, are counsel for Mrs. Hood.

Charging his wife with failure to keep an agreement for the conveyance to him of $90,000 worth of property in this city, Mr. Hood brought a suit against his wife in the Court of Chancery in the latter part

CHANCE TO GET HANDSOME CHRISTMAS PRESENTS FREE

If You Would Like to Have a Superb Player-Piano or One Without the Automatic Attachment, in Your Home, Lodge, Club or Sunday School Read This Magnificent Offer of the Daily Press.

Throughout the city of Plainfield and in Dunellen, Bound Brook and other towns nearby, individuals, lodges and others forming various organizations are interested in the contest inaugurated by the Plainfield Daily Press, which will result in some person or organization receiving a handsome piano-player and also a superb piano as Christmas presents. Never before has a contest, in which everyone who takes part can share in the benefits, been introduced in this vicinity, and that it is a chief topic of discussion goes without saying. By the time the nominations are made next week, there will be a list of active contestants, all striving for the prizes, and for ten per cent. cash commission as well.

Although the details of the offer have been printed in the Daily Press in the last two issues, and appear elsewhere in an advertisement today, they are briefly repeated here for the benefit of any whose attention they escaped. One player piano, valued at $525, with cover, stool and ten dollars' worth of rolls for playing, manufactured by the Braumuller Piano Company, one of the best known makers in New York, will be given to the individual or organization turning in the largest number of votes between the present time and December 21. A regular piano, without the self-playing attachment, but equal in every other respect to the automatic one, will be given to the person or organization receiving the second largest number of votes. Vote coupons, good for one vote, will be found in each issue of the Daily Press until December 14, and votes will be given according to the schedule which appears in the advertisement elsewhere for all paid in advance subscriptions for a period of six months and a year. In addition to the pianos, each person who enters the contest and gets five or more yearly subscribers will receive a ten per cent. commission at the end of the contest, on all business turned in. Cash commissions will not be paid to contestants who turn in less than five subscribers, as such cannot be considered active participants.

Both of the pianos are on exhibition at Joseph Sattels' warerooms, 108 North avenue, directly opposite the Daily Press office, where free demonstration may be had. A number of expert pianists have been in to look them over since they were placed on show yesterday morning, and all have declared their interest in the contest, and have said that the instruments, especially when the cash commission is taken into consideration, are well worth striving for.

The motor in the piano-player is one of the simplest, and the strongest on the market, being the latest style devised. So carefully is the motor balanced that a child of six can operate it with no danger of putting it out of order. There are homes in Plainfield today where these instruments are in use, and their owners speak in the highest terms of praise of them.

If you have not already decided to enter the contest look over the conditions in the advertisement, see how easy it is to earn a little Christmas money, then call at the Press office for subscription blanks and sample copies, and start your campaign. It is not difficult to get subscribers. That was proven by the European contest held last winter, when nearly a thousand were secured in about nine weeks of effort. Get busy at once, and have your friends promise to give their subscriptions to you. Be well repaid for your efforts, and at the same time get in line for one of these handsome pianos.

CHINESE WOMAN VOTING.

Oriental Female Snapped at the Polls In San Francisco.

The Chinese women of California who were born in that state have the right to vote, just the same as their American sisters. As the time approached for presidential election many Chinese women duly registered. On election day they went to the polls and voted. They did not turn out in any great numbers, but attracted considerable attention. The majority voted for the Roosevelt electors.

CHILD SLAYER TO BE FREED.

Kings County Man Twice Aided by Commutation of Sentence.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 13.—After serving twenty years in Sing Sing for a murder committed in 1892, Peter Schultz of Kings county is to be freed. Governor Dix commuted his life sentence to twenty years and fourteen days, so that the state parole board may order his parole when it meets next week.

Schultz was convicted of killing a baby three months old and was sentenced to be put to death, but the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

The state has established a policy of releasing life convicts on parole when they have served twenty years, the minimum sentence now imposed for conviction of murder, second degree.

Colonel's Plurality In California Is Wiped Out on Official Count.

San Francisco, Nov. 13.—Woodrow Wilson swung ahead of Theodore Roosevelt by fifteen votes, according to telegraphed reports of the official count of the state now being made.

Five precincts remain to be heard from. Of these four probably favor Wilson and one Roosevelt.

The heaviest upset in form was in Butte county, where the complete official count, as returned to Democratic headquarters, gave Wilson a plurality of 659, an increase of 323 for Wilson over the previous figures.

MEN'S CLUB HOST OF CHURCHWOMEN

Hope Chapel is the Scene of a Delightful Parish Gathering.

The Men's Club of Hope chapel royally entertained a large gathering of women members of the parish church last night at a "ladies' night." The executive committee of the club acted as host, and after a long program of entertainment had been enjoyed, served as dainty a lunch as ever woman prepared.

The first number of the program was a piano solo, very ably rendered by Thomas Jones, which was followed by a recitation by Mrs. G. Stuart Simons. Two quartets, consisting of John Slorah, Thomas Jones, Charles J. Vincent and Edward Llewellyn and the Misses Edna and Eunice Eckert, John Slorah and Edward Llewellyn, furnished several selections during the evening, to the delight of all. Several reels of moving pictures were also shown.

The executive committee was composed of Thomas Hendry, John Slorah, Harry King, George H. Beiser and Frank Rimmer.

The Split and Normal

Machine was one of the first big revolutions in adding machine construction. We took an ordinary adding machine and so arranged it that you could split it between certain columns so as to carry simultaneously different kinds of work on the same machine. For instance, in statement work, you wanted to put the month, date and amount. All right, you split the machine into three parts; put in the month, the date of the month and the amount and the only thing you added was the amount—a great idea. We have sold thousands of them.

Of course, we have had imitators, but then we have more skilled imitators than all our imitators put together.

THOUGHT TRANSFERENCE.

Wireless Telegraphy May Point to the "Why" of Telepathy.

Accepting telepathy as an established fact, the problem remains—how are we to explain it? What is the mechanism by which one person is able to transmit messages directly and instantaneously to another person, although they may be half the world apart?

To this question it must frankly be admitted no positive answer can as yet be returned. But some interesting hypotheses have lately been advanced, not by mere theorists, but by eminent men of science, who, themselves affirming the actuality of telepathy, have given much thought to the problem of its mode of operation.

Sir William Crookes, for example, calling attention to the marvelous but undisputed facts of the real vibration as evidenced by the phenomena of wireless telegraphy and the Roentgen rays, urges that here we have quite possibly an adequate explanation of the mystery of telepathy of a wholly naturalistic basis—that is to say, a basis which enables us to accept telepathy without dislocating our entire conception of the physical universe.

"It seems to me," he suggests, "that these rays (the Roentgen rays) may have a possible way of transplanting intelligence which, with a few reasonable postulates, may supply the key to much that is obscure in physical research. Let it be assumed that these rays, or rays of even higher frequency, can pass into the brain and act on some nervous center there. Let it be conceived that the brain contains a center which uses these rays as the vocal chords use sound vibrations (both being under the command of intelligence) and sends them out with the velocity of light to impinge on the receiving ganglion of another brain. In this same way the phenomena of telepathy and the transmission of intelligence from one sensitive to another through long distances seem to come into the domain of law and can be grasped."

This undoubtedly is the explanation that most strongly commends itself to those scientists who courageously acknowledge their belief in telepathy. Nor do they see any objection to it in the fact that people apparently are affected by the telepathic impulse only at certain times, for the brain of both sender and receiver may conceivably, on the analogy of wireless telegraphy, be set to transmit and receive telepathic communications only when attuned to vibrations of a certain amplitude.—H. Addington Bruce in Hampton Magazine.

Modern Husbands.

Lady Nevill in her reminiscences talks of the decadence of the day as reflected in the lives of women. "The fact is," she says, "that in a great many cases modern woman—in England, I mean—is spoiled. Many have no interests and too much time on their hands, with the result that they will take up some fad. As for the well to do, a great number of them now seem to completely dominate their husbands. This struck the old shah of Persia very much. "It seems to me,' said he, 'that an English or American husband is nothing better than a sort of butler.'"

He's also the guy that put a dent in the President.

There was nothing to the election but Wilson—that's all!

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The Camp Fire Girls have received their rings. They are silver and bear a secret emblem.

The boys' basketball team is practicing steadily and hard for the game next Monday at Kearny. Dunning will be out of the game until December 1, but his place at centre will be filled by Roy Love or "Duke" Van Mater.

The Camp Fire Girls will hold an important meeting and social time at the home of Miss Edna Green tonight. All members are urged to be present. This new organization needs the support of all its members.

The senior class has set December 19 as the night for the annual Christmas entertainment. It will consist of a sketch, knocking the members of the two upper classes, and informal dancing.

Edson Day made his first appearance as a basketball substitute last Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. Although Edson is small he is swift and accurate and will probably make good.

The junior class pins have at last arrived. Everyone is perfectly satisfied as the pins are as neat as any ever purchased in High School. The class bought a pin for their teacher, Miss Terry. Every member of the class "chipped in" to pay for it.

Manager Elsie Debele is preparing a fine schedule for the girls' basketball team. As soon as a hall is secured regular practice and tryouts will begin.

The junior play committee has cancelled December 13 for their play and the date is now undecided.

BORO COMPLAINS OF GROVE STREET BRIDGE

Somerville, Nov. 13 (Special).—The Somerset County Board of Freeholders devoted nearly its entire session yesterday to the consideration of bills and consequently very little time was devoted to business.

One of the bills paid was that of the contractor for the new bridge, known as the Riddle bridge, at Liberty Corner. The contractor had filed a claim for $620.33, which was $43.90 more than the contract called for, the extra sum being demanded because of being held up in starting the work. The Board refused to allow the extra amount.

A communication was received from the Borough Council of North Plainfield, complaining of the condition of the bridge over Green brook on Grove street.

Freeholder Brown, of Somerville, requested the members to set a time to visit the bridge over the Raritan, at Somerville. This is the bridge that was considerably damaged by an auto truck last week. Similar requests were made with reference to the bridges at Finderne and Raritan, besides several in Hillsborough township, including the bridge at South Somerville, known as the Hoopock bridge. The latter Mr. Duke agreed to improve, but the county could not come to any understanding with him. The members will view the structures Friday.

A petition was received for the improvement of the road from South Bound Brook to Weston, on the west side of the Raritan River, but as the necessary approval of the Franklin Township Committee did not accompany the application the petition was withdrawn.

The County Collector was authorized to pay the election bills of the county after approval of the auditing committee, which will meet next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock for that purpose.

The finance committee reported the following amounts as having been paid to date: Courts, $14,216.56; county jail, $3,128.90; county buildings and grounds, $2,851.69; lunacy, $8,869.95; coroners, $825.86; stationery, $1,877.05; salaries, $14,415.66; incidentals, $3,291.55; soldiers' burials, $425; county superintendent and school examiners, $799.45; bridges, total, $39,141.33; per diem and salary, $5,765.68; interest, $9,168.49; surplus revenue interest to schools, $2,869.09; elections, $3,107.75; Somerset Hospital, $1,125; repairs to roads, $19,933.69; new roads, $99,151.55; total, $230,964.09.

CRESCENT AVENUE SOCIETY GIVES $100 TO MISSIONARY

Miss Mary Runkle led the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church in the church parlors yesterday afternoon. The subject of her talk was "The Equipment of the Field." She was ably assisted by the Misses Fredrica Mead, Elsie Martin and Beatrice Hedges. Mrs. Zelle read a report of the Synodical Meeting held at Englewood.

The society raised $100 over and above expenses and amounts pledged, which was presented to Rev. Gilbert Lovell, a missionary supported by the church in China, to help pay for a chemistry cabinet for his mission school.

Mr. Lovell, who was present at the meeting, expressed his gratification.

A letter from Miss Morris, a missionary in India, whom the church supports, was read by the secretary.

PLAN THREE EVENTS.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church held its regular business meeting at the Vincent chapel yesterday afternoon and plans for three events were made. They were the second Current Event meeting to be held on Tuesday, November 26, in which five societies will be represented, a sale of useful fancy articles to be held at the home of Mrs. Henry A. McGee on Orchard avenue, on Wednesday, December 4, and the regular church supper to be held in the banquet room of the church on Tuesday evening, December 10.

KING'S DAUGHTERS TO MEET.

The City Union of the King's Daughters will hold its semi-annual meeting Thursday afternoon, November 21, at 3 o'clock at the Crescent Avenue church. Dr. DeLaney Barbour, of the Catherine Mission Day Nursery, New York, will make the principal address and there will be a special musical program. The public is cordially invited to be present.

WHAT A RECOUNT MEANS.

Very few men interested in politics realize what an enormous amount of time and money is consumed in making a recount of the vote. It is an important factor just now in the contest begun to settle the right to the surrogate's office in our county. The present incumbent, it appears on the face of the returns as certified to by the County Board of Elections, has won by a paltry seventy-two votes and his chief opponent is not satisfied with the correctness of the counts made by the hundred and more district boards. Hence he demands a recount and the task will be begun next week. If the ballots contained in four boxes are examined in a day and it seems hardly likely that the Board can keep up to that record during the entire work, it will take twenty-six days to complete the job. Interruptions will necessarily occur for using all speed there is bound to be delays. Many of these will be made by the respective counsel of the opposing candidates. Then allowance must be made for the final arguments of the lawyers and in all probability a day at least must be set aside for this right. It is not an exaggeration to say that in all thirty days will be devoted to the entire recount. The expense to the contestant, should he lose, will nearly approximate $2,000, not figuring on his lawyer's fee. Should the contestant win, however, the expense must be borne by the county.

It is but right that the Common Council should raise the pay of members of both the police and fire department. The salaries paid these faithful city employees have not increased in proportion to the advances in the cost of living. The only way to get good men for such irksome service is to make the employment worth while and the advances are not too much; the fact is they are too little, but then there is reason to believe that further increases will be made at no distant time.

Extra session means extra work; Democrats are not inclined to shirk. —New York World.

We do not imagine there will be a great difficulty in persuading Democrats to make the sacrifice of accepting public office. In fact, we know of one or two in our neighborhood who would consider it but a patriotic duty to take any high office offered them by the next President.

Have you read the offer of the Daily Press to give a player-piano and a piano without the automatic attachment as Christmas presents? It should interest you for either one would be most useful in the home, in the lodge or club room or in the church or Sunday school. Particulars concerned in this remarkable offer will be found on page seven of this issue.

With the coming year, may we expect to see some action taken by the Common Council looking to the adoption of a municipal system of garbage and ashes collection and disposal. Big improvements come slowly but it does seem that there should be more haste in establishing this sorely needed service.

It is a very kindly, a very thoughtful act of Mr. Taft to invite Mr. and Mrs. Wilson to the White House as the guests of the President and his wife. However much one may disagree with Mr. Taft's political principles and policies, all must pay him respect as a gracious gentleman.

The memorial tablet unveiled at the Crescent Avenue church in honor of the late Rev. Dr. John C. Bliss is a fitting tribute of respect to the memory of one who labored long and zealously for the spread of Christ's kingdom.

Some Incidents of the Recent Election

PRESIDENT ELECT WILSON is not alone among his predecessors in failing of a majority in the popular vote while commanding an enormous plurality and most of the electoral college.

Within the time when electors have been chosen directly by the people John Quincy Adams in 1824 gained the presidency without a majority either of the popular or the electoral vote. James K. Polk in 1844 had nearly two-thirds of the electoral college, but a minority in the popular vote. Zachary Taylor in 1848 was outvoted by the Democrats and Free Soilers.

Franklin Pierce had nearly three-fourths of the college in the great Democratic sweep of 1852, but a popular majority of only 63,000. Buchanan in 1856 was in a popular minority.

Abraham Lincoln in 1860 was heavily in a popular minority. Hayes in 1876 incked both a popular plurality and majority. Garfield in 1880 had a plurality of about 7,000 and was in a minority of over 300,000. Cleveland in 1884 was in a small minority, though barely elected, and in 1892 was in a minority of nearly 1,000,000 when the Democrats swept the country. Harrison in 1888 was elected by a minority of the total popular vote.

The net results of the election included many interesting facts, among them the following:

The election of Wilson and Marshall, the Democratic candidates for president and vice president, by the largest electoral majority ever returned.

A Democratic majority in the next house of representatives more than twice as large as in the present house

The election of nineteen Democratic governors to replace Republicans.

The number of states carried by Wilson is also the largest number ever carried by a candidate for the presidency. Only once before in the history of the country has a president ever carried so large a proportion of states. That was in 1852, when Franklin Pierce carried all but four of the thirty-one states then in the Union and secured 254 electoral votes to 42 for Scott.

Governor Wilson has more electoral votes than were ever cast for all the candidates combined in any election up to 1892. His opponents divided only the increase in the number since then.

Women gained victories in four states—Kansas, Arizona, Michigan and Oregon, where constitutional amendments conferring the franchise upon them were adopted.

Governor Wilson was the only candidate to carry his own state. He also carried the states of both Taft and Roosevelt.

This is the first time Massachusetts has gone anti-Republican or anti-Whig on the presidency since time out of mind.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

As has always been the custom in former years the Seniors, Juniors and Sophomores of Plainfield High School will give the Freshman a reception in the school auditorium and library. It will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. On coming into the High School, Freshmen always feel lost and are a trifle in awe of the upperclassmen. This custom of an annual Freshman reception is just what is needed to put the new pupils at ease. There will be dancing for those caring for it and all sorts of games for the ones who do not. None feels out of place there because of the committees waiting to introduce any boy or girl who perhaps has come from an out-of-town school to P. H. C. to his or her clasmates.

The reception, which will break up early, so that there will be no dissatisfaction on the part of the parents, is entirely for Freshman and strongly helps the "class spirit" feeling along.

The members of the Senior, Junior and Sophomore classes on the committee in charge of the affair are:

Seniors—The Mises Pauline Gates, Margaret Russel, Ada Woodworth, Edith Ayres, Annette McGinley and Dorothy Cameron; Messrs. Joseph Carty, Felix Janke, Fred Krom, Harold McDowell, John Ryerson, and Esty Foster.

Juniors—The Misses Madeline Moy, Constance Vesey, Gladys Wiltsie, Clair Britton and Celia Cotrell; Messrs. Arthur Van Zandt, Eynon White, John Cottrell, Harold Lounsbury, Leslie aRndolph and Robert Gavett.

Sophomores—The Misses Dorothy Simons, Anne Smith, Lillian Fountain, Adelaide Cole, Helen Davenport, Edith Martin and Margaret Duncan; Mesrs. Daniel McNamee, Henry Davis, Curtis Dall, Henry Burdick and Garrett DuBois. Edson Woodhull, the president of the Senior class, is the chairman of the whole committee.

THE FORUM.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

It occurred to me just now, after reading your editorial on "Wise Mr. Taft," in today's issue, what a comfort it would be to you, could what you say of Mr. Taft and Mr. Cleveland, on their retirement, be said of Theodore Roosevelt, whom you championed so persistently during the recent campaign, and who after his occupancy of the Presidential chair for two terms, as "the head of the greatest Republic in the world," did not retire to private life, as his illustrious predecessors did and will, but inserted himself again into public affairs, as the most blatent egotist this country has ever produced in its political history, and in marked contrast to the honors that were paid to Mr. Cleveland as our most distinguished private citizen, and will be paid to William Howard Taft after his retirement. Theodore Roosevelt must go down in history as the most greedy political aspirant our civilization has ever produced, a repudiator of his most solemn vows, a traitor to his former dearest friend, and doubly traitorous to the party and the country, from whom he derived all the honors ever bestowed upon him.

I have no objections whatever to the publication of the foregoing, as the views of one who is grateful and loyal to the party and the country from whom we all have derived our manifold blessings.

Very truly yours,
ARTHUR L. TITSWORTH.

Nov. 12, 1912.

[Mr. Titsworth of course is entitled to his opinion on all matters, but we cannot resist the temptation to inquire when and in what edition the Press "persistently championed" the candidacy of Theodore Roosevelt. We have no recollection ofthis newspaper at any time having editorially advocated Mr. Roosevelt's election, and columns of publicity matter sent out by the Progressive League from National and State headquarters were rejected, as they were from the Democrats and Republicans. As for Mr. Roosevelt being "the most blatent egotist this country has ever produced in its political history," Mr. Titsworth must remember that such is not the opinion of over four million of his fellow men and women who cast their ballots for him a week ago Tuesday. We hold no brief for Theodore Roosevelt but adhering to its policy, the Daily Press believes in giving him "the square deal" just as much as it has given Woodrow Wilson and would extend to Mr. Titsworth or any other citizen.—Editors.]

SHAPIRO PICKS OUT 4 GUNMEN

Murder Car Driver Identifies Them as Slayers.

RECITES SHOOTING STORY

Says Mother Made Him Tell Truth "Gyp the Blood" Pointed Gun at Head, Commanding Him to "Drive on, You Jew!"

New York, Nov. 13.—"Gyp the Blood," "Whitey" Lewis, "Lefty Louie" and "Dago Frank" were positively identified by William Shapiro, the driver of the gray "murder car," as the actual assassins of Herman Rosenthal.

The murder of "Big Jack" Zelig recently, so it was stated officially after Shapiro had left the stand, had relieved Shapiro of so much of his former fear of being killed by Zelig gangsters if he identified the four gunmen as his passengers that at last he decided to take the stand and identify them.

A message from "Big Jack" himself, so it was learned further, had come direct to Shapiro in his cell that Zelig and his gang would kill the chauffeur unless he persisted in his first stories that he did not know the four murderers whom he had driven to and from the shooting. But even with Zelig dead Shapiro, while waiting outside the courtroom to be called in to make his damaging identifications of the four defendants, shook and chattered in terror.

"They'll kill me for it," he had whined again and again, but when he came into the courtroom his voice was firmer than any of the witnesses who had preceded him during the day, and he told his story of the murder in a straightforward way that seemed to make a powerful impression upon the jury.

Gunmen's Smiles Disappear.

And Shapiro's testimony, especially when he walked straight to the gunmen and called their names one by one, drove away the last of the boyish smirks and the occasional sneers with which the gunmen, with the exception of the deep thinking "Leftie Louie," had greeted the testimony at times of two other witnesses who earlier in the day had identified them as murderers. They huddled together, and their faces paled perceptibly. "Dago Frank" Cirofici drew back from the chauffeur's pointing finger with a nervous involuntary movement and half raised his right palm outward as if to ward some terrible thing away.

He had been promised no immunity, Shapiro swore before he made the identifications, for telling his story on the stand. Justice Goff explained to the chauffeur before he began to testify that inasmuch as he was under indictment for the murder himself he could refuse to answer any and all questions without so much as giving a reason for his refusal to answer. But he answered not only the district attorney's questions steadily, but seemed equally eager to answer when the gunmen's lawyer, Charles G. F. Wahle, tried to pull down the story Shapiro had told. He had been promised no reward, he swore, and the reason he now for the first time was giving the names of his passengers in the gray automobile was, he said, because his mother had pleaded with him to tell on the stand all that he knows of the murder.

He made the same confession and had named the four gunmen, said Shapiro before leaving the stand, the day after Rosenthal was murdered to Lawyer A. J. Levy. Before Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty about the same time and at the coroner's inquest later he also swore he had denied that he knew who the gunmen were because of his fear that "they would kill me."

Gun Pointed at Head.

When he reached the case of "Gyp the Blood," Shapiro turned to this gunman and said:

"That is the man who pointed a gun at my head as we sped away from the scene and said, 'Drive on, you Jew.'"

The other witnesses who walked to the defendants' table and picked out "Gyp," "Lefty," "Whitey" and "Dago Frank" as the murderers of Rosenthal were Louis Krause, a Coney Island waiter, and Morris Luban, now under indictment in New Jersey. But both of these witnesses had made identifications of some of the gunmen during the Becker trial, and, although the main points of their stories had not been successfully contradicted, their testimony seemed to make less of an impression upon the audience than the identifications by Shapiro. The chauffeur's testimony was the sensation of the trial so far, and it made him at once the state's star witness in the trial, as Jack Rose had been in the Becker case.

SLAIN PREMIER'S BODY IS LYING IN STATE

Anarchist Assassin Is Still Alive In Hospital.

Madrid, Nov. 13.—This city is stunned at the assassination of Premier Jose Canalejas. The body of the murdered premier was removed to the chamber today, where it now lies in state.

Infante Fernando and other exalted personages visited the ministry and paid homage to the dead man. Among those who journeyed to the ministry were the American and the other foreign ambassadors. The dead statesman's widow came at 5 o'clock last evening, everybody leaving the hall while she was present. The crowd manifested its sympathy for her on her arrival and leavetaking.

There was a great gathering in the chamber, and all the deputies were in mourning. The clerk of the house read the formal announcement of the murder and Marquis Preto followed, speaking in a voice which he was hardly able to control. He said he would defer his eulogy for another occasion. The president of the chamber then paid a tribute to Senor Canalejas and declared that everybody in parliament would unite in the duty of protecting society from its enemies. The deputies cheered, showing unanimous sympathy. A similar scene was enacted in the senate.

The police are extremely active. The assassin has been reported dead, but it is believed that he is still alive. His name is Manuel Pardinas Sarelato, to which some statements add the fourth name of Martin. The man's birth certificate was found in his pocket, showing that he was thirty-two years old and was born in El Grado, which is in the province of Huesca. Other documents were found, but their contents are not known. It is supposed, rather than really known, that the man was an anarchist.

GREET MRS. CLEVELAND.

But Wells Trustees Fail to Elect Her Fiance as President.

Auburn, N. Y., Nov. 13.—The Wells college board of trustees failed to name a successor to George Morgan Ward, who resigned last May.

Mrs. Grover Cleveland and John Hays Hammond were among the distinguished members present at the meeting. Mrs. Cleveland was showered with congratulations on the recent announcement of her engagement to Professor Preston, and the college girls hoped that the naming of Professor Preston as president would pleasantly solve the problem.

Secretary Robert L. Zabriskie, however, said after the meeting:

"That is only a rumor about Professor Preston. He was not officially mentioned as a candidate."

New Cure For Appendicitis?

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Cure of appendicitis soon will be commonly effected without an operation, according to Dr. Albert Abrams of San Francisco, who addressed a medical convention here. Dr Abrams said the discovery was made by pressing on a certain vertebra, which had the effect of straightening the sigmoid flexure, a loop in the large intestine.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pierson, of Myrtle avenue, contemplate removing to California this winter, where they will reside permanently.

Sit here

—at the Pianola Piano—and play the music you like to hear,

How often have you longed to sit at the piano and play it with your own hands, instead of merely listening to others?

Perhaps you would like to play "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee" and airs of that description, or "The Pink Lady" and "The Spring Maid," or possibly Liszt's "2nd Hungarian Rhapsodie," Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" or other equally famous pieces.

You can play them—any of them—all of them, without the drudgery of learning, without the months and years of practice. You can do it this very day on

A genuine Pianola Player-piano may be purchased for $550 and on payments of only $3.50 weekly.

It is a mistake to assume because the Pianola Player-piano is pre-eminent in its field, that you have to pay extra for its exclusive advantages.

The Pianola Piano

You can sit at the Pianola Piano as soon as you choose and play every musical work of interest ever written. Although the Pianola Piano supplies a technical ability that years of practice could not give, it is actually your mind and your hands which, through the intensely susceptible expression devices of the Pianola Piano, endow the music with life and expression.

Do not think that every piano-playing instrument is a "PIANOLA player-piano." This name only applies to one specific instrument—the only one that can give you the advantage of the Metrostyle, Themodist, and other exclusive features of the Pianola. The Pianola player-piano is a combination of the celebrated Pianola with the famous Steinway, Weber, Steck, Wheelock, Stuyvesant, and Stroud Pianos. Prices from $550 upwards. Easy monthly payments if desired.

MRS. HOOD SEEKS DIVORCE

of August. He asked the court to make a decree directing her to execute the proper deeds conveying the real estate to him. At that time any marital trouble was denied by Mr. Hood.

The Hoods were married in 1901. The complainant alleged that in 1908 he bought from Mr. and Mrs. Philip VanWyck and Mr. and Mrs. George A. Chapman real estate for $38,600. Part of the property is on Steile avenue, and the balance is at the intersection of Field avenue and Randolph road.

Mr. Hood said that he and his wife have no children and hence his brothers and sisters are his heirs-at-law. Because of litigation between him and his brothers and sisters over the settlement of their father's estate, and also because he desired to prevent them from taking his estate in the event of his death intestate, Mr. Hood claimed he and his wife had a mutual understanding wherein he was to cause the deeds of conveyance from the VanWycks and Chapmans to be executed in the wife's name, so that in case of the complainant's early demise, his wife would own the valuable property instead of his brothers and sisters. He charged that his wife agreed to this plan, and also agreed, he said, to execute the necessary deeds putting the property in her husband's name whenever he so desired.

Mr. Hood said he duly purchased the real estate in April, 1908, for the $38,600, and according to the agreement the deeds were made in his wife's name, but were delivered to him and ever since have been held by him. He declared that he intended the premises to be their permanent home and in order to fit them to suit his tastes he has spent more than $50,000 thereon, making the total cost about $90,000. Recently he conceived the desire to have the property placed in his own name and applied to his wife for the execution of the deeds, but he charged that she refused to execute them.

Following this refusal Hood filed his bill of complaint to compel her to keep the agreement and execute the deeds placing the real estate in his name. He was represented by Isaac N. Runyon as his solicitor. A demurrer was filed later by Mrs. Hood's counsel.

Mr. Hood's wife was formerly Miss Frances Sparks, a member of an exclusive Philadelphia family. He is a retired civil engineer, having made a fortune, it is said, through an invention. Their romance, it is reported, began when Miss Sparks was returning from a trip to Egypt with her mother and the couple met on shipboard.

GAVE UP CAREER TO SPREAD CHRISTIANITY

J. M. Clinton Tells How He Came to Go to Chinese Field.

J. M. Clinton, the Y. M. C. A. worker, of China and Japan, who has spoken in several churches in this city within the past week, addressed the Men's Club of the Congregational church last night. His topic was "The Young Men in New China.'

After speaking of several recent historical changes of the Chinese Empire, he said, "Ten years ago when I gave up my practice of law to go to China as secretary of the Y. M. C. A., it struck me as being peculiar. From early childhood, as far as I can remember it had always been my ambition to become a great lawyer and you can imagine the struggle I had, when I was confronted with the request to go to China, give up my life career as a lawyer, leave my friends, and to make this sacrifice (if such I can now call it) after long years of preparation for the bar. But since I have made my decision I have spent the happiest days of my life in the foreign fields far from my native land, but glorying in the fact that I was extending the Kingdom of God. I shall never regret going to China."

The speaker then continued saying the young men of China, especially the college students who had graduated from our institutions of learning in this country, were leading in the new life of China. He said the old "examination halls of China" had been done away with since the Revolution and that educational system based on that used in the United States had been adopted.

Speaking of the great change coming over China since she was made a republic he said the "discovery" of the new China, in his opinion, was a greater event than the discovery of America. The natural resources of China next came in for discussion. Mr. Clinton said in one of the central provinces of China, experts and engineers from England and Germany, who had made investigations say there is enough coal in the mines of this one province to supply the world for one hundred years.

Before closing Mr. Clinton showed a flag which was carried throughout the Revolution, presented to him by some Chinese student war leaders. He also exhibited the new flag of the Chinese nation, the red, white, yellow, purple and black.

WILL ASK WILSONS TO THE WHITE HOUSE

Washington, Nov. 13.—President and Mrs. Taft will ask President-elect and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson to be guests at the White House. The President wants to ascertain before sending the invitation when it will be most convenient for the President-elect and Mrs. Wilson to come. It is likely that the invitation will be given at the time the President-elect goes to Staunton, Va., his birthplace, to attend a jubilee in his honor. This will be Christmas week, and the President probably will ask them to stop over here after the jubilee.

MISS HOLCOMBE BECOMES BRIDE OF B. R. VAN FLEET

Somerville, Nov. 13 (Special).—A pretty late fall wedding was solemnized last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Holcombe, on West Main street, when their daughter, Miss Annabelle Holcombe, was married to Burroughs R. Van Fleet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abram T. Van Fleet, also of Somerville. The ceremony took place in the spacious parlors of the bride's home, in the presence of a large number of invited relatives and friends. The Rev. A. A. Pfanstiehl, pastor of the Second Reformed church, was the officiating minister, and the couple stood in front of a bank of palms and ferns. The ring ceremony was used. Miss Jeannette Farlee, of Newark, was bridesmaid, and Mrs. Theodore Richter, of Flemington, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Hugh Van Derveer, of Somerville, was best man, and the ushers were Charles and Abraham Holcombe, brothers of the bride. The wedding march was played by Miss Laura E. Hogland, of Somerville.

The bride was gowned in a white satin dress, trimmed with princess lace and pearl ornaments. She carried a large bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The bridemaid's dress was of pink charmeuse, trimmed with oriental lace and hand embroidery. She carried pink carnations. The matron of honor wore a dress of crepe de chine, trimmed with princess lace and garniture of pearls. She carried white carnations.

Guests were present from Flemington, Newark, Philadelphia, Trenton, Somerville, Raritan, Three Bridges, Copper Hill, and other places.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Fleet left for a brief wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside in Somerville, the bridegroom being an employe in the office of former Senator Frelinghuysen, in New York city. Mrs. Van Fleet was for some time the efficient assistant in the office of Supreme Court Justice James J. Bergen, at Somerville.

STATION AGENT FAINTS BUT STAYS ON THE JOB

F. H. Stein, ticket agent at the eastbound station of the New Jersey Central, who has been suffering from a severe cold, was taken with a fainting spell while on duty this morning. He was found lying on the floor in the ticket office by a person wishing to purchase a ticket. Patrolman Nicholas Myers was notified and he summoned Dr. Albert Pittis. Entrance was effected to the office and the physician applied restoratives. Mr. Stein recovered sufficiently to resume work in a short time and decided not to return home unless his condition grew worse.

Miss Dennison received a number of gifts. The decorations comprised chrysanthemums and roses.

SCHOOL PUPILS PREPARE FOR TWO HOLIDAY SALES

Many subjects of interest to mothers came up for discussion before the meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Franklin-Stillman-Whittier Schools, yesterday afternoon in the assembly room of the Stillman Building. A personal talk by Dr. Clara Krans, who spoke on "Questions that all Children Ask Us, and How We Answer Them," was especially interesting.

The report of the State Congress of Mothers, held Friday and Saturday at Riverton, was read. Announcement was made that the Manual Training class of Franklin School was preparing work for a Christmas sale to be given some day the second week in December, when baskets, towels, house-dusters and other useful articles will be sold. The affair will be held in the Franklin School auditorium and its success is already assured judging from the preparations being made.

It was also announced by the teachers present from Irving School, that there will be an exhibit and sale of kindergarten material and books at that institution, Wednesday, December 11, at 3 p. m.

Following the business meeting, during which over twenty new members were enrolled into the association, refreshments were served by a committee of teachers from each school, and Mrs. Edwin McCarthy, Mrs. Joseph Smith and Mrs. G. W. V. Moy.

MRS. CARRIE C. CATT.

Homecoming Suffragette Who Will Be Given Big Welcome.

The Woman Suffrage party is planning a regular jubilation at Carnegie hall, New York, on the evening of Tuesday, Nov. 19. It will be a great welcome home for Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, who is now in San Francisco on her way home from her trip around the world. Mrs. Catt has visited many and strange lands on her globe circling mission. She has started the suffrage ball rolling in some places and in others has merely boosted the general cause of liberty for women.

SHOOTS HIMSELF IN CROWDED THEATER

As Curtain Falls Man Rises and Fires Twice.

New York, Nov. 13.—As the descending curtain bumped the stage at the end of "Under Many Flags" in the Hippodrome two shots were heard. Persons in balcony seats about the middle of the house and halfway back from the front row had seen a man place a revolver to his left breast and pull the trigger twice.

The man was Anthony Mazinski, thirty-five years, a tailor, of 110 Third avenue. As he fell over the seat he had been occupying the revolver dropped from his hand, and he clasped both arms over his chest. Those nearest him were too amazed at first to cry out. They remained motionless, looking at him as if fascinated. Then came screams from the women.

The confusion bordered on panic. Women, regardless of their wraps and hats, scrambled for the aisles. Clutching their men escorts, they pleaded to be taken from the building. In the rush to get out there was a jam in the aisles.

Patrolman James Gassman of the Sixth avenue station, Brooklyn, who was taking his night off, was almost beside Mazinski when the latter man put the two shots into his breast. Gassman picked him up and ordered an usher to call an ambulance. The usher while hurrying to a telephone met Police Inspector George Titus, who sent in a call to Flower hospital. Then Titus entered the playhouse and assisted in quieting the excited men and women.

Dr. Tuaglia arrived in a few minutes. He said the tailor would die and rushed him to the hospital.

Wiley and many vacancies in the postal and United States marshal service. As the present senate is Republican, the president believes that all his appointments will be immediately confirmed.

Dr. R. B. Doolittle, acting pure food commissioner, it is understood, will be suggested by the president for permanent appointment.

Dr. Carroll is a native of Portland, Me., and came with his parents to Philadelphia.

He was made bishop in 1909 and was assigned to the Philippines. He met with an accident in the islands last year which lamed him. For this reason he was relieved by Pope Pius. St. Edward's church is one of the largest in Philadelphia.

THREE SCHOOLS ENTER LEAGUE

Interscholastic Basketball Organization Will Return to the Schedule.

LEALS BACK IN GAME

Both High Schools Have a Bright Outlook—Athletics at Leal's Are Flourishing—Each Team Has a Competent Coach.

With both the North Plainfield and Plainfield High Schools on the verge of opening up the basketball season, local enthusiasts are probably waiting patiently to hear some inside information concerning the Interscholastic League outlook. The fact is, the prospects never glowed more brilliantly and the organization this year will likely have one of the closest championship races of its career. To make things still more interesting it has been announced and the report officially confirmed that the fight will be a three-cornered one during the coming season and not a duel between N. P. H. S. and P. H. S.

Among the newly enrolled students at Leal's Academy are some of the finest athletes in the city and with the kind of coaching such as Professor Wardlaw can deal out, that institution ought to be capable of turning out an aggregation that will make the two High Schools extend themselves to the limit. Because athletics died down and nearly flickered out at Leal's School, until Coach Wardlaw took a hand, there have been not representative teams from that school and last year, rather than let the interscholastic enthusiasm wane away the two High Schools drew up a two-cornered schedule. Although the games were close and exciting the league did not savor of that wild enthusiasm that a third team is always capable of promoting. N. P. H. S. cleaned up on the interscholastic title and then beat P. H. S. in a couple of exhibition games, thereby making doubly sure of her court supremacy. Besides acquiring this title the Boroughites defeated Bound Brook and Somerville for the Somerset county championship. The North Plainfield High School is particularly fortunate in having approximately the same fire men to represent it on the basketball court again this year and with the experience they have received while playing as a team, ought to shine even brighter than they did in 1911. The only break in the ranks came when William Taylor left after being graduated but his brother Carroll has returned for a post-graduate course, and Burner, Dunning and Captain Townley are still undergraduates. A number of good substitutes who got into a number of home contests last year are still on hand and are ready to fill in Bill Taylor's gap. Coach Webster is still available as an advisor and with him on the sidelines both in practises and at real contests the North Plainfield part of the league will be pretty well looked after.

It is a foregone conclusion that P. H. S. will be able to take care of its third of the organization, but the Plainfield institution is not so fortunate in having a veteran aggregation to rely on. Popular opinion seems to point toward Professor Hauck as the probable coach and as he is an enthusiast at the game and a former Leal's director of athletics, he is well qualified to accept the responsibility. All of the players on the Y. M. C. A. Ajax team, with the exception of Myrton Glover, are students at P. H. S., and even with this quintet as a backbone the local school has all that it needs to compete with N. P. H. S. and Leal's. If these players could beat N. P. H. S. under one name they certainly could accomplish the trick under the High School colors.

Several meetings have already been called to draw up a schedule but none of them have materialized because of inclement weather on the dates set, but some definite understanding will probably be arrived at before the week is over and the three teams will issue their first call for practise.

Plainfield bowlers were unable to win a game last night on the Elizabeth alleys in an Elks' League match. They managed to make the fight an interesting one, however, and there was some good pinning. Plainfield started with an even 900, only to have Elizabeth go that fourteen pins better. In the second game Elizabeth was on the job for 904 and won by thirty pins. Elizabeth advanced to 979 in the final encounter, while Plainfield, though it also did its best work of the match, stopped at 943. Henry Clauss accounted for tallies of 216 and 207 and averaged 203.1. Keller rolled 213 and Joe Nolte 212. Frank Blatz had 217 and 200 for Plainfield and will undoubtedly hold his place at the top of the individual average column. Kiely was on the job for 227 and Nash had 209. The scores:

BOWLING

The Plainfield team holds high team score honors in the Elks League bowling tournament with 1093, although it occupies seventh position in the team standing.

Some of the individual members are doing good work. Francis J. Blatz tops the list of individual averages with an average of 207.3 for nine games, and he holds the record for high score with 254.

STRIKE AT 'PLAINS ABOUT TO COLLAPSE

Supply of Twenty-cent Pin Boys Too Big to Overcome.

The pin boys employed on the bowling alleys at the Parish House, Scotch Plains, who went on a strike Monday night because the scale of pay was cut from twenty-five to twenty cents a boy, ran up a flag of truce last night and sent a committee to the monthly meeting of the Parish House Council. While the boys did not state flatly that they would accept the reduced scale, it is understood that they will all be back to work within a few days. The strike was not a success because there were too many boys in the village to whom twenty cents looked good. The places of the strikers were quickly filled.

When the bowling alleys were opened every boy in the village was permitted to register for positions to set up the pins. The force was divided so that four boys were used each night, the work being done in one and a half hour shifts, the pay being twenty-five cents a boy.

The council decided to reduce the pay to twenty cents per boy and the strike followed. All the strikers signed a paper not to work for twenty cents. William Guest, who is in charge of the alleys, refused the boys' demands.

The strike proved unsuccessful from the start for the reason that other boys in the village not in sympathy with the strike rushed to take the places of those who had given up their jobs. Efforts were made to intimidate the boys who went to work, but this also proved unsuccessful. The alleys have been used every night in spite of the walkout.

CITY BASKETBALL LEAGUE HERE--IF!

Co-operation is the Thing Needed to Make the Project a Reality.

With the greatest basketball season Plainfield has ever known, now swooping down upon us, it is up to someone to organize some means of promoting a schedule which will bring all of the teams together in a series of games which will satisfactorily decide the local amateur supremacy. During the past two methods of accomplishing this end have been suggested but nothing definite has been done. With such an array of fast teams in various quarters of the city it now seems to be up to some individual to devote some time and energy toward forming a city league and to draw up a schedule of games that will bring every team together.

Of the teams available to choose from the following appear to be the most formidable for championship honors: North Plainfield High School, Leal's, Plainfield High School, Hope Chapel, Holy Cross, Y. M. C. A. Ajax and Grace Church. Other teams will probably be organized and will without doubt be worthy of consideration.

We should be glad to hear the views of any of the local managers on this subject and will readily publish any suggestions which might be forwarded. Now is the time to organize and it is up to every manager to get his team in the race. Don't wait until the season is over like you did last year and then grumble because your team did not get a whack at the cup, simply because it did not put any energy in the proposition but waited for an invitation to pack the cup up and take it home. Send in your ideas, they may be eye-openers.

ONE MORE QUINTET COMES TO LIGHT

A Team of Former Scholastic Basketball Stars Has Been Reorganized.

Bergen Naylor and Eugene Lidgate, two well known basketball players, are rounding together an aggregation of old High School stars to appear on the basketball court this year. According to Naylor they have picked the cream of the indoor material and are practically invincible, but then they have not played their initial game yet and we will have to wait until then to draw our conclusions.

Naylor has scheduled his first contest with the Somerville basketball team to be played next Saturday evening and if he can beat this aggregation who trounced a quintet of Plainfield "stars" last Friday evening, we will have to acknowledge that the aggregation of "has beens" is something out of the ordinary. The only difficulty Manager Naylor has encountered is to get teams big enough and formidable enough to lineup against his stars. He has been scouting the State to sign up games but has been forced to come back to the "Old Home Town," where he is on the trail of the Hope Chapel and Y. M. C. A. Ajax managers. Naylor secured some valuable tips (gratus) at the Y. M. C. A.-Crimson A. C. game last Saturday night and is busy injecting them into his charges for the first game at Somerville.

"MAC" SAYS

Have you noticed the heavy crop of fuzz some of our High School students are acquiring on their broad expanse of face. Wonder if they have to do it to hide their good looks?

Athletes of every degree are talking of the Yale-Princeton football game to be played at Princeton next Saturday. 'Many are the ways which the gridiron followers have contrived to get a peak at the big show.

Manager Grisley, of the High School basketball team, has about completed his schedule and will be ready to announce the quintets that P. H. S. will lineup against this season. Many changes and new athletic relations with other scholastic teams are reported.

Now that the Ajax have shown that they are capable of beating the best that the Borough High School can turn out, the association players are anxious to get a whack at another intercity league trophy. Make it a reality earlier in the season this year. Don't wait until baseballs are clouding the air.

It is about time we hard from the Interscholastic League. Who will take the title away from N. P. H. S.? We might suggest that the Ajax quintet be loaned to P. H. S. to accomplish the trick. All of the Y. M. C. A. players except Glover are students in the local High School.

P. H. S. minstrel dope seems to be overhanging the town. These blackface tribes always do keep us in the dark anyway, but wait until they begin applying the burnt cork. Won't some of the end men look hideous?

BUNTS AND PUNTS

"Pa" Corgin, the old Yale star, is at New Haven helping to put the Elis through their paces.

Some of the football critics are claiming that Pannock, the Harvard lineman, is All-American material.

"Hell Devil" Skillman, of Nassau, is lacking prestige as a footfall result prognosticator. He figured the Tigers would defeat Harvard 14 to 12.

The loss of Captain "Jack Hegarty, who has had to retire from the game on acount of a broken ankle, is a severe blow to the Georgetown eleven.

Both Penn and Cornell have made use of moving picture machines as aids in football development. Perhaps that acounts for their poor showing this season.

The Vanderbilt University eleven has played four Eastern teams in its history—the Carlisle Indians in 1905, the Navy in 1906, Yale in 1910 and Harvard in 1912.

Rumor has it that Tol Pendelton, the Princeton football and basketball star, is to become a professional ball player next year and sign with the Washington Americans.

Bill Langford, the best referee in the country today, officiated at the Penn-Michigan game, and will referee the coming games between Yale and Princeton and Harvard and Yale.

The Princeton football squad has three pairs of brothers and another pair of players of the same name. The brothers are the Swart boys, the Wallers and the Trenkmans, while the Bakers, "Stow" and "Hobey" are not related.

Miller Huggins, the new manager of the Cardinals, is a lawyer and a member of the Ohio bar.

Catcher Jim Archer says that he will demand a real salary before he signs with the Cubs for 1913.

Manager Jack Dunn, of the Baltimore team, has asked waivers on Barney Pelty, former pitcher of the St. Louis Browns.

Pat Flaherty, the old Pittsburg-Boston pitcher, is an applicant for the job as manager of the Elmira club of the New York State League.

Joe Birmingham will take up his duties with the Cleveland Naps next season as bench manager if he can find a man to hold down his place in the outfield.

The Connecticut League has granted franchises to New London, Conn., and Pittsfield, Mass., forming an eight-club circuit for next season.

The Superbas under the management of Jake Daubert have been playing exhibition games around Brooklyn. The team is called the "Daubert Dodgers."

Owner Lennon, of the St. Paul club, is scouring the country for a capable manager to succeed Mike Kelley who has signed as pilot of the Indianopolis team.

It is said that Hank O'Day, the old National League umpire, and last season manager of the Cincinnati Reds, is to become a member of the American League staff of umpires.

FOUR COLOR LEAGUE TEAMS ARE TIED FOR FIRST PLACE

The four teams in the Color League of the Senior class of the Y. M. C. A. tied for first place in the standing broad jump last night. Each team was awarded eight points.

Although Ostrom and Thompson, of the Orange team, tied for first place with jumps of nine feet, the average for the team was brought down to eight feet by the small jumps made by some of the other members. The distances made by the men were as follows:

C. Ostrom, 9 ft.; R. Thompson, 9 ft.; J. R. Farmer, 8 ft. 11 in.; H. Vail, 8 ft. 10 in.; L. D. Farmer, 8 ft. 7 in.; B. Naylor, 8 ft. 7 in.; H. A. Anderson, 8 ft. 5 in.; C. Johnson, 8 ft. 4 in.; L. Osborne, 8 ft. 4 in.; F. M. Smith, 8 ft. 2 in.; W. Carson, 8 ft. 2 in.; P. Carouso, 8 ft. 1 in.; R. Dorman, 8 ft.; F. Clark, 8 ft.; E. Gunzleman, 8 ft.; R. Boice, 7 ft. 10 in.; G. Lewis, 7 ft. 9 in.; A. Newmiller, 7 ft. 8 in.; R. Hoagland, 7 ft. 8 in.; William Winans, 7 ft. 6 in.; J. Mead, 7 ft. 3 in.; William Brower, 7 ft. 2 in.; John Conger, 7 ft. 2 in.; V. Bagger, 7 ft. 1 in.; A. B. Price, 6 ft. 11 in.; R Lockley, 6 ft. 9 in.; W. Gennerich, 6 ft. 7 in., and H. Schierle, 5 ft. 5 in.

The standing of the teams at present is: Orange 33 points, Red 23 points, Green 23 points and White 8 points.

The gymnasium will be closed Saturday afternoon and evening on account of some repairs that is necessary to be made.

SPICY SPORTING CHATS

By TOMMY CLARK.

This winter will see many battles between big fellows known as "white hopes." The various heavies who have attained prominence are laying plans to appear in New York the coming season. Perhaps by next spring one will have outdistanced all his fellows and be worthy of a championship match.

Al Palzer, who heads the band at present, is back in training. Apparently the big fellow viewed with alarm the rapid strides taken by his rival,

AL PALZER READY FOR THE GONG.

Luther McCarty, lately and made haste to smooth things over with his manager so that he could resume action. Now that Palzer is back in the ring again an opportunity may soon be had to finally classify him. His manager plans to advance his standard with a rush as soon as he has had a chance to get his hand in again with a few easy matches. All restrictions are to be taken off the hitherto proscribed list of opponents, and he will be open to meet even the champion himself.

Bombardier Wells, England's heavyweight champion, has announced that he is to sail in a week or two for this country. He hopes to be able to strengthen the impression followers of boxing on this side of the water have of his prowess and, of course, gather in some money. When he makes his reappearance here he will find plenty of work to do, provided he does not demand more than his services are worth. On the eve of his departure from this country Wells was given a royal send-off, which included a banquet at which he was lauded in glowing terms for his skill and sportsmanship. Quite possibly his opinion of his worth was considerably enhanced by all this praise, and he may be disposed to make capital of it when negotiating for matches over here.

But while England's champion is a fine boxer he is not likely to work much havoc among the men he will be called upon to meet. Unless he has gained in stamina to a surprising degree during his stay in England he will not be a good bet with any one of several of our burly white hopes, who can take a punch as well as give one, even if they can't box much.

It would not be at all surprising to find the recently organized Players' fraternity a thing of the past before the next season rolls around. It is a matter of fact that but a very small percentage of the players who enlisted in the order when it was first proposed have come through with the necessary dues for the very good reason that a majority of them have come to the realization that the organization has no object to accomplish other than to furnish a rather lucrative position for a certain individual. Under present conditions the players' rights are well protected. Protests on salary questions are decidedly rare, for the clubs have long since found that they can afford to pay good salaries. There are few instances where hardships are imposed on players by reason of the rules of organized baseball. In fact, under the agreement which governs all ball clubs the player is as much protected as is the club, and the wise player can see no reason for an organization which will attack the present state of affairs.

It can be authoritatively stated that there is not a chance for the players to have representation on the national commission, and if it comes down to a question of the players fighting for this cause it's dollars to doughnuts that Dave Fultz, who has been chosen as their leader, will be turned down and the organization dissolved.

FEW SCORELESS TIE GAMES NOW

Under New Football Rules Teams Show Their Real Strength.

DEFENSE CAUSES WORRY.

Removal of Restrictions on Forward Pass Results in Return to Running Game—Balance of Offense Is Increased Over Defense.

The football season of 1912 is well under way, and the big elevens are rounding into the home stretch with the championship games not far off.

The large totals made by the leading teams of late seem significant in a way and are in marked contrast to the scoring done by these teams during the same period last year. The extra down, shortened length of the field and removal of the restrictions on the forward pass seem to be bearing fruit; also accomplishing the purpose of the rule makers by increasing the balance of the offense over the defense to such an extent that, barring accidents and flukes, the stronger and more finished team cannot be denied. The team which has developed a powerful attack is bound to get results.

The new rules have been given a thorough tryout, and, if all signs are not amiss, it behooves the coachers to begin to worry about their defense, which was not of so much moment last year and which was neglected in some cases to a great extent in an attempt to work out the scoring offense. The final verdict, however, must be reserved until the big teams meet in late November.

The scores in themselves are pretty conclusive evidence that the running game of the big eleven is coming back into its own again. The weaker teams will now find it very difficult to stave off defeat with a defense and an average kicker. They must be prepared to carry the ball themselves or it will eventually end up in the shadow of the goal posts. Scoreless ties consequently will be the great exception and not a likelihood.

The forward pass, deceptive attack and the kicking game will be the specialties upon which such a team must base its offense. As yet no team has shown a forward passing game which could be called consistent.

Three out of five or thereabouts have been the average of the best forward passing teams. Their success has been confined to a large extent to the short forward pass. The ball is now becoming too valuable to throw around. We find a great many of the larger elevens with a strong running attack, using it as a threat to hold off the defensive backs or as a part of their open game when they wish to open up in midfield or take their opponents by surprise at unexpected moments in the game.

Princeton among the larger elevens in the east has been getting the best results from her forward passes and is going to give any defensive back field it comes up against all kinds of difficulty in stopping the quick throws by Andrews and Baker, who have been passing with wonderful accuracy and speed to their ends.

The Army has a clever scoring pass of the same kind, with a halfback slipping through the line unseen to take the ball in case the ends are covered.

It is the team with the expert at the delivering end which is showing a forward passing game worthy of the name. It is the head work the expert uses in making his passes that counts. There are many good backs who can pass the ball well and the large majority of ends can catch it, but there are few backs who can connect up the receiving end and the delivering end with any consistent average.

It requires a cool, brainy man, who is not easily flustered. Such a back will often win games for his team with the odds heavily against him. This year he has the whole field in front of him in which to place the ball, an added down in which to try the pass, and a strengthened running game is making the work of the defensive back a pretty ticklish proposition.

On the other hand, there are only certain occasions and certain parts of the field in which the forward pass may be tried and which help the defense to call the turn and be ready for the pass when it comes. It is the unexpected pass, used by the quarterback when, according to all the laws of generalship and conservative football, a running play should be used, that is most often successful.

Then also a team with a good running game and a strong punter does not like to give its opponents the chance of intercepting the ball with the advantage of being able at times to run it back or the advantage of having possession of it much farther up in the opponent's territory than if it had been given on a punt.

Some ends have shown marked ability in receiving the pass, especially the men who are endowed with the height and reach and who have had baseball or basketball experience. Felton and Dana of Harvard, Gillespie of the Army and Bomeisler of Yale are types of men who, when the ball is passed in their vicinity, usually manage to beat the other man to it. They seem to have the knack of being at the right place at the right time.

SCOOP BELIEVES IN HIGHER EDUCATION

Just Cosy

It's great, when winter winds are howling, to be nice and cosy. It's great to sit—Dad, Mam and Baddy—and feel gentle heat wrap you round with genial comfort.

It's GREAT to have a furnace in the cellar capable of doing it.

"Square Pot" Furnaces make cosy homes possible. They distribute heat evenly. They run steadily. They give perfect combustion and they reduce "furnace care" to a few brief moments daily.

Our sectional cut, shown here, gives the germ of the "Square Pot Idea." That corrugated square firepot increases heat radiation almost 25 per cent. and clears of ashes every time the grate is turned. That means a free fire, perfect combustion and practically no heat waste—virtues found more fully developed in Square Pot Furnaces and boilers than in others. These are things that make Square Pot Furnaces worth while. Ask your dealer to show you.

POWERS SEEK TO END BALKAN WAR

Diplomats Say There Will Be No General Flare Up.

RUSSIA PROTECTS AMERICA

Washington Officially Informed That Residents of United States Will Be Safeguarded—Armored Cruisers Sail From Philadelphia For Turkey.

London, Nov. 13.—To prevent the questions at issue in the Balkans from becoming a controversy between the two great camps of the European powers diplomats are working very hard. Here is what the ambassador at London of one of the great powers had to say:

"The governments of the powers happily remain calm, however excited some of the newspapers may be. Our great aim is to prevent any issue of the war from becoming a matter between the triple alliance (Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy) and the triple entente (France, Great Britain and Russia).

"One thing is absolutely certain, and that is that no one wants war. On the contrary, we are all determined to have peace, and do you think a question such as that now being so much talked of between Austria and Servia would be worth a general conflagration? We all think not."

Russia Protects Americans.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Russia officially informed the United States that it will look out for the interests of the United States in Turkish waters and for United States citizens in Turkey. The information was conveyed to the state department by the Russian embassy here immediately upon receipt of instructions from the foreign office at St. Petersburg.

Cruisers Off For Turkey.

Philadelphia, Nov. 13.—The armored cruisers Tennessee and Montana weighed anchor opposite the Philadelphia navy yard and started for Constantinople to safeguard American interests in Turkey. As the cruisers steamed away the battery gave them a farewell salute.

Bulgars Near Constantinople.

Sofia, Nov. 13.—Rumors are current here that the Bulgarian army has captured the line of forts at Tchatalja, in front of Constantinople. A Bulgarian column is said to have reached Miyuk Chekmedye, on the Sea of Marmora, to the south of Tchatalja. It is also stated that the Bulgarian army under General Theodoreff has reached Saloniki.

The Bulgarian and Servian troops engaged in the siege of Adrianople are working in hearty co-operation. Clashes with the Turkish garrison of that stronghold occur daily. Some of the Turkish troops taken prisoners during sorties of the garrison declare conditions in the city are desperate.

SET BULLDOG ON BOY.

Crowd Looks on and Laughs While Brute Gnaws at Youth's Body.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 13.—With his legs frightfully torn and suffering from shock, a fifteen-year-old lad, William Holmes, is at his home on Ohio street, while the police are scouring the country for the inhuman brute who held the boy in the rear room of a store while a bulldog chewed and mangled his limbs. Several men, so the lad says, stood by laughing at the brutal performance. After the dog had chewed at the legs of the helpless boy he was released and chased from the store. Young Holmes limped to his home, where his wounds were cauterized. The boy began throwing stones, and by accident one shattered the window of the Marine Supply store. A moment later a man issued from the door, grabbed Holmes and dragged him into the store, where a bulldog lay.

The police say that the manager of the store admits that a bulldog is kept on the premises, but denies the man who dragged the boy into the store is in the firm's employ.

SIX KILLED BY DYNAMITE.

2,000 Pounds Explodes In Gary Plant. Train Passengers Nearby Unhurt.

Gary, Ind., Nov. 13.—Six men were killed by an explosion of 2,000 pounds of dynamite in a pack house at the plant of the Aetna Powder company, near here. The dead include William Halpin, foreman; Oscar Carlson, C. O. Carlson and three unidentified workmen. Several workmen were reported to have been injured, but officials said that was incorrect.

The men who lost their lives were repairing a packing machine. The dynamite was loose in 100 pound lots on the packing trays, otherwise the damage would have been greater.

A South Shore interurban train was within a few hundred yards of the plant, but no one on it was injured, although the explosion broke windows in Miller, a mile distant.

Father and Son Frozen.

Port Neuf, Que., Nov. 13.—Joseph Trepannier, skipper of the schooner St. Celestine, and his son, Thomas, were frozen to death when the vessel struck a rock in the St. Lawrence and sank.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

OYSTERS COOKED IN THE OVEN.

AMONG the various ways of preparing oysters one that recommends itself to most cooks on account of the savory results and also because of its convenience is to bake them in the oven.

It is best not to salt oysters until after they are cooked. This prevents their shriveling or becoming hard.

Well Flavored Viands.

Deviled Oysters.—Chop up about two dozen firm, fat oysters, add to the oysters a cupful of cream, a half cupful of cracker crumbs, a tablespoonful of melted butter and a dash of salt. Butter some individual baking dishes of evapty oyster shells and fill them with the combination. Bake in the oven for twenty minutes.

Oysters In Blankets.—Take twelve slices of nice thin bacon and twelve large oysters. Place an oyster on each slice of bacon and roll the bacon around the oyster. Then transfix with a skewer. Arrange the rolls on a wire rack and put in the oven until the bacon is browned. Serve very hot.

Baked In Shells.

Oysters In the Shells.—Take large, nice looking shells or cook the oysters in small individual baking dishes. Clean the shells with a stiff brush, reserving the deepest for use. Roll each oyster in melted butter seasoned with minced parsley and pepper. Arrange in the shells, sprinkle with lemon juice and cover with grated bread crumbs. Place in rows in a baking pan and bake in a quick oven. Serve in the shells, season with salt just before sending to the table.

French Baked Oysters.—After trimming the oysters, put them back into the shells. Place in a saucepan a little butter, and when it is melted add a little parsley chopped very fine and some chopped shallots, a tablespoonful of white wine vinegar, the juice of a lemon, a pinch of salt and a little red pepper. Leave the saucepan on a slow fire until the vinegar is boiled down, and at this point add two small tablespoonfuls of bread crumbs fried in butter and a tablespoonful of butter. When the whole is well mixed pour it over the oysters, so that the shells are well filled. Place the dish containing the oysters in a hot oven and serve after a few minutes.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

"TUESDAY'S MOST IMPORTANT HAPPENING."

(From the N. Y. Globe of Nov. 7.)

In 1840 an anti-slavery congress was held in England. A number of American champions of the cause went to London—among them three women, Lucretia Mott, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, and Elizabeth Pease. They went as delegates, but the congress was dominated by the English clergy, and they were directed to leave the convention hall and to sit in the spectators' gallery. William Lloyd Garrison silently registered a protest by sitting with the women in the gallery. Out of this incident in far-off London grew the first movement in America to enfranchise women, for the three, on returning to their hotel, resolved to begin it.

Since there have been seventy-two years of unceasing struggle, most of them years of discouragement. It seemed as if no start could be made. But a brick came out of the wall of opposition when in 1869 a strong frontier woman in Wyoming served as justice of the peace in territorial days, and largely out of compliment to her, with the rude chivalry characteristic of the time and place, the territorial legislature said that she and other women might vote. Then because of the peculiar policy of the Mormon church women voted in territorial Utah. Then in 1893 Colorado was the first State to adopt woman suffrage as a State. Idaho followed in 1896, and Washington and California last year. At the recent election women voted for thirty-seven presidential electors.

But Tuesday, Nov. 5, 1912, of all days that have passed, is best entitled to be marked red in the equal suffrage calendar. Four more States with thirty-three electoral votes, are added to the list, making ten States in all. Michigan and Kansas in the Central West, and Arizona and Oregon in the Far West, are the recruits, and their accession seems to foreshadow success at an early date throughout the nation. The verdict of experience is that woman suffrage, where tried, has made good, and it is marching on.

The most important thing in Tuesday's polling was not the election of a president, but the great change effected in these four States. Its influence will endure long after the Wilson administration has taken place in history and is remembered no more than other administrations. But morally, politically, and economically, neither our children nor grandchildren will escape the consequences of Tuesday's irrevocable step.

The call comes direct to all the women in all the States to get themselves ready to exercise the full privileges of citizenship. They must be prepared to measure up to the new duty, and to help solve the problem of democracy in its new phase.

As a result of "Tuesday's most important happening" there will be a "Celebration of Citizenship" at Carnegie Hall, this evening, and a rousing salute will be given to a new starred American flag. It will also be the occasion of welcoming home the National Suffrage president, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, who has been campaigning since early summer, with no vacation, speaking six and seven times a day and travelling over 10,000 miles. As the salute goes up from all over the hall the ten stars in the great flag will come out in a burst of electricity and the women will sing the Women's Marseillaise with a chorus ending:

"March on! March on!
Face to the dawn,
The dawn of liberty."

Little Man's House.

The little man's house is a game that one never grows tired of if a quick witted leader is chosen, one who can think out clever things to say about the little man's house. He may even go inside the house and sell away the little man's clothing or furniture. It can be made very laughable.

Home Again.

We spent the summer down by the sea.
Somehow it seemed so short to me.
But when I came back the birds had flown
Save for a robin that sang alone,
Over and over all day long,
One little bar of one little song.
In place of the roses I thought to see
Late nodding daisies welcomed me;
Goldenrod stands by the dusty road,
Fruit trees are heavy with crimson load;
The tall green corn that I left is brown,
Withered and dry, with its arms held down;
The kittens that wabbled wherever they went
Are good sized cats, with their legs unbent;
The baby calf is almost a cow,
The puffball chickens are grown up now.
I can't stop looking, it seems too strange,
When you aren't watching, how things change.

HE'S HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Italian Has Been Carrying on Land Office Business Guaranteeing Natives of Italy That He Would Send Them Home at Cut Rates.

Hoboken, N. J., Nov. 13.—There were doleful wailings and gnashing of teeth in this city when the rude arm of the law reached out and stopped thirty-one stowaways from leaving for Italy on board the Hamburg-American line steamship Moltke.

An Italian has been carrying on a land office business, guaranteeing the sons and daughters of sunny Italy that he would deposit them on their native shore for the small sum of $15 per head. Consequently the stowaways were justly indignant when arraigned before Recorder McGovern.

From what the steamship officials say, the men and women were smuggled on board disguised as cooks and waiters. All went well until the aroma of real food reached the stowaways in their place of concealment. It was thereupon voted to send out a scout to procure some food. The scout picked for the daring deed mingled with the other steerage passengers and was on his way back to the hiding place when he was apprehended by one of the officers and placed under arrest.

After some hesitation he told where the others were concealed and implicated the Italian who had used the name of an employment agency doing business with the Hamburg-American line to further his scheme. He went on board the steamship and his subsequent actions attracted the attention of the first officer, who became suspicious. He was followed and the roundup was the result.

The Italian was charged with obtaining money under false pretenses and held to await the action of the grand jury. Meanwhile the other thirty-one Italians, minus $15 per head, are stranded in Hoboken.

KEEPS DEATH SECRET.

Orange Society Women Told After Party That J. E. Coulter Died.

Orange, N. J., Nov. 13.—While 200 society women in this city were chatting over the plans to raise $200,000 for St. Mary's hospital at luncheon in the Plaza hotel John E. Coulter, who organized the movement, died in a private room in the very institution for which he had planned to raise funds.

Before he died he urged the nurse who was attending him not to send word of his death to the hotel.

"It would have a depressing effect," he said, "and it might cripple the campaign."

The dying man's request was heeded, and the news of his death was withheld from the women until after the luncheon was over. When the news was broken it came as a severe shock to all present, for Mr. Coulter's death was entirely unexpected.

RABBIT DISCHARGES GUN.

Hackettstown Youth Gets Full Contents of Barrels In Thigh.

Hackettstown, N. J., Nov. 13.—Cyril Newman, sixteen years old, son of W. S. Newman, was taken to the Easton hospital with the contents of both barrels of his fowling piece in his left thigh.

He had placed his gun, ready for shooting, on the ground while he opened a trap containing a rabbit. He intended to shoot the rabbit as it ran away, but the rabbit gave a jump and landed on the trigger of the gun, discharging both barrels.

TOWN HAS RABIES SCARE.

School Closes While Men Patrol Streets to Kill Animals.

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 13.—A mad dog scare reigns in Scullyville, a town ten miles from here, and an armed guard patrol the streets in search of dogs that are believed to be suffering from rabies. Mothers have been ordered to keep their children indoors and to remain within as much as possible themselves while the men try and dispatch the mad dogs. The school was ordered closed.

Atlantic City Hotel Man Dies.

Woodbury, N. J., Nov. 13.—Edward C. Leeds, one of the owners of the Chalfonte hotel and Haddon Hall, Atlantic City, died at his home here. He was forty-three years old and was elected to the New Jersey legislature on the Republican ticket at the recent election. During the campaign Mr. Leeds contracted a cold, from which pneumonia developed.

Boy Hit by Motor May Die.

Camden, N. J., Nov. 13.—Little hope is entertained in the Cooper hospital here for the recovery of Hazelton Row and, nine years old, who was struck by a motorcar near his home in Woodbury, N. J. The automobile is owned by Albertus Orr of Swedesboro, N. J.

Never before has the film industry been so electrified as with the announcement that William J. Burns had entered the field. He has been retained to protect State right buyers on the latest European sensation, Homer's "Odyssey," a film made by the Milano Co., of Italy, who also produced Dante's "Inferno." Mr. Burns is at the head of the Burns National Detective Agency with offices in every city of North America. Each office has been instructed as to the methods to be pursued; each office will be furnished with data that will make infringing not only profitless but a dangerous occupation. Homer's "Odyssey," a film three thousand feet in length, was produced by the Milano Co., of Italy, at a cost of $200,000. Two years were required for the making of the picture for which an entire Grecian city was rebuilt. The story is one of tremendous interest, it typifies the best example of manhood in the days of Paganism. Ulysses, the wandering hero, has served for the purpose of character study for nearly four thousand years. "The Odysey," while not widely known among the masses, has been prominent in the minds of students and men of letters for all time. Homer and the "Odyssey" form an important part in the educational system of all nations. The story is simply told, vivid in its coloring, and treats of the ordinaries of life as they were four thousand years ago, and exactly as they are today, love, passion, war and death and destruction, these are the elements that weave the fabric of "The Odyssey." Ulysses, the hero, was King of Ithaca at the commencement of the ten year Trojan War. With others he went to battle. When the conquest ended he started home, then began his most marvelous series of adventures; shipwrecked, captured by a giant, held prisoner by a Goddess, and a hundred important happenings occur before he finally reaches his Kingdom where further trouble awaits his home coming. Believing him dead, his estates have been violated and his wife about to be forced into marriage with a suitor. Then occurs the most realistic battle scene ever conceived. It thrills and staggers the imagination. Most wonderful of all, is the fact of getting such wonderful, living, breathing, sensational realism into a motion picture play. Homer's Odyssey presages a new era in film making. At a single bound it leaps to heights never before conceived. It will serve as a stimulus for better things to follow. Its production alone warrants a world wide surprise in photoplay. The bringing in of William J. Burns, detective, to protect it from infringers, marks another beginning in a new chapter of film history. Coming to Plainfield theatre on Friday, Nov. 15, matinee and night.

Homer's Odyssey—Sensation in Moving Pictures—At Plainfield Theatre Friday, Mat. and Night.

"Freckles," Gene Stratton-Porter's most popular and best selling novel apparently posesses that magic quality that brings fortune to everyone connected with it; the sale of the book has reached half a million copies and it is still one of the six best sellers, which means that it has earned a fortune for Mrs. Porter and Doubleday, Page & Co., and Grosset & Dunlap, the publishers. Manager A. G. Delamater was so well pleased with Neil Twomey's dramatization of the story that he has commissioned Mr. Twomey to dramatize two other popular novels of which he controls the dramatic rights. This will undoubtedly bring fame and fortune to Mr. Twomey, judging by the liberal patronage and the extravagant praise given it by the dramatic critics, it is sure to coin another good sized fortune for its producer, Mr. Delamater. "Freckles" will be seen here Saturday, November 23, matinee and night.

FOR EVANGELISM IN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Every Congregation in Elizabeth Presbytery Represented at Earnest Conference.

Elizabeth, Nov. 13 (Special).—Every church in the Presbytery of Elizabeth was represented at an evangelistic conference held in the chapel of the Second Presbyterian church last night, to discuss ways and means for arousing the evangelistic spirit in the churches. Rev. Dr. Scudder, of the Second Presbyterian church, presided. Among those present from Plainfield were Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, Rev. J. O. McKelvey, Rev. F. D. Tildon, G. Herbert Condict, F. H. Andrews, J. W. Gavett and Walter I. Firstbrook.

Among those who took part in the program was F. H. Andrews, who spoke on "The Need of Intercessary Prayer." The other subjects and speakers were: "The Hunger of the Pastor for the Deeping of Spiritual Life," Rev. Loyal Y. Graham, Jr., of Rahway; "The Evangelistic Note in Our Ministry," Rev. R. W. Mark, of Woodbridge; "The Importance of Utilizing Our Own Ministers in Our Evangelistic Work," Rev. Dr. W. I. Steans, of Westfield; "The Importance of Personal Work," Clarence Buzby, of Elizabeth.

Several suggestions were presented which will be acted upon later. The importance of the week of prayer was discussed; also that of having sermons preached on evangelistic topics from now until next March, when another conference will be held. The personal worker's class was also touched upon as being necessary and Rev. Dr. Steans spoke of the need of co-operation on the part of pastors during the week of prayer, as well as other times.

SHE RANKS WITH GREAT SURGEONS

Dr. Mary Rushmore, of North Plainfield, Operates at Congress Clinic.

'EQUAL OF EUROPEANS'

Only Woman Physician Invited to Perform Operations During the Course of the Congress—She is Noted as a Gynecologist.

Of the 223 clinics and demonstrations held in New York yesterday, which were attended by the visitors to the Clinical Congress of Surgeons, one of the most noteworthy was at the Infirmary for Women at Fifteenth street and Stuyvesant square.

This was presided over by the only woman physician who had been invited to perform operations in the course of the congress—Dr. Mary D. Rushmore of Mercer avenue, North Plainfield. Dr. Rushmore, who is the consultant of the infirmary, is one of the best known gynecologists in the Metropolitan district. She was graduated from the medical school that was connected with the infirmary before Cornell opened its medical courses to women, and has been connected with the infirmary for many years in various capacities. She has the reputation of being a very skillful and successful surgeon and has a large practice in New Jersey.

Her clinic yesterday was attended by many of the women of the Congress and when the last of her three operations was over she was applauded loudly. Among the women doctors who appreciated her skill were: Dr. Alice Purnell, from the Woman's Hospital in Philadelphia; Drs. MacFarland and Clark, also from the Quaker City, and Dr. Mary MacLean, of St. Louis, whose reputation in the West is second to none, her friends here say.

Two of Dr. Rushmore's operations were delicate laparotomies—opening of the abdominal regions. She was aided by Dr. Wilhelmina Ragland, her regular asistant, who recently joined the staff of the infirmary. Dr. Ragland got her degree in 1909 from the Woman's College in Philadelphia, having previously taken a course at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in San Francisco. She has just returned from a year of study abroad.

"While I was abroad," said Dr. Ragland yesterday. "I saw gynecological operations in all the leading hospitals and Dr. Rushmore was the equal of any of the European surgeons."

Dr. Rushmore is a native of New York State, and after spending a number of years in New York, where she was educated in medicine and surgery, she removed to Bound Brook. She did not practice at that place. A year ago she removed to 67 Mercer avenue, North Plainfield, and has since been practicing here. Dr. Rushmore's brother, Dr. Edward Rushmore, is a practicing physician at Tuxedo, N. Y.

The registration at the Congress of Surgeons last night reached 2,600—three times as large as that at Philadelphia last year. Among the visitors are four hundred Canadians and several surgeons from South America. There is a strong sentiment in favor of Chicago as the meeting place for next year, and that city probably will be chosen tomorrow night.

C. OF C. WILL HELP COUNCIL

City Planning Committee Designed to Co-operate With Municipal Fathers.

NOT FOR CRITICISM

New Committee is to Devote All Its Time to Boosting and Developing Plainfield—Publicity Plans Out Next Week.

The Chamber of Commerce at a special meeting last night took steps to co-operate with the Common Council, to watch for certain needed improvements, to assist in bringing desirable manufacturing industries here, to help in the establishment of parks. The general air is to co-operate and not to criticise. There is to be organized a City Planning Committee. President George L. Babcock will name the members in a few days after he has had time to select men who will be willing to give their time and attention to the work as outlined.

Eleven new members were elected, including Councilman-elect Stanley E. Gunnison, Jr., and Captain Samuel L. Crossing, a port captain in New York, who resides at 1118 East Seventh street, and who was proposed by Captain J. E. Curtis, a personal friend. The new members are as follows: Captain Samuel L. Crossing, Laggren & Green, George A. Post, Harry C. Van Emburgh, William L. Smalley, J. J. Varley, Stanley E. Gunnison, Jr., Lloyd Osborn, H. N. McNenimen, W. S. Maltby and Frank A. Neal.

There was also a lively discussion regarding the proposed plans for advertising Plainfield and it was decided to make public the plan within the next week. There are some details yet to be worked out and until that is accomplished the committee which has the matter in charge does not care to divulge the scheme. The next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held on Thursday, December 5.

PROFITED NAUGHT BY $100 CONTRIBUTION

Stewart Says He Doesn't Think Sum Given Wilson Club Aided Election.

According to his statement filed with City Clerk James T. MacMurray, it cost Percy H. Stewart $132 to be elected Mayor of the city on November 5. The amount is divided as follows: $47 to the Monarch Printing Company for posters; $63 to the Plainfield postoffice for stamps and envelopes; $9 to the Newark Billposting Company; $5 to F. L. Stevens for multographing letters; $8 to W. E. Scudder for letter-heads. Accompanying the deposition is a statement from Mr. Stewart in which he says that on August 4, 1912, he gave to Calvin E. Brodhead, as a contribution to the Wilson and Marshall Club, the sum of $100, but he does not regard that as an aid to his election as mayor.

Councilman-elect Francis J. Blatz, of the Fourth ward, expended $33.15, according to his statement, divided as follows: $15.40 to the Plainfield postoffice for stamps and envelopes; $12.75 to the Central Publishing Company for printing letters and advertisement and $5 to Jeremiah Van Winkle for painting transparency.

William Kitchen's Barn Destroyed With Its Contents —$1,000 Loss.

Fire destroyed William Kitchen's barn on Everett place, early this afternoon, causing a loss of about $1,000. There was no live stock in the structure, but all of the hay, straw, farming implements, wagons and the like were destroyed. What caused the fire is a mystery.

An alarm was sent in and the department responded. The automobile engine reached a point about one hundred yards from the burning building when it got stuck in the sand and was unable to render any assistance. The fire had progressed to such an extent that the barn was beyond saving.

WIDOW'S CLAIM NOT BEFORE COMMISSION

Mosquito Board Not Yet Officially Aware of Mrs. Croney's Action.

The Union County Mosquito Extermination Commission has not yet received official notice of the claim made against the county by the widow of George H. Croney, of Plainfield, who died as the result of an injury received while employed by the commission as an inspector. For this reason no action was taken on the claim at the meeting this week. The bill was presented to the Board of Freeholders at its meeting last week and was referred to County Attorney Codington and the commission.

The report of Chief Inspector John O'Brien was received and accepted. From it the reports of the commission to the State Experimental Station and to the Board of Freeholders will be drafted and presented early in December.

It was decided to keep on the same number of men now employed as long as the weather permits, as there is a lot of brush-cutting and other similar field work that can be done before spring. In the course of other routine matters, Messrs. Hope and Richards were appointed a committee to represent Union county in planning for better co-operation between the commission of this and Essex counties. The exhibit to be placed in the exposition to be held next month was informally discussed.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS HAVE SPOOKY TIME IN YARD

The party then gathered around a campfire which was built in the back yard and lighted by Misses Terry and Fedderman. The girls sang songs composed by "Ann" Hull and "Peg" Ewart and told ghost stories until the yard was "spooky."

Miss Terry then presented many of the girls with honor beads which they had won by doing deeds of importance. For every deed one bead is awarded. C. M. Luckey took a flashlight picture of the group after which they went into the house and light refreshments were served. The club is popular in the school and the membership is increasing rapidly. It is called "Heowanka."

ASK RECEIVER FOR LIEBOVITZ

Move Threatens to Block Liquidation of Assets out of Bankruptcy.

CREDITORS ARE DIVIDED

Majority of Them, Who Favor Co-operative Handling of Assets, Object to Receivership as Unnecessary—Letter From Committee.

Frederick W. Wakefield, Joseph Leerburger and William I. Spiegelberg, comprising the creditors' committee of the creditors of Herman Liebovitz, trading under the names of the Grosso Silk Petticoat Co., Grosso Trading Company and Novelty Lace and Embroidery Co., who has a factory on Watchung avenue, this city, has addressed a letter to the creditors announcing that the appointment of a receiver is impending.

In this letter the committee states that it regrets that all of the creditors have not seen fit to act in unison in having the assets of Mr. Liebovitz liquidated out of bankruptcy, especially in view of the fact that a majority of the creditors have consented to the deed of trust to Mr. Sage. On November 11, a petition in bankruptcy was filed by the National Embroidery Company with a claim of $1,000, Francis Abrahams, with a claim of $12, and Max Rouss, with a claim of $177.10.

"We have opposed the appointment of a receiver on the ground that no receiver is at present necessary, as Mr. Sage is taking care of the assets," says the letter. "We beg to notify you that if it should subsequently become necessary in view of these proceedings to ask for the appointment of a receiver, we shall apply to the court for the appointment of Mr. Sage."

CONTINENTAL CHAPTER HAS HAD A GOOD YEAR

Activity and Growth Mark D. A. R. Organization's Year —Officers Elected.

The annual meeting of Continental Chapter, D. A. R., was held yesterday afternoon at the home of the regent, Mrs. Edward G. Read. The officers of the past year were in the main re-elected. The following is the list of officers:

Mrs. Edward G. Read, regent; Mrs. David P. Hall, first vice regent; Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, second vice regent; Mrs. Stephen R. Struthers, secretary; Mrs. Charles P. Leggett, registrar; Miss Addie Dietrich, treasurer. Board of Management, Mrs. George O. Stevens, Miss Sarah Manning, Mrs. A. Van Doren Honeyman, Mrs. Edward L. Finch.

Six new members have been added to the chapter during the year just closed, and these were very heartily welcomed. The appeal of the National Society, D. A. R., to every chapter for the presevation of matters of local history, family, church and court records, etc., was discussed, and the chapter voted to subscribe for the "Somerset County Historical Quarterly," which will be sent each year to the library of Memorial Continental Hall, Washington, D. C. This publication will print much of the genealogical and historical matter that has come to Continental Chapter for the Washington Rock Memorial volume, and by this means this valuable and interesting information will not only be permanently preserved, but will be accessible to anyone making research.

Twenty-five dollars was voted to the Ellen Mecum Memorial Scholarship Fund. This fund of $1,000 is being raised by the chapters of New Jersey as a fitting memorial of Miss Mecum, who for years as State regent, vice president general and in various other capacities worked most efficiently along the lines of patriotic education. The interest of this fund will be placed each year by the regents of New Jersey at their annual meeting in Trenton.

The Washington Rock Memorial Committee gave a most enthusiastic and gratifying report. The sum of $2,952.80 is in hand and the work is very nearly completed. When nature has accepted this patriotic innovation and added her finishing touches of grace and beauty there will be a highly satisfactory result.

The chapter congratulates itself upon a most successful year's work.

HOOD'S STORY OF MARITAL WOES

Wealthy Society Man Unburdens Himself on History of Wedded Life.

QUARRELS FREQUENT

Statement, Wife Says, is Desperate Tactics of Desperate Man—Aunt Refuses to Say Whether Niece is One Mentioned.

The old, old story of "two much mother-in-law" figures conspicuously in the marital woes of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Hood, according to a statement made to a reporter for the Daily Press today by Mr. Hood, who is being sued by his wife, Frances Sparks Hood, for a divorce. Plainfield society is all stirred up over the sensation and sides are being taken in the scandal.

When seen today by the Daily Press man, Mr. Hood frankly told his version of the case in which another woman figures. The wealthy retired civil engineer, whose beautiful estate on Stelle avenue is one of the show places of the city, was found at Truell Inn, where he is living temporarily. His wife and her mother, the latter a Philadelphia society matron, are holding the fort at the Hood mansion, which is in the name of the wife. As told yesterday efforts are being made to get the wife to deed back to him this $100,000 estate.

Mr. Hood says that for the last three years the feature of their wedded life had been quarrels and that his wife has only continued to live with him because he had refused to make a settlement on her.

The first serious quarrel according to Mr. Hood's statement, was due to a letter alleged to have been addresed to Mrs. Hood, which he asserts fell into his hands.

After descanting on this alleged letter, Mr. Hood went on to say:

"It had much to do with my leaving a fine business career at its pinnacle of success and spending 1906-1907 in Europe with her. A bid for the great Manhattan bridge had been submitted by me within 48 hours of this situation.

"On October 4, 1912, Mrs. Hood locked me out of my own house on Stelle avenue, bought, furnished and maintained solely with my own money and by my own personal labor, on the job daily for almost three years and the title recorded in her name only to safeguard her and under as clear an agreement as could exist between two living persons that she should and would return it to me upon request. As that home is the strongest public argument I have of my good intentions to do my full half to make a happy home, I am unwilling to make it a battlefield, so my redress must be through the courts.

"For the past three years Mrs. Hood and I have been quarreling continuously and have remained together only because I have refused to make a cash lump sum settlement upon her instead of a legal alimony stopping upon her re-marriage. In September, 1911, a separation occurred which we intended to be final, but as the eternal money question was still unsettled we met in Paris on February 5, 1912, and agreed to make another trial until February 5, 1913, but both agreed last spring that this trial was a miserable failure.

"We have lived together as man and wife only two months in the past sixteen months. This failure is an impetuous second marriage without

OFFER OF TWO PIANOS FREE ENTHUSIASTICALLY RECEIVED

Individuals, Lodges and Churches Interested in Daily Press Plan to Give Superb Instruments to Winners of Unique Contest—If You Have Not Read of it do so Now.

Can you think of anything more desirable in the home, Sunday-school or lodge room, than a handsome automatic player-piano, the product of a firm with a reputation second to none in the country for skilled workmanship? That is what a good many individuals, lodges and Sunday-school members in Plainfield and surrounding towns are considering about just now, and plans for a determined effort to secure the subscriptions of friends to the Daily Press are being made. Not a few lodge members have decided to bring the matter up at the first meeting and several fraternal organizations have already been nominated by individual members.

This morning the pastor of one of the best known churches in Plainfield visited the Daily Press office to inquire about the contest, and after inspecting the pianos, on exhibition in Joseph Sattels' warerooms, at 108 North avenue, and learning that there is no gambling taint on the enterprise, said he felt sure that his Sunday-school would enter the competition. "Even if we do not get the player-piano, or the piano which the Press is offering as prizes, we can feel that the school coffers will be enriched to ten per cent. of the money which may be given to the Press to pay the subscriptions, so no matter what may happen, we will have a fair return for our trouble. I am going to get my people to work at once on this matter, and you can rest assured that they will be heard from before the contest closes on December 21."

The conditions of this, the fairest and most unique subscription contest ever conducted by a newspaper, are

Different Keyboards

Would you like what they call a flexible keyboard? That is, if you depress the wrong key in the column, by depressing the right one you automatically restore the wrong key to normal and set up the proper amount to be printed on the machine.

Other people like the lock-keyboard, which prevents any possibility of error in having your fingers strike the wrong key in the column after the right one has been depressed.

We make adding machines to suit people; to suit the conditions under which they have to work.

We make both kinds of keyboards.

Of course, we make the best of both kinds, because we scientifically standardize the results. We can't afford to do anything else because we take care of the machines after we sell them.

TAFT FIXES TOLLS OF PANAMA CANAL

Charges Almost Similar to Those of Suez.

PASSENGERS WILL BE FREE

Figured That Canal Will Be Self Supporting In First Decade and That It Will Pay For Its Great Cost Later.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Business and shipping interests of the entire world are interested in a proclamation by President Taft fixing the rates of toll on vessels passing through the Panama canal.

With the proclamation was made public a report by Professor Emery R. Johnson of the University of Pennsylvania, the government's Panama transportation expert, showing the probable development of traffic through the canal. Professor Johnson figures that under the system of tolls promulgated by the president the canal will be self supporting during the first decade and that in the second and succeeding decades the revenue ought to be sufficient to permit of the ultimate amortization of the entire $375,000,000 invested in the canal.

The tolls fixed by the president are practically those charged by the Suez canal, with which the American waterway will compete for a part of the world's shipping. The Panama canal however, will not impose any toll on passengers, while the Suez charges 10 francs for each passenger.

Text of Proclamation.

Here is the president's proclamation

"I, William Howard Taft, president of the United States of America, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the act of congress approved Aug. 24, 1912, to provide for the opening, maintenance, protection and operation of the Panama canal and the sanitation and government of the canal zone, do hereby prescribe and proclaim the following rates of toll to be paid by vessels using the Panama canal.

"First.—On merchant vessels carrying passengers or cargo, one dollar and twenty cents ($1.20) per net vessel ton each one hundred (100) cubic feet of actual earning capacity.

"Second.—On vessels in ballast, without passengers or cargo, forty (40) per cent less than the rate of tolls for vessels with passengers or cargo.

"Third.—Upon naval vessels, other than transports, colliers, hospital ships and supply ships, fifty (50) cents per displacement ton.

"Upon army and navy transports, colliers, hospital ships and supply ships, one dollar and twenty cents ($1.20) per net ton, the vessels to be measured by the same rules as are employed in determining the net tonnage of merchant vessels.

"The secretary of war will prepare and prescribe such rules for the measurement of vessels and such regulations as may be necessary and proper to carry this proclamation into full force and effect."

CALIFORNIA STILL DOUBTFUL

Roosevelt Now Has Plurality of 45, but Wilson Is Gaining

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—With one precinct in the state missing and forty two counties out of fifty-eight officially canvassed, Roosevelt's plurality, as shown by a retabulation, was 45 over Wilson.

These figures did not include a reported Wilson gain of sixty-four in Los Angeles, where the official canvass is still in progress. Earlier figures had given Wilson a plurality of 47 in the state exclusive of the Los Angeles gain.

The missing precinct is estimated to poll twelve votes, and with the margin so narrow it was apparent that the state would not be out of doubt until the entire canvass is completed.

WILSON INDICATES HE'LL ACT ON TARIFF

Declares His Campaign Pledges Will Be Kept.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 14.—Governor Wilson said that he expects to fulfill the promises he made during his campaign with respect to the tariff and big business, and he intimated that he feels there is a broad and general understanding that he will do so. It was during a discussion of his routine for the day that he dropped a hint or two on these points.

"I am going through my mail as rapidly as possible," he said. "I find very few suggestions as to the extra session question or about the cabinet. The letters are almost all of a congratulatory nature, with now and then a word about the cabinet. Nobody seems to think it necessary to ask questions about the tariff or monopolies."

"Do you mean that people seem to take it for granted that your campaign pledges will be carried out?"

"My pledges certainly will be carried out, so far as I am concerned," replied the governor.

When it was said that some congressmen were urging the taking up of the tariff problem by a committee which would report to the house at the first session of the new congress rather than the calling of an extra session in March of next year, the governor smiled and said:

"The tariff has been a subject of investigation for many years. I have studied it all my life."

OUR EX-PRESIDENTS.

Suggestion is made by William Jennings Bryan that the former Presidents and former Vice Presidents of the United States be given the privileges of the floor of the Senate and that to the former Presidents be also extended the privileges of the floor of the House, but that in no case be included the right to vote or to serve on committees. This is the Commoner's solution of "what will we do with our ex-Presidents?" Would it not be a better, a more dignified plan to grant the retiring Presidents and Vice Presidents a pension equivalent to their salaries in offices and thus insure them an income to spend their last years in the quiet enjoyment of a retired life?

In the Forum column today we publish a letter received from Robert C. Woodhouse commending the political independence, "enterprise and energy shown by the Daily Press." We deeply appreciate Mr. Woodhouse's kindly expressions and respond by telling him that it is our firm purpose to strive to merit the confidence reposed in us by improving the paper continually and making it more useful and more needful in the community and to the community's interests. Expressions of appreciation naturally cheer us on our way. We treasure particularly this word of approval from Mr. Woodhouse, because "praise from Sir Hubert is praise, indeed."

"Bob" Fitzsimmons jumps into first page news in a New York morning paper, figuring as the hero who knocked down a masher in a subway car. The Dunellen man's press agent has pulled off that same trick many times before to get desirable notoriety. Chicago and St. Louis papers "fell" for the same yarn when the pugilist was doing a vaudeville turn in those cities and on more than occasion New York papers have been "stung" with the identical story.

The State has engaged an expert to probe the accounts of all county collectors and we imagine the examiner will be given a hearty welcome by the efficient collector of Union county, Nathan R. Leavitt, who will thus be afforded an opportunity on the eve of his retirement to let the people know how well he has performed his work.

The Honorable "Jim" Nugent, of Essex county, the once powerful boss who publicly called Woodrow Wilson "an ingrate and a liar," yesterday on bended knee proclaimed fealty to the Governor's cause, swearing that his forces in the Legislature would join the ranks of the Governor's legion and assist in carrying out his plan of campaign.

The Elizabeth Journal is doing a notable work in raising funds to erect a suitable monument to that popular and earnest priest and good citizen, the late Dean Gessner, and it is a splendid tribute to his memory to learn that Protestants, Catholics and Hebrews alike are generously contributing to the fund.

One of the best addresses Woodrow Wilson has made since his advent in politics was that delivered by him on Tuesday at the State Home for Girls when he got a chance to drop politics and discuss a sociological problem.

Mayor-elect Percy H. Stewart's statement shows that he spent $132 for campaign purposes. That will leave him $118 of his first year's salary. Wonder what he's going to do with all that money?

Are not the Republican organs stirring up the Filipino independence agitation simply to embarrass the President-elect?

If you have not already done so, read the remarkable offer made by the Daily Press on page five today.

Good afternoon; are you a candidate for postmaster?

STORY OF MARITAL WOES

children with a pretty, stylish, doll-like woman, complicated by the eternal mother-in-law problem in an aggravated form and mercenary conditions."

When confronted with the statement made by her husband, Mrs. Hood said, "When the case comes up in court, everything will be known, and the true facts will come out. Mr. Hood is a desperate man and he is using desperate tactics. On the advice of my lawyers, McCarter & English, of Newark, I will make no further statement."

A Miss Dorothy Hoyt is mentioned in Mrs. Hood's libel for a divorce as the young woman with whom her husband had committed indiscretions at the Hotel Carleton, London, on the high seas and in Plainfield. So far as could be learned there is but one Miss Hoyt in Plainfield. She is Miss D. Hoyt, of 686 West Eighth street. When an effort was made to get in touch with the latter it was stated by her aunt, Mrs. Fields, that Miss Hoyt is now in England. She is living in London with a companion, Miss Laura Supertino, according to Mrs. Fields.

When asked the direct question whether Miss D. Hoyt, her niece, was the one mentioned in the divorce proceedings, Mrs. Fields said:

"I have nothing to say regarding this as I want nothing for publication."

WANTED GIRL; KILLED BOY.

Cincinnati Parents Threw Their Ten-day-old Baby Into the River.

Cincinnati, Nov. 14.—Disappointed because their ten-day-old baby was a boy when they wanted a girl, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kipp, each twenty-two years old, wrapped the child in a shawl and tossed him into the Ohio river.

They were arrested, and the husband confessed, blaming his wife for wanting to dispose of the child. When arraigned in court their cases were continued to Nov. 27. The child's body was not recovered.

DISARMING NICARAGUA.

Country Wide Collection of Firearms to Prevent Revolt.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Disarmament of an entire country was the new policy to prevent revolutions in Central America, disclosed by the state department.

Every rifle, revolver or other firearm in Nicaragua is being collected, American Minister Weitzel reported, and placed in the government arsenal.

Lost Strike, Salaries Cut.

Cardiff, Wales, Nov. 14.—Angered by its failure to win the recent coal strike in south Wales, the Miners' federation adopted a resolution to cut the federation officers' salaries 50 per cent. The officers replied they would oppose the cut by a strike of their own.

"SID ALLEN KILLED ME."

Judge Massie's Dying Words Repeated at Murder Trial.

Wytheville, Va., Nov. 14.—Judge Thornton L. Massie's dying words, said as he lay on the floor of his courtroom in Hillsville, were repeated at the trial of Sidna Allen to sustain the state's claim that the leader of the mountain gang was the one who fired the shots that killed the judge.

Dr. C. B. Nickolls said Judge Massie recognized him and declared: "I'm dying. Sid Allen shot me. Sid Allen killed me."

Alumni Give $262,510.

Rochestet, N. Y., Nov. 14.—It was announced at the University of Rochester that $262,510 had been contributed to the endowment fund by alumni out of town. Dr. L. R. Holt of New York gave $10,000, J. Sloat Fassett of Elmira $5,000 and F. R. Welles, Paris, $12,000.

GOVERNOR W. C. M'DONALD

New Mexico Executive Is Critically Ill of Bright's Disease.

Governor William C. McDonald, first executive of the state of New Mexico, is reported critically ill of Bright's disease. He was born in Herkimer county, N. Y., in 1858. He went to Fort Scott, Kan., in 1880 and while there was admitted to the bar. The same year he went to New Mexico. For ten years he did surveying and mining engineering and in 1890 took charge of the Carrizozo ranch and has held the position of manager ever since. He has a wife and one daughter.

RIOTOUS SCENES IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

Unionists Refuse to Permit Home Rule Debate.

London, Nov. 14.—The house of commons was the scene of a riot over Premier Asquith's proposal to rescind the action of Monday, when the Unionists carried by a majority of twenty-two Sir Frederick Banbury's amendment defeating the most important financial feature of the home rule bill.

The Unionists refused to permit the debate and the speaker was forced to adjourn the session on account of the disorder. This is an extremely rare necessity and the situation is considered a critical one.

The uproar far exceeded that which stifled Premier Asquith's speech when he introduced the home rule bill and has not been equaled since the free fight over Gladstone's first home rule measure. The members were taunted with epithets like "traitors" and "apes." Sir William Bull, Unionist member for Hammersmith, was ordered from the floor for repeatedly calling Mr. Asquith "a traitor."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The football eleven played the former Westfield High School team yesterday afternoon instead of the faster East Orange eleven. The local boys felt that East Orange was too strong for them when Captain VanZandt put the question to vote.

They could have played East Orange just as well, for the Mt. Ararat boys gave them a nice little drubbing.

There hasn't been a game so far that the local H. S. fullback has not been Good both in name and action. He scored the only touchdown for P. H. S. yesterday.

The Netherwoods cancelled the game with Stillman yesterday afternoon in order to let the P. H. S. eleven have Parker Field for its game with Westfield.

The Chess Club has opened with a fairly good-sized membership. This feature of school activity is becoming more popular every year.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The Sophomore basketball team held its first practice on Captain French's private court. Many candidates responded and it looks as though the second classmen will make the other teams hustle in the class league. Ralph Smalley, who never before has entered into this branch of athletics, showed up very well in centre because of his weight and reach. Those who reported are Duclos Van Mater, Edson Day, Lester Chandler, Hoyt Thomkinson, Ralph Smalley and Captain French.

About ten members of the High School attended a party Monday night at the home of Miss Helen Woodruff.

Charles Beekman and E. Franklin Lowe have been appointed by the Junior class to look after the wigs for the members of the play cast.

Owing to the fact that so many entertainments are to be given on the Fridays of December the Junior class has decided to present "The Rivals" as their annual play on Thursday evening, December 12, at the Park Club. Dancing will follow the play.

Many members of the High School who cannot dance have taken advantage of Miss Watson's dancing class which meets every Thursday night at the Holy Cross Parish House.

Martin McDonough, a freshman, won the "caddies" cup at the Park Club Tuesday with Warner Townley, also a freshman, second.

The Phi Psi, the most popular "frat" in High School, held a meeting at the home of Charles Beckman last night. After a long business meeting refreshments were served and a general social time was enjoyed.

Clara Smith, last year's basketball team star guard, has been elected captain of this year's team. She will make a good one, because she has had plenty of experience.

The Junior class held a meeting this morning and committees and managers for the play were appointed. Professor Mertz consented to be stage manager with Alfred Schroeder and Robert McGunnel as assistants. Ashley Burner and Frank Dunning will attend to the business end, while Roy Love, E. Franklin Lowe and Helen Woodruff will act as advertising agents. The girls of the class have consented to act as ushers which will be a new feature in High School. Under the direction of Augustus Van Deventer, Mary Bennett, Sadie Bornmann, Edna Green, Aline Giddes and Lois Peck, will act in this capacity. They will each wear a band across the left shoulder bearing the class colors, brown and gold.

TURKS' ENVOY STARTS FOR PEACE MEETING

No Fear Now of General War in Europe—Eight Days' Armistice in Effect.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

London, Nov. 14.—There is a general feeling here today that a termination of the Balkan War is at hand. Acting on the advice of Russia, Turkey has opened negotiations directly with the allies who appear satisfied of the good faith of the Porte and an eight days' armistice is now in effect.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Paris, Nov. 14.—It was reported here today that Turkish Minister of Posts and Telegraphs Musurus Bey is on his way to Sofia as the Sultan's peace envoy.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

London, Nov. 14.—Information from high diplomatic quarters in Paris and Berlin are to the effect that all of the largest European powers have definitely agreed as to the policy they will observe in relation to any further developments in the Balkan situation. These advices are that no matter what action may be taken by the present combatants, upon the conclusion of the armistice just arranged none of the large powers will be involved. All apprehension of a general conflict is said to have passed.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, Nov. 14.—Oscar S. Straus, former ambassador to Turkey, received the following cable today from Ambassador Rockhill at Constantinople:

"There are now over 14,000 sick and wounded soldiers here. Cholera seems to be increasing fast. Much sickness and destitution among the many thousand refugees."

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Constantinople, Nov. 14.—Cholera was spreading alarmingly here today. There were 400 deaths yesterday in one army camp.

SPAIN'S NEW PREMIER.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Madrid, Nov. 14.—Count Romamones was appointed Premier of Spain today, succeeding Canalajas. The Count is a liberal who has never been very prominent in political life.

SEVEN HURT BY EXPLOSION.

Tower City, North Dakota, Nov. 14.—Seven persons were injured in the explosion of a gas tank in a hotel here today. The building was demolished.

THE FORUM.

PRAISE FROM SIR HUBERT.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Now that the election is over and the smoke of battle has cleared away it occurs to the writer that the Daily Press deserves considerable commendation for the fearless and independent stand which it has taken in political affairs. The day of the hide-bound partisan paper is past, never to return; it together with the strictly partisan voter, should be relegated to the "Old Curiosity Shop."

Many people wonder what is the matter with Plainfield. The trouble with Plainfield is similar to that affecting the Republican party—the getting into a rut from which it is incapable or disinclined to extricate itself. I firmly believe that the enterprise and energy shown by the Daily Press will have more to do with the awakening and rejuvenation of Plainfield than any other factor.

Let the good work go on and rest assured that your fearlessness on public questions is appreciated by the majority of citizens of this community.

MANY STATES WILL HAVE NEW GOVERNORS

Twelve Democrats and Eight Republicans Among the Winners.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14 (Special).—Many changes among the chief executives of the different States will take place next January as a result of the recent elections. Of the twenty-eight States that balloted for governors only nine re-elected their present executives. The governors fortunate enough to be re-elected for another term are Simeon E. Baldwin, Democrat, of Connecticut; Eugene N. Foss, Democrat, of Massachusetts; Adolph O. Eberhart, Republican, of Minesota; Coleman L. Blease, Democrat, of South Carolina; Ben W. Hooper, Republican-Fusion, of Tennessee; Oscar B. Colquitt, Democrat, of Texas; William Spry, Republican, of Utah; Francis E. McGovern, Republican, of Wisconsin, and Abram J. Pothier, Republican, of Rhode Island.

Of the new governors twelve are Democrats and eight are Republicans.

Elias M. Ammons, Democrat, succeeds Governor Shafroth, Democrat in Colorado.

Charles R. Miller, a prominent citizen of Wilmington, succeeds Governor Pennewill, of Delaware. Both are Republicans.

Park Trammell, at present attorney-general of Florida, will become governor in succession to Albert K. Gilchirst. Both are Democrats.

John M. Haines, Republican, will succeed James H. Hawley, Democrat, as governor of Idaho.

Edward F. Dunne, former mayor of Chicago, has been elected by the Democrats of Illinois to succeed Governor Deneen, Republican.

Governor Marshall, of Indiana, who will be vice president of the United States after March 4, will be succeeded by another Democrat, Samuel M. Ralston, of Lebanon.

In Iowa, Governor Carroll, Republican, will be succeeded by George W. Clarke, also a Republican. Mr. Clarke is at present lieutenant-governor.

The State of Michigan followed the lead of the nation by electing a "schoolmaster" to the office of chief executive. Woodbridge N. Ferris, Democrat, who will succeed Governor Osborn, Republican, has devoted his life to educational work.

Governor Hadley, of Missouri, Republican, will be succeeded by Elliott W. Major, Democrat, who has served as attorney-general of his State.

Governor Norris, Democrat, of Montana, will be succeeded by Samuel V. Stewart, also a Democrat.

John H. Morehead, of Falls City, headed the Democratic ticket in Nebraska and will succeed Chester H. Aldrich, Republican, in the governorship next January.

No gubernatorial candidate in New Hampshire obtained the necessary plurality and in consequence the choice of the governor devolves upon the legislature. The Republican will have control of that body and will elect Franklin Worcester to succeed Governor Bass.

William Sulzer, who is to succeed Governor Dix, of New York, has long been prominent in Democratic circles. He is a former Speaker of the New York general assembly and has a record of eighteen years' service in Congress.

Locke Craig, elected to succeed Governor Kitchin, of North Carolina, is one of the noted lawyers of his State.

Louis B. Hanna, Republican, who is to become governor of North Dakota in succession to John Burke, Democrat, has been a representative in Congress since 1909.

Another congressman elevated to the governorship in his State is James M. Cox, Democrat, who has been named governor of Ohio in succession to Governor Harmon.

Frank M. Byrne, Republican, elected to succeed Governor Vessey, of South Dakota, is at present lieutenant governor of the State.

Ernest Lister, a leader in Democratic politics in Tacoma, will succeed M. E. Hay, Republican, as governor of the State of Washington.

The election of Dr. H. D. Hatfield as governor of West Virginia in succession to William E. Glasscock was one of the surprises of the November battle of the ballots. Dr. Hatfield is a friend of President Taft, though he ran on a Republican Progressive ticket. He is a nephew of "Cap" Hatfield, the clan leader who managed to fill columns of newspaper space in the days when the famous Hatfield-McCoy feud flourished in the mountains of West Virginia and Kentucky.

INTERDENOMINATIONAL.

At the meeting to be held by the Plainfield Federation of Women's Missionary Societies on November 22, Mrs. Gabriel Reid Maguire will preside. Two special features of the program will be a recitation by Miss Pauline Gates and a portrayal of the story of the Neg Perce Indians seeking the White Man's Book of Heaven. Miss Addie Parker Jackson will be the reader of this story. Mrs. Robert Giddis will sing and a well known speaker will address the meeting.

Y. M. C. A. MOTION PICTURES.

The program for the motion picture entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday will include "Rip Van Winkle," "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address," and a comedy film.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Horn, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Guernsey, of South Plainfield, and Dominick Moran, of Perth Amboy, were recently entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lyons, of West Fourth street.

OFFER PIANOS

fully described in a large advertisement to be found on another page of this issue. At the Press office someone will always be prepared to answer questions and at the Sattels' warerooms, where the player-piano offered for first prize, and the piano offered as second prize are on exhibition in the window, the two instruments can be tried and heard by any one who cares to stop to see them. Not a day has passed since they were placed on exhibition that many have not called to admire them and commend the Press for making it possible to secure two such valuable instruments.

One of the features of the contest which mark it as unusual is that which provides that no subscription will be accepted unless it is for a paper to be delivered to a bona-fide address within a radius of fifteen miles of Plainfield. This feature has been commended by several of the local merchants, for it convinces them that the Daily Press aims to increase its circulation within the immediate territory to which they appeal for trade thus making the paper more valuable to them as an advertising medium. As is well known, circulation is a most important factor for a newspaper to have from an advertiser's point of view, and since the Daily Press came under the present ownership on January 1 last the greatest aim of the publishers has been to increase the circulation so that the advertisers would get even more for their money than heretofore. Contests are never run for pecuniary profit, and this will be no exception, the entire plan being simply to increase the circulation. It may readily be seen that with $800 worth of pianos as prizes, and each contestant receiving ten per cent. of the money which they may secure for subscriptions, the Daily Press is not contemplating the addition of any great surplus above the expense of the campaign.

Read the conditions elsewhere. If you have not already sent a name in to be entered in the list of contestants when they are published next week, do so at once. The contest is open to any man or woman over eighteen years of age, and to any organization which may care to compete. Read the conditions in the advertisement on another page, and then see all your friends and tell them not to give their subscriptions to anyone else, and also tell them to save the coupons in the paper so that they can be deposited in the ballot box which will also be placed next week.

The Bible Study Class of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church which usually meets Friday night, will postpone its meeting for one week, on account of the rally service to be held at the First M. E. church, tomorrow night.

MISSION GETS WORSHIPPERS OUT OF BED IN THE DARK

Franciscan fathers from Paterson are conducting a mission at St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, Stony Hill. The attendance has been large. The services began last Sunday and will continue until next Sunday afternoon.

The order of the day during the mission is as follows: 5:30 a. m., mass, with instructions; 8 a. m., mass, with instructions; 7:30 p. m., mission sermon.

Not only has the attendance at 8 and 7:30 services been large, but at the early morning mass as well. The countryside about the little hill hamlet wears a somewhat eerie air in the early morning as the lanterns of the worshippers on their way to the 5:30 o'clock mass bob here and there along through the woods and the roads about them.

FUNERAL OF MRS. LYNCH TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Funeral services for Mrs. Lawrence Lynch, who died Tuesday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Feaster, in Somerset street, North Plainfield, where she had been making her home for the past fifteen months, will be held tomorrow morning from the home of her son, John Lynch, in New Brunswick. At 8:30 a. m. a solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated in St. Peter's Roman Catholic church, of that place. Interment will be made in St. Peter's cemetery.

Mrs. Lynch was sixty-four years old, and a native of Ireland. She came to this country fifty years ago. Although she had been ailing for several years her condition was not serious until two weeks ago, diabetes causing the end Tuesday.

Besides her husband, two sons, John and James Lynch; two daughters, Mrs. William Feaster and Mrs. Edward Garb, and one sister, survive.

FUNERAL OF ADRIAN MARTIN.

The funeral service of Adrian Martin, who died on Monday, was held at 12 o'clock today at the late home, 60 Summit avenue, North Plainfield. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, of which Mr. Martin was an attendant, officiated. There was a large attendance of friends and neighbors. Mr. Martin was a native of Mt. Horeb, and the burial took place there this afternoon. The pall bearers were Cornelius Giddis, John Gunten, A. Spencer, Charles Coddington, Andrew Mantz and P. Jenner.

INSTALLED OFFICERS.

District Deputy John S. O'Keefe of this city, assisted by his warden installed the recently elected officers of Trenton Council, No. 355, Knights of Columbus, at their headquarters in the Trent theatre building, Trenton last evening. The council was also honored by the visitation of State Deputy Edward J. Sweeney, of Bayonne, the highest K. of C. officer in the State, who addressed the members.

MRS. J. S. LUNGER'S FUNERAL.

The funeral service of Mrs. James S. Lunger was held at the late home, 134 Westervelt avenue, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rev. C. C. Cain, pastor of Grace M. E. church, of which Mrs. Lunger was one of the charter members, officiated. There was a large gathering of relatives and friends and many floral tributes. The burial was in the Methodist cemetery.

GLEE CLUB RECEPTION.

The Unkown Glee Club, colored, will give its first annual reception and dance tonight in Abrams' Auditorium in West Front street. The committee of arrangements is composed of Archibald Toney, chairman; George White, James Toney, Joseph Brinkley, William Knight and Benjamin Urquhart. BIG WEDDING TONIGHT.

Miss Anna Maxwell Garrigues daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A Garrigues, of Watchung avenue, and Benson Wigton, of Boston, will be married at the Crescent Avenue church at 6 o'clock this evening by Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the church. A reception will follow at the Hartridge Auditorium.

DENTISTS' MONTHLY DINNER.

The Plainfield Dental Society held its monthly dinner and business meeting at the Homestead, on Washington avenue, last night. The dinner was served first, after which there was a discussion of business matters, including the work being carried on at the hospital clinic.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

ASPARAGUS COMBINATIONS.

WHEN asparagus is not in season and canned asparagus is used the cook will find it convenient to economize by combining the asparagus with other vegetables. Many delicious and tempting dishes may be prepared in this way.

In Vegetable Cups.

Asparagus With Carrots.—Unless the asparagus is very tender it should be boiled in salted water and drained. Then put several pieces in a ring that you have cut out of cooked carrot. Lay it on a dish. Sprinkle it with a few green peas and with French dressing.

Asparagus and Cucumbers.—Cook the asparagus tips, and while they are on the fire hollow little cups from cucumbers. When the asparagus is done and cold fill the cups and set them on the ice until ready to serve, then cover them with mayonnaise.

Dainty Salads.

Asparagus and Watercress Salad.—Watercress and asparagus tips may be combined in making an attractive salad. Wash the cress and break it into bits, rejecting the coarser leaves. When ready to serve mix it with French dressing. Heap it in the center of a dish and surround it with iced green and white asparagus tips.

Asparagus and Turnip Salad.—Boil turnips in salted water until tender. Drain and cut out the centers, form in cups and when cold sprinkle with oil and lemon juice. Let stand for half an hour and just before serving arrange the cups on lettuce leaves and fill them with cooked and chilled asparagus tips that have been mixed with French dressing.

Asparagus and Potatoes.—Steam a quart of nice small potatoes and two bundles of the tender stalks of the asparagus. Mash the potatoes, turn out on a hot platter and place the asparagus tips around them. Make a dressing of the yolks of three hard boiled eggs rubbed smooth with half a cupful of melted butter, the juice of a lemon, a saltspoonful of salt and a dash of cayenne. Mix over boiling water and pour over the vegetables just before serving.

FASHION STRAWS.

The New Silhouette Softer In Line Than Last Year's.

The new silhouette, while straight, is much softer in line because of the filmy draperies so much in vogue.

Ribbons with printed floral designs, like the French fabrics of the eighteenth century, are largely employed.

Some waists are made with plaited sections, not only on their fronts and backs, but also on their sleeves.

The sloping cutaway line of the new coats finds an expression in dresses in the slanting lines of surplices and tunics.

EVERYDAY WALKING SUIT.

This illustration displays a stylish suit made from mixed suitings in tan and brown colorings. The trimmings and buttons are of brown. As pictured the suit is an excellent one for everyday use. JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for the coat and skirt for girls of fourteen, sixteen and eighteen years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving numbers—coat 7174 and skirt 7224—and they will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.
Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Jos. Smith, Mrs. Wm. M. Sandford, Jr.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

Monday's issue of the Daily Press contained a full account of the annual meeting of the New Jersey State Congress of Mothers at Riverton, N. J., November 8 and 9. For the benefit of those who read only the Thursday paper containing the Mathers' Column this short account is written.

Mrs. Augustus H. Reese, president of the Congress, presided and the meeting was a great success if the attendance and enthusiasm are indications. Mrs. L. M. Johnson, principal of School of Organic Education, Fairhope, Alabama, gave a description of that school. In this school an effort is made to literally meet the demands of the child. No requirements are made in the first six years, no, so-called lessons, no grades, marks or examinations, no home work given. The children go to schoo to have a good time, to do things, to grow.

The whole test is how is the child at the end of the year physically, mentally and spiritually. Mrs. Johnson believes institutions to be educational must meet the demands of the individual rather than make requirements which he must met, that education is impossible with forty children in a room which is poorly ventilated, an institution has no right to ask "What do you know?" "What have you done?" "Where are your credentials?" but must ask "What do you need?" "How can we serve you?" The standards of an institution are measured by its service not by its requirements. Unless the individual emerges from the institution sounder of body, more intelligent of mind, and more helpful of spirit, the process has not been educational.

The keynote of the Congress was "Construction." Prof. William S. Monroe, of Montclair, gave a very helpful address. Dr. Kimball, State commissioner; Rev. Franklin K. Mathews, of Scotch Plains, and C. W. Williams spoke on construction in the school, home and community. An illustrated lecture on "The Relation of the Public Roads to Child Welfare,' was interesting and surprising, as many do not know how sadly New Jersey roads are in need of repair. Mrs. Grice, mother of the State Congress, reviewed the work of the past twelve years and offered practical suggestions for further work, such as opening the schoolhouses for social centres, providing school lunches, teaching dancing and music in the schools.

Riverton is noted for hospitality and the social features of the Congress were most enjoyable.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Franklin - Stillman - Whittier School has engaged Mrs. M. L. Johnson, of Fairhope, Alabama, who gave such an interesting address at the meeting of the Congress of Mothers at Riverton, to speak to them December 3. An opportunity will be given all who are interested in the education of their children to hear her. Put down the date as Mrs. Johnson has a message for every teacher and parent.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Livingston School, New Brunswich, was organized November 7, with a membership of forty. Officers elected were: President, Miss Emma Tres; vice president, Mrs. Theodore Stoetzel; secretary, Mrs. George D. Johnson; treasurer, Mrs. Charles A. Schenck. They voted to affiliate immediately with the National Congress of Mothers. With the organization of this association every school in New Brunswick has its Parent-Teacher Association. Much credit is due Mrs. D. W. Cooper for such organization.

Prof. Johnstone, of Vineland, N. J., will deliver a lecture in the Roselle High School Auditorium Friday, November 15, an effort is being made to arrange for Prof. Johnstone to come to Plainfield. Many remember his address at the State Congress in this city last year.

The Franklin - Stillman - Whittier Parent-Teacher Association met in the assembly room of the Stillman Building Tuesday afternoon of this week. Mrs. Stephen H. Voorhees presided and a very intersting program was provided. Dr. Clara H. Krans spoke on "What Our Children Ask Us and What We Tell Them." There were over a hundred mothers and teachers present, each one taking away some practical suggestion on this important subject. It is a difficult question to solve both at home and in school as it is necessary not only to want to answer truthfully but to know how to do so. A short report of the Mothers' Congress was given and announcement made of the engagement of Mrs. Johnson for December 3 to speak on "Constructive Education." The refreshment committee consisting of Mrs. Edward McCarthy, Mrs. G. W. V. Moy, Mrs. W. H. P. Veysey, Misses Day, Lansing, Beebe, Trembath, Eason and Ross served sandwiches and bouillon. A social hour followed, during which the subject of the afternoon was discussed and many new members joined the association.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

OUTLAWS FAST ON THE GRIDIRON

Westfield High School Team Puts P. H. S. on the Minus End.

TEAM BEST IN YEARS

Score 19-7—Mt. Ararat Students Can Play Football Even if It is Under an Assumed Name—Forward Passing Again Effective.

Eleven athletes, who were eliminated from the football game at Westfield High School, came to Parker Field yesterday afternoon and proved their assertion that this year's team was the best that the Mt. Ararat institution had ever turned out. They accomplished the feat and showed their gridiron prowess to be of a superior type by rolling up a score of 19 to 7 against the Plainfield High School team, which has, for some years past, taken a delight in trouncing the Westfielders.

Parker Field was not in the best of condition for the sport and this was somewhat of a handicap to the locals who rely almost wholly on agility rather than weight. Plainfield was rescued from a whitewash bath in the third period and for the only time during the game led the visitors by a 7 to 6 count. In this quarter McDowell grabbed a beautifully executed forward pass from Van Zandt on the first play after the kick-off, and raced eighty yards, placing the oval within a foot of the goal line before he was tackled. Good was sent through the line for the first score and afterwards kicked the goal.

Westfield tore high rents in the P. H. S. line time and time and their first touchdown, coming in the second period, was the direct result of consistent line bucking on the part of Elliott and Taylor, who did the lion's share of the visitors' offensive work. Taylor's speed baffled the local tacklers and he was started at a terrific clip almost as soon as the ball was snapped back to him.

In the final period Westfield put the game on ice when Elliot went through the line for his second touchdown and Taylor caught a P. H. S. forward pass that had hit Good's chest and bounded in the air. Taylor raced at breakneck speed over the sixty yards separating him from the scoring station and cleverly eluded tackler after tackler.

In the last few minutes of play McDowell grabbed another forward pass and although he displayed his old time weakness in getting up "steam" succeeded in landing the oval almost one-half inch from the goal line when time was called.

Good and Green did the bulk of the rushing for P. H. S. but McDowell probably gained more ground than any other individual. In the first part of the game the playing was hard and time was called frequently for breathing spells and many substitutes were called in.

"MAC" SAYS

It is getting so now that we get our athletic activities in spasms. The weekends are the only time when football or basketball is scheduled, except when P. H. S. manages to get a mid-week game.

Basketball players to try the stage! Who ever heard of such a thing? Hope they won't need a stage to convey them away from the scene of the tragedy.

It's about time we heard something in regard to that game that Manager Hetfield has up his sleeve for the Y. M. C. A. gym Saturday night.

Again the Manufacturers are trying to squeeze into the limelight. But this time it will not be baseballically, it will have a terpischore effect.

Get ready for the league dance at Sebring's Hall tomorrow night. No, they don't have to go to Staten Island this time of the year.

Over in the borough the feminine athletes seem to have the habit of setting the pace. Miss Clara Smith and her team of basketball players broke down the 1912 basketball banner Monday afternoon. Something seemed to be missing in the initial game and we hope that they will be able to find a remedy before the season is much older.

It's a safe bet that the N. P. H. S. girls' team will be able to hold its own, as it more than did last year. But then the game is one of the most uncertain.

Who said Westfield was not on the football map. It looks as thought it might be well to raise the scholarship average at P. H. S. if it has that effect on a team.

Well, it was a good game anyway. Something to break up the monotony of the week.

Have you noticed the mournful look on a number of the P. H. S. students faces. There's a reason. Friday is a holiday, no school.

MACK GIVES THREE MEN FOR LOS ANGELES STAR

Milwaukee, Nov. 14.—A baseball deal of particular interest was put through previous to the meeting of the National Association of Minor Leagues, when Manager Connie Mack, of the Athletics, announced that he had traded Shortstop Fahey, Pitcher Crabb and Outfielder Maggert for Outfielder Daley, of the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast League.

Daley is rated as a star on the coast, not alone as a fielder, but with the stick, his marks for last year being .302 in batting and .977 in fielding. These, according to minor league magnates here, will likely be eclipsed when the figures for the past season are announced.

WANTS GAMES.

William Conger, the manager of Temple Athletic football team, would like to hear from the manager of a team, averaging not more than 150 pounds, for a game this Saturday afternoon. Address all answers to the above or to J. A. Thompson, Plainfield, N. J.

REDS TO TRAIN AT MOBILE.

Cincinnati, Nov. 14.—President Augustus Herrmann, of the Cincinnati National League Baseball Club, announced today that he had completed arrangements whereby the local team would train next spring at Mobile, Ala.

WATCHUNG HUNT CLUB HAS A STRENUOUS RUN

Riders Finish at the Kennels By the Light of the Moon.

The members of the Watchung Hunt Club enjoyed its longest run of the season, yesterday afternoon, covering a distance of eighteen miles. It was moonlight when the chase was finished at the kennels, and all the hunters agreed that it was the most strenuous one of the year. The hounds were thrown in on the Hamilton farm at South Plainfield, and they led the riders a merry chase over numerous farms to a point near New Brunswick. Circling around the huntsmen then went in the direction of New Market. The first check was made on the Wooden farm, the second one on Dr. G. W. Endicott's farm, and after crossing many other farms, the last check was made on the Boice farm.

R. H. Towner and J. J. O'Donohue both went down on the long run, but were not seriously injured and they were in on the finish. A number of grooms were out exercising horses. C. W. Holland's groom took a tumble into a ditch while riding a green horse, but beyond a shaking up and a few bruises he escaped injury. The following riders finished:

Rufus C. Finch, M. F. H.; H. A. Bourne, Mrs. William Brown, J. Schuyler Casey, Miss Marjorie Dana and Miss Margaret Montgomery, of New York; R. H. Towner, J. J. O'Donohue, Hart S. Farlee, H. F. Hollis and Huntsman Harrison.

SUGGESTS CHANGE OF PRISON LABOR RULES

Contract Work Abolished by Anderson Law and Beneficial Plan Advanced.

Employment of convicts of the New Jerey State prison on work for the benefit of other State institutions is advocated in a report filed today by Samuel W. Kirkbride, president of the New Jersey Prison Labor Commission. Mr. Kirkbride has made an exhuastive investigation of employment of convicts in other States, and he says he sees no reason why the population of the New Jersey prison could not be employed with results of the highest character to the men and financial return to the State.

Now the convicts work under the prison contract labor system, by which certain contractors have been given the privilege of operating the workshops of the institution and selling the products of these shops the same as a private manufacturer would sell. The prison labor plan proposes that the convict labor shall be turned to value of the State by having supplies of various kinds made in the prison shops for other State institutions. This plan would also relieve the convicts of present compulsory employment under the contract labor scheme, and give them time for educational and other modern prison life. The legislature of 1911 abolished prison contract labor, Assemblyman W. de la R. Anderson, of Somerset county, fathering the measure bringing about that result, and when present agreements with contractors expire, all prison contract labor will cease.

ITALIAN OWLS PLAN BAZAAR AND A DANCE

The Italian Nest of Owls, No. 1733, will hold its annual fair and ball Thanksgiving Day and evening, in Saengerbund Hall, North Plainfield. At the fair, which will be held in the afternoon, many valuable and useful articles will be on sale and Mrs. Ercole Brancati will entertain with Italian musical selections. Ottorino Sequarcia will act as director. Dancing will feature the evening.

Ercole Brancati is chairman of the arrangement committee, assisted by William Marangello, Rafael Tozzi, Joseph Clemente and Joseph Tumolo.

WAR SUSPENDED AS TURKEY SEEKS PEACE

Porte Opens Negotiations Directly With Allies.

London, Nov. 14.—The end of the Balkan war is in sight.

Turkey has opened negotiations directly with the allies, having found her appeals to the great powers futile, and should no insuperable difficulty present itself in the discussion of conditions of peace, hostilities are at an end.

Practically the war is already over. A Bulgarian attack in force upon the Tchataldja lines has not been made, and desultory firing was all that went on in that quarter yesterday.

The Bulgarian objections to an armistice without some assurance that it will lead definitely to a conclusion of the war are obvious, and the suspension of operations may be taken as an indication that King Ferdinand and his advisers are satisfied that the Turks do not contemplate further resistance.

In Constantinople it was officially stated that a cessation of hostilities had been arranged. The director of transport informed inquirers at the war office that such was the fact, and simultaneously another official summoned the chief contractors for military supplies and told them that hostilities had ceased and that no further supplies would be required for the front.

Bulgaria already has a representative in Constantinople in the person of M. Popoff, first dragoman of the former Bulgarian legation there, who stayed on at the Russian consulate after the war began, and another diplomatist, M. Nenajevitch, formerly Bulgarian minister at Constantinople, has arrived there.

Musurus Bey, Turkish minister of posts and telegraphs, started for Sofia on Tuesday as one of two Bulgarian delegates.

CADETS OUT FOR DRINKING.

West Point Expels Two and Suspends Two Others.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Two members of the first class of the United States military academy, West Point, Wallace W. Crawford of California and Frank M. Brooks of Minnesota, have been dismissed for violating the regulation against drinking.

For the same offense Robert W. Crawford of New York and Philip L. Thurber of Illinois, also first class men, have been suspended without allowance of pay until Aug. 28, 1913.

STYLE AND SR RELIABILITY

Of Course, These Things Don't Mean Anything to You

The genius gent who "lays the keel" of Rothberg's suits goes to Europe twice a year just to touch finger-tips with the crowd on Bond Street, Oxford Street and Piccadilly.

He observes, makes notes and cribs little ideas from London's smart dressers, and then returns home to work his experience into suits and overcoats for you at prices ranging from $12 to $25

Of course, these things mean nothing to you, but if my suits ceased to possess the extreme style smartness they've been noted for since I opened my new clothes-shop, you'd want to know the reason why.

For de-luxe fashioning, I insist most stubbornly that no store in town can approach my superb suits and overcoats.

JONAS LIE EXHIBITING PAINTINGS IN ROCHESTER

Jonas Lie, formerly of this city, widely known as one of the foremost America painters, is spending a few days in Rochester, N. Y., where he is exhibiting a group of twenty-three paintings at the Gillis galleries. The Rochester Herald of yesterday has the following note of interest concerning Mr. Lie:

"Jonas Lie, considered by many experts as one of the greatest of American painters, is visiting Rochester for a few days and is exhibiting a group of 23 paintings at the Gillis galleries. Mr. Lie was born in Norway in 1880, but came to this country when a young boy. After completing his education in the public schools, he attended the Art Students' League of the National Academy, and at the age of 24 he won a silver medal at the St. Louis exposition. He has been honored by many of the best known art institutions of the country. Two of his masterpieces were on exhibition at Exposition Park last September. His marine pictures and those of New York city scenes are especially noted."

The regular monthly business meeting and social was held by the Epworth League of Monroe Avenue M. E. church in the Epworth House last night.

NEVER GET TOO HEAVY WITH A WHITE HOPE

BROUGHT TO LIGHT.

Plainfield People Receiving the Full Benefit.

There have been many cases like the following in Plainfield. Everyone relates the experience of people we know. These plain, straightforward statements will do much toward relieving the suffering of thousands. Such testimony will be read with interest by many people.

Mrs. Anthony Wahl, R. F. D. No. 1, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I had such distressing pains in my back that I could hardly stand and it was out of the question for me to stoop. I was all crippled up and I knew perfectly well that my kidneys were the cause of my trouble. A neighbor recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to me and on her suggestion, I used them. They gave me almost immediate relief and three boxes changed me from a chronic sufferer to a healthy woman. I still take Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally when a cold settles on my kidneys and they act as a preventive of any serious recurrence of my former trouble. You may publish this account of my experience for the benefit of other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

MURDER VICTIM'S NAME IS KNOWN

Body Identified as Grace Carbone of New Haven.

JENNIE CAVALIERI'S FRIEND

Ernest Dallis, a Driver, Begs Police Not to Disclose His Name For Telling Murdered Victim's Name—He Is Afraid of Gang's Vengeance.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 14.—Investigation into the murder of Grace Carbone, the New Haven woman who resided at 27 Fair street, whose body was found in a pool of water in Georgetown, Conn., last Saturday, has materialized greatly in the past two days, and besides having positively identified the woman, the authorities are now making a countrywide search for Andrew Carbone, husband of the woman; "Hartford Jimmy," "Big Andrew" and "Fred the Baker," pals of the woman who the police of this city say compelled the murdered victim to help the white slave traffic in this and other cities.

Ernest Dallis, a driver for the Smedley company of State street, arrived in this city from Georgetown, where he positively identified the murdered woman by a ring, clothing and by her teeth. He pleaded with the local police to withhold his name from the newspapers because he stated that he "knew the gang" and he knew they would "get him for giving the information to the police." The New Haven authorities made vain efforts to withhold his name, but it leaked out and now Dallis fears for his life.

The police of this city have learned that the white slavers, whose headquarters were in Brooklyn, many times shipped different girls to this city on the New Haven boat. They would remain here for a short time and would then be sent back to New York or to some other destination.

Dallis, the New Haven driver who identified the woman, told the local police he first met the Carbone woman in Bridgeport several years ago. He was arrested with her in that city. A short time ago Dallis was married here and has since been working for the Smedley company.

It was also learned that Grace Carbone, whose body was found in a pool of water wrapped in a sheet on which were the initials "G. C." and tied up in wire, and Jennie Cavalieri, who was shot to death in Stratford because she had revealed white slave secrets, were intimate friends and were in Atlantic City last summer to testify against white slave dealers.

Just where the brutal murder was committed is a mystery. Whether or not she was killed in a house in Georgetown, where she was said to have been residing and which was frequented by factory and mill workers, or whether she was killed in Brooklyn or in New Haven is at this time unknown.

FORMER MAYOR SEEKING JOB

James B. Martin of New Haven Would Be Clerk of State Senate.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 14.—Former Mayor James B. Martin of New Haven is an active candidate for clerk of the next senate, a job which pays $3,500 a year, and Mr. Martin, as stated by one of his close friends, has no hankering for the position of postmaster and is not a candidate for that appointment at the hands of President Elect Wilson.

It is practically settled that the Democrats will name the next clerk of the senate instead of following the Republican policy of elevating the clerk of the house to the senate clerkship. The former mayor will have the support of the New Haven Democratic organization and presumably the support of all of the Democratic senators in New Haven county. This county elected seven Democratic senators out of ten from the county. But Martin will have opposition, and it will come from Hartford county.

GOOD ROADS CAR BACK.

Machine Piloted by Senator Elect E. H. Keach Has Fine Trip.

Danielson, Conn., Nov. 14.—The pilot car of the Connecticut Good Roads association which left Willimantic has returned from a trip to the Rhode Island state line, five miles distant, completing the west to east trip of the car.

Edwin H. Keach, senator elect, piloted the car, and in it were Mr. Robinson of New Haven, Dr. W. L. Higgins and Louis Kingsbury of South Coventry. Mr. Robinson said that the highway between Windham Center and Brooklyn, a distance of three and three tenths miles, was practically in a "state of nature."

NOTED RABBI HURT BY CAR

Friends Fear For Recovery of the Rev. Dr. Meyer of Hartford.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 14.—A trolley car struck the Rev. Dr. Meyer, who for nearly thirty years was rabbi of the Congregation Beth Israel. He was not seriously injured, but received many slight bruises.

Dr. Meyer has recently been in a hospital, and as he is seventy years old, many of his friends fear the shock will endanger his life. He has retired from active service.

SAY THAT OTHERS SHOT ROSENTHAL

Webber and Vallon Murderers, Defense of Gunmen.

"DAGO FRANK" HAS AN ALIBI

Wahle, Outlining His Case, Says That Clients Were Used to Cover Up Real Murderers—Defendants Will Take the Stand.

New York, Nov. 14.—Charles G. F. Wahle in his opening address to the jury outlined the defense that was begun today on behalf of "Gyp the Blood," "Whitey Lewis," "Lefty Louie" and "Dago Frank," the four Zelig gangsters now on trial before Justice Goff for the actual killing of Herman Rosenthal.

The defense, as outlined in Mr Wahle's opening address, will be that Rose, Webber, Schepps and Vallon charged upon Rosenthal, firing as they ran toward him, that Webber and Vallon did the actual killing of the gambler, that "Gyp the Blood," "Whitey Lewis" and "Lefty Louie" had been decoyed by Rose specifically to within a few feet of the Metropole entrance while the shooting was going on so that Rose, Webber, Vallon and Schepps could later try to fasten the killing upon the four gangsters, that "Dago Frank" was in an elevated train far to the north of Forty-third street on his way home at the time Rosenthal was killed and that the gunmen, not only terrified, but completely taken by surprise, when Webber, Vallon, Rose and Schepps began to fire at Rosenthal, a few feet away, turned and fled to the subway in Times square as soon as the shooting began.

Rose Under Long Fire.

Mr. Wahle, in his opening address, also explained in a general way why "Gyp," "Lefty," "Whitey" and "Dago Frank" disappeared for a long time after the shooting. And the gunmen, so Mr. Wahle said, will take the stand in turn, with "Whitey" Lewis the first to be called, and tell their stories to prove the story outlined by their counsel.

Mr. Wahle opened for the defense after an all day session in which the state's star witness, Jack Rose, was in the witness chair all of the forenoon and the greater part of the afternoon sessions. Rose's direct testimony against the gunmen lasted only from 10:30 to 11:40 a. m., but Mr. Wahle then took the hairless gambler in hand for a cross examination that lasted until 1:15 p. m. and after a recess then until 2:50 p. m. was continued until 4:40 o'clock in the afternoon. Rose's story that he had hired the four defendants to kill Rosenthal remained unshaken.

Again Identifies Lewis.

Giovanni Stanich, the Austrian inventor, who identified "Whitey" Lewis during the Becker trial as one of the gunmen he saw shooting at Rosenthal, followed Rose and again identified "Whitey" positively and was inclined to point out "Dago Frank" also, but said finally that he couldn't identify the Italian with certainty.

Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty testified briefly after Stanich had left the chair and William F. Reilly, proprietor of the furnished room house occupied by "Dago Frank" and the woman with whom he lived, took the stand to establish that he had seen the gunmen in his house, and the state thereupon announced that its case against the gangsters was complete.

HURLS ACID AT CHAUFFEUR.

Fires at Him and Tries Suicide Because He Jilted Her, She Says.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 14.—After throwing acid in the face of her chauffeur, Arthur C. Ferrie, thirty-four years old, Mrs. Anna Heil, twenty-nine years old, a widow with two small children, fired a wild shot at the man and then turned the revolver on herself, inflicting a trifling wound in her right temple. The affair occurred as Ferris opened the door of his employer's motor car for her to enter. Mrs. Heil was arrested and the man held as a witness.

Mrs. Heil gave as the reason for her attack upon her chauffeur that he had broken his promise to marry her, having recently married a girl in Syracuse. Mrs. Heil lives with her father at 237 Rose street.

HYDE TRIAL AFTER GUNMEN'S

District Attorney Ready For Ex-City Chamberlain's Case.

New York, Nov. 14.—District Attorney Whitman notified Justice Goff that he was ready to go on with the trial of former City Chamberlain Charles H. Hyde, who was indicted for bribery and receiving an unlawful fee. The trial will probably begin next Wednesday, when the gunmen are out of the way.

None of Hyde's attorneys were in court, but the district attorney filed an affidavit of notification and Justice Goff granted the motion. Mr. Whitman then asked for a special panel of 100 talesmen, which was granted.

SOCIAL TRIUMPH FOR PATROLMEN

Ball at Saengerbund Hall Last Night a Brilliant Event.

MANY NOTABLES THERE

Elaborate Decorations, Long Dance Card and Vaudeville Numbers Features of the City and Borough Bluecoats' Annual.

City officials, prominent business men of the city and North Plainfield; representatives from police departments of New York, Hoboken, Jersey City, Westfield, East Orange, Newark and other nearby cities, and more than 1,000 friends of members of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association attended the fourth annual entertainment and ball of the association in Saengerbund Hall last night.

It was a brilliant affair. The decorations formed a striking display of electric lighting and decorating hangings. Large blue and white streamers hung from the ceiling to the side walls, while the balcony was almost hidden from view by American flags and red, white and blue bunting. Surrounding the orchestra was an array of several hundred colored electric lights, Japanese lanterns, palms, ferns and extensive trimmings of flowers and autumn foliage.

The forty-eight dance numbers on the program were interspersed with vocal selections furnished by local and New York talent. Supper was served in other parts of the building to more than 1,000 guests during the evening. The Patrolmen really treated their guests to an entertainment, dance and banquet, all in one evening Many notables and men prominent in the affairs of this city were present, including City Judge DeMeza, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., Councilmen George S. Clay and P. J. Reville; Councilmen-elect Leighton Watkins and Francis J. Blatz; Mayor Clark, of North Plainfield; Councilman Wm. L. Gloak; S. P. C. A. Officer Mrs. Stephen G. Van Hoesen and Mr. Van Hoesen; Tax Collector William Townsend, Chief McCollough, of the Borough Fire Department; Chief of Police Thomas O'Neil, of Westfield; Captain William G. Thompson, of the Pinkerton Detective Agency in New York, with his colleague C. O. Smith; Patrolman Michael O'Brien, of Somerville; Chief of Police Monahan, of Jersey City; James J. O'Brien, of Elizabeth, former State president of the P. B. A.; Patrolmen Robert J. Shannon, David McGarry, Harry Jones, William J. Behrens and William Wiley, of the East Orange police force; Tax Collector George Brown, F. A. Martin and Health Officer Ollif, of North Plainfield; Captain William C. Smith, Edward Smith, Frank Randolph and many others rather too numerous to mention. "Toots" Van Ness, the mascot of the association, was also in evidence much to the amusement of the crowd.

Among the entertainers were the Solly Brown-Danny Weston musical pair, from the Keith and Proctor Circuit, who are now playing in New York; Fred Vanderpool, a tenor soloist, who sang several popular songs; Ray Parr, tenor, acompanied by Joseph Denny, on the piano and Anthony Pace, of Newark, a baritone songster. All were artists of ability and their selections were encored repeatedly.

The officers of the association are Tobias W. Nolan, president; Richard J. Birmingham, vice president; Arthur A. McGinley, recording secretary; Dennis F. O'Keeffe, treasurer; Ferdinand Baeder, financial secretary, and John Herman, sergeant-at-arms.

Those who were in charge, and arranged the sucessful affair, were: Printing committee, Charles Flynn, chairman; D. O'Keeffe, F. W. Nolan, A. L. Saffron, F. Bader; hall committee, F. A. Nolan, chairman, and Patrolmen Herman, Birmingham, McDonald, Wicht and Meyers; reception committee, C. McCarthy, chairman, D. McDonald; George Muir, Charles Flynn, L. Pope and Patrolman O'Brien; refreshment commitee, D. O'Keeffe, chairman; Charles Flynn, Fred Bader; D. McDonald and Patrolman Hanlon; music committee Fred Bader, chairman; R. SCHOOLMASTER EXPOSES REDS

They Are Editors Who Indiscriminately Criticize Public Schools.

MR. VOSSLER SAYS SO

In Address Before St. Paul's Brotherhood of Trinity Church—Thinks Rush for Wealth May Be Hurting Schools Also.

"A newspaper that indiscriminately criticizes our public schools is anarchistic and should not be supported," declared Prof. A. B. Vossler, the head of the North Plainfield Public Schools, at the second annual banquet of St. Paul's Brotherhood at Trinity Reformed church, last night. "Such newspapers are worse than useless, yet I have known great newspapers to do this thing."

"The Relationship Between Parents and Teachers," was the toast assigned to Mr. Vossler, and he said that he would try and not speak from a schoolmaster's viewpoint. He quoted from the Bible the words, "Woe unto you who offend one of these little ones. It were better that a millstone be hung around his neck and that he be cast into the sea," and "Parents provoke not your children to anger."

Mr. Vossler thought that possibly because of the rush for wealth is due the loss of respect for the public school and the church. People are getting away from certain ideals, he said.

The speaker touched upon the moral side of the child's life, asking if obedience to all constituted authority and self control are taught. He urged the importance of teaching the child to be unselfish and truthful, adding that there is no one thing that is deteriorating so much as truth.

Rev. J. Y. Broeck, who spoke on "Will the Nation Stand?" said that if it was built on righteousness it would.

"There are various stands of righteousness," said Mr. Broek. "Some say that it lies in the newspapers. While they do contribute toward it, they are not an absolute standard. They are not always able to say what they want to say, because they are controlled by certain interests.

"Some say that education is a standard, but that depends on the use of it. Some say that the theatre and the picture show is a standard, but I don't believe that the real standard of righteousness will be found there, neither do I think it will be found in politics. The one great force and standard is to be found in Christianity, above all other things. The real messenger of moral uplift is the Bible. You are nation builders for your Brotherhood is founded on eternal truth, the bulwark of the Sabbath. I congrtulate you upon your study of God's word."

Other speakers of the evening were F. E. Smith, superintendent of the Bible school; Horace J. Martin, assistant superintendent; Charles M. Dolliver and J. M. Welch, president of St. Paul's Brotherhood. A vote of thanks was given to the young women of the church, who served the excellent dinner; also the orchestra known as "The Bunch," for its entertainment. Edgar F. Sheppard made an ideal toastmaster.

The banquet was arranged by President Welch and Paul Mertz, while the social committee comprised Messrs. T. R. VanZandt, Day, Jensen and Louis Neumann.

WEIGHT SUNERINTENDENT MAKES A FLYING VISIT

Augustus Schwartz, of Elizabeth, county superintendent of weights and measures, made a flying trip yesterday through Linden, Rahway, Clark Township, Picton, Westfield, Mountainside and Plainfield. He says that from now on any violations of the State law will be fully prosecuted and names of violators will be made public. His first trip through the county was more to warn merchants and anyone else who use weights and measures, it being understood that no publicity would be given to first cases of violations.

Mr. Schwartz says that in the future no consideration will be shown persons caught violating the law. They may expect prompt prosecution. During his stay in Plainfield, Mr. Schwartz said he found conditions satisfactory.

MISS GARRIGUES CHARMING BRIDE

Wedded Before Large Gathering of Friends to Benson Wigton.

DECORATIONS STRIKING

Bride Gowned in Paquin Satin, Draped With Lace—Will Be at Home After January 1 in Brookline, Mass.

Miss Anna Maxwell Garrigues, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Garrigues, of Watchung avenue, and Benson Wigton, formerly of Philadelphia, but now of Boston, Mass., were married at 6 o'clock last evening at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony.

The bride was attended by Miss Florence Stuart, of this city, as maid of honor, and Miss Helen Davis and Miss Helen Stevens, of this city; Miss Dorothy Ward, Miss Gladys Biglow and Miss Helen Jourdan, of Brooklyn, and Miss Theodora Wigton, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaids. Warner Orvis, of New York, was the best man and the ushers were John Condon, of New York; Vinton Staley, of Glen Ridge; Barrett Littell, of Elizabeth; Frank McCowan, of Philadelphia; Richard Jack, of Germantown, Pa., and William A. Garrigues, Jr., brother of the bride.

The bride's grown was of Paquin satin, draped with rose point lace with court train of brocade velvet, and she carried lilies-of-the-valley and roses. The maid of honor was gowned in white brocade satin, with just a touch of blue on the bodice. She carried pink chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids' gowns were of pale blue brocade satin, lace paniers, with a touch of pink, and they carried pink chrysanthemums.

Metler Davis was at the organ and while the guests were being seated he gave a progam of classical selections. As the bridal party entered the church, he played the Lohengrin wedding march. The ushers led the way, followed by the bridesmaids, the maid of honor and the bride, accompanied by her father, who gave her in marriage. The Episcopal service was used. While the party was leaving the church, the Mendelssohn wedding march was played.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Hartridge Auditorium, the affair being attended by several hundred guests. Here congratulations were offered the couple. During the evening an orchestra from Sherry's, New York, added to the pleasure of the occasion with a popular program of music. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Wigton left on an extended trip They will be "at home" at 16 Brown street, Brookline, Mass., after January 1.

The decorations at the church comprised white chrysanthemums and greens, the scheme being green and white, and this same idea was carried out in the decorations at the Hartridge Auditorium. The effect on the stage, where the orchestra was seated, was striking, with a large bank of flowers.

The bride has been among the most popular members of the young society set in the city, having been prominent in many of the social functions held both in the city and the borough. The bridegroom is a graduate of Cornell University, Class '07 and is now manager of the Boston office of the Trussed Concrete Steel Company, of Boston. His best man and several ushers were classmates at Cornell. The bride was the recipient of a large and valuable collection of gifts from relatives and friends.

DOUBLE WEDDING AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Miss Katheryn Harding and Miss Alice Dunn the Brides.

At St. Mary's church at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a double wedding was held, Rev. B. M. Bogan uniting Miss Kathryn I. Harding and Joseph McGinley and Miss Alice I. Nolan, a cousin of Miss Harding's, and Walter Dunn in marriage.

The brides were both attired in traveling dress. The wedding was a quiet one, no one but the immediate families being present. Mrs. McGinley has always lived in Plainfield and has a large circle of friends. Mr. McGinley is a brother of Miss Theresa McGinley.

The bridal couples have gone for an extended trip to Washington, D. C., and to Old Point Comfort, Va. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. McGinley will reside in New York and Mr. and Mrs. Dunn in Brooklyn. Both grooms hold positions in the government service.

WENT TO A PARTY WEARING MOURNING

Mrs. McInnes Thus Expresses Her Feelings Over Taft's Defeat.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Miller, of 817 West Third street, entertained twenty-five friends and neighbors at their home, last evening, as an after-incident of the recent election. It was agreed before Election Day between Mr. Miller and Mrs. Donald McInnes that if Wilson was elected president, Mr. Miller was to entertain and if Taft were successful, Mrs. McInnes would do the celebrating.

The Miller home was elaborately decorated with pictures of Wilson and other things appropriate to a jollification over the success of the Democratic ticket, and as the guests arrived they were given a Wilson button and an American flag.

It was planned to place a piece of crepe on Mrs. McInnes, but she didn't need that attention. She appeared at the party wearing crepe. Of the number present eight favored Taft, one was for Roosevelt and the rest were for Wilson.

Games and dancing were enjoyed, and at a late hour an elaborate supper was served. In the game of euchre played, the honors went to Mr. and Mrs. Donald McInnes, Mrs. William Robertson and Thomas Hendry.

Y. W. C. A. MEMBERS ENJOY FOREIGN TRIP AND FEAST

A "Foreign Feast," under the auspices of the Bible and Mission Study class of the Y. W. C. A. was given in the association rooms last night.

The different corners of the room was arranged to represent India, China, Japan and Africa. A great many foreign curios added to the foreign atmosphere.

Four "couriers" represented four well known travel tours and made up parties and conducted them from one country to another where some of the young women were dressed to represent the natives of that country. In Japan, tea was served; Africa, dates; China, rice—which had to be eaten with chop sticks—and candied fruits; in India, chutney and rice wafers were served.

After the tour was made Miss Sara B. Mathews, of New York, spoke of the associations work in foreign countries. Pledges amounting to $30 were taken for Plainfield's part in supporting a secretary in India.

The committee in charge of the affair were Miss Dorothy Fleming, chairman of the Mission Committee; Mrs. Lewis Williams, chairman of the Social Committee, and Miss Faith Parmalee, secretary of the association.

TO OUR READERS!

The Plainfield Daily Press today contains eighteen pages, the pressure of advertising matter compelling the enlargement of the paper. Before the new management took possession on January 1, only once or twice in nearly twenty-five years had over twelve pages been necessary for one issue, but the rapid growth since then has necessitated continual increase in size and unlike some other papers the Daily Press has not "padded out" its pages with syndicate plate simply to make a showing. The paper that enjoys the public confidence; that shows energy and enterprise and prints all the local news in a readable and attractive fashion is the paper the advertiser needs—it is the Daily Press.

HOOD TELLS OF HIS ROMANCE

Family of Aggrieved Wife Rushes to Defense of Local Woman.

HUSBAND LEAVES TOWN

Makes Another Attack and Then Goes to Philadelphia, Where His Wife's Family is Prominent in Social and Financial Circles.

Angered by the statements made by Richard Haden Hood, in connection with the divorce proceedings which she has instituted against her husband on the grounds of broken marriage vows, Mrs. Frances Sparks Hood's family who live at 4100 Walnut street, Philadelphia, have come to her defense in various interviews given to the newspapers.

They assert that Miss Hoyt, mentioned in the case, is not a fictious person, and say she is a nineteen-year-old girl popular among the younger society set of this city. They further asert that Miss Hoyt is in Europe waiting until the end of the divorce suit. As mentioned exclusively in yesterday's Daily Press, the only Miss Hoyt known in Plainfield is Miss Dorothy Hoyt, who lived with her aunt, a Mrs. Fields, at 686 West Eighth street, and who said when interviewed that her niece was living with a friend in England.

Speaking of his first meeting with his wife in Egypt in 1901, Mr. Hood who is the son of the late General John M. Hood, at one time president of the Western Maryland Railroad, said:

"I had just returned from a trip up the Nile when I met Mrs. Sparks and her daughter. Three other girls were in the party, but after sending cable despatches to investigate my financial rating the other three girls were sent home and the mother and daughter followed me all over Europe. They must have found my financial standing to be all right."

Mrs. Hood's father, Thomas W. Sparks, came from an old Philadelphia family which has lived in Philadelphia for generations. The Sparks family for years was in the lead business, owning the famous Philadelphia Shot Tower. He sold out to the lead trust a number of years ago, and since has been a director of the Pennsylvania Salt Works.

Richard Haden Hood, in his answer to the divorce summons, declared that his wife absented herself from their home at Plainfield from July 2 to October 4 last, and that he had no knowledge of her whereabouts, a statement denied by her relatives, who declare Mrs. Hood spent the entire summer in this city.

Mr. Hood left early today for Philadelphia. The object of his mission is not known. Mrs. Hood and her mother are at the mansion on Stelle avenue.

AUTO LICENSES HELD BY TIRE THIEF VOIDED

Trenton, Nov. 15.—The registration and driver's licenses of Alexander Kurtzner, a self-confessed tire thief, of Lincoln, were summarily revoked yesterday by Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Job H. Lippincott.

Kurtzner and his brother were arrested by Sergeant Keogh, of Newark, last week, on suspicion of having been implicated in a number of thefts. Chief Kiely, of Plainfield, was notified, and after an investigation the brothers broke down and confessed to thefts committed at Somerville, Plainfield and New Brunswick.

BECAME HYSTERICAL OVER SON'S SUPPOSED ACCIDENT

Mrs. Francis E. Stires, of 216 West Second street, who has been ill for some time, was thrown in a state of hysteria this morning, when a friend mentioned an automobile accident, which was witnessed by her son, Frank H. Stires, an insurance agent.

In some way Mrs. Stires got the impression that her son was injured in the accident, and could not be quieted. Friends of Mrs. Stires called the Daily Press office on the telephone to learn if any mishap had happened to her son. Word that her son had not figured in any auto accident checked Mrs. Stires' hysteria.

STATE'S CONSENT FOR SEWER PLAN

N. J. Health Board Approves Scheme for Joint Sewage Disposal System.

TRI-PARTY CONTRACT

Dunellen and North Plainfield Must Next Get Citizens' Sanction—Piscataway Township Still Objects to Location of Beds There.

The State Board of Health has at last approved the plans for the joint sewer project as proposed by Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen, which provide for sewage disposal beds on the Darling farm in Piscataway township. The plan approved is known as the gravity one, which will run from the city's disposal plant into North Plainfield along the mountain and thence to the Darling farm. The fact that the joint plan had been approved was transmitted to the Sewage Commission yesterday.

The next step to be taken is the holding of special elections in North Plainfield and Dunellen giving the Sewage Commission the right to go ahead and ratify the contract between the three municipalities. This matter will probably be taken up at once. After the elections it will then be necessary for the governing bodies in each municipality to ratify and sign the contracts. According to the agreement, Plainfield will pay 68 per cent. of the cost of construction; North Plainfield 25 per cent. and Dunellen 7 per cent.

That Piscatway Township will fight the proposition to place sewage disposal beds in that territory is assured. The Township Committee absolutely refused the request of the municipalities for permission to locate the beds in the township and through William A. Coddington, its counsel, stated that every effort would be made to defeat the plan However, the fact that the State Board of Health has passed upon the plans practically assures the ultimate building of the plant as proposed.

The Plainfield Common Council will hold a meeting on Monday night, November 25, to take action on the sewage proposition, unless there is urgent need that a meeting be held at an earlier date. In the meantime, North Plainfield and Dunellen will plan for special elections.

HOME MISSION WEEK.

A meeting for prayer will be held in the Y. W. C. A. on Wednesday, November 20 at ten o'clock under the Federation of Women's Missionary Societies. Mrs. William E. Honeyman will be leader and the subject for the day will be "The Immigrants."

NARROW ESCAPE FOR AN AUTOIST

Rabinowitz Jumps to Safety as Train Hits His Car.

ROCK AVE. CROSSING

Contractor's Hair-Raising Experience Brought Him Only a Few Cuts and Bruises—Automobile Reduced to a Pile of Junk.

Morris Rabinowitz, a contractor of 964 West Third street, had a narrow escape from being killed this morning, while attempting to pass over the Rock avenue crossing of the New Jersey Central in his automobile. Confused by the noise of a passing westbound coal train, Mr. Rabinowitz did not hear an approaching passenger train until it was within a few feet of his car. He jumped just as the engine struck the machine, and was thrown a distance of several feet, while the automobile was thrown against the building of the Loizeaux Lumber Company, nearby, and completely wrecked.

Mr. Rabinowitz luckily escaped with a few cuts and bruises about the legs and body. It was several minutes before he recovered from a half-dazen condition, but when he did he ran to the office of the lumber company for assistance. An examination showed that the man was not seriously injured, it not being even necessary to call a physician.

Further examination showed that the automobile had been put out of commission completely and was only fit for the junk pile. Mr. Rabinowitz was on his way to the lumber company's office to get a set of plans, when the accident occurred.

LITTLE SURPRISE PARTY FOR NEWLY WED COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. Louis V. Price, who have returned from their honeymoon, have taken possession of their new home at 28 Netherwood avenue, and last evening a few intimate friends called and spent a pleasant time. The affair was in the nature of a surprise and was very informal.

Mr. and Mrs. Price were married on Saturday, October 19, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ida M. Slater, on Watchung avenue, the borough, by Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church.

NOW IS THE TIME TO ENTER CONTEST FOR HANDSOME PIANOS

Lodges, Clubs, Churches, Sunday Schools and Other Organizations as Well as Individuals May Compete for the Superb Prizes—No Game of Chance for There Are Awards for All.

There is not a home or gathering place in Plainfield or vicinity in which there is not some member who loves to hear good music. That is why the Daily Press has decided to make it possible for some local person or organization to secure a handsome player-piano or a piano in return for a little effort during spare moments between now and December 21. But the publishers of the Daily Press do not want anyone who strives for the player-piano and piano to be disappointed so they will give to all who secure five or more yearly subscribers a ten per cent. cash commission, which will be available to buy Christmas presents, and will be paid in a lump sum to all who are entitled to it at the end of the contest.

Think what the offer of this newspaper means! Eight hundred dollars worth of splendid musical instruments to the individuals, lodges or other organizations which stand first and second in the list when the contest closes, and ten per cent. in cash to every one who really becomes an active participant. Can a fairer or more liberal offer be made than to pay everyone who competes in a contest founded on a set of rules more stringent than any ever made by a newspaper in this section and probably never before equalled by any newspaper anywhere?

Attention has been called every day this week to the rules of the contest.

Elsewhere in this issue of the Daily Press is printed a full description of the conditions under which the votes are given, a coupon for making nominations and a coupon, which also appears every day, and when clipped out, neatly trimmed and placed in the ballot box which will be placed next week in the Daily Press office, will entitle the person named thereon to one vote. These coupons are dated, and must be deposited in the box not later than the date marked on their face, or they will not be accepted.

The fact that the contest is to be waged is generally known about town, and in the neighboring communities. Many people are waiting until they are approached, prepared to give their subscriptions which count for large numbers of votes. Those who get the papers started early in the contest have the advantage of securing the single coupons out of the papers of friends who are new subscribers as a result of the Press competition.

The player-piano and piano are on exhibition and can be tried by anyone at the Sattels' warerooms, on North avenue, directly opposite the Daily Press office. Some one is going to have them for a Christmas present. No one knows who it will be, but they are splendid musical instruments, and well worth striving for, especially when all real effort to secure them will also be well paid for in cash. There is no time like the present in competitions of this kind. If you have not already sent in your name, do so at once, and call at the Press office to get blanks and other information about the plan. All questions will be cheerfully answered, and any aid which can be given without showing favoritism will gladly be given.

GOOD SINGING AND DANCING.

Featuring the excellent program at Proctor's theatre this week, is the singing and dancing act of Davis, Salisbury and the Porto Rico Girls, a dusky organization of fun producers. They show several specialties and the round of applause following the conclusion of their performances, testifies the pleasure of the audience. Dorothy Meuther, a charming singing commedienne, introducing four pretty tantalizing popular songs, must also be included among the headliners. Nelson, the eccentric comedy juggler, his act lacking the usual mishaps of the average, showed himself to be a wonderful manipulator of various objects. The balance of the program included Kane and Barry, musical artists, and Lyon and Howard in the comedy playlet, "A Strange Boy."

Our First Coins.

The first coins really deserving the name of United States coinage were struck off as "pattern pieces" by Benjamin Dudley at the instigation of Robert Morris and were laid before congress in 1783 as specimens of what the coinage should be. They were a "mark" and a "quint" and are thus described: The "mark"—obverse; an eye, the center of a glory, thirteen points cross equidistant a circle of as many stars. The "quint" is similar in design, the value on reverse being noted.

VOLUNTEERS CAN AID WORK OF THE CHARITIES SOCIETY

There were only 26 new cases of distress brought before the Charity Organization Society in October, but 15 more recurrent cases with 76 already on hand brought the total of families dealt with during the month up to 117, a fairly busy month for the one in the year least likely to be heavy in demands. 335 calls were made at the office by persons wanting some form of help, 263 persons interviewed the secretary regarding ways and means of helping, 106 visits were made by the office staff and 349 letters written, 201 received. Thirteen committee meetings were held with an aggregate attendance of 76. Twelve volunteers visited 15 families. Two children were placed in private homes and three in institutions. Steady work was obtained for 4 persons and many given addresses for work.

$317.09 was expended during the month for material relief; $77 for board, $26.04 in clothing, $27.60 for milk and $10.26 for provisions, $35 was spent for rent. Transportation cost $25.31, an unusually large amount owing to the sucessful placing of two girls, one a feeble-minded girl in Vineland and the other, a girl of bad habits, in a Protestant Reform School, in New York State. Both of these girls would doubtless have become a burden to the community and a source of danger if allowed to remain at large.

Provision remains a watch word of all organized charity. The Plainfield Society has spent a great deal of time and labor in recent years trying to find out causes of distress and to prevnt them. In order to do anything at all in this line of constructive work time and efforts must be given. Volunteer help can be used in this connection and the secretary is now trying to organize a squad of volunteers each of whom will give a morning a month in the office of the society. Special training is not required and anyone who can spare these few hours will be greatly appreciated.

Birds That Carry Their Young.

The woodcock, it is said, has been known to carry away her young when threatened with danger. She places them on her spread feet, pressing them between the toes and the breast. A naturalist says many woodcocks also carry their young down to marshy feeding grounds in the evening, returning before dawn. In fact, they have no means of feeding their young except by carrying them to their food, for they cannot convey their food to them.

STYLE AND SR RELIABILITY

Between the Store That Promises Everything and the Store That Promises Nothing? Choose—Neither!

The most complete and "up-to-date" department in a Clothesorium nowadays is the "Promising Department."

I've never paid much attention to it in my clothes-shop for the good reason that I believe it is better to "make good" than to make promises.

And I "make good" on my garments because they "make good" to my loyal customers.

Never do I claim that my

Suits and Overcoats At $12, $15, $18 & $20

Are worth twice the price I ask. Indulging in such means to get business is not Rothberg's style.

My garments at $18 and $20 are $18 AND $20 garments —that's all there is to it! They're not "$30 values," or "worth $30," or "reduced from $30."

They're just plain, good, honest, sincere $18 and $20 values—not worth a cent more, even tho' it is an acknowledged fact that it takes a "five spot" more to equal them at most stores.

TOWER OF THE ADMINISTRATION BUILDING, PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

FROM an architectural viewpoint the dominating feature of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will be the huge tower of the Administration building. Rising 375 feet in height and flanked on either side by the domes, towers and minarets of the eight great exhibit palaces, the huge tower will be at all times the most conspicuous feature of the Exposition City. From San Francisco harbor it will appear as the central feature in the great rectangle of exhibit palaces, whose sky line will be 110 feet in height, whose domes will rise 144 feet and whose lesser towers will be 175 feet in height. From afar this central group will appear almost as a single palace, four-fifths of a mile long and 1,280 feet in width; nearer at hand it will be found that the exhibit palaces are interspersed with great open courts, each designed by notable groups of America's foremost architects. The inner courts will express the highest ideal of the architect, the sculptor, the colorist and the landscape gardener. The Exposition palaces will be the loftiest ever constructed; the grouping of huge buildings will give an effect of almost inconceivable massiveness and grandeur. At the base of the tower, which will occupy an acre in extent, will be a huge arcade beneath which visitors may enter from the main exposition entrance into the grand Court of Honor. This court, which will be 700 by 900 feet in its greatest dimensions, was designed by McKim, Mead & White.

CHILDHOOD.

Do not shorten the beautiful veil of mist covering childhood's futurity by too hastily drawing it away, but permit that joy to be of early commencement and of long duration, which lights up life so beautifully. The longer the morning dew remains hanging in the blossoms of flowers the more beautiful the day.
—Jean Paul Friedrich Richter.

Oily Petrels.

Various sea birds, especially the petrels, contain a large amount of oil in their tissues, and for this reason are greatly valued by the inhabitants of the Scottish coasts, who obtain from them "oil for their lamps, down for their beds, a delicacy for their table, a balm for their wounds and a medicine for their distemper." On the island of St. Kilda as many as 20,000 birds are killed in the one week of the year when this killing is legal. So rich in oil are some of these birds that their bodies can be used as lamps if wicks are passed through them.—London Live Stock Journal.

Early Welfare Work.

The "sick fund" among factory employees was known as far back as the first quarter of the nineteenth century, a manufacturing company at Dover having established it for the benefit of employees. A hospital for factory operatives was established in Lowell in 1839. The charges were $4 a week for the men and $3 for the women. If they were not able to pay, the employing corporation became responsible.—New York Evening Post.

Discovered.

Wife—What would you do, George, if you were left a widower? Hub—Oh, I suppose the same as you would if you were left a widow. Wife—You horrid wretch! And you told me you could never care for anybody else.—Boston Transcript.

The Dear Girl.

"Wife, why don't you make some flannel cakes?"

"I will if you wish it," said the bride. "Shall I use red or white flannel?"—Kansas City Journal.

Two Ways.

"Joe says Mae treats him like a dog."

"Ah, but is the treatment general or particular?"

"What do you mean?"

"Does she treat him like her dog?"—Baltimore American.

SHOOTS 2 WIVES DEAD, THEN KILLS HIMSELF

Well Known Pittsburgher Feared Arrest For Bigamy.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 15.—Fearing that he would be arrested on a charge of bigamy John Matthews, aged thirty-six, an insurance underwriter and prominent Mason of this city, shot and killed his two wives and then ended his life with a bullet from the same gun in his apartments at 19 West Parkway, North Side.

That the double murder and suicide had been deliberately planned by Matthews is shown from the fact that he lured his first wife by a telephone conversation to call on him and his second wife. When the police broke into the apartment they found Matthews lying on the bedroom floor with a bullet through his left temple. He was dead. His first wife was sitting in a rocking chair in a parlor with a bullet through her right temple. She died instantly. The second wife was lying on the bed with a bullet through her forehead and two bullets in her left arm. She was still living, but died two hours later in the Allegheny General hospital.

Two letters were found on Matthews. One was addressed to his father containing his will. This was made on Nov. 11, the other letter to a brother and told that he was going to "end it all," as things had not gone his way.

CIGARETTES CAUSE MURDER.

Accused Man Acquitted, but Must Stop Smoking Them.

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 15.—Judge Brumm, charging the jury in the case in which Edward Radler of Hazleton was charged with the murder of Charles Williams following a quarrel over a girl, instructed that the fact that Radler is a cigarette fiend must be taken into consideration.

The judge pointed to the tobacco stained fingers of the defendant and said the fact that he smoked a pound of tobacco each week in making cigarettes was proof that Radler's brain was affected and really caused the murder. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty and requested the judge to make the defendant swear never to smoke another cigarette.

Society of Dofobs Is Publishing Books.

The Society of the Dofobs is an association of book collectors of Chicago, whose mysterious club name is said to be made of the initial letters of Damned Old Fools Over Books, according to the Publishers' Weekly. They first put this ingenious society name upon the "Love Letters of Nathaniel Hawthorne." Now they bring out a publication of manuscripts of Lord Byron, reproduced in exact facsimile from those in the great collection of W. K. Bixby. These manuscripts were in the possession of Byron's half sister until 1848, when she sold them to John Dillon, who sold them to Sir Theodore Martin, from whom they were acquired by Mr. Bixby in 1902. The volume is a quarto on Italian hand made paper, printed at the De Vinne Press, fifty-two copies only. Reproductions of five portraits of Byron, two from drawings by George Henry Harlow, add to the interest of the publication.

Advertising Pulls—It Doesn't Jerk

That is if it is put together rightly and placed in the right mediums. Under such conditions it is certain to influence your business to the betterment of it if you will only have the courage to "keep at it."

How did John Wanamaker and our other commercial kings build up their vast enterprises? Simply by good business ability and—Advertising constantly—keeping at it. You woudn't apply a liniment with a feather would you, you rub it in—just the same with advertising, except that you keep on rubbing it in and the harder and longer you do the rubbing the greater the returns.

We once read in a country paper the following: "If you have a prosperous business, advertise and keep it—if not advertise and get it. If you can't find the necessary time to devote to advertising your business properly phone us. We have an expert who will put up your "Copy" that will bring sure results.

Plainfield, N. J., November 15, 1912.

Improvements of vast importance to the traveling public, it is reported, are ordained to come to pass on the Pennsylvania Railroad system under the administration of Samuel Rea, who has been chosen to succeed James McCrea. Of the greatest interest probably, is a scheme contemplated to electrify the New York division. As announced in public print, all trains running between New York and Philadelphia will be hauled by electric engines and the same power will be used for suburban traffic in Philadelphia and New York. At the present time all trains running through the Hudson River tube and into the New York station at Thirty-fourth street are drawn by electric locomatives, which are attached to trains in place of steam locomotives at Manhattan Transfer, New Jersey. Under the proposed system electric locomotives will be coupled at Philadelphia to all Southern and Western trains bound for New York. When this great step is taken for the improvement of passenger traffic service, the Pennsylvania should be able to virtually monopolize the passenger express business between New York and Philadelphia, for with its tube under the Hudson River and with electrified trains its facilities will so greatly surpass those of its competitors that it will be years before the rival roads will be able to catch up. The people living along the line of the New York division of the "Standard Railroad of America" will be lucky indeed if the proposed improvements are brought about.

For the first time in its history, the Daily Press today consists of eighteen pages. It would have been an easy matter to have put out an issue of this size on many occasions since the change in ownership last January, but we do not believe in "padding" merely to make a show, for paper and ink are not inconsequential items of cost in these days of high prices. To-day, however, we are actually forced by reason of the extraordinarily large volume of advertising matter to increase the size of the paper beyond what it has ever been. The Daily Press is growing rapidly—there's a reason."

If you have two or three forces at work to bring your wares to public attention, says the Philadelphia Record, compare their relative cost per dollar's worth of results achieved. You will find that the efficiency medal will have to be awarded to the daily newspaper—if you are using the right newspaper.

The Daily Press goes into the homes; it is carefully read and it enjoys the confidence of the public.

A correspondent of The Review refers to Mayor-elect Stewart as having "been elected by the Democrats of Plainfield." How this item got by that veteran politician, Editor Carey, we cannot imagine. There are not enough Democrats in Plainfield to win any office. Mr. Stewart's success was due to the large Independent and Republican vote cast for him.

In his Thanksgiving proclamation, Governor Wilson says that the American people "have gone through the varied actions of a great political campaign without violence or passion." No more passionate campaign probably was ever waged in this country and as for violence what was the attempt on the life of one of the Presidential nominees?

A player-piano or a piano without the automatic attachment make handsome Christmas presents. Both are offered free by the Daily Press. Read the announcement on page 11 today.

Congressman "Nick" Longworth lost his district by ninety-seven votes and so "Princess Alice" will not cut so big a figure in Washington news, sad to relate.

Woodrow Wilson says that he is going to keep "open house" at Washington. In that event, he will have to perform his executive duties in an aeroplane.

Well, if the New York World really insists upon it, there is nothing left for President-elect Wilson to do but call an extra session of Congress.

The contributing editor for tomorrow's issue will be Armstrong Mulford, prominent as a local business man.

FAMOUS POUITRY LECTURE WILL PRECEDE BIG SHOW

Prof. Harry R. Lewis, of the State Experimental Station at New Brunswick, will deliver his famous lecture on "Fitting, Showing and Judging," at the monthly meeting of the New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement to be held in Exempt Firemen's Hall, 109 Park avenue, Wednesday night, November 20. At that time all the details will be completed for the first annual show of the association to be held in Sebring's Auditorium, November 25-30. The show committee, of which Joseph Weaner is the chairman, will also make a report.

Among the valuable prizes to be offered at the show is the Thomas A Sperry cup, which is probably the most expensive ever donated and stands nearly two feet high. The cup has to be won twice by the same exhibitor to become his property. In the assortment of the twenty-two cups, no two are alike, and an exhibit that wins at the Plainfield show will be in the running at any show.

The entries are coming in fast and everything points to a big success. The entries close this week and the shipping tags and tickets will be immediately forwarded. This is to be a real sportman's show and the ribbons won will be conclusive evidence of good stock. The cups will be placed on exhibition at Samuel Rothberg's clothing store on West Front street, beginning Monday.

He was highly successful in hunting, bagging quail, rabbits, possums coons and wild turkeys. The congregation of the Mt. Olive, who made possible Mr. Vaughn's vacation, turned out in great numbers on Sunday to welcome him back.

SOCIALIST GOES TO JAIL.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Little Falls, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Mayor George R. Lunn, of Schnectady, was sentenced to serve 50 days in jail or pay a fine of $50 in the recorder's court here today in connection with his charge of having violated a city ordinance in addressing a gathering of strikers. Lunn declared he would not pay the fine.

Prince of Wales, Understudy to His Father, the King

UNDERSTUDIES, whether working in the glare and glitter of the mimic world of the stage or in the colder and more searching light that surrounds royalty, cannot be said to have a good time. To them falls all the trouble of preparation, with but seldom the pleasures of accomplishment.

Edward Albert, prince of Wales, is now a royal understudy. Recently he celebrated his eighteenth birthday and legally became of age. On that day began an entirely new career. It was the express wish of the king and queen that his legal majority should not be signalized by any great festivities. Separate outside residences will not at present be accorded him. Yet there has been of necessity a striking change in his general condition of life. He has acquired new powers and possibilities which make him one of the most important personages of Europe.

To put it briefly, the prince has now become his father's understudy, eligible to represent his majesty at state functions at home or abroad or to act as regent during his father's absence. In this respect his signature to state documents would, of course, be perfectly legal.

Further, in the event of any untoward happening, the heir apparent would at once succeed and reign without a regency. Hitherto the prince, though the king's son and a peer of the realm, could not sit in the house of lords, nor attend debates in the house of commons. Now he will be able to do both. He has not hitherto attended levees. Now he will not only attend, but should the king require him to hold one as the representative of the crown he can do so. He has never attended a royal court. All that he has seen of such a function has been from the gallery in the great ballroom of Buckingham palace. But now he can join the state procession and, clad in uniform and wearing his garter insignia and other decorations, take his seat on his father's right hand at the foot of the dais.

In the same manner he will also be able to take his position at the opening of parliament, where a chair of state will be especially placed for him.

Invitations to stay at country houses, preside at or attend dinners, lay foundation stones and so on have not hitherto been sent to the prince. Such would have been an error of judgment and would not even have been brought to the prince's notice. But now they can be sent with perfect propriety, and the prince, should he wish, can dictate an acceptance.

He will be able to send out invitations to luncheon or dinner and to receive his friends and entertain them in his own suits of apartments at Buckingham palace and Windsor castle.

The prince now has his own household and his own stables and has gained control of his own fortune.

While these have become the legal rights of the prince, he will when at home join his family as often as possible, and as the bond of affection between him and his father is very strong he will doubtless accept the king's advice in all his undertakings.

The prince spent his summer holiday with his brothers at Balmoral castle, in Scotland. His one almost constant companion is E. P. Hansell, who holds the position of tutor. Hansell is a graduate of Magdalen college, Oxford, to which the prince is to go for a term in the fall. Hansell is a great favorite with the prince. He is a wonderful conversationalist and a splendid athlete. At the same time he is a strict disciplinarian, and does not allow his charge to neglect his lessons.

Hansell was selected for the position by the late King Edward himself upon the recommendation of the Duke of Connaught.

Sensational Duel In Arkansas' First State Legislature.

During the session of the first legislature that convened after Arkansas became a state, the new capitol, then still in an uncompleted condition, received a baptism of blood when, in 1837, J. J. Anthony, representative from Randolph county, was slain in a knife duel by John Wilson, speaker of the house of representatives, during an open session of the house.

In the course of a debate on a trivial matter Anthony offered a resolution, which was construed as a thrust at Speaker Wilson. The speaker became enraged and ordered Anthony to take his seat. Anthony refused to do so. This enraged Wilson still more, and, leaving the chair, he advanced down the aisle toward Anthony, drawing a knife as he did so. Anthony stated he had acted in jest, but Wilson refused to be pacified.

Anthony then also drew a knife and stepped from behind his desk to await Wilson's onslaught. Grandison D. Royston, who sat near by, thrust a chair between the combatants, but the latter struck at each other over the obstacle. Suddenly Anthony's knife was struck from his hand, and he was left defenseless. Wilson raised the chair and plunged his knife into Anthony's body, Anthony expiring almost instantly.

Speaker Wilson was immediately expelled from the house and Grandison D. Royston was elected speaker in his place. Wilson was indicted, but when tried in Saline county on a change of venue he was acquitted on the ground of excusable homicide. The killing and the subsequent acquittal of Wilson caused a tremendous sensation throughout the state.—Farm and Ranch.

"DAGO FRANK" SWEARS HIS SOUL IS STAINLESS

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, Nov. 15.—"Dago Frank" Cuofici, fourth of the gunmen implicated in the murder of Rosenthal, the gambler, to take the witness stand, was sworn in today. He testified that he had a stainless soul so far as the murder of Rosenthal was concerned. The witness told of how "Jack" Rose, Vallon and Schepps came out to the Seventh avenue apartment in Harlem a few hours before the murder and took him in an auto to "Bridgey" Weber's. He said the conference at Weber's was for the purpose of letting Rose clear himself of the suspicion that he was responsible for the "frame up" of "Jack" Zelig. He denied all knowledge of the shooting.

John J. Hickey, a bartender, made a valuable witness for the defense today. He said he was in the Metropole when Rosenthal went out. He swore that he looked out of the door and saw one man fire at Rosenthal and that three men behind this man then opened fire. He testified that he saw the man who did the shooting and that none of the defendants was of the four.

CLUB GIVES RETIRING PRESIDENT GOLD KNIFE

The semi-monthly meeting of the Men's Association of the Heavenly Rest church was held in the parish house last night, with John Gray, the newly elected president, in the chair.

At the close of the business meeting, at which the regular routine business was transacted, J. A. Babcock presented William Ochiltree, the retiring president, with a gold handled knife in appreciation of the work done by him during the past year. Mr. Ochiltree responded with a speech that was in keeping with the occasion. A general social time followed.

CO. K HELPS ROUT CONTINENTAL ARMY

Local Civilian Soldiery Shine in Winning of Sham Battle.

Thirty-seven members of Company K, of this city, participated in the Field Day maneuvers of the Second Regiment at Princeton yesterday. Companies F, I and C, of Elizabeth, and Company K, under the direction of Major William B. Martin and his staff were detailed to act as the British in a sham battle.

Major Martin's battalion marched about two miles out of the heart of the city where they were halted and the first squad of Company K was sent out under the command of Lieutenant Hort as scouts to locate and estimate the strength of the "Continentals," who were advancing toward the city. After proceeding a half mile at left angles with the command the squad came upon the advance of the Continentals and opened fire upon them.

Word was sent to the rear to the Major as to the strength of the attacking party and the support under the command of Capt. Peterson was rushed to the front while the reserve was ordered to protect the left flank. By the time the support arrived on the firing line the advance guard had joined the scouting party and a desperate fire had been opened on them by the "Continentals." With the "support" on the front and the reserve on the left flank it was an easy matter to drive the opposing side to a retreat. One company, Company B, started to attack the right flank of the "British" but when Company K had been ordered to capture or silence them they had very little chance to do any damage as they were made to retreat to the boundary of a river where the fire of the enemy would have mowed them down if it had been real warfare.

Company F, of Elizabeth, under the command of Captain H. B. Kitchell, formerly captain of Company K, succeeded in flanking a company of the enemy and attacking them in the rear compelling the commanding officer to surrender his company.

While these flank attacks were taking place the reserve had succeeded in driving the "Continentals" to the rear causing an overwhelming defeat.

In the afternoon the regiment was formed and accompanied with the Regimental Band and field music paraded through the main thoroughfares of the city and past the residence of the President-elect who reviewed them as they passed.

After being reviewed by Governor Wilson the regiment was marched through the campus of Princeton University to the baseball field where an exhibition drill and Colonel's review, which won the applause of the students and townsfolk, took place.

FRANK H. HOWARD WEDS MISS MARGARET CRAMER

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Olive Cramer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Cramer, of Somerville, and Frank Herring Howard, for many years a resident of this city. The wedding was simple, celebrated at the home of the bride's parents, in Somerville on Sunday, November 3. Rev. Dr. William S. Cramer, pastor of the Reformed church, Somerville, officiated.

The bride and bridegroom were unattended, and only the immediate relatives witnessed the ceremony. The couple are residing at Somerville, where Mr. Howard is engaged in business.

The bride is a sister of the late Miss Margaret Cramer, a graduate nurse, who resided in this city for a number of years prior to her death. Mr. Howard is a brother of Mrs. G. Harry Squires, of this city, and is widely known here.

An orchestra has been engaged to play during the supper and to furnish music for dancing after the meal is finished. A good time is in store for all who attend the event.

ROASTED PIG HAS BAD TWO HOURS AT BETHEL

The second annual "pig-roast" of Bethel Chapel was held for the benefit of the choir, at the chapel last night.

The tables were filled from 6 until after 10 o'clock and the roast sucking pig which has served very daintily was greatly enjoyed by all those that had the opportunity to partake of it.

Naylor's orchestra furnished music during the evening. At the close of the supper all present held a social talk and praised the committee in charge. Albert Shipley was the chairman of the committee.

"I've got no use for those colored trash that votes the Bull Moose ticket," said G. Washington Randolph.

The committee in charge of the affair were Archie Toney, chairman; George White, James Toney, Joseph Brinkley, William Knight and Benjamin Urquhart. William Mayse and Joseph Robinson were floor managers.

A BOX OF SARDINES.

How to Test It and How to Tell the Kind of Fish It Holds.

Francis Marre gives the following instructions for purchasing a can of sardines:

The two sides of the can should be flat or concave. If they bulge out there is a likelihood that the can contains gases resulting from decomposition.

No can should be bought that has been resoldered.

The lettering on the can should be clear and distinct.

If there is a choice between soldered cans and cans sealed by crimping, the latter should always be preferred.

If the cans are soldered select those that have bright solder, which is less likely to contain lead and less likely to be lead.

After the box of sardines is taken home the can should be opened under water. If any bubbles of gas escape the stuff should be destroyed. The kind of oil used in preparing the sardines is of no great importance. The fish used are not, however, always true "sardines."

In the true sardine the dorsal fin is forward of the ventral fins and there is no wrinkled crest on the ventral line. The skin is smooth and bluish on the back. In the herring the dorsal is only slightly in front of the ventral fin and there is a wrinkled ridge behind the latter. The skin is brownish on the back, with a delicate network.

In the sprat the dorsal fin is in a line with the ventrals, and the crest behind as well as in front of the ventral fins can be easily felt by passing the thumb backward from the base of the head. The flesh of the sprat is rather hard.

In the anchovy the ventral crest is absent, as in the sardines, but the dorsal fins are behind the ventrals. The "chinchard," a small variety of mackerel, may be distinguished by its grayish color and the presence of two fins on the back extending nearly the whole length of the body. The forward fin has a spiny point.—Harper's Weekly.

"SONG OF THE SHIRT."

It Was the Most Popular Thing Tom Hood Ever Wrote.

During his last illness Tom Hood in an idle moment made an imaginative sketch of his own tombstone. He drew himself reclining at full length on a thick slab of stone, on the edge of which in large capitals he wrote, "He Sang the 'Song of the Shirt.'" This was the only inscription, and, as he himself has said, Tom Hood needs no other.

How much he felt and prided himself upon the song by which he became known and loved by millions is shown by this and the following fact: "If I were ennobled these are the arms I should adopt," said he one day, showing a rough vignette to a friend. The sketch contained a very beautiful and pathetic idea. It represented a heart pierced by a needle threaded with silver tears, and beneath was the motto he had inscribed on the imaginary tombstone.

"The Song of the Shirt" appeared in the Christmas number of the fifth volume of Punch. It was unsigned, but every paper in the land quoted it, and it speedily became the talk of the day. Hood himself did not think it very remarkable, but Mrs. Hood had said to him as she folded it for press: "Now, mind Hood, mark my words, this will tell wonderfully. It is one of the best things you ever did."

Mrs. Hood was right. The song was translated into French, German and Italian. It was printed on cheap cotton handkerchiefs and parodied times without number.

Fishing For Fish.

Many people there are who delight in just fishing for fish. Such a one was John Quincy Adams. The story was told by one of his clients, whose case was to be tried on a certain morning, that he could not get his counsel to leave his fishing boat except long enough to write a note to the judge which read: "Dear Judge—For the sake of old Izaak Walton please continue my case until Friday. The smelt are biting, and I can't leave." And the judge, having read the note, announced to the court, "Mr. Adams is detained on important business."—Christian Herald.

Rude Awakening.

"You're looking mighty sour. What's the matter? Honeymoon over?"

"I guess so."

"How'd that happen?"

"Oh, we were drifting along down life's enchanted stream, as the poet tells about, and just as I was thinking I should like to drift on and on with her forever she up and told me that she had got to have some money."—Houston Post.

Insulted Him.

Mrs. Highupp—John, I was never so angry in my life as this afternoon, when that lecturer at our club deliberately insulted you. Mr. Highupp—Insulted me? Mrs. Highupp—Yes; he referred to the railroad of which you are president as a common carrier.—New York Times.

An Obstacle.

"I hear Stocsky's daughter is going to marry a nobleman."

"No, she is not. Her father had him investigated by a surety company and on their report refused to invest in him, as there was a defect in his title."—Baltimore American.

The Reason.

In the House of John Wanamaker

Is Established, for the Service of All the People

A TEMPLE of MUSIC

Where All People May Hear Good Music and be Helped to Get Good Music in the Home

THE people are confused—and small wonder at it.

Voices of sellers of pianos are heard in every quarter of city and town, calling "the best that the money can buy."

How is one to choose?

Fourteen years ago we had to choose.

Up to that time we had contented ourselves with supplying the first wants of the people—things to wear and furnishings for the home.

"As soon as the first wants are satisfied," said Emerson, "the higher wants become imperative."

And of the higher wants, music comes first. It comes into the body with the breath.

In order that we might serve all the people, we set out to provide a wide range of instruments from the one of highest quality down to the lowest price a good instrument could be sold for.

A good instrument; for a piano is not like a coat, to be worn one season and cast aside the next.

A piano is a life-long friend—should be.

And the first essential we laid down was that every piano the John Wanamaker Store sold should have built into it the capacity for life-long service.

* * * *

We took counsel of experts—not one but many.

We carefully canvassed the piano manufacturing world.

Just what you would do, if you had the time.

And when we had made our choice, we established the price of each instrument on a fixed basis.

(Note—Until offered for sale in the John Wanamaker Piano Salons on April 15, 1899, pianos remained—and remain even to this day in many stores—objects of dicker and barter.)

* * * *

On the foundation so carefully laid, we have built up—in less than 14 years—a business which is credited with being the largest annual piano business, not only in the United States, but in the world.

You may choose, as several tens of thousands have chosen, from this Roll of Honor list of instruments, upon the excellence of which this business has become great.

Standard of Piano Quality

The CHICKERING, the oldest American piano
The SCHOMACKER, for 40 years, choice of America's Presidents
The EMERSON, established in 1849
The LINDEMAN, established in 1836
The KURTZMANN, established in 1848 and the celebrated KNABE.

And the ANGELUS

The first player-piano introduced to the world and to-day still the first

There is no such choice as this in any piano store in America. There is no possible chance of making a mistake, no matter what your choice.

The Angelus

The U. S. Official Census Report (1900) says: "In 1895 Messrs. Wilcox & White, of Meriden, Conn., began manufacturing an interior attachment, and in February, 1897, built their first "ANGELUS" a cabinet piano-player. This instrument, the invention of E. H. White, may be regarded as the pioneer of the various similar attachments which have since been placed upon the market."

Musicians without number have testified to its "marvellous means of expression," Mascagni's words.

It has gone into thousands of homes in the old and the new world.

The most eloquent testimony to its merit lies in its choice by the honored makers of the pianos on the Wanamaker Roll of Honor as the piano-playing aid most worthy to wed with their unrivalled instruments, in—

The Chickering-Angelus
The Schomacker-Angelus
The Emerson-Angelus
The Lindeman-Angelus
The celebrated Knabe-Angelus

The Choice

39 styles, sizes and prices in pianos, from $2[illegible] to $950.

18 styles, sizes and prices in player-pianos, from $395 to $1,650.

Mahogany and mission cases mostly; a few walnut, Circassian walnut, and ebony.

Terms

—which have placed pianos and the joy of music in thousands of homes where hope of music had not entered—

Any of the instruments on the Wanamaker Roll of Honor may be acquired upon a small first payment, the remainder of the purchase price to be paid in small monthly portions.

If you have an old piano, and would like to exchange it in part payment for a new instrument, we will take it, and allow a fair price for it.

Choice is not so embarassing after all, when you know.

Will you make your choice now—tomorrow.

THE FORUM.

MR. ATTERBURY AGAIN REPLIES.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

I will reply very briefly to Mr. Stockton's letter on the tariff and will omit personalities. He says the foreigner pays the tax. This argument was discarded twenty-five years ago. Its weakness is twofold: First, what moral right have we to saddle our taxes on the foreigner? Such an act would be dishonest. We ought to pay our own expenses, and if by some secret device we could make others pay them (which we cannot) it would be just as if I should get a barrel of flour from the grocer and have it charged to Mr. Stockton in some disguised form. Second, if we by a tariff could make the foreigner pay our taxes, it is perfectly clear that the foreigner, by a similar device, could make us pay his taxes, and Mr. Stockton will have to explain who would be the gainer.

He says that a reduction in the woolen tariff will result in a reduction in wages in the woolen mills. I do not fear this for the woolen mills' strike in Lawrence, Massachusetts brought out the fact that thousands of their men earned only a dollar a day; such a wage cannot be reduced. If the tariff makes high wages what are wages in the highly protected woolen industry so pitifully low? is a dollar a day the best he can do for the laborer with a tariff of 100 per cent.? Why does not Mr. Stockton suggest that the tariff reduction be taken out of profits instead of wages?

He says that the prices of manufactured articles are lower in the United States today than twenty years ago. That is not the question. I challenge him to show any fairly typical article which has fallen in price in this country in twenty years, which has not fallen still more in England.

His consoling thought that Mr. Wilson's victory does not amount to much after all, reminds me of Mercutio's jest at his death wound, "'Tis not so deep as a well, nor so wide as a church door, but 'twill serve."

Mr. Stockton says I am a "theorist." I am not. I have no faith in theory. I always test my reasoning by the facts, and in tariff matters I speak with the facts behind me. An average man, earning from $900 to $1,200 a year and supporting a wife and two children, pays out on account of the tariff at least $75 a year over and above the actual duties collected by the government. And Mr Taft's sponsors had the audacity to put out great posters telling the people that the tariff cost them only $3.46 a year, less than a cent a day!

One final word to Mr. Stockton and the classes for whom he speaks. For forty years you have been a favored class in the community. You have upheld a law by which the many have paid tribute to the few; you have been grinding the faces of the poor by high prices; you have stifled competition; you have fostered monopoly; you have made warm woolen clothing a luxury for the rich and you have given the poor man shoddy and cotton. And you have done it all under the pretence of "building up" an industry! And after forty years of "building up," you are forced to confess that you are weaker than ever, that you cannot stand alone, that you must always depend on public bounty.

Things are changed now. It is a condition not a theory which confronts you, not us. The tariff is going to be reduced, and the wool men and the spotters, and the steel men, the glass-blowers, and the printing-press men, the lumber dealers, and the lemon growers, all the interests who for fifty years have been fattening on government bounty, had better set their houses in order and see if they can earn a living in free competition as others do.

ALBERT H. ATTERBURY.

TAXES DON'T MAKE WEALTH.

Editors, Daily Press:

"Practical" Mr. Stockton answers a very pertinent question with an eruption of wild assertion, and ridicules the questioner as a "theorist." It is a staple form of argument with the defenders of legalized spoliation and familiar to the writer of this for fifty years. May I venture to suggest that the wildest "theorists" who trouble our political pool are the post hoc propter hoc shouters, in whose regiment the "practical" Mr. Stockton trains; those who theorize that taxation produces wealth, and calmly assume that our sacrosanct tariff, under which we "pay more and get more," is the mother of every blessing that our country has even known. Even the flood of immigration to our shores during the last eighty years can be accounted for upon no other hypothesis, if I comprehend correctly the logic of this brilliant but somewhat inconsistent economist. Spite of his beautifuly talk concerning the "interrelation and inter-dependence of all our industries." I fear that your "practical" correspondent is himself a "theorist" of the rainbow chasing variety.

THOUGHTFUL UPPER CLASSMEN OF P. H. S.

Provide Spin-the-Platter for Wallflower Freshmen at Annual Reception.

The annual reception to the Freshmen of Plainfield High School was held in the High School Auditorium, last night. Edson Woodhull, the president of the senior class, assisted by a committee from each of the lower classes, was in charge of the affair. Music was furnished by the Plainfield High School orchestra, and dancing was continued until 10:30, which is the hour that all dances break up at P. H. S.

In the library games such as spin-the-platter were played by the freshmen who did not dance. Still further, the thoughtful committee furnished refreshments for those who cared for them.

These receptions are of great value in promoting "class spirit," in introducing the members of the freshmen class, and in putting all at their ease. The affair was entirely informal, and the under classmen attended in full force, although all are not "good dancing men."

BOROUGH SCHOOL PUPILS LEARNING HOW TO DANCE

The dancing class composed of pupils of the North Plainfield High School, under the direction of Miss Eunice Watson received their weekly leson last night in Debele's Hall. Under the careful tutorship of their teacher the beginners are showing marked progress. As the two step and waltz are mastered by all, the more popular "Boston Glide," other fancy dances, and cotillion formations will be taught.

Among those present last night were the Misses Julia Rowley, Margaret Ewart, Lucy Douglas, Mabel Douglas, Marjorie Burtis, Marion Anery, Dorothy Martin, Beatrice Pope, Margaret Currin, Edna Green, Edith Dalley, and Madeline Elair; Franklin Lowe, Harold Woolston, Ralph Smalley, Elmer French, Addison Newkirk, Leslie Chandler, Russel Lee, Edmund Kering, Jack Hull, Hoyt Tompkins, Roy Love, Estes Small, Ernest Higgins and Gibson Fairman.

DO AMERICANS TALK TOO MUCH?

Pierre Loti, French Writer Now Here, Thinks We Do.

MAY JUDGE US BY REPORTERS

By These He Is "Bombarded by Interrogations"—Thinks Time Spent In "Banalities of Modern Discourse" Wasted—Compliments Us on Material Progress.

Among those arriving at New York recently on the Savoie from Havre was Captain Louis Julien Vaud, retired, of the French navy, who as Pierre Loti has achieved worldwide fame as an author and an oriental traveler and latterly as a playwright. His works known best in this country are "The Last Days of Peking" and "Mme. Chrysantheme," from which he declares David Belasco's play, "Madame Butterfly" and Puccini's opera of the same name were taken. Like the majority of men who follow the sea, Pierre Loti is short in stature and modest in speaking of himself. He can read English perfectly, but does not use it in speaking. In Turkish he can converse as fluently as in his native tongue.

This dreamer, student of sensations and writer of many shadowed prose, submitted to several American interviews. "Bombarded by interrogations," he expressed it. Among the first of the things he said, or, rather, delicately intimated, was that Americans talk too much.

M. Loti has lived much in Turkey and among the orientals, which may explain his viewpoint regarding things American. In the course of his interviews he said:

"I admire the control of speech exhibited by the orientals, who have learned the value of silence. The time lost in a futile outpouring of words can never be recovered. It is better, as I view it, to dream, to meditate and not to interrupt the course of revery than to immerse one's self in the banalities of modern discourse. It is the example of the silent orient shown in its reluctant yielding of its secrets to me that has so far guided me. It is unnecessary to seek other reason for my reticence.

Hard to Understand Yankees.

"I must confess," he went on, "that it seems to me vastly harder to assume the state of being of a Yankee than that of an oriental.

"It is all bound up with the baffling factor of temperament. Yours, it seems to me, is admirably adapted for those industrial conquests in which it is proving so triumphant. I can admire it without experiencing the feeling that I have been born for this new mode of life.

"Have you not perhaps paid," he asked, "are you not perhaps paying too dearly for your material progress? It is ill to lose the faculty of contemplation and the conditions of life that encourage it. Progress in commerce and industry you have achieved to a point which overwhelms. But I fear you have allowed yourselves to forget a progress which is to be preferred to these forms of it. The kind of progress I mean results in the greatest happiness and the greatest liberty.

"Contemplative nations, like China and Turkey, in the early days of their history were happier than we with all the accompaniments of modern discovery. More and more, if these traditions of peace and inwardness are destroyed and the world learns to quicken its pace without corresponding deepening of thought, decadence certainly sets in.

Need of Contemplation.

"It is necessary that men should be made to think, without commotion, even without movement, if they are to advance toward the attainment of moral perfection and self poise. The contemplative nations represent among the nations of the world what the churches and the monasteries stand for in the individual nation.

"In the United States, which as a nation is very young, it is necessary to its growth that its feverish preoccupation with material affairs shall be counterbalanced by a great literary and philosophic literature which would penetrate more and more deeply among your people through the influence of an elite of thoughtful men.

"To think is itself a form of action and, in a sense, a superior form of it. It is this discovery which America could make with supreme advantage to herself."

PHYSICIAN'S CERTIFICATE SAVES URQUHART'S LICENSE

Benjamin Urquhart, the colored chauffeur employed by George A. Bomann, of Hillside avenue, this city, who drove the car that killed Fred Johansen, of North Plainfield, on October 15, by running him down with the Bomann machine, was brought before Commissioner Job H. Lippincott, of the Motor Vehicle Department at Trenton Wednesday, because of a report that his eye-sight was defective. The chauffeur submitted a certificate from a practising physician, which stated his sight was sound and the complaint was dismissed.

Urquhart is under $4,500 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury on a manslaughter charge in connection with Johansen's death.

CHURCH BALL PLAYERS ENTERTAINED BY PASTOR

Rev. Ferderic J. Hubach, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, assisted by Mrs. Hubach, entertained the church baseball team at the parsonage, last night. The players were accompanied by their women friends, making a company of about thirty in all. The evening was spent playing games, and in the enjoyment of an informal musical program, after which a buffet luncheon was served.

The company was entertained with vocal selections by Miss Clara Lee and Mr. Hubach and instrumental numbers by Mrs. Hubach. A feature was an auction sale of a humorous character, such as "pride of the baseball team," a china pitcher; "bachelor buttons," a pair of safety pins, etc. These were afterward distributed as souvenirs of the occasion.

SHE IS PLEASED AT WILSON'S ELECTION

Miss Richards Says It Marks Notable Act of Progressiveism.

The second of a series of lectures on current events to be given by Miss Janet E. Richards, of Washington, D. C., was delivered yesterday afternoon before a large audience in the Plainfield High School auditorium. She spoke on the recent trouble in English Parliamentary affairs; the slow but sure ending of absolute monarchies in Europe and Asia; the Balkan situation; the assassination of the Spanish Premier, and the election results in this country.

She called attention to the fact that during the last half century every foreign country hampered by a government of absolute monarchy has thrown the yoke aside, mentioning Japan and China and telling of the events leading to the formation of a republic in these countries.

Speaking of the war in the Balkans, she praised the Prime Minister of England, on the stand he took in his recent speech November 9, before the House of Parliament, in which he said the four allied provinces, at war with Turkey should receive the benefit of the spoils, and that the larger nations should remain silent.

Miss Richards spoke highly of Governor Wilson's ability and qualifications to fill the office of President of the United States.

"Mr. Wilson's election," she said, "was one of the most notable acts of progressiveism taken by the American people in recent years."

She continued saying she saw stormy times ahead for the coming executive, but felt sure, he would bring conditions into effect, that would perform the greatest good for the people at large. His greatest tasks, she asserted, would be his effort to have the Legislature pass laws controlling the trusts and regulating the tariff. "There are just as many Democratic Senators and Congressmen," she claimed, "who will be in Washington to represent special interests, as we have witnessed among the Republican lawmakers."

HARRIETTE LA ROSA.

AERIAL WARS IN FIVE YEARS

So Says Professor Schuette, German Airship Builder.

WILL FLY ACROSS THE OCEAN.

Already Has Built an Airship Manned With Rapid Fire Guns and Plans One Armed With Aeroplane Destroyers—Intends Soon to Construct an Aerial Dreadnought.

Professor Johann Schuette, inventor of the Schuette-Lanz airship, the latest type of dirigible to be turned out and successfully tried in Germany, thinks that in the present stage of aeronautics an attempt to make a voyage over the Atlantic would be foolhardy. In five years—perhaps in three—says the inventor, the airship will have developed to such an extent that such a voyage will be feasible. In the same time he believes that the military airship will have become so formidable an engine of war that battles will be fought in the air and the fate of a nation perhaps depend not upon the strength of its army and navy, but upon its air men.

Professor Schuette is in charge of the department of naval construction in the Royal Technical high school of Danzig.

Suspended Cars.

On a recent visit to New York and Washington he said:

"One great difference between my airship and the Zeppelin type is that the latter has its cars suspended rigidly and in mine they are hung by ropes. This has enabled me to save the ship three times in cases where a rigid lower framework might have been smashed. The cars in mine cannot be moved forward or backward or down, but if one hits the ground or an obstacle the whole ship does not necessarily receive a shock.

"I began working on the airship in 1909, and the works we have at Mannheim, the workshops, the garage, the machinery and the cost of the airship, represent a total outlay of about 2,000,000 marks ($500,000). The airship can lift about five tons, and its engines, two eight cylinders, have developed 540 effective horsepower. I have attained a speed of seventy-two kilometers an hour, which works out to about forty-five miles. It is fitted with wireless telegraphy and has two cars.

"The longest voyage I have made was from Mannheim to Berlin, but in July and August the vessel traveled 3,500 miles. When she was stationed at Berlin we took up altogether about 500 persons. The number of persons that can be taken up at one time depends upon the quantity of benzine carried and the water ballast carried along. I have lately mounted two quick firing guns on the ship, with 10,000 rounds of ammunition.

Intends to Build a Dreadnought.

"I am now building a much larger airship, which will be a real warship, or war airship. I expect to finish her by next summer. An objection has been that an aeroplane can get over an airship and drop explosives upon it, the airship being powerless to reach the lighter craft with its guns. For that reason I shall mount guns on the top of my airship, as well as on the cars.

"This vessel is to have an average speed of about fifty-two miles an hour. It will be able to lift fourteen tons. It will carry enough fuel to enable it to remain in the air forty hours at a time, working at full speed. There will be six rapid fire guns and a searchlight, and two lifeboats will be carried and three tons of explosives. Four of the guns will be on the top of the airship, to protect the vessel from aeroplanes or other airships fighting from a higher altitude.

"The airship is by no means perfect as yet. In this new vessel which I am building I hope to attain the real air battleship, and you can see that with an ability to remain in the air for fifty hours it will be able to cover a long distance. It might be even possible, by taking the fullest advantage of the trade winds from the Azores, to make a voyage to the South American continent and then to come north, but there is no airship today that can do this. No air craft today is capable of making such a journey, and you have recently had unfortunate reminders that it is foolhardy yet to make an attempt to cross the Atlantic by airship as airships are now constructed. We need from three to five years of experimental work. In five years—perhaps in three—we shall know a lot more about sailing in the air with safety than we do now. Then it will be time to cross the ocean in the air."

SCHOOLBOYS GOOD EARNERS.

Pupils of One Chicago Institution Made $32,000 In Vacation.

A boy who worked as "bellhop" on a lake excursion steamer during the summer months was the prize earner of the 800 students of Lane Technical high school, Chicago, who worked during the vacation. He reported to the principal that he had earned $300.

About fifty of the boys were employed as chauffeurs and earned a total of $5,000. Altogether $32,000 was earned by the students during the summer.

PANAMA CANAL FORETOLD BY THE POET GOETHE.

Great German Said America Would Link the Two Oceans.

It is interesting just at this time, when the world's diplomacy is so agitated over the matter of tolls through the Panama canal, to find a prophetic utterance of Goethe, Germany's greatest poet and philosopher, bearing intimately upon the canal and its part in the development of civilization.

What we know of Goethe as prophet is chiefly owing to the restless and indefatigable Johann Peter Eckermann, who reports a conversation which took place Feb. 21, 1827. Goethe on this day, says Eckermann, spoke with admiration of Alexander von Humboldt, whose work on Cuba and Colombia he had begun reading and whose opinion of the project of cutting through the isthmus seemed to have a special appeal for him.

"I should be greatly surprised," said Goethe, "if the United States missed its opportunity to accomplish such an enterprise.

"It is to be anticipated that this young nation, with its pronounced westward movement, will within thirty or forty years have taken possession of the great stretches of land beyond the Rocky mountains and populated them. Furthermore, it is probable that all along the Pacific coast where nature has provided safe and spacious harbors there will in time rise up many commercially important coast cities to handle an important trade between the United States and China and the East Indies. But under these circumstances it would be not only desirable, but almost essential, that merchant vessels, as well as warships, maintain more rapid communication between the east and west coasts of North America than has hitherto been possible.

"I repeat, therefore, it is absolutely essential for the United States to establish a passage from the gulf of Mexico to the Pacific ocean, and I am sure it will attain this end.

"I should like to live to see this, but I shall not. I should also like to see a connection established between the Danube and the Rhine. Yet this undertaking, too, is so gigantic that I doubt its accomplishment.

"Finally I should like to see the English in possession of a Suez canal. These three great things I should like to see accomplished. It would be well worth while on their account to bear with life for several half centuries to come."

Goethe died in 1832, just thirty-seven years before the Suez canal was opened for navigation and forty-three years before England gained control of it by purchase of the khedive's shares; also eighty-three years before the date set for the opening of the Panama canal.

HOW TO ESCAPE HIGH PRICES.

Sparrow Pie the Answer of One Jersey Town.

"High cost of living" is no longer a question with the residents of Nutley, N. J., thanks to the ingenuity of former Fire Chief Harry H. Stager, which has been the means of supplying without cost the principal ingredient for potpies and soup.

The ivy covered walls of the town hall have become the home of hundreds of sparrows, and the continuous noise made by the birds has become such a nuisance that it interferes with the work of the officials.

Stager, who was appealed to, spread a huge net from the roof, in which the birds as they fly out from the vines are entrapped. Stager has captured more than 600 birds and has found no trouble in giving them away. It is claimed that the pies made from these birds are delicious.

AIRSHIPS SAFER THAN AUTOS.

Orville Wright Says So—Can Carry Twenty-five In Air.

"Flying today is safer than traveling at the same speed in automobiles and is certainly much safer than automobile racing," said Orville Wright recently.

He declared that it was possible to construct machines that would carry twenty-five persons or that would travel 100 miles, but at present he saw no necessity for such fliers. He predicted that the aeroplane will supplant train service for making short and hurried trips across the country.

"Within a few years it will be possible to make a run from New York to Chicago in an aeroplane," Mr. Wright said.

He asserted that the present epidemic of aviation accidents was due to careless and reckless driving.

NEW GERMAN COINS.

Up to Date Likeness of Kaiser Will Be Executed.

In honor of the celebration next year of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the kaiser's ascension to the throne new coins, both in gold and silver, will be struck.

The coins now in use throughout Germany bear a likeness of the kaiser as he appeared only a year or two after he became emperor, when still a young man without a trace of the serious lines which his recent illness has greatly accentuated. The new coins will represent him as he is today in the uniform of a cuirassier and his breast covered with decorations.

Professor Sturm, who is well known throughout Germany as a maker of medals, will execute the new portrait of Wilhelm II.

HEROIC Y. M. C. A. SECRETARY.

B. R. Barber, secretary of the Calcutta association, will speak at the Y. M. C. A. anniversary service in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church Sunday morning. Mr. Barber's name is probably better known than that of any man in the foreign secretaryship because of a conspicuous act of bravery which he performed three years ago. During a disturbance in Bengal he saved the life of Sir Andrew Fraser, the governor of the province, by throwing himself upon the Hindu assassin who was about to stab the governor. In the struggle which followed Mr. Barber was severely injured. For this act of heroism he was decorated by the king.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Jackson, of Crescent avenue, are stopping at Atlantic City.

SPEAKER FOUND NAP HURLERS RATHER EASY

Every Other Time He Went to Bat Against Cleveland.

Tris Speaker would have owned a batting average of .500 this season had he been compelled only to face the Cleveland pitchers. The player who won the Chalmers American League trophy made a hit every other time he went to the bat in the games with the Naps, getting 37 safeties out of 74 trips to the plate.

Detroit's hurlers were easy for Speaker, Tris running up an average of .410 against them, derived from 34 hits in 83 times at bat. He hit .395 against the St. Louis slabmen, .392 against the Washington delivery clerks, .376 against the Athletic artillerists, .333 against the New York twirlers, and .323 against the Chicago curvers.

Oddly enough, it wasn't Ed Walsh who was the most puzzling of the White Sox slabmen to the Speed Boy. Speaker ran up an average of .333 against Comiskey's man of steel and .000 against Frank Lange, whom he faced eight times.

Walter Johnson was no puzzle to the player voted by the Chalmers jury the most valuable in the American League, Speaker making seven hits in seventeen times at bat off the Idaho phenom—an average of .417.

Speaker went hitless in only 23 of the 153 games in which he participated. In 64 contests, he made one hit, in 41 contests he made two, in 21 contests he made three, and in four contests he made four.

Speaker's biggest days with the bat were May 4, June 9, June 17 and August 23, he obtaining four safties on each of these dates. The pitchers he then faced were, respectfully, Cashion and Akers, of Washington; Mitchell, of St. Louis; Walsh, of Chicago, and Steen and Baskette, of Cleveland.

This is how the man who won the auto offered by Hugh Chalmers to the player voted the most valuable in the American league, batted against the pitchers:

Against	AB.	R.	H.	PC.
Cleveland	74	19	37	.500
Detroit	83	19	34	.410
St. Louis	81	16	32	.395
Washington	79	20	31	.392
Philadelphia	85	28	32	.376
New York	87	18	29	.333
Chicago	93	17	30	.323

SMALL CHANCE MACK WILL LEAVE ATHLETICS

The latest rumor over the probable successor of Harry Wolverton as manager of the New York Americans connected the name of Connie Mack, the great general of the Philadelphia Athletics, but this yarn was quickly smothered. It was known in baseball circles that Mack had some trouble with Ben Shibe, of the Athletics, at the close of last season, but the trouble was amicably adjusted.

Mack has recently secured twenty-five per cent. of the stock of the Athletics, and the foxy manager is now said to hold $250,000 worth of stock in the club. Twenty-five years ago Mack was catcher on the Hartford club. He is now a real magnate. He managed the Pirates a dozen years ago, but fortune did not begin to smile upon him until he secured the job of piloting the Athletics. His success as a manager has been phenomenal. In view of the fact that he is now half owner of the franchise and grounds there is little prospect of Mack going to another club.

CRICKET FIELD TO BE IN USE TOMORROW

Holy Cross Will Have the Only Football Game in the City.

Cricket Field will again be the centre of the weekly football interest tomorrow afternoon when the Holy Cross eleven lines up against the strong Raritan A. C., of Perth Amboy. Owing to the fact that a number of High School players are contemplating a visit to Princeton tomorrow, P. H. S. will have no game.

Hamilton has been driving his men hard in the expectation of a hard battle and the Boroughites will without doubt display the same article of football that they have in their previous contests. The Athletic Club warriors are hailed as a husky bunch and they are out to shatter the reputation of the local team.

"MAC" SAYS

What will we do without a P. H. S. football game tomorrow afternoon? Why, go to Cricket Field, of course, and see Holy Cross take another.

The Yale-Princeton score tomorrow afternoon will be about 9 to 6 in favor of Yale.

Watch the Daily Press scoreboard for an account of every play just as it is made.

A team of former Y. M. C. A. and college stars will occupy the limelight against the Ajax at the Y. M. C. A. gym tomorrow night.

No school today. But there surely will be some Monday as the teachers are well protected in Elizabeth today. Besides the Teachers' Institute the county seat has stationed in its midst for the day Company M of Somerville, and Companies F, C and I. The soldiers are adding much to the efforts of the school teachers to prepare themselves to teach the tots their A, B, C's.

Co-eds at Syracuse University have voted to limit the calling hours of men to twice a week, from 7:30 until 10 o'clock at night. Oil and gas are going up in price.

Hamilton says that there is altogether too much basketball talk floating around these days. Yes, Lester, it does seem too bad that a game of the indoor pastime has to break up a Holy Cross football practice as it did last week.

He is really serious this time, though, and says that if the men do not report this time they will not get a game tomorrow afternoon. Don't be harsh, old man, even football players have feelings.

For the information of those who are planning to go to Princeton tomorrow afternoon we might say that the weather man has announced that if it does not rain or snow tomorrow the conditions will be ideal for the big game.

HOLY CROSS PRACTICE.

Coach Hamilton, of the Holy Cross football team, has called a practice to be held at Hyde Oval tonight and wants every one of his regulars out in uniform. Those who do not show up ready for a stiff drill tonight cannot expect to get into the game tomorrow against the Raritan A. C., of Perth Amboy.

WOLVERTON GETS OFFER.

Sacramento, Nov. 15.—Jack Atkin, of the Sacramento club, has wired Harry Wolverton an offer to manage the Senators next year. Wolverton managed the Yankees during the past season, and before that time led the Oakland Coast League Club in two pennant fights.

AN INGENIOUS FOOTBALL TRICK FAILS.

The opening of the Rose Poly-Vanderbilt football game in Nashville, Tenn., recently, developed a brand new one. Following the kickoff, Rose lined up hurriedly, then shot a long pass toward the side line to a man in citizen's clothes. He ran forty yards and was downed by the Vanderbilt safety. To the astonishment of all, he then took off his hat, coat, trousers and shirt and was found wearing a regular football uniform underneath. Vanderbilt players had not noticed that only ten Rose men had lined up in regular positions.

"LEFTY" FLYNN A SENSATION.

Yale Back Field Star Is Talk of Football World This Season.

The immense promise of "Lefty" Flynn, Yale's star halfback, as a scoring power for Yale becomes more and more evident as the big games draw near, and if his faulty technique, his punt muffing, his missed signals and his fumbles can be checked and cured he gives promise of proving the most remarkable character on the American gridiron this season. He has been known as "Lefty," but his correct name is Maurice Flynn. His home is in New York, and he was prominent in grammar school sports in New York city for two or three years. He finally went to the Pawling school, where Tad Jones took him in hand, and he became a remarkable interscholastic athlete. He went to Yale a year ago and, although he was barred from taking part in class athletics last season because of some scholarship technicality, he gave several exhibitions showing his promise. He cleared the bar in six feet two inches in the high jump, leaped twenty-three feet in the broad, ran the 100 yards in ten and two-fifths seconds, threw the hammer 150 feet and shot forty-three feet. He is one of the best left handed pitchers in the east, according to his work at the Pawling school, and he should shine on the Yale track and baseball teams in the spring, as well as on the football eleven this season. He is now punting sixty-five yards.

KING COLE SIGNS TO MANAGE BARBER SHOP

Chicago, Nov. 15.—King Cole, former star pitcher for the Chicago National League baseball club, signed a contract yesterday as manager of a barber shop in a downtown office building.

Cole came from the South Michigan League to the Chicago Nationals in 1910. He was traded to Pittsburg in 1912. It recently was announced that he had been sold to the American Association. Cole was a barber in Iowa when he began his baseball career.

BULL DOG AND TIGER.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 15 (Special).—Followers of the colors of Yale and Princeton are trooping into town for the game which will award football honors to one or the other university tomorrow. The town is gayly attired and the streets are thronged with the "early birds." Hotels, clubs, dormitories and fraternity houses have been thrown open to the alumni, and numerous impromptu class reunions are being held. The sale of nearly 30,000 tickets indicates a record-breaking attendance at the game. The officials selected for the contest are already on the ground. They are: Referee, W. S. Langford, of Trinity; umpire, Neal Snow, of Michigan; linesman, Lieutenant Nelly, of West Point.

MORRIS BACK IN THE RING.

Shreveport, La., Nov. 15 (Special).—Carl Morris, the Oklahoma "white hope," is to be seen in the ring here tomorrow night at a boxing show to be given under the auspices of a local athletic club. His opponent will be Cass Tarver, a big fellow hailing from Texas. The two are scheduled for a ten-round contest.

J. L. WATSON SCORES THREE IN FIVE-BACK

J. W. Watson scored three points, E. M. Benjamin two points and Dr. H. V. Hubbard one point in the five-back bowling tournament at the Park Club last night. The scores were as follows:

S. A. Patterson, 32, 37, 34-141; E. M. Benjamin, 51, 85, 44-204; Dr. H. V. Hubbard, 64, 38, 52-168; F. A. Weeks, 36, 39, 29-150; J. B. Betts, 53, 43, 35-150; Max Brakeley, 53, 52, 41-166; H. C. Krebs, 50, 48, 56-154; R. A. Suffern, 41, 37, 54-165; F. L. Sill, 33, 44, 49-145; W. E. Benjamin, 47, 49, 79-167; J. V. Beekman, 40, 34,39-156; J. L. Watson, 34, 69, 67-209; G. H. A POSSIBLE BASEBALL FEAT.

Pitcher Might Strike Out Fifty-four Men In One Game.

So frequently has the question "Is it possible for a pitcher to be credited with more than three strikeouts in an inning?" been addressed to the sporting editor that an extended calculation was recently made as to the number of strikeouts a pitcher could score in a game and shut out the opposing team. This was suggested by a note that appeared reading, "What is the largest number of strikeouts—with which a pitcher can be credited in any game of nine innings and at the same time score a shutout?" The answer was "Fifty-four," which answer is correct.

To this a superannuated alleged expert, a man who made himself deaf knocking others, came back to this effect:

"Since we have followed baseball we have yet to see the time when a pitcher can strike out 'fifty-four' players. Twenty-seven strikeouts are as much as 'a' pitcher can do in any game of baseball in this country. At least we have not heard of any ruling which changes the number of outs required for one inning from three to six."

Here's the explanation: It will have to be admitted that twenty-seven putouts are all that are legally required to retire an opponent in nine innings, but that isn't the proposition. Under the scoring rules that obtain in these modern days of baseball, a pitcher is credited with a strikeout even if the catcher misses the third strike.

In other words, errors by the catcher could fill the bases, while at the same time the pitcher would be credited with a strikeout against each batter. By retiring three other batters on strikes, with the catcher squeezing the ball real hard in each instance, the pitcher would be credited with six strikeouts to the inning. Six times nine is said to make fifty-four.—New York World.

LONG TERM FOR LYNCH.

National League Magnates May Re-elect Him For Five Years.

That Tom Lynch will be re-elected president of the National league seems to be a foregone conclusion. The magnates may even make his term four or five years this time, for it has been demonstrated that the very short term is impracticable.

While Lynch was criticised for permitting Murphy and Fogel to go as far as they did during the past year, his honesty and integrity have never been questioned, and his personal conduct is a credit to the game.

One or two instances might be picked out where the head of the National league failed to display the drastic efficiency of a Ban Johnson, but on the run of the season he earned himself another term, and the National league cannot afford to abandon him now in the face of the Fogel fuss.

Sullivan May Become Magnate.

Billy Sullivan, the veteran White Sox catcher, may become a magnate. He is negotiating for the purchase of the Tacoma franchise in the Northwestern league.

FLOAT COMMITTEEMAN.

Alfred Manley, a student at the Pennsylvania State College, in a letter to his father, John Manley, says that he has been appointed a member of a committee to build a float to be placed in a parade to be held at State College on November 21. The float will represent a house in court of construction.

"HURRY UP" YOST'S ENTHUSIASM FOR FOOTBALL KNOWS NO BOUNDS

Coach Yost of Michigan is pointing his strong eleven for the big games with Pennsylvania in Philadelphia on Nov. 9 and with Cornell in Ann Arbor on Nov. 16. "Hurry Up," as he is called, says the Wolverenes are stronger this year than last and will pile up a big score on both Penn and Cornell.

Yost is unquestionably one of the best football coaches in the country. His whole heart and soul are in the game, and his enthusiasm is unbounded.

An illustration of this is recalled which happened five or six years ago. It was before the annual game between Penn and Michigan, which that particular season was played at Franklin field.

The Ann Arbor squad landed in Philadelphia the night before the game, and after seeing his charges comfortably housed Yost took a stroll around the city, finally landing in one of the newspaper offices, where he had a friend in the sporting department. Every one was glad to see the Michigan coach. The usual questions were asked about his team, their weight, ability, and so forth, and in the course of the interview the changes in the rules were discussed.

Yost was warming up to his subject and getting more enthusiastic every minute.

To better illustrate his ideas, he got hold of two chairs to represent players on the field. These not being sufficient, he secured three more, which were lined up to represent a back field.

The "players" were then moved backward and forward as Yost explained several plays that were possible under the then new rules.

He soon pounced upon other chairs until he finally had eleven.

Then there was a circus, and the the racket was deafening as the football coach moved his "men" from one position to another on the floor, talking all the time at a mile a minute.

Meanwhile the noise had attracted reporters and editors from other departments of the paper, and for awhile Yost had an audience of between twenty and thirty persons, to whom he was lecturing on the possibilities of the new rules. For ten minutes the whole machinery of a large daily paper was stopped while he, now fired with a prophetic fervor, was breaking up the furniture and imparting much of his enthusiasm to those around him. That is Yost.

TURNED THE TABLES.

A Comedy That Was Enacted In the House of Representatives.

In the closing days of the first session of the Fifty-seventh congress Uncle Joe Cannon, then chairman of the appropriations committee, had vigorously attacked some provisions of the naval appropriation bill that had been inserted by the senate. Finally he secured a vote in the house, instructing the conferees of the house not to recede on their disagreement to one particularly obnoxious provision.

The matter was debated in conference for about three weeks. Finally the house conferees yielded in a minor particular to the senate and reported an agreement to the house. When this agreement was read and Mr. Cannon learned that the position of the house had been altered by the conferees he took the floor and in scathing language denounced the conferees for having, as he said, "betrayed the house."

A vote was taken, and Mr. Cannon's position was sustained. Thereupon the speaker, Mr. Henderson, took the measure out of the hands of the members of the committee on naval affairs and appointed a new conference committee, consisting of Mr. Cannon (Uncle Joe), Mr. Moody of Massachusetts and Mr. Shafroth.

The following morning these conferees met the senate conferees, and after a stormy session of several hours' duration they found that they, too, would have to yield to the senate conferees in minor particular. They then reported an agreement to the house.

As soon as it had been read the late Amos J. Cummings, who had been one of the original conferees, arose at his seat, and, taking almost the exact words of Mr. Cannon—uttered the evening before—he told the members how they had been "betrayed" by their new conferees. Then, turning to Mr Cannon, he said with withering scorn: "For three weeks the former conferees of the house fought the senate conferees inch by inch. It was only when the members of this house began to appeal to us to reach an agreement in order that they might get away from the heat of Washington's summer that we finally yielded in a trifling matter."

Then, shaking his finger at Mr Cannon, who stood across the aisle from him, and, raising his voice to a high pitch, he thundered:

"But, sir, what did you do? You fell at the first shot; you dropped in the first ditch. Sir, you're misnamed You're no cannon; you're a toy pistol!"

Everybody roared with laughter. The house promptly turned down the Cannon report and adopted the one that had been rejected the night before Within three hours thereafter the session had adjourned sine die.—New York Sun.

Justifiable Ignorance.

While crossing a city street a farmer was knocked down by an automobile Before he could get out of the way he was knocked down again by a motorcycle which came rushing along behind.

A friend of his on the sidewalk yelled to him, "Why didn't you get out of the way?"

"How in the dickens did I know it had a colt?" was the angry response—Everybody's.

Entirely Different.

It was early morning in a quiet English village, and old Mr. Bell was industriously plying his hammer on a wooden contrivance under the kitchen window in the back yard when a neighbor called to inquire after his wife, who had not been well for some time.

The old chap's reply, however, was drowned by some one in the house coughing very loudly.

"Poor dear! I s'pose that's 'er coughin', ain't it?" cried the sympathetic neighbor.

"Na, na, ma man," replied the aged toiler, surveying his handiwork proudly; "it ain't a coffin. It's a 'en coop."

Motto For a Station.

Vice President Sherman and a senator from Alabama were in front of the new Union station, within a stone's throw of the capitol.

"Why," the senator asked, looking at the inscriptions cut into the granite, "do they have quotations from the Bible on the front walls of this station?"

"To keep the people from going astray," the vice president replied.—Washington Star.

Former Lieutenant Governor Narrowly Escapes Death in Auto.

FUGITIVE HIMSELF, HE WORKS AS DETECTIVE

Ill, Confesses Theft of $40,000 of State's Money.

Guthrie, Okla., Nov. 15.—Will R. McBrine, former assistant state auditor of Oklahoma, who absconded nineteen months ago with $17,000 of the state's money, traveled abroad nearly all the time while absent and actually worked, while himself a fugitive from justice, for Scotland Yard and detective agencies in London and throughout the British isles and later in New York for other detective firms. Now a confessed defaulter of $40,000 or more of the state's money, he is back in Guthrie, a guest at the home of Sheriff Murphy, where he is being concealed from members of the Burns Detective agency.

McBrine has made a clean breast of everything, it is said, to Attorney General West of Oklahoma, who is making ready to grab the "higher ups" in the case.

While away McBrine traveled in France, Austria and Germany. Thoughts of his wife and two-year-old boy at home brought him back to New York last spring, and a long spell of sickness forced him finally to telegraph Attorney General West that he was at the Cadillac hotel, New York, sick and without money to pay his bills.

West telegraphed McBrine the money and met him in Joplin, Mo., last Saturday. There, it is said, McBrine told West all about his defalcations, which consisted of the issuing of many bogus state warrants.

Thought He Had 'Em a New Way.

Digby Bell is a dear old soul. He's full of sunshine and good works and a form of mortal indigestion. Every now and then Digby echoes like a sea shell. His best conversation will be interrupted by an odd mooing sound which comes from the neighborhood of his breakfast. The other day Digby discovered in front of the Lambs' bar a friend who has been drunk for seven or eight years.

"GO AWAY FROM ME."

"Tom," said Digby, placing one hand in remonstrance on his friend's arm, "you ought not goop, goowallop to drink this way."

Tom looked at Digby in some apprehension. He didn't mind what Digby said. It was that unclassified sound in the midst of Digby's buttons that alarmed him and made him feel that if he wasn't seeing things maybe he was beginning to hear things.

"You—whirrrr—are not—goop, goowallop—treating your family right, Tom," continued Mr. Bell. "Gurrrr!"

Tom threw of Mr. Bell's hand and moved away.

"Go away from me, darn you!" said the victim to Digby. "You're haunted!"—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Might Have!

I have lived my life, and I face the end—
But that other life I might have led.
Where lay the road, and who was its friend,
And what was the goal when the years were fled?

Where lay the road? Did I miss the turn,
The friend unknown, our greetings unsaid
And the goal unsought? Shall I never learn
What was that life I might have led?

As the spring's last look for one dear day
From skies autumnal on earth may bend
So lures me that other life—but, nay;
I have lived my life, and I face the end.
—Edith M. Thomas

Silenced Him.

A demure little woman tells this story on her husband to demonstrate the inferiority of the masculine mind. One morning as her husband was sitting down to the breakfast table he glanced at the dining room clock and said, "We must be later than usual this morning."

"I SET IT GOING BY GUESS."

"Don't place too much confidence in that clock. It stopped at 5 o'clock this morning, and I just set it going by guess," replied the good wife.

"Were you up at 5 o'clock?" asked the husband.

"Of course not."

"What time did you say the clock stopped?"

"At 5."

"If you weren't up at 5," replied the man with a puzzled look, "how in thunder do you know when the clock stopped?"

"Why, dear, it stayed stopped," was the reply. The man did not say another word that morning.

He Laughed Last.

A certain lady who wished to have some fun at the expense of an agent who had ofttimes solicited her to insure herself and family, asked him on one occasion if he would insure the cat. The agent, to the astonishment and no small amusement of those present, promptly offered to do so, provided she paid the first premium down. The lady, still thinking to hoax him, expressed her willingness to do so, and placed a quarter on the table. The agent quickly produced a proposal, filled it in and obtained her signature while those present were on the tiptoe of expectancy as to what was to follow.

"Now, madam, with your permission, may I see the cat?"

"Certainly," she replied, at the same time pointing to a glass case which contained the stuffed remains of the poor defunct cat.

A chorus of derisive laughter burst from all present, but to their dismay the agent turned, bowed politely, at the same time picking up the quarter, and exclaimed:

"When that cat dies, madam kindly call at our office and claim the insurance money. Good morning."

Somewhat Doubtful.

A candidate for sheriff was going around among the voters soliciting their votes. He had a little book with him in which he entered the names of the voters he interviewed and their politics. He came to one blunt, heavy jawed and big fisted man who evidently did not like him.

"Well, Mr. Jones," said the candidate, "I suppose that I can count on your support at the election?"

"Naw, you can't count on my support," said Jones. "I'd rather take poison than vote for a son of a gun like you."

"From the way you talk," said the candidate, as he pulled out his book, "I reckon mebby I had better put you down as somewhat doubtful."—Kansas City Star.

A WONDERFUL STREAM.

The Mississippi River, Its Magnitude and the Area It Drains.

The Mississippi river, lying wholly within the temperate zone, is in this respect more fortunately situated than the more fertile valleyed Amazon, since the climate here, varied and sometimes inhospitable as it is, offers conditions of human development there denied.

The main stream is 2,500 miles in length—that is, about ten times that of the Seine. As Mark Twain has said, it is "the crookedest river" in the world, traveling 1,300 miles to cover the same ground that a crow would fly over in 675. For several hundred miles it is a mile in width. Back in 1882 it was seventy miles wide when the flood was highest.

The volume of water discharged by it into the sea is second only to the Amazon and is greater than that of all European rivers combined (omitting the Volga). The amount is estimated at 139 cubic miles annually—that is, it would fill annually a tank 139 miles long, 139 miles wide and 139 miles high. With its tributaries it provides somewhat more than 16,000 miles of navigable water, more than any other system on the globe except the Amazon and more than enough to reach from Lake Superior to Paris by way of Kamchatka and Alaska, about three-fourths of the way around the globe. The sediment deposited is 400,000,000 tons, enough to require daily for its removal 500 trains of fifty cars, each carrying fifty tons, and to make each year two square miles of new earth over a hundred feet deep.

The area which it drains is roughly 1,250,000 square miles, or two-fifths of the United States. That is, Germany, Austria-Hungary, France and Italy could be set down within this area and there would still be some room to spare.

It has the strength, for the most part put to no use whatever, of 60,000,000 horses. The difference between high water and low water is in some places fifty feet, which gives some impression of the range of its moodiness.—John Finley in Scribner's Magazine.

SHE WAS GOING TO DIE.

Then Something Happened That Made the Sick Girl Well.

An Atchison young lady had been ill for some time and finally became much depressed. She told a married sister, who was assisting in caring for her, that she knew she was going to die, and that she might as well distribute her possessions. "I'll give you my coral beads," she said to the married sister, "but Mary is to have my diamond ring because you have had several diamonds given to you by your husband."

The sick girl expected the married sister to fall on her neck and weep, not only at the sadness of her impending and untimely death, but because of her generosity in the matter of her corals. So it was no wonder that every nerve in the invalid's body was jarred by the married sister's answer: "Well, of all the nerve! Giving me your little string of cheap corals! Why, they cost only $20, while your diamond ring is worth every bit of $250. It makes me tired," the married sister continued in excited tones, "the way you indulge Mary. Why, she's at a party this very minute, and I'm slaving here with you. As for my diamonds, didn't I help my husband scrimp and save?"

But right here the sick young woman, buoyed up by righteous indignation, her blood pumping through her veins with anger, sat up, put her feet firmly on the floor, got up and dressed. "You can take the next train for home," she said to the astonished married sister. "I'll just wear my diamond ring and corals myself a little while longer." This is a true story, and, although the incident occurred six months ago, the Atchison young lady hasn't been sick a minute since.—Atchison Globe.

Could You Do Better?

"I was one of a party of four taking an early dinner at an open air restaurant in Cologne on the Fourth of July several years ago," says a New York Tribune reader. "We sent a polite request to the orchestra leader to play 'The Star Spangled Banner' and were told that the composition was 'unknown.' We were surprised and vexed and talked a lot about the song, its origin, its beauty, and finally discovered that had the bandmaster played it we—all four of us—could have sung only 'la-la' to the second verse and all after it."

Maine's Needle Rock.

In Blue Hill bay, Me., there is a pinnacle rock only six feet in diameter at its top which projects to within seven feet of the surface of the water and rises nearly perpendicularly out of a depth of seventy-eight feet. The existence of this rock is an evidence of the difficulty, even in well known waters, of demonstrating that no isolated rocks are lying in wait for heedless victims.—Harper's.

The Good He Did.

"Do you really believe, doctor, that your old medicines really keep anybody alive?" asked the skeptic.

"Surely," returned the doctor. "My prescriptions have kept three druggists and their families alive in this town for twenty years."—Harper's Weekly.

Communications.

Sept. 13, 1912.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Elizabeth, New Jersey.

Gentlemen—The Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors of the United States will hold a public hearing September 24 next, at 11 a. m., at the Chamber of Commerce, 65 Liberty street, New York city, on the proposed improvement of Staten Island Sound.

The preliminary examination and survey have been made by the district officers who recommend the improvement of the Sound to the extent of increasing the depth of the channel to thirty feet at mean low water, and the width to 1,200 feet across Raritan Bay to opposite Smith street in Perth Amboy, thence 400 feet wide through Arthur Kill to the east end of Shooter's Island and thence 500 feet to deep water in Upper Bay.

The estimated cost of this project is $19,000,000. This recommended improvement will, if completed, make the channel at Elizabeth thirty feet deep and 400 feet wide as against the present depth of twenty-one feet and width of 300 feet.

The improvement of Staten Island Sound means much to the commercial interests of Union county.

Before the expenditure of the vast sum is recommended to Congress it will be necessary to convince the Board of Engineers of the necessity for the improvement and the strong public sentiment behind it. Union county ought to be well represented at this hearing, and we respectfully request your honorable body to designate three or more persons to represent the county officially.

Very truly yours,
FOR THE ELIZABETH BOARD OF TRADE.
C. H. K. HALSEY, President.
C. McK. WHITTEMORE,
JOHN LAMMERDING,
Committee.

On motion by Freeholder Smith this communication was received and ordered placed on file, and that the request be granted, and that a committee of three be appointed by the Director to attend said hearing. The Director appointed as said committee Freeholders Pierson, Crane and Hall.

New Business.

By Freeholder Smith.

Whereas, by resolutions duly adopted on June 6, 1912, the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union directed that certain public roads or sections of roads located within said county be improved by the construction of macadamized roads and by virtue of the provisions of an act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled "An Act to provide for the permanent improvement and maintenance of public roads in this State (Revision of 1912)," approved April 15, 1912, none of said roads or sections of roads being a city street, and each of said roads or sections of roads being at least thirty-three feet in width and at least one mile in length, or, if less than one mile in length, being at least thirty-three feet in width and an extension of or connection with a permanently improved or paved road or street, said roads or sections of roads being described as follows:

Mountain or Westfield avenue, beginning at the intersection with the centre line of Morris avenue, in the Township of Springfield, distant easterly along the centre line of Morris avenue about thirty-five feet from the easterly side of a bridge over Van Winkle Brook, and from said beginning point thence running in a southwesterly direction, through lands of William Flemer and others, about 1,750 feet to a point in the centre line of Westfield avenue, at a bend in said avenue, and nearly opposite the residence of Albert A. Sickley.

Morris avenue, beginning at the intersection of Morris avenue with the township line of Union Township and the city line of the city of Elizabeth, and thence running in a northwesterly direction along Morris avenue, in the Township of Union, to the intersection of Morris avenue and Stuyvesant avenue in the Township of Union, a distance of about 2.9 miles.

Springfield avenue, beginning at Morris avenue in the Township of Springfield, thence running easterly through the Township of Springfield and Township of Union, and partly bordering on Millburn Township line, to the Essex county line, being about one and three-quarter (1¾) miles in length.

South avenue, beginning at the intersection of South avenue and Martine avenue in the Borough of Fanwood, and thence running along South avenue in a northeasterly and easterly direction, about 3,700 feet to the centre line of Summit avenue, at the easterly line of the Borough of Fanwood.

South avenue, beginning at the intersection of South avenue and Martine avenue in Fanwood Borough, and running thence southwesterly about 3,200 feet along South avenue to the intersection of South avenue and Terrill road, all in the Borough of Fanwood; also South avenue in the Township of Fanwood, beginning at the intersection of South avenue and Summit avenue at the easterly line of Fanwood Borough, and thence running easterly about 2,300 feet through the Township of Fanwood to the westerly line of the Town of Westfield.

And whereas, thereafter said Board of Chosen Freeholders caused to be made by the county engineer (after obtaining the written consent of the State Commissioner of Public Roads) a survey of said roads or sections of roads, and plans, cross-sections and specifications for said work to be done on the same to be prepared, and said plans, cross-sections and specifications having been duly prepared, were submitted to the Board of Chosen Freeholders and duly approved by said board, and were thereafter submitted to the State Commissioner of Public Roads and approved by him in writing thereon, July 11, 1912, and

Whereas, within thirty days after the approval of said plans, cross-sections and specifications by the State Commissioner of Public Roads, the Board of Chosen Freeholders duly advertised for bids for said work as required by law, and, on, August , 1912, pursuant to such advertisement duly awarded contracts for said work to the lowest bidders at the aggregate cost of $104,626.64; and

Whereas, each and every requirement of law relating to the advertisement for and receipt, opening, reading and recording of the bids for and awarding of said contracts were duly complied with, and the contracts as awarded, in the form and manner, and upon the terms and conditions required by law were duly executed under the provisions of said act, and the successful bidders duly executed bonds with qualified sureties approved by the Director of the Board of Chosen Freeholders for the faithful performance of the said contracts within thirty days from the awarding thereof; and

Whereas, said contracts and bonds, before any work was done thereunder were exhibited to the State Commissioner of Public Roads and approved by him in writing thereon, and a true copy of the specifications, bids, contracts, bonds, justifications of sureties, and summary of all bids received, certified to be such by the Director of the Board of Chosen Freeholders, was immediately after the awarding of said contracts furnished by said board to the State Commissioner of Public Roads, which has been filed in and remains of record in the office of said commissioner; and

Whereas, the County Engineer has filed with the Board of Chosen Freeholders an estimate of the cost of said work under said contracts, whereby it appears that the total cost will be not less than $100,000; and by the provision of said act the State's share or contribution of the cost of said work is forty per cent. (40%) of the total estimated cost thereof, and the county's share or portion is the total cost less the amount certified to be paid by the State; and

Whereas, the Board of Chosen Freeholders has heretofore determined not to certify to the County Board of Taxation the county's share of the cost of said work so contracted for, pursuant to Section 9 of said act, but instead to issue bonds of the county of Union in the aggregate principal amount of $60,000, that being the amount certified or to be certified to be paid by the State. Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That pursuant to the authority conferred by an act entitled "An Act to provide for the permanent improvement and maintenance of public roads in this State (Revision of 1912)" approved April 15, 1912, there shall be issued bonds of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, designated as "Road Improvement Bonds," in the aggregate principal amount of $60,000, sixty in number, numbered from one to sixty inclusive, of the denomination of $1,000 each, dated September 1, 1912, payable September 1, 1912, bearing interest at the rate of four and one-half per centum (4½%) per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of March and September in each year, both principal and interest being payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the National State Bank of Elizabeth, Elizabeth, New Jersey. Why She Thought So.

"Mamma," said the little girl, "sister doesn't tell the truth."

"Why, Jennie," said the mother, "you mustn't say such things."

"Well, last night I heard her say 'Charlie, if you do that again I'll call mamma.' And he did it twice more and she didn't call."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Ironmonger.

The word "ironmonger" has as curious an origin as any other word in the English language. It means literally an eater of iron and came to its present use in this way. There was once a law that forbade buying fish to sell again, and the fish hawkers, who still carried on their trade in spite of this law, were facetiously termed fish eaters or fishmongers, for to evade the law their large purchases of fish were said to be for their own consumption. Gradually the term monger was applied to other trades, as cheesemonger, until at last it came to mean any middleman as distinguished from a manufacturer and so was applied to the dealer in hardware.—London Graphic.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

There has been three great films produced since moving pictures passed the fad stage and became in reality a medium of learning and art;

Homer's "Odyssey"—Sensation In Moving Pictures—At Plainfield Theatre, Today, Mat. and Night.

the Passion Play, Dante's "Inferno," and now the latest and most picturesque, "The Odyssey" of Homer. The story of the "Odyssey" hinges on the adventures of Ulysses. His departure from Ithaca, where he was enthroned to Troy, where the ten-year conflict was in its incipiency. The battle over, he stars for home, his wife and young son. Overtaken by misfortune, he encounters adventure on adventure and finally reaches home and just in time to save the honor of his wife and to scatter his wife's suitors. The picture requires nearly two hours to be shown, is accompanied with striking effects and music specially adapted and written for the production. These pictures will be seen at the Plainfield theatre, this afternoon and evening.

Great care has been taken by Manager A. G. Delamater in selecting the artists to create the different roles in the dramatization of Gene Stratton-Porter's novel "Freckles," which will be seen at the Plainfield theatre, Saturday of next week. The most difficult role to fill was that of Freckles as it not only required an exceedingly young, handsome actor but one who was possessed of a grand opera voice as well. At least a hundred different applicants were interviewed before one was selected. There are very few Scotch artists in America at present disengaged, therefore it was necessary to send to England for actors to play Mr. and Mrs. Duncan. The other parts are portrayed by American actors and actresses, all of whom are thoroughly familiar with the types prevailing in the locale where the story is laid.

Miss Ethel Brower of New Brunswick Says Her Sweetheart Was Innocent and So Insisted on Wedding—He Also Faces Embezzlement Charge.

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 15.—Under arrest on charges of forgery and embezzlement, Gilbert Buchanan was taken to the Suydam Street Reformed church in this city in the custody of two deputy sheriffs. He remained there just long enough to be married to Miss Ethel Brower. After the Rev. Alan D. Campbell performed the ceremony Buchanan returned to his cell. The honeymoon was postponed indefinitely, or until such time as he can obtain his freedom.

Buchanan was accused by the Prudential Life Insurance company, whose agent he was at New Brunswick, with forging the name of a client to a dividend voucher and with failure to account for two small sums of money. He was arrested the day before he was to have been married to Miss Brower.

After his arrest she called on him at the jail and expressed confidence in his innocence. She finally persuaded her father and the sheriff to take them to Middlebush, five miles away, where they obtained a marriage license.

Under the New Jersey law twenty-four hours must elapse after the issuing of a license before the parties to it can be married; hence the wedding took place last night, and the ceremonies were private.

W. CAMPBELL CLARK DEAD.

He Was President of the Clark Thread Works at Newark.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 15.—William Campbell Clark, president of the Clark Thread works in Newark, one of the best known men in the thread industry in the country, died in his home at 1010 Broad street, Newark. Death was indirectly due to an accident with which Mr. Clark met two years ago by a fall at his summer home in Elberon. At that time he fractured a bone in his hip, which subsequently caused him much pain and annoyance. Seven weeks ago he went to Chicago, where he underwent an operation at the hands of Dr. John B. Murphy, the well known surgeon, who subsequently took charge of Colonel Roosevelt's case after the latter was shot. Mr. Clark did not rally as successfully as was hoped and about two weeks ago was brought east in a private car, Dr. Murphy accompanying him.

Mr. Clark was born in Paisley, Scotland, he being a son of the late James Clark. He received his early education in Dr. Bryce's private school in Edinboro and came to this country when sixteen years old, after which he took a two years' special course in Rutgers college. He succeeded his uncle, William Clark, on the latter's death as president. Mr. Clark was forty-nine years old. In 1893 he married Miss Estelle Kinney, daughter of the late Thomas T. Kinney, publisher of the Daily Advertiser, who survives him, with two daughters.

WILSON'S PROCLAMATION.

President Elect Sees Much to Be Thankful For.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 15.—Governor Wilson issued his Thanksgiving proclamation, an excerpt from which follows:

"Another year of peace and prosperity has passed by. The life of the state and of the nation has been undisturbed by war or pestilence or disaster of any kind. We have been free to choose our own ways and have gone through the varied action of a great political campaign without violence or passion. The hope of our people has arisen with an increase of their life, and God has been very gracious to us in all his dealings."

President Elect Wilson's classmates of 1879, which is one of the most distinguished that was ever graduated from the university, will have him as their guest of honor at a dinner at the University club in New York tonight.

FIRE DESTROYS BIG HOTEL.

Raccoon Island Hostelry on Lake Hopatcong Burned to Ground.

Dover, N. J., Nov 15.—The Hollywood hotel on Raccoon island, Lake Hopatcong, which is well known by vacationists, was destroyed by fire. Employees of the owner, Philip S Slatta of New York, went to the hotel to close up for the winter.

The Hollywood was built twenty-five years ago. It was a thoroughly modern hotel of seventy rooms, three stories high.

Run Over by Steam Roller.

Mount Vale, N. J., Nov. 15.—Martin Lyndon, Jr., of this place, who was knocked down and run over by a large steam roller while working in Salamanca, N. Y., on a paving job, died from his injuries. The roller passed over Lyndon's left side, crushing the abdomen, the bones of the left leg, ankle and foot.

PEACE DISCUSSED AS WAR IS RACING

Armistice Sought, Only Affects Fighting at Tchatalja.

TURKEY SUBMITS PROPOSAL

Powers Said to Be For Immediate Cessation of Hostilities—Turkish Requests For Mediation Presented to Bulgarian Premier by European Ministers.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 15.—Ministers of the great powers presented to the Bulgarian premier the Turkish requests for mediation. Premier Guetchoff promised to submit it at headquarters immediately and also to confer on the matter with the cabinets of the allied Balkan nations. The text of the note follows:

"The Ottoman government having approached the great powers of Europe to ask their mediation, we are charged to inquire of your excellency if Bulgaria is disposed to accept his mediation and if so to what conditions her acceptance will be subject."

London, Nov. 15.—With the Turkish armies beaten in every battle during the forty days' war and now behind the fortifications at Tchatalja defending the capital of the empire, the Ottoman government has appealed to Bulgaria for an armistice pending the opening of negotiations for peace, according to an official dispatch received from Constantinople. What terms, if any, Turkey has proposed have not been disclosed. They must, however, in the opinion of diplomats, be unlimited if they are to prove acceptable to Bulgaria. With the last defenses of Constantinople almost in her hands, she is unlikely to consent to any armistice except on conditions giving her full military advantage.

To Have Support of Powers.

Turkey will have the support of the European powers in her request for a cessation of hostilities. The representatives of the various nations at Sofia have now received full information regarding the proposal of mediation, and they held a meeting to discuss the method to be adopted for making the communication of the Turkish request to the Bulgarian cabinet.

The armistice asked for by Turkey will only affect the fighting at the Tchatalja fortifications, while the step the European powers have taken has the object of putting an end to the war in all parts of the Balkan peninsula.

Until the powers succeed in influencing the allies in the direction of peace the fighting at Adrianople, Monastir, Scutari and in other portions of Turkey's once vast European dominion will continue no matter how Bulgaria regards the appeal made by Kiamil Pasha.

While, therefore, Turkey's recognition of the realities has smoothed the path of diplomacy, as it will if Bulgaria holds her hand, and will result in Constantinople, the Dardanelles and perhaps some other parts of her European possessions being left to her and preventing a scramble for them by the powers, there are still some serious questions to be dealt with. Among these are notably those of the position of Albania and of the Servian ambition to have a port on the Adriatic sea.

Russia Not to Go to War.

The Albanians are taking steps to make their country independent, and besides publishing a proclamation of autonomy the Albanian Nationalists organization has issued a protest against any attempt to interfere with the freedom and integrity of the country. The organization also makes the charge that the Servians have secretly murdered all the Albanian prisoners of war.

As to the Adriatic, which, according to a report from Alessio, the Servians have not yet reached, there is no official change either in the Austro-Italian or the Servian attitude.

The tendencies of the powers to realize each other's interests make the outlook even more hopeful, however, especially in view of Russia's determination not to go to war about the matter. It is thought that a European conference will find a way out of the difficulties presenting themselves.

489 WOMEN IN A SECRET.

Agrees Not to Tell of Election, but Rumor Is Busy.

Aurora, Ill., Nov. 15.—Four hundred and eighty-nine Illinois clubwomen, delegates to the State Federation of Women's Clubs, now in convention here, undertook to prove that they could keep a secret. They elected a president in a secret session, but her name, officers announced, would not be given out until today. "Because," was the only reason assigned for the determination to keep silent.

However, a persistent rumor was that Mrs. Frederick A. Dow, president of the First district, had been chosen by a big majority. She was opposed by Mrs. Robert McCall of Chicago.

Johnson's Friend In Jail.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—Albert C. Jones, the real estate agent who attempted to furnish $20,000 bail for Jack Johnson on property belonging to his wife, but which, he said, was his own, was sentenced to jail for contempt by Judge Landis in the federal court.

GUNMEN ACCUSE OTHERS OF CRIME

Declare Webber, Vallon and Unknown Killed Rosenthal.

MOVEMENTS FATAL NIGHT

After Shooting They Ran to Times Square Subway Station and Then Went to Flat of "Dago Frank's" Girl In Harlem.

New York, Nov. 15.—"Gyp the Blood," "Whitey" Lewis and "Lefty Louie," on trial for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, took the witness stand and told their story of a summer night that was peaceful, so far as they and "Dago Frank," were concerned, except for the moment of terror when the three witnesses say they saw in front of the Metropole Inn a strange man, who later they read was Rosenthal, shot to death by Charlie Webber, Harry Vallon and another man unknown to them. They ran to him and fled then, they swore, because their one thought was that Webber, Vallon and the unknown man whom they saw shooting and Jack Rose and Sam Schepps, who were with Webber, Vallon and the unknown murderer, had opened fire, not to kill Rosenthal as he came from the Metropole restaurant, but to kill the gangsters who were telling the story.

And once safely in the subway at Times square, they said, they had gone to the Harlem flat of "Dago Frank," who had gone home just before the murder. They slept there that night while the girl that lived with "Dago Frank" and brought money into the flat was sending messages from a police station house to Frank that she had been arrested after midnight for street walking and asking that Frank bring a boudsman to her.

Four Stayed In Flat.

The night before all four of them had stayed in the flat also while the girl walked the streets, and when they had got up, "about 11 o'clock" in the forenoon, they had gone out to get shaved, their hair cut, their shoes shined and their hats cleaned. But on the morning following the murder of Rosenthal they had arisen "about 8:30 o'clock" and had learned from "Dago Frank," just returned from his quest for a boudsman for the girl of the flat, that it was Rosenthal, "the squealer," whom they had seen shot the night before and that members of the Zelig gang, to which the four belonged, were wanted for his murder.

Therefore they fled, knowing that although they knew and could identify the murderers, they themselves, as Zelig's gangsters, would be charged with the crime. Weeks later "Whitey" had bought a ticket "up in the mountains" and was about to take a train to New York to "tell the coroner the real truth" when he was arrested.

Still later "Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty Louie" came down to Manhattan from Sullivan county "to tell the real truth to the police," but had decided at the last minute that the police wouldn't believe them. So "Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty Louie" said that when they arrived in front of police headquarters here the day they came back to town they "walked right past headquarters" and didn't stop until they had reached the house in Woodward avenue, Queens, where about a month later they were arrested by Deputy Commissioner Dougherty and his detectives.

"Gyp the Blood" on Stand.

It was "Gyp the Blood" who took the stand first.

"Why," Gyp was asked by Mr. Moskin the calm, almost solicitous manner in which the assistant district attorney cross examined all three throughout the day, "did you tell me at police headquarters the night you were arrested by Commissioner Dougherty knowing then so you swear now, that Rose, Webber and Vallon were in custody then and knowing that you could identify them as the real murderers why did you deny all knowledge of the Rosenthal murder to me then instead of letting me know that Rose and Webber were guilty."

"Because I knew you didn't want to hear they were guilty," snarled Gyp. "Because I know you didn't want to know that."

When he was asked how he had supported himself previous to the murder he said he had been a "general thief around town for the past five years or so." He would not admit that he had ever owned a pistol. When he or "Whitey" or "Lefty" were asked if they had lived on the earnings of disorderly women, the vehemence of their denial was second only to their denial that they had killed Rosenthal.

"Whitey Lewis," like "Gyp the Blood," said he never owned a revolver or "stuck up" any one with a revolver. He is a thief, too, he said, and for years he hadn't used his real name, Jacob Seidenschneur, because he "didn't want to disgrace it."

Bill McDonald, Wilson's Guard, Famous Ranger

CAPTAIN BILL M'DONALD, who did service as the bodyguard for Governor Woodrow Wilson during the presidential campaign, is a former Texas ranger and sometime cowboy, farmer and sergeant-at-arms of the state legislature and numerous conventions.

Texas has known McDonald for a long time. He has been a famous character in the Lone Star State for a quarter of a century. But it was not until he took charge of the Brownsville situation following the free for all shooting rampage of the negro soldiers on guard there that the country generally came to know him. During the congress discussions which followed the Brownsville outrage and President Roosevelt's dismissal of the entire negro regiment United States Senator Foraker of Ohio switched the spot light on McDonald by references to his bravery.

Texans have held a somewhat similar estimate of the bravery and "nerve" of the Democratic nominee's bodyguard for more than two decades. The transformation of the Rio Grande and plains sections of that big state from a rendezvous for outlaws and cow thieves to a law abiding section riding high on a wave of development is due more to the work of Captain Bill McDonald probably than to that of any other one man. He is credited with the honor of breaking up more outlaw gangs than any other man of the southwest. "When local peace officers fail I send McDonald," said Governor Jim Hogg in speaking of the services of his trusted ranger captain once. The sentiment has been echoed by half a dozen other Texas executives.

As constant reminders of his long period of dangerous service for his state, Captain Bill—that's what everybody calls him who knows him—bears in his body several sizable hunks of lead.

Before he became a ranger Captain McDonald was a cowboy. Report has it that none was more skillful with the rope, more at home in the saddle or quicker on the trigger than young

PRESIDENT ELECT WILSON AND CAPTAIN BILL M'DONALD, HIS BODYGUARD.

McDonald. His reputation on the ranges of north Texas got him into the peace preserving service as a marshal of the town of Decatur. From this office he progressed to the ranger service. He was so successful in running down cow thieves and robbers of the country banks in the thinly populated portions of the state that he was advanced to the head of the service. From that day to this he has been a big figure in the history of Texas. Once or twice he has pursued bands of outlaws to other states, particularly the Indian Territory, and run the risk of interstate complications. But always he has "delivered the goods." It has been said of him that he never went after a man that he didn't get.

A large number of McDonald's captures while he was at the head of the ranger service were effected in the early light of the dawn. This was the captain's favorite time for a coup. "Catch 'em before they get wide awake" was his motto. It was his theory that a man cannot shoot as straight while the drowsiness of a heavy sleep is still upon him as he can when he has regained the clearer use of his faculties. Accordingly he made it a practice when planning the capture of an outlaw band to locate the camp of the bandits, watch it over night and then rush upon it and disarm the fugitives before they had reenforced their nerves by a warm breakfast. For twenty years he weekly put this theory into practice to the detriment of some of the most notorious outlaws the state has ever known.

Numerous bullet wounds at length forced McDonald to give up the active ranger service, and so six years ago he resigned and was appointed state revenue agent. He proceeded at once to put his office "on the map," as he called it. He enforced the state's revenue laws as they had never been enforced.

Two years ago McDonald retired to his farm in northwest Texas. Most of the time since he has been a "private citizen." Last winter, however, he emerged from retirement to act as sergeant-at-arms for the legislative liquor investigating committee.

HERBERT NORDWALL.

Holland Army Lieutenant Who Girdled the Globe in Wooden Shoes.

Lieutenant Herbert Nordwall, late of the Holland army, arrived in New York recently on the last leg of a 25,000 mile walk around the world. Nordwall dresses in a quaint old style Holland costume, including wooden shoes, flaring breeches and a bright red blouse.

He started on his globe circling hike from Amsterdam, Holland, Feb. 22, 1907, and since then he has traveled on foot through Europe, Africa, India, China, Alaska, Canada and the United States.

Although making the trip merely for "health, experience and education,"

LIEUTENANT HERBERT NORDWALL.

Lieutenant Nordwall admitted that he has run into some fairly exciting experiences during his five years' wanderings.

In Spain he was set upon by bandits, beaten nearly to death and all his clothing taken from him. In Smyrna he was arrested on suspicion of being a spy. They took his costume for a disguise.

Later on, while coming down the Yukon, his canoe upset, and he had to swim to shore through swift rapids. Then his guide left him, and, not knowing the dangers of the river, he ran all the rapids, including Five Fingers, one of the worst of the Yukon. He was told by the natives that it was a miracle that he got through the trip with his life.

During his trip across the country from Seattle he was arrested several times on the charge of blocking traffic, his quaint costume invariably causing a crowd to follow him through all the towns and cities that were on his itinerary.

From New York Lieutenant Nordwall expects to sail back to Holland, completing his world encircling trip there.

He is twenty-six years old, well educated, an expert linguist and an entertaining lecturer. He said that he had paid all the expenses of his trip by lecturing in numerous show houses all over the world. He expects to enter political life when he returns to Holland.

bail. He has been in jail ever since. The maximum penalty for Schrank's crime is twenty years in prison.

As Schrank is a property owner in New York, he will be compelled to defray the legal expenses of his trial.

Colonel Roosevelt will not be a witness in the case. The prosecution feels that it has enough witnesses to the shooting to successfully prove its case without requiring the testimony of Colonel Roosevelt.

ASTOR, AT 21, RICHEST YOUNG MAN IN WORLD

Heir Today to Estate of $75,000,000 to $150,000,000.

New York, Nov. 15.—When Vincent Astor stepped into the offices of John Jacob Astor's estate on West Twenty sixth street this morning he formally came into possession of the millions that have been held in trust for him since the death of his father on the Titanic. For today young Astor became of age and into possession of a fortune variously estimated at from $75,000,000 to $150,000,000, and the management of this money will be in the hands of a twenty-one-year-old boy.

Vincent Astor was at the offices of the estate early yesterday morning, and he did not leave until afternoon, when he went yachting with a friend. The young man does not care for publicity, and he made this plain when he was asked for some statement as to how it felt to realize that one could wake up and find an odd hundred million dollars awaiting him.

Though he had nothing to say to reporters, the young man shows that he is taking his responsibility seriously. He has spent a great deal of time in the Twenty-sixth street office, going over the many details of the task that confronts him, and while he has always given a ready ear to his advisers, he has made it plain that he will have a lot to say about the management of the estate. He has at his back many advisers who will help him over rough places in the care of the real estate all over the city, four big yachts, the big estate at Rhinebeck-on-the-Hudson, the Newport property and a collection of jewels, paintings and sculptures.

ALFONSO TO PRESIDENT.

Spain's King Thanks President For Message About Canalejas.

Washington, Nov. 15.—President Taft received from King Alfonso of Spain the following answer to his message of condolence on the assassination of Spain's premier, Canalejas:

Deeply touched by your kind message of condolences at the great loss we have sustained by the abominable assassination of my premier. I beg you to accept yourself and convey to the government and American people the expression of my most sincere gratitude for good sympathy in this sad circumstance. ALFONSO R.

SHOT PREACHER FOR RABBIT.

Victim Returns Compliment and Hunters, With Sore Legs, Go Home.

Butler, N. J., Nov. 15.—Freeholder Frederick C. Sloane and the Rev. J. Willis Minner of Butler were out hunting, but neither knew the other was in the field. Seeing the same rabbit, both fired simultaneously.

Neither hit the rabbit, but each managed to lodge some shot in the other's leg. The accident was not serious for either man, but, having learned they were so close to each other, they walked home together.

Sulzer's Private Secretary.

New York, Nov. 15.—Governor Elect Sulzer announced his selection of Chester C. Platt, editor of the Batavia Times, to be his private secretary. Mr. Platt was city clerk of Ithaca for several years, private secretary to Mayor Orendorf of Ithaca and also served as secretary and treasurer of the Ithaca sewer commission and the Ithaca paving commission.

Farmer Hit by Train.

Phillipsburg, N. J., Nov. 15.—Andrew Frome, a farmer, of Karrsville, N. J., is dying in the Easton (Pa.) hospital. Frome was crossing a track when he was hit by a freight train.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

COOKING SCALLOPS.

NOW that fresh scallops may be obtained these recipes for cooking them may be of interest. In communities where the fresh scallops are unavailable the canned ones may be substituted for them.

The most popular way to cook scallops is to fry them. They are generally rolled alternately in cracker crumbs and beaten egg.

The Popular Way.

Fried Scallops.—Fresh or canned scallops may be used for this. Drain the liquor from the shell fish, soak them in milk, season with salt and pepper and roll in cracker crumbs so that they are thoroughly covered. Put them in a frying basket and plunge them into hot fat. Then fry them for about four minutes. Take off the fire, drain and lay on soft paper to remove all superfluous grease. Serve on a napkin on a hot platter and with thin slices of buttered toast.

Stewed Scallops.—Take a pint each of scallops and milk, a tablespoonful each of butter and flour, with salt and pepper to taste. Wash the scallops in clear, cold water and drain them. Put the milk on in a saucepan and bring it to the boil. Knead the butter into the flour and, when the milk is boiling, drop into the liquid. Then add the scallops and cook for five minutes, stirring all the time. Then put in salt and pepper and serve.

Nice Luncheon Dishes.

Scallops on the Shell.—Take the scallops, drain off the liquor and parboil them. Then cut them into cubes. Take a quarter of a cupful of butter, a half cupful of mushrooms peeled and cut into squares and a slice of onion and saute for five minutes. Stir in a quarter of a cupful of flour and, when it is combined with the butter, add a pint of the scallops cut into cubes and a half pint each of the scallop liquor and cream. Bring to the boil and let simmer six or eight minutes and then season with paprika and a teaspoonful of butter. Take buttered scallop shells, line these with cracker crumbs soaked in butter, add the boiled scallops and brown in the oven.

Scallop Salad.—The scallops should be first soaked in salt water and then placed in boiling water and allowed to simmer for five minutes. Take off the fire, drain in a sieve and let cool. Cut the scallops into slices and stir in French dressing. When it is time to serve the salad drain the slices of scallops and mix with chopped celery stalk. Shape into a mound or pyramid and dress with mayonnaise.

If you want a handsome effect mask with mayonnaise and mark patterns on the side with capers and fill the patterns in with chopped white of egg and patterns cut from slices of cold beet.

FADS AND FANCIES.

You Can Use Your Last Year's Muff and Be Modish.

The new muffs have not changed much in shape. They are still large, fat and supple, but show some additional trimming, such as tails.

For young girls' afternoon dresses in winter nothing is more charming than warm cashmeres with the whole dress cut in one and the bodice finished with a collar of Irish crochet lace, a cravat bow and waist belt of ribbon velvet a darker shade than the cashmere.

In these days of straight lines and narrow skirts well fitting petticoats are a necessity. The model illustrated is cut in four gores and is fitted by means of darts at the sides.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 22 to 32 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7638, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Points for Mothers

Timely Hints on Care of Baby.

What mother does not long to give her baby all the advantages possible for normal development? Yet there are many, having had no special training for motherhood, who neglect methods best adapted for a child's welfare.

Take the question of pure air for babies. Many a mother thoughtlessly allows her baby to stay in a heated room in which there are several occupants. With so many people breathing this same atmosphere it soon has its oxygen exhausted, and it is not an uncommon thing to see the baby yawn and become fretful. Those who understand this cause either immediately change the air in the same room or take the little one into another room that has been specially aired, that he may regain his composure. For this same reason it is imperative for grown ups to avoid keeping the baby in rooms where household duties are being performed, as the odors from cooking, the dust from sweeping and the steam from washing all rob the air of the freshness so beneficial to the health of an infant. Busy mothers especially should see the advantage of training a baby to stay in one place, and that place should be made clean and well ventilated. Frequent trips to this room can be made between tasks, to change positions and to look after his comfort.

Even in cold weather indoor airings of fifteen minute periods should be given to babies. They should be commenced when the little one is a month old, and an excellent way to keep him warm is to put him into his coat leggings and bonnet and then tuck him into his crib or carriage beneath some warm, light weight covering and place him face forward toward the widely opened windows. Care should be taken to see that all doors in this room are kept closed to prevent drafts.

It is not universally recognized that the constant supply of pure air for the tiny lungs of the baby is fully as important as his food. Fresh, pure air is required to renew and purify his blood and the beneficial effects produced by it are good temper, red cheeks and an improved appetite.

Just when it is safe to begin taking a baby out of doors in winter is a question often asked by the young mother. It is wiser to wait until he is three months old and then only on pleasant days. He should be tucked snugly into his carriage and kept in the sunshine, out of the wind, with the precaution always of shading his eyes from the sunlight. Days when it is very cold or when the winds are heavy should be avoided, and a nap in an open air sleeping room substituted. When babies are out of doors they should be constantly watched to see that they are not suffering from cold, as it is important that a baby's bodily heat should be maintained. It is well for mothers to remember that many of the diseases of infant life are directly attributable to overheated and vitiated air, so that riding in electric or steam cars in winter or the carrying of children into department stores is done with attendant risks.

Six Don'ts For Mothers.

Haven't you seen mothers, not only the young, inexperienced mothers, but women of mature years who are old enough to know better, constantly doing things to their children that make you want to shake them and if possible bring them to a sense of realization of the error of their ways?

Mothers will persist in allowing themselves to grow old in feeling. Of course they cannot stay the passage of years, but they can keep young in thought by making themselves a companion to their children, joining in their play as well as the more serious phases of their lives.

Mothers must take care not to let themselves rust mentally. The growing girl and boy who can have mother help them out of a tight place in their lessons or can go to her for a clear answer to a perplexing question rarely get that disagreeable know it all air so common to young America.

Never try to force your children's confidence. If you have tried to be the chum of your child from the start the confidence will be given unsolicited. Confidences that are asked or demanded are always given grudgingly and with a sense of resentment when they are not refused altogether. Children never confide willingly in an unsympathetic mother. The moment a child realizes he will be criticised or scolded for the little mistakes he makes he will hide everything possible from the mother, but if he is sure of her ready sympathy the confidence will be given unasked.

Avoid allowing a child to see that you are disappointed in him. There is no surer road to self consciousness and the don't care attitude than if the boy and girl feel that mother thinks them a failure.

On the other hand, don't think your children are prodigies. Children usually know they are not the human wonders their fond mothers believe them to be, and when they are constantly exploited they are bound to be conscious of embarrassment and being under a strain show up to bad advantage. And if the child agrees with the maternal opinion he becomes a bore and disgustingly conceited.

PROGRESSIVES TO MARCH ONWARD

State Chairman Fort Says Party Will Fight on for Victory.

NO ONE-MAN PARTY

Great Gathering of Bull Moosers of New Jersey at Trenton This Afternoon—Enthused by Preliminary Skirmish—No Fusion Possible.

Trenton, Nov. 16.—The clarion call to arms was sounded by State Chairman John Franklin Fort at a meeting of the Progressives of New Jersey at the Hotel Sterling here this afternoon. After reviewing the extraordinary success in the battle waged on November 5, the former Governor enunciated the vital principles of the cause and was heartily received when he proclaimed that "we cannot affiliate with any party not for these things." While paying a tribute to Roosevelt, whom he referred to as "the greatest living American," he derided the talk that the Progressive is "a one-man party" that term of derision being applied by "old school politicians" who "do not understand us or the spirit of our movement."

Progressives from all parts of the State are taking part in the big meeting. Among those representing Union county is Mayor G. W. V. Moy, of Plainfield.

In his address, State Chairman Fort said:

"The purpose of this gathering today is two-fold; (1) for your officers to give an account of their stewardship and to submit to a re-call if it is not satisfactory, and (2), to consider plans for the future.

"In New Jersey the officers of your committee saw to it that an organization was effected in every county in the State, that candidates were nominated in each Congress district, and Senators in each county, where they were to be elected, and Assemblymen in every county with a full electoral ticket in the State. All this was done in about nine weeks, and our electoral ticket received 145,000 votes. In the Nation, the Progressive Party polled 4,500,000 votes. This enormous vote demonstrated that the people are ready for the Progressive party. Our vote in New Jersey exceeded the Republican vote by over fifty-six thousand, and we take our place as the second party in numerical strength in the State. Our com-

COURT GIVES WIDOW DAMAGES FOR DEATH

Husband Fell at Place of Employment, died of Fractured Skull.

Elizabeth, Nov. 16.—Compensation amounting to $1,400 was awarded Mrs. Henry Zehl in the Court of Common Pleas yesterday for the death of her husband, Frederick M. Zehl, who was killed October 6 at the Waclark Wire Works, where he was employed. Zehl fell through a trap door leading into the cellar and sustained a fractured skull. Mrs. Zehl sued for compensation under the employers' liability act for 45 per cent. of his earnings covering a period of 300 weeks. Compensation was granted in a lump sum.

Mrs. Mary Waleat was also awarded compensation for the death of her husband, who was injured while at work in the Bowker Fertilizing Company's plant in Bayway, this city, October 11, dying a few days later. She sued for $1,500 and was awarded $1,240 in a lump sum, interest being deducted. Out of the balance Waleat will have to pay a large undertaker's bill, counsel fees and some doctor's bills.

Waleat was helping unload a boatload of ore at the plant of the company in Bayway when the tackle broke and the bucket dumped the load of ore on him. He was fatally injured and died a few days later in the hospital.

ORGAN RECITAL.

The program for the organ recital at Holy Cross Episcopal church at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night follows: Prelude and Fugue in D Minor, Bach; Andantino, Le Maire; Festal March, Smart. The soloist will be William G. Smith, the bass singer in the choir, whose selection will be Rodney's "Calvary." Short evening prayer and sermon will follow at 8 o'clock.

MOVED TO DANSVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Giddis, who have for the past twelve years resided on Codington avenue, left yesterday for Dansville, N. Y., where they will reside in the future. Mr. Giddis has gone to take charge of a large nursery business.

ALL THE PLUMS FOR ELIZABETH?

County Seat Democrats Hungry for Judgeships and Prosecutorship.

PLENTY OF HOPEFULS

Faithful in the Rest of the County Likely to Be Given Customary Freeze-out Treatment—Elizabethians Hold Most Offices Now!

Indications now point to the appointment of City Attorney James C. Connolly, of Elizabeth, as judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Union county. Mentioned for the office with Mr. Connolly is William R. Wilson, also of Elizabeth, who was formerly prosecutor of the pleas for the county.

Mayor Alfred A. Stein and Robert H. McAdams, both of Elizabeth, are in line for the office of prosecutor. The term of the prosecutor is five years with a salary of $6,500 a year.

In the event of Mayor Stein's appointment to this office it is probable that the judgeship of the District Court will go to Mr. McAdams, to succeed Judge Clark McK. Whittemore. This office is also for five years and carries with it a salary of $3,500 a year.

It is almost assured that Abe J. David, also of Elizabeth, is in line for some county appointment, probably the county collectorship, to succeed Nathan R. Leavitt. W. A. Coddington, of Plainfield, is also strongly supported for this office, but as it is a rule of Union county Democracy to give everything to Elizabeth his chances are uncertain.

Fred C. Hyer, of Rahway, is also slated for some office, either of the offices to which Mr. David is not appointed, if predictions can be relied upon.

Four of the seven Democratic Freeholders elected are Elizabethans and all three Assemblymen chosen hail from the county seat as well. A Democrat from Elizabeth is also contesting for the surrogateship.

THIS COUNTRY STORE DOES GOOD BUSINESS

Hope's Novel Entertainment Draws a Crowd of Several Hundred Patrons.

Several hundred people visited the church parlors of Hope Chapel last night, enjoyed the entertainment, purchased many useful, good and fancy articles and had luncheon, at the "Country Store and Entertainment," given by the Ladies' Aid Society. The saleswomen were dressed in real country fashion, with gingham aprons and sunbonnets. The autumnal decorations gave the affair a truly rural aspect.

All of the articles were donated by the congregation of the church and included tasty pastry, and other edible merchandise. A delightful supper was also served throughout the evening while William Rochefski, violinist and John Emery, cornetist, entertained with popular airs, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Craig, on the piano.

The following members of the society were in charge of the numerous counters:

Fancy Table—Mrs. Thomas Hendry, Mrs. T. F. Brown, Mrs. Harry Kane and Mrs. Walter Bradford. Cake table—Mrs. William Terry, Mrs. Samuel Cratsley, Mrs. J. B. Higgins and Mrs. Charles Delahunt. GIBBS IS REWED TO MISS BENNET

Contractor Though Must Answer Charge of Bigamy for Marriage.

HIS TRIAL ON MONDAY

The First Wife Obtained Divorce a Week Ago and Gibbs and Choir Singer Are Remarried at New Haven.

Tyler M. Gibbs, the Newark contractor, who is under indictment in Middlesex county for his marriage to Miss Delaphine Bennett, of Metuchen, last June, was re-married to her last Tuesday at New Haven, where he is now engaged in the construction of a Federal building.

The final decree of divorce to Gibbs first wife was signed by Judge Morchauser, in the New York Supreme Court last Saturday. This left Gibbs free to marry again, and Miss Bennett went to New Haven to meet him, and they were married there. Who performed the ceremony is not known.

Gibbs met Miss Bennett while on a visit in Metuchen. He heard her singing in the choir of the First Presbyterian church and was so charmed with her that he sought her acquaintance and they were soon engaged. Rev. J. G. Mason, of that church, performed the ceremony.

Gibbs had been served with notice of a suit for divorce brought by his first wife, who lives in White Plains, N. Y., and had not opposed the action. He says that he understood that the decree had been granted when he married Miss Bennett. But within a month of his second marriage he was arrested on the bigamy charge, and was indicted by the Middlesex Grand Jury. It developed that the final decree had not been granted and that the Metuchen marriage was bigamous.

The re-marriage this week, of course, does not relieve Gibbs of the bigamy charge. His trial is set to take place at New Brunswick next Monday. It was said yesterday, however, that he might enter a plea of non-vult and receive a nominal sentence or a suspension of sentence, if Judge Daly could be convinced that he acted in good faith when he first married Miss Bennett.

Miss Bennett, now Mrs. Gibbs beyond a doubt, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Bennett, of Metuchen. She is only 17, while her husband is 47. The Metuchen marriage took place on June 1, and on June 12 Mrs. Gibbs No. 1 made the complaint that led to Gibbs' arrest. Gibbs and Miss Bennett were then living at 1101 Broad street, Newark. He retained Frank McDermit, of that city, as counsel, and gave bail. Later his bondsman retired from the bond, and he spent some time in the county jail at New Brunswick, while a new security was hunted up.

John A. Coan, of South Amboy, succeeded Mr. McDermit as counsel shortly after this, and will appear for Gibbs when the case cames up at New Brunswick next week.

The first Mrs. Gibbs lives at 2 Dusenbury place, White Plains.

MAGISTRATE TERMS HIM LAZIEST MAN IN THE CITY

The case of William Bennett, of George street, whom City Judge De Meza terms "the laziest man in Plainfield," who was arrested Wednesday for not supporting his family, has been postponed until Monday.

In commenting on the case in court Judge De Meza said:

"Bennett, you have come before me time and again, on this very same charge, and although you have been given prison sentences at various times the punishment does not seem to have any effect on you. We will endeavor to produce such evidence on Monday that will dispose of your case for all time."

SURPRISED MISS BAKER.

Miss Grace Baker, of 202 Watchung avenue, was given a surprise party at her home, last night, when forty of her friends called. The evening was spent in dancing and playing games and at midnight an elaborate supper was served. It was early this morning when the guests returned home.

ELKS ARE MYSTIFIED BY PRESTIDIGITATEUR

After 15 Years' Absence Clarence Willard Sees Father and is Off for Europe.

Clarence Willard, widely-known throughout the west as a vaudeville actor, has been spending the week with his father, A. E. Willard, of West Front street, whom he had not seen before in fifteen years. Today he left for England, where he has an engagement to appear at the London Hippodrome for forty weeks. Mr. Willard visited Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., last evening, and gave a remarkable exhibition of card manipulation; also his greatest achievement that of making his arms and legs grow about seven inches beyond their natural length.

Mr. Willard has been living in the West nearly all his life and for several years has been a big attraction in the western vaudeville houses. He is advertised as "The man who grows," and how he performs this "stunt" is a mystery. In his exhibition with cards last night he completely mystified his audience with some of the most clever tricks ever seen here.

Mr. Willard went to New York today to see his son leave for Europe.

LIEBOWITZ OFFERS TO PAY 25 PER CENT.

Voluntary Liquidation, He Says, Will Bring Creditors More Than Bankruptcy.

Herman Leibowitz, who traded as the Grosso Silk Petticoat Company, the Grosso Trading Company and the Novelty Lace and Embroidery Company, and conducted a factory on Watchung avenue, this city, has issued a statement to his creditors in which he makes an offer of settlement on a basis of 25 per cent., of which 15 per cent. is to be in cash and 10 per cent. on his own notes, with a satisfactory endorsement. The notes are to be payable 5 per cent. in six months and 5 per cent. in twelve months. It will require about $40,000 to make this settlement, he says.

Recently, says Mr. Leibowitz, a petition in bankruptcy was filed against him which would entail further expense. He says:

"William Sage, Jr., to whom was made a deed of trust, will tell you that if this estate is administered by him, it will probably pay in the neighborhood of 15 per cent. If administered by the bankruptcy court, I am told, it will pay less. I have had several conferences with L. Speigelberg & Sons and their counsel and have convinced them that my offer is a fair one and more than the estate can possibly pay, and they have agreed to accept it."

Accompanying the statement is a form giving creditors an opportunity to consent to a settlement as suggested by Mr. Leibowitz.

SO. PLAINFIELD'S COAL MOUNTAIN

Lehigh Valley Has 100,000 Tons of Black Diamonds at Its Storage Place.

ADDING TO IT RAPIDLY

Retail Prices Here the Local Dealers Declare Will Be Kept at $7.00 Per Ton for Common Sizes—No Further Advance.

While the reports indicate a general scarcity of coal throughout the country with possible advance in the prices for the domestic sizes, the huge piles of black diamonds at the coal pockets of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company at South Plainfield are gradually assuming their usual mountainous proportions. It is estimated that there is now stored at that place about 100,000 tons of coal, and it is reported that before long this amount will be doubled. This is one of the largest coaling stations in this section of the country.

It was but a short time ago that the pockets were practically empty, the supply being reduced during a time when coal was not mined so steadily in Pennsylvania, but for several weeks past long trains loaded with black diamonds have been arriving at South Plainfield until the supply is being replenished at a rapid rate. This would indicate that the coal operators were right in their statement that there would be no shortage of the commodity if consumers would only be patient.

The local dealers recently announced that there would be no further advance in the retail price for the present, at least, the prevailing retail price being $7 a ton for the sizes most commonly used in the household. While this is an advance over the usual winter price, even the announcement that there will be no further advance is welcome news.

MUSICAL SETTING FOR TAYLOR'S CAMP SONG

Charming Number That Will Feature Concert of the Musurgia.

The Musurgia Society, of New York, a chorus of thirty-five men's voices, is to give a concert for the benefit of the relief work of the Charity Organization Society at the High School Auditorium Thursday night, November 21.

The concert will be popular in its nature and will embrace, among its numbers, Brahms' beautiful lullaby, an arrangement by Hammond of "Lochinvar," a very effective arrangement of the old Irish melody "Kathleen Mavourneen," and a musical setting by H. J. Stewart to Bayard Taylor's poem "The Song of the Camp."

It will be the first time that this last song will have been heard in or near New York. The poem tells the story of the Balaklava charge, and, as the poet has the soldiers reminisce of the home land after the battle, and makes them dream of the home song "Annie Laurie," the composer of the music swings into that melody and the refrain of "Annie Laurie," beautifully arranged in parts, is hummed by the entire chorus.

The concert is attracting considerable attention and it is an excellent opportunity for the music lovers of Plainfield, to hear one of the best male choruses in or near New York and at the same time to aid a worthy charity.

LITTLE FELLOW KILLED BY FLYER

Ten-year-old Boy Meets Death When Struck by a P. & R. Train.

SEARCH FOR MOTHER

Body of Victim at Undertaker's Establishment While Police Are Trying to Fix Identity—His Body Badly Mangled.

A small boy, appearing to be of foreign parentage and about 10 years of age, was hit by an eastbound Philadelphia and Reading flyer at the Plainfield avenue bridge about 9:20 this morning, and was instantly killed. His badly mangled body was picked up by the engineer, after he had stopped his train, and brought it to the North Avenue station. The victim's scalp was torn open but his features were unmarked. His body and legs were terribly mangled.

The little fellow had black hair and high cheek-bones. He wore a blue shirt, tan top coat, grey trousers, black stockings, oxford ties, wore a pair of black mittens and carried a small bandana handkerchief. How the victim came to be on the tracks is not known.

The police quickly canvassed the neighborhood in the vicinity of the accident, but found no mother missing a son. Judging from the condition of the victim's clothing, his parents were poor, and his mother is probably working somewhere, earning a livelihood for herself and family, and will not learn of the accident until returning home tonight.

The body is now in Cole' undertaking establishment in West Second street awaiting identification.

SMALLEY TO CANVASS THE ELECTION RETURNS

Trenton, Nov. 16.—Notwithstanding the recent election returned a Democratic administration by an overwhelming vote, the election returns will be canvassed on November 26 by a Board of Canvassers which will have a Republican majority. Prince, Republican, will preside at the canvass as Acting Governor.

Governor Wilson has just appointed the Senators who will compose the board of canvassers. They are Senators James F. Fielder, of Hudson; George C. Low, of Ocean, Democrats; William A. Smalley, of Somerset, and Isaac T. Nichols, of Cumberland, Republicans.

DYING OF WOUND SELF-AFFLICTED

Chas. H. Schwartz Fired Bullet Into His Brain and can Live But Few Hours.

HAD BEEN DESPONDENT

Wife Finally Says That He Had Threatened to Commit Suicide—Shot Himself in Kitchen of His Home in Dunellen This Morning.

Charles Henry Schwartz, aged thirty-one years, attempted to take his life at his home on Dunellen avenue, Dunellen, early this morning. He was removed to the Muhlenburg Hospital here where, it was said this afternoon that his condition was hopeless. The bullet struck a vital spot and it is only a question of hours before he will die. The man had been employed in the bridge department of the Jersey Central Railroad for the past ten years. Despondency apparently prompted him to commit suicide, according to his wife's story.

Schwartz's wife, who is prostrated, said that she was awakened at 4:30 this morning by a loud report in another part of the house, but thinking that her husband had accidently knocked something over in one of the rooms did not trouble any more about it.

She arose at about five o'clock, she stated, and upon going down stairs heard a noise in the kitchen. Opening the door she saw her husband lying prostrate on the floor. Believing for the moment that he had fallen asleep there she shook him and called to him to get up. Then she noticed that his head lay in a pool of blood and the fact that he had shot himself in the head dawned upon her.

Frantic with grief she summoned Marshal Davenport. The policeman spied a 32 caliber revolver under the kitchen stove. Drs. Thomas H. Platt and Barrie, of Dunellen, were quickly summoned. After a hasty examination they determined that Schwartz's condition was critical. No time was lost in having him removed in an ambulance to the hospital.

When Mrs. Schwartz was seen this morning by a Daily Press reporter she said that she did not know postively of any cause for her husband's rash act. They had always got along well together without any quarrels she asserted, adding that he was fond of his home life, spending his evenings in the house with her and their two children.

"My husband awoke this morning at 4 o'clock and told me that he would go down and fix the fire so that it would be warm for me when I got up to prepare his breakfast," Mrs. Schwartz said. "He went down stairs," she continued, "and about an half hour later I heard a loud crash as though he had knocked over a heavy object and I did not think anything more of the noise. About 5 o'clock I got up and when I entered the bathroom I heard a noise as though someone was sawing wood in

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS AT DOOR; IT'S CHANCE OF A LIFE TIME

Will the Lodge Brother Answer the Alarm at the Outer Portal and Receive a Player-Piano or a Piano Without Automatic Attachment?—It is a Rare Offer Open to All.

It has been said that opportunity knocks once at everyone's door; but whether it knocks only once or many times, it is certainly pounding at the outer portals of the clubs, lodges and other organizations as well as individuals in Plainfield and vicinity—opportunity to win a $525 player-piano or a $275 piano, and a ten per cent. commission consideration to those who really try and fail to win one of the capital prizes. These are the rich rewards that will more than repay the lucky contestants. It is an opportunity that may never come one's way again. The rules have been made public each succeeding day this week. They are fair and equitable, and answer all questions that may arise.

There are two things which are important to those who would win in this competition. One is that it is necessary to familiarize oneself thoroughly with the conditions of the contest, and the second is that every time a contestant meets a friend he wants to tell him what the campaign is for. Tell them something about the Daily Press, the paper printing all the news all the time, and is distinctly an enterprising and energetic home paper. It is absolutely Independent in policy and says what it thinks for the good of the community, and above all, always originates and never imitates. For these reasons all one needs to do is to ask one's friends to take it for six months or a year. If one belongs to a lodge or organization and he feels that one of these high class musical instruments would be a welcome addition to its winter's entertainment, have the lodge nominate one of its officers or prominent members as the candidate and all work for him or her. There is not an organization in Plainfield or vicinity that would not feel proud to have one of these beautiful pianos in its lodge or club rooms; and then there is the satisfaction of knowing of helping to put it there.

The opportunity is before the people of Plainfield. All that the Daily Press asks of the most skeptical is to take a little time and investigate. The pianos are on exhibition at Sattels' warerooms on North avenue. Everyone is invited to call and inspect them. Nominations are now in order; send one in today. There is no time like the present. If one does not fully understand, call, write or 'phone the Daily Press and the desired information will be gladly given you.

Either One, of Course

Of course, we give either numeral or decimal punctuation in the printing of figures. You may not want an adding machine to handle dollars and cents. You, therefore, want it punctuated in a different fashion.

Of course, the Burroughs way is always a bit in advance of the actual requirements. That implies "wise anticipation," which is one of the principles of scientific management.

We give a combination of numeral and decimal punctuation in the same machine. A new idea, of course, but it is one that is used a great deal in practise.

MAY USE SCHOOLS AS MEETING PLACE

Assistant Commissioner Betts Makes an Important Ruling.

Jersey City, Nov. 16.—Assistant State Commissioner of Education J. B. Betts, of North Plainfield, yesterday gave his decision in the matter of the use of public school buildings for other than school purposes by announcing that the State Board of Education will uphold the local boards of education in permitting the buildings to be used for public meetings of any character they may deem proper.

The question was raised by Fred Klein, theatre owner, of this city, who objected to the Jersey City Board of Education permitting the High School auditorium to be used for political gatherings, concerts and other public meetings and the public school buildings for dances and neighborhood clubs under the auspices of the School Extension Committee.

John J. Mulvaney represented Mr. Klein. He was to have submitted a brief in support of his contention that the school buildings were being improperly used, and Corporation Counsel Warren Dixon was to have replied to it by brief. Several weeks have elapsed since Mr. Mulvaney promised to submit his brief. He has not submitted the brief, and Mr. Betts announces that he could not wait any longer for it. The text of Mr. Betts' decision will be made public Monday.

George Giddis, of Duer street, has resumed his duties as chauffeur for J. F. Parker, of Grove street, after being confined to his home for five weeks with pleurisy.

IN BALKAN WAR.

Showing Train Which Had Been Carrying Turkish Troops Upset.

This Turkish train upset on the rickety roadbed between Seidler and Chorlu while conveying soldiers and war correspondents to the front. The newspaper men were returning to Chorlu and were sadly delayed with their dispatches. This scene gives an idea of the small, boxlike cars used for the transportation of troops.

TRUCE WITH BULGARS AT CONSTANTINOPLE

Bulgaria and Turkey Have Agreed on an Armistice.

Bucharest, Roumania, Nov. 16.—Bulgaria and Turkey have agreed upon an armistice, it was authoritatively stated here.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 16.—The Turkish request for an armistice addressed by Kiamil Pasha, the grand vizier, to King Ferdinand was discussed by the Bulgarian council of ministers.

It was decided to reply that the Bulgarian government would inform the other nations of the Balkan alliance of the step taken by Turkey and would give its reply as soon as possible after coming to an agreement with them.

Constantinople, Nov. 16.—Bulgarian troops are within fifteen miles of Constantinople. Sweeping down along the coast of the Black sea, they have reached the vicinity of Kilios, only a few miles from the entrance to the Bosporus. This places them ten miles nearer the capital than the Tchatalja line, where a desperate battle has been raging for several days.

It is not known here whether the Bulgarians are in strong force or whether this advance guard is merely a detachment of cavalry blazing a new route of approach to this city. There was a strong fort at Kilios, intended to resist an attack by sea, and it may have been taken easily by land assault. Turks at the lifeboat station at Kilios fled at the approach of the Bulgarians.

The Bulgarians have swung around the forest of Belgrade on the outskirts of Constantinople and are now in close proximity to Therapia, the summer resort of the residents of this city.

London, Nov. 16.—For the moment the action of Turkey in applying direct to King Ferdinand of Bulgaria for an armistice has superseded the proffers of the powers to mediate. No official news has yet leaked out as to the course the negotiations are taking. That an early peace is assured is accepted as a foregone conclusion, but whether it will be brought about before or after the surrender of Constantinople is probably known only to King Ferdinand of Bulgaria and his advisers.

The differences between Austria-Hungary and Servia are evidently in a fair way toward settlement, but Montenegro, which jumped into the war ahead of its allies, seems loath to relinquish any of the spoils gained in the fighting.

COFFIN SAVES THREE.

Men Cling to It When Canadian Steamboat Sinks.

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—M. Harper, J. Imbach and G. Peverly, three commercial travelers of this city, saved their lives by clinging to a coffin when the Mayflower, a small antiquated steamboat, sank during a storm in the Madawaska river, about sixty miles from here. The coffin, containing the body of H. Brown, which was being transported for burial in Combermere, was launched as a float, and four men held to it until carried in to shore. Nine persons, passengers and members of the crew, were lost.

DEFENSE RESTS IN TRIAL OF GUNMEN

Woman Peddler of Tenderloin Says She Saw Murder.

SHE DESCRIBES INFORMERS

Says That They, and Not Gunmen, Fired Fatal Shots—Her Story Weakened on Cross Examination—Call Informers in Rebuttal.

New York, Nov. 16.—Charles G. F. Wahle, counsel for "Gyp the Blood," "Whitey Lewis," "Lefty Louie" and "Dago Frank," on trial for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, announced that the defense rested.

Thereupon Giovanni Stanish, an eye witness for the state, was recalled to the stand so that Justice Goff might clear up some minor matters in the records of the Stanish testimony. And then it was learned that "Bridgie" Webber and Harry Vallon, and perhaps Sam Schepps, will be called to the stand in rebuttal to deny the contentions of the four gunmen that Vallon and Webber took part in the shooting of Rosenthal and that Schepps fled from the Metropole in the gray "murder car."

Just at dark last night came the most interesting moment of the day when, with the eye witness to the murder, Stanish, seated in front of the jury, District Attorney Whitman and his assistant, Mr. Moss, lined up for the first time at this or any other murder trial Rose, Webber, Vallon and Schepps.

He Didn't See Informers.

"Mr. Stanish," Mr. Moss asked the eye witness slowly and very earnestly, "on the night of July 15-16, when you saw Herman Rosenthal shot and killed, did you see any of these four men, Webber, Vallon, Rose or Schepps in front of the Metropole?"

A moment before this, in straightening out of the court a detail of his identifications of the gunmen, Stanish had walked down to the gunmen's table and quickly had touched the shoulders of "Dago Frank," "Lefty Louie" and "Gyp the Blood." Now he peered through his spectacles at the four gamblers standing beside the jury box before replying.

"No, sir. I did not see these men there."

But during the earlier hours of the day, after "Dago Frank" had told the story by which he hoped to establish an alibi, witnesses for the defense had sworn variously that Stanish wasn't in front of the Metropole when Rosenthal was killed, that "Lefty," "Gyp," Frank and "Whitey" positively were not the men that the witnesses had seen shoot Rosenthal, that Shapiro, the chauffeur, had said as recently as two weeks ago that Vallon and Schepps had fled in the "murder car," that "Bridgey" Webber "ran away" into Broadway after the shooting, that Morris Luban, another of the state's witnesses who identified some of the gunmen as the murderers, was in Brooklyn too late that night to have seen the killing at all and finally from an old woman who peddles chewing gum and papers in the Tenderloin and maintains she saw the murder Rosenthal was killed by a "tall man with a bald head" (Rose), a "shorter man with blue eyes and glasses (Schepps), a "man with a soft slouch hat" (Vallon) and a "man whose nose once was broken" (Webber) while the woman was peddling her chewing gum a few feet from where Rosenthal fell.

Moss Tangles Her Up.

But this little old woman in black, Mary Ellen Kydd, a few minutes after she had rattled off her descriptions of the four gamblers with the rapidity of a parrot was a very pathetic little figure indeed, for it took Mr. Moss only a very few moments to bring before the jury that the little old woman as late as Thursday had made statements to a neighbor, not knowing that her every word of last Thursday was being taken down by an unseen stenographer hidden in the neighbor's basement, which indicated that old Mrs. Kydd had told her neighbor as long ago as she had told Mr. Moss himself that she doesn't know who shot Rosenthal at all.

And Mr. Moss after bringing up further statements made by the old woman prior to her testimony in which Mrs. Kydd had said that she didn't see the murder cross questioned her about her visit to the west side prison at the beginning of the present week. She had gone there last Monday to ask to see Webber and Vallon and the others because, so she had informed "one of the workmen" she had met in the jail, that she "was going to identify Vallon and Webber at the gunmen's trial.

"And don't you know," Mr. Moss wearily interrupted her prattle at last, "that this 'workman' whom you say you told in the prison you wanted to see Vallon and Webber was Webber himself?"

"It was not," cried the little old woman in shrill anger. "It was a workman."

Slayer Gets Fifteen Year Sentence.

Mineola, N. Y., Nov. 16.—County Judge Niemann sentenced Joseph Petroccia to fifteen years in Sing Sing prison. Petroccia was indicted for murder, but the District Attorney accepted a plea of guilty of manslaughter in the first degree. Petroccia shot and killed Carlo Felucci in a drunken brawl at Oyster Bay on Sept. 29.

While You Have Hair to Save.

Use Newbro's Herpicide.

Every woman who is obliged to wear false hair or man, a toupee, feels that it is a misfortune. What makes the burden so doubly hard to bear is the knowledge that the loss of natural hair could, in most instances, have been easily avoided.

This remedy is Newbro's Herpicide long known as the Original Dandruff Germ Destroyer. By keeping the scalp clean, Herpicide not only prevents the hair from falling out but allows it to grow as nature intended. Begun in time and its use persisted in, this valuable remedy insures a nice healthy head of hair.

Herpicide imparts a life and luster to dull, dead, brittle hair making it light, fluffy and beautiful. Don't wait. Begin now to save your hair. We guarantee the one dollar size bottle.

INDEPENDENCE—IT PAYS.

There is ample reward to be won in the newspaper field, but the highest returns are not for those publishers who wear party shackles. Maybe, here and there, a party organ pays. But a newspaper, if it has any legitimate reason for existing at all—that is, if the community has room for it as a NEWSpaper—can grow stronger and far richer through independence than through any degree of "regularity."

If this were not such a practical age I might dwell more on the mere glory of enlisting in the public service, or on the thrill of battling for the right for right's sake, but the acid test that moderns apply to every proposition is "Does it pay?"

Well, put your acid—a barrel of it, if you will—on the independent newspaper, and the test will leave you wondering why any publisher is such an all-fired idiot as to shut the door of opportunity by hiring himself to a party organization.

Independence is the publisher's best asset. It is a perfectly simple business proposition. The people take the paper that gains their trust as an honest, fearless and impartial medium of news and views. The advertiser, who is the source of newspaper wealth, pays profitable rates to the paper which has large and growing, or large and steady circulation. It is easy to understand, then, why the most powerful and wealthy papers of the county are independent. They are not independent because they are rich. They are rich because they have been independent.

Publishers as a class are learning that lesson. The day of the party organ is virtually done. Newspaper owners everywhere are reading little home-made emancipation proclamations to themselves and becoming freemen. The people everywhere are learning to look with distrust, if not actual contempt, on the party organ, and to buy and believe in the paper that shapes its course for advancement of public, and not party, welfare.

Soon—very soon—even those papers which still find partisan service profitable will have to reform or die. For the professional politician is not called practical without cause. He is a grand little artist in applying the acid test. It won't take him long to grasp the fact that the public discredits the organ, and that, generally speaking, one might just as well print argument or appeal on the desert sand as to publish it in a "party paper." Better, perhaps, for the unseen word in the desert can at least do his cause no harm, but the writings of a shackled press may arouse suspicion against even a harmless project or a spotless candidate.

Will it take the practical gentry long, think you, to realize that the party organ is utterly worthless to him? I won't even pause for an answer. Just around the corner in the corridor of time is the spot where the politician himself is going to kick the poor old devoted party organ in the slats and go courting the independent paper with pieces to print. And that paper will print 'em. If they are good, fair little pieces, the paper will pat 'em on the back and boost for all it's worth. If they are bad, disingennous little pieces, the paper will knock the eternal stuffing out of them, and the politician will have to grin and bear it, for what else will there be left for him to do? Things are likely to come to such pass that the practical politician as we know him will disappear in his grin like the Cheshire cat. He stands an almighty fine chance of fading away with his once beloved organ.

Oh, my brothers of the spear-tipped pen—not the less powerful because the paper it touches turns to gold—a grand day has dawned for us! We have been given a rich franchise by the public as truly as the utility corporations have been given franchises by the State. We are chartered to perform a public service as much—though in a far finer way—as any service corporation you may name. It is our function to convey the news to all the people—without fear, without favor and without partisanship or prejudice.

We are to print the bad news with the good, that society may see itself as it is, and learn what evil to correct, what good to maintain and encourage. Whether to urge his own views in the editorial columns or merely to voice the hopes and desires of the public is for the individual publisher to decide. But whichever we do, we must be honest in what we write.

I feel right at home in putting out such thoughts in this column. Here if anywhere, can the paean of the free press be sung. The new Daily Press has proved its sincerity in joining the brotherhood of independence and fairness; proved it through a trying campaign. The Press has won its spurs and the right to the confidence of the people as a champion of their interests. And it pleases me almost as much as if I shared in it to see the material prosperity that is rewarding the Press publishers. I say these few kind words not to make sure that some part of this will be printed, but because I mean them and want to plant them where they will do the most good. I will still mean them if the modesty of the editorial team keeps them from the light of day.

Hew to the line, you two! Independence is the newspaper publisher's most precious possession. Be patient with those who, knowing not the difference between a slug and a galley, yet conceive themselves to be fully equipped to edit and publish a paper, and burden you with cocksure criticism and advice. Tell them gently that publishing a newspaper is a highly specialized art, and go on about your very important business, leaving them to their foolish egotism. Whatever you do, hold fast to honesty and independence. It pays!

DYING OF WOUNDS

the cellar. At that I thought he had gone down in the cellar to do some work that he had started on the chicken coop, and so I descended the stairs to the kitchen.

"All the doors on the first floor were closed," said the grief stricken wife, "and as I neared the kitchen door the noise grew louder. When I opened the door I saw him lying on the floor as though he had fallen asleep, as it was a habit of his to lay down on the floor with the children and go to sleep. I shook him and when he did not answer, I noticed that his head was lying in a pool of blood. At the sight of this I lost my senses and I do not know what I did. The next thing that I remember was that the two doctors were in the room with Marshal Davenport and they had led me out of it. I have no idea why he should want to die as he had everything to live for and his prospects were good."

A little later when Mrs. Schwartz had composed herself again she said, upon being asked about the revolver, "My husband did not own it himself, but borrowed it from a friend about a week ago. He sold a house which we owned and received the money too late to deposit it in the bank. He had seen this friend and got the pistol from him so as to feel safer with the money in the house. Whether he returned the revolver to his friend, and had bought one of his own I do not know as he never said anything about it."

Mrs. Schwartz then admitted that her husband had talked of taking his life for the past month and said that he has been despondent for more than a month. She said that his mates on the railroad have often remarked recently as to his being melancholy.

"The only thing that I know of to cause him to commit this terrible deed was that several months ago he injured one of his toes while working and that it had never healed properly, often swelling to three and sometimes five times the size that it should be, causing him a great deal of pain but never enough to make him stay at home.

"About a year ago," Mrs. Schwartz stated, "he had a sister that died from cancer and the chances are that the condition of his toe caused him a great deal of worry and may have upset his mind and made him believe that he had a cancer on the foot and that his time was limited. I do not say this is a positive fact as I do not know. He never having told me anything about his suspicions or ideas. The only thing hat I can do is to surmise it as I do not know anything positive."

OFFICIAL COUNT SHOWS STEIN IS DEFEATED

Elizabeth, Nov. 16.—The plurality of 109 votes received by Dr. Victor Mravlag, Republican, Republican candidate for Mayor of this city, over Mayor Alfred A. Stein remains the same in the official count made yesterday by the Union County Board of Registry and Election. The board yesterday finished its work of counting the votes at the last election and will meet again Monday to take up the recount of the councilmanic contest in the Second ward of Plainfield and then the recount for the office of surrogate of this county.

BIKE CLUB'S PLANS.

Members of the Plainfield Motorcycle Club held a meeting last night in the club rooms in Somerset street, discussed plans for the winter social season and made tentative arrangements for a banquet to be held at one of the local restaurants. No date has been settled upon. The committee in charge is composed of Lester Hampson and J. J. Moore.

Harvey N. Wadham, of Tenafly, will be the speaker at the Rescue Mission meeting tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock. A mixed quartet will sing several selections.

BAILEY'S LAST SPEECH.

He Will Make It on Progressiveism Before Leaving Senate.

Austin, Tex., Nov. 16.—Word comes from Senator Joseph W. Bailey that his resignation will not go into effect until after the coming opening of congress. He plans to make one speech in the senate on one of the early days of the session.

He has confided to political friends in Texas that the proposed speech will be the greatest effort of his public life. It will deal largely with progressiveism, he says.

Twenty-four Hour Storm In Quebec.

Montreal, Nov. 16.—The storm which has raged throughout Quebec province for the past twenty-four hours has effectually tied up navigation on the St. Lawrence. The suspension of activity in the local harbor comes at a time when the lake steamers are pouring in huge cargoes of grain which, if not quickly exported, will cause a congestion.

CLAIMS ARE SETTLED BY VAN DOREN HEIRS

Executor's Bill as Business Agent Waived and Nurse's Bill Cut in Half.

In the Somerset County Orphans' Court, at Somerville, yesterday, an agreement was reached between the heirs of the late Jacob Van Doren, of Millstone, and the sole executor, Garretson Hageman. The heirs took exception, among other things, to a charge of $300 against the estate for the services of Mrs. Garret Hageman as a nurse to Mr. Van Doren during the last six years of his life. Mr. Hageman had also made a claim of $1,800 for his services as business agent for Mr. Van Doren for eighteen years previous to his death. It was stated that these charges were made by Mr. Hageman only after a number of the heirs had signified their intention to contest the claim of Mr. Hageman for the maximum commission of five per cent. of the value of the estate as sole executor.

In the agreement arrived at by counsel for the executor, A. A. Clark and D. H. Beekman, of Somerville, and the counsel for the contestants, Strong & Strong, of New Brunswick, and which was also agreed to by Judge Case, the claim of the executor for $1,800 for services was waived. Mrs. Hageman was allowed one-half the sum claimed, or $150; Mr. Hageman was allowed $3,500, or a little more than two per cent. on the value of the estate of the deceased, which amounted to $162,779.39. After stating that the costs of the contest were to come out of the estate, Judge Case also allowed counsel for the executor $500 and counsel for the contestants $1,050.

Johnston, of the Home for Feeble-Minded at Vineland. Dr. J. J. Savitz, county superintendent, presided.

A. A. Cuming will conduct the gospel service at the W. C. T. U. rooms on Madison avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

DUNELLEN EPWORTHS NET $210 AT A FAIR

Supper and Entertainment at M. E. Church Bring in Snug Sum.

The tidy sum of $210 was realized by the Epworth League of the Dunellen M. E. church at a supper and fair held in the Sunday-school rooms, Thursday and last night. The rooms were attractively decorated in red and white, the league colors. Several booths were arranged along the walls at which various articles such as candy, lemonade, vegetables and ice cream were sold.

During the evening the diners were entertained with vocal selections by the Misses Rodendauch and several duets on the piano by the Misses Ruth Seals and Winifred Schenck. LaRue's orchestra from Bound Brook also furnished music for the entertainment of the guests.

The heads of the various committees were: Mrs. F. H. Gise, general chairman; Mrs. E. J. Krinic, fancy table; Mrs. M. W. Apgar, fish pond; Miss Elizabeth Knox, lemonade; Horace Williams, vegetables; Miss Gertrude Hughes, candy; Mrs. Ella Kennedy, supper; and Mrs. T. C. Smith and Mrs. O. M. Webber, ice cream.

The little Misses Helen Barker and Helen Titus were the cash girls.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

"Eva, the new music drama by Franz Lehar and Glen MacDonough, which will be produced soon by Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger, is a radical departure from the typical musical play. It tells an intensely dramatic story. The early scenes are laid in a glass factory in Belgium and most of the characters are workmen. The heroine is a workgirl, the godchild of the laborers. Her love for a gay young Parisian who falls heir to the glass factory is the main theme of the play. The first act shows the interior of the factory, the second the garden attached to the mansion of the factory owner and the third the apartment of an actress in Paris. Miss Sallie Fisher will play the part of Eva. The company will include many favorites and an ensemble of one hundred.

The third month of George M. Cohan's occupancy of his own theatre at Broadway and 43rd street, New York city, finds that most popular of all American actors still presenting his famous play "Broadway Jones" to crowded houses.

A hit of huge proportions has been registered by Douglas Fairbanks in "Hawthorne of the U. S. A." at the Astor theatre, where this magnetic young actor is being cheered to the echo for his splendid conception of the impulsive American who, single handed, succeeds in stopping a revolution in the turbulent territory of the Balkans. "Hawthorne of the U. S. A." is a corking fine farce with a laughing appeal and thrill after thrill punctuating its stirring scenes, the most remarkable of which is the climax of the second act where Fairbanks leaps from a table in the center of the stage straight at the throat of the sneering Prince. The onslaught is as unexpected as it is thrilling and fairly lifts the audience from their seats. If you would have your blood leap and your heart beat faster go and see "Hawthorne of the U. S. A." at the Astor. It's a thriller and no mistake.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Blanche Walsh has a new playlet called "The Countess Nadine."

Hale Hamilton is to appear in London in "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford."

Catherine Calhoun has been engaged to play the role of Amy in "Little Women."

Fritz Williams is considering going into vaudeville with his wife, Katherine Florence.

Eva Tanguay's place in "The Sun Dodgers" is to be taken by Bessie Wynn, also a light of vaudeville.

Theodore Friebus has succeeded Robert Haines as leading man at the St. James theatre, in Boston.

Victor Herbert's new operetta, in which Christie Macdonald is to be starred, will be produced in February.

Augustus Thomas' new play is to be called "Mere Man." It will be given about the end of the present month.

After her present season in "The Real Thing," Henrietta Crosman will be seen in a repertoire of classic plays.

Stella Mayhew is to star in a musical play under the direction of Lew Fields. The piece is called "The Singing Teacher."

"The New Sin," a remarkable new play with no women in the cast, is to be withdrawn in New York. The play was a London success.

Joseph M. Gaites has accepted a new play by Frank Mandel called "The Other Hand." Mr. Mandel is co-author with Helen Kraft in "Our Wives."

"And They Lived Happy Ever After" was dramatized by Philip Bartholomae from a German one-act sketch. From the same source he obtained "Over Night."

Paul Armstrong's new play, "The Escape," made a favorable impression on its initial presentation in Los Angeles. The piece will be taken to New York soon.

Mabel Taliaferno has quit vaudeville once more, and is to head her own company about the holidays. She will appear in a piece by Richard Walton Tully, entitled "The Poor Little Rich Girl."

In "The Drums of Oude," which David Balasco is personally producing in vaudeville, the characters are English and Hindu, and for the former only English players have been engaged, while native Hindus fill the other roles.

Charles Klein is now at work on a new play, the title of which has not yet been chosen, but which deals with social conditions of today. It will be ready by March or April, and may see the light under the auspices of the Authors' Producing Company.

Among the plays accepted from abroad by Charles Frohman for eventual production in this country is the newest Hubert Henry Davies comedy, entitled "Doormats." Mr. Davies is the author of "Cousin Kate" and "The Mollusc." Doormats are simply those people in life who take a joy in letting others walk over them and even wipe their feet on them.

Happenings Due Next Week

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 (Special).—With all of the disputed points in the late elections now settled and the returns fully digested, the politicians and the public will have ample time to indulge in speculation concerning the probable policies of the next administration and the selection of cabinet officers and other advisors for the new President. No authoritative information along these lines is to be expected at this time, however, since President-elect Wilson will be enjoying a vacation beyond the reach of interviewers and importunate politicians.

The Dominion Parliament will assemble at Ottawa next Thursday to begin what promises to be one of the most contentious and bitter sessions in many years. The naval program of the government, which involves the voting of an immediate "emergency" contribution of $30,000,000 to the British navy, is expected to meet with violent opposition. Other important matters that the session will deal with will be the railway act, important amendments to the bank act, and a renewed attempt to create a permanent tariff commission.

The construction of dams in international waters for power purposes and several other important matters of concern to the United States and Canada will be taken up by the International Joint High Commission when it reconvenes in Washington Monday.

Because of its many unusual features, the case of Burton W. Gibson, the New York lawyer indicted for murder in the first degree in connection with the death of Mrs. Rosa Menschik Szabo in Greenwood Lake on July 16, promises to attract much attention when it comes up for trial Monday at Goshen, N. Y.

Important conventions of the week will be the annual meeting of the National Association of Railway Commissioners, in Washington; the American Civic Association, in Baltimore; the American National Woman Suffrage Association, in Philadelphia; the Investment Bankers' Association of America, in New York City, and the National Federation of Retail Merchants, in St. Louis.

Other events and happenings that will figure in the news of the week will include the National Horse Show in New York City, the visiting of the Atlantic battleship fleet at Charleston, S. C., the Pacific Northwest Land Congress at Portland, Ore., and the social debut of Miss Esther Cleveland, eldest daughter of the late president, Grover Cleveland.

WHITEHOUSE FIRE AID OFFERED BY RAILROAD

Whitehouse, Nov. 16.—For better fire protection in Whitehouse Station, which recently suffered an epidemic of fires, the Central Railroad has granted permission to tap its water mains.

A six-inch pipe will be run through the town, and fire hydrants will be placed at convenient points. This work will be done as soon as possible. A telephone has already been placed in the pumping station as a fire aid.

A public meeting was held last evening in Hoffman's Hall, at Whitehouse Station, to reorganize the fire company and to raise more money for needed equipment. The sum of $1,500 has already been subscribed. About 500 feet of new hose has just been received.

The fire apparatus has been repaired and remodeled. Word has been received from insurance companies that raised their rates for the town because of the recent fires, that if a six-inch pipe is laid in the town and fire hydrants established they will restore the old rates.

SOMERVILLE P. O. SITE.

Somerville, Nov. 16.—An inspector of the Post Office department has been here several days this week, interviewing a number of the merchants regarding a change of location of the postoffice. The inspector stated that owing to the increased room needed when the parcels post became established the present building was not large enough. The inspector suggested a site on Maple street, which was not regarded with favor.

DISMISS SON-IN-LAW ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Benjamin Estrin, a tailor, of 118 Madison avenue, appeared before City Judge DeMeza this morning on a charge of assaulting his father-in-law, Joseph Brodi, on November 8. When the evidence had been submitted, the court dismissed the case. Over two hours' time was consumed before the testimony of over a dozen witnesses had been heard. Brodi alleged he was brutally attacked by his son-in-law when he remonstrated with him for calling him vile names, during a conversation, and endeavored to show through witnesses, that Morris and Max Estrin, brothers of Benjamin, also took part in the scrap.

The defendant called witnesses to prove that his father-in-law owed him considerable money and that on the morning of the assault he asked for the money but was grabbed and beaten by his older relative. The defendant also said he had told Brodi to keep away from his house until he paid the money. During Estrin's testimony he alleged that money and jewels often disappeared after Brodi had made a visit and the latter hearing this jumped to his feet crying "That's a lie, I can prove it, ask my daughter," pointing to Miss Brodi.

WAR PRACTICALLY ENDS; EUROPEAN TURKEY LOST

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

London, Nov. 16.—Advices from Constantinople today said that the opinion was general there that the war is practically over. It was said that the Ottoman Government fully realizes that further resistance can only prejudice the position of Turkey still more. One message said that it was recognized at the capital that practically all of European Turkey had been lost.

Athens, Nov. 16.—Russia today officially recognized the Greek occupation of Salonika, instructing its consul there to communicate in the future with the legation at Athens instead of Constantinople.

CATCH ALLEGED FUGITIVE.

After James McGrath, an alleged fugitive from justice, had been held in $100 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury by Justice Snape in the North Plainfield police court, this morning, he became fully convinced that he used poor judgment in attending the Patrolman's ball on Thursday night, where he was noticed by Roundsman Keller and arrested. His love for amusement overcame his vigilence to such an extent that he boldly appeared among the "cops" to take part in the festivities. McGrath is charged with being one of a gang of thieves, who it is alleged, broke into Latzko's brewery April 6, and stole a quantity of beer. The other offenders were apprehended and received either fines or prison sentences.

GUNMEN'S TRIAL.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, Nov. 16.—It is expected in the trial of the gunmen accused of the murder of Rosenthal, the gambler, that Justice Goff will adjourn court this evening until Monday morning at 10 o'clock, when the summing up and the charge to the jury will be made. When the trial was resumed today in rebuttal, called by Assistant District Attorney Moss was second Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty.

CLARK AND BRYAN PLEASED.

Washington, Nov. 16.—Both Speaker Clark and William J. Bryan today expressed themselves as cordially approving President-elect Wilson's announcement that he will call an extra session of Congress in April.

VIOLATED ORDINANCE.

George Towling, 19 years old, of 12 Grandview avenue, North Plainfield, was arrested yesterday by Marshal Walter Dennis, charged with riding his bicycle on the sidewalk and Recorder Gano fined him $1 this morning for the offense.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

LEFTOVER TURKEY.

THE remains of the Thanksgiving turkey, should any be left from the feast, may be used in various ways. An appetizing method of serving up the fragments is to make a scallop of them. Turkey may be scalloped in several ways, as follows:

Plain Scallop.—Cut the meat cleanly from the bones of the turkey. Butter a pudding dish and put in a layer of breadcrumbs unless there is enough of the stuffing left for this. Moisten with a little milk. Over this place a thick layer of the meat, sprinkling with salt and pepper and bits of butter; then more crumbs, more meat, and so on, until the dish is finished, covering with the crumbs. Before these go on pour in slowly the gravy, or, if this was all used up, a gravy made from the bones and well seasoned. Put plenty of butter on the top layer of crumbs, bake covered for half an hour, then uncover and brown.

A Dainty Use of Fragments.

Scalloped With White Sauce.—Make a pint of white sauce, cooking together two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour until they bubble and pouring on them a pint of milk. Stir until the sauce is smooth. Season with celery salt and a half teaspoonful of onion juice and mix into it small pieces of cold turkey. Turn into a buttered baking dish, sprinkle crumbs over the top, dot with bits of butter, bake covered half an hour. Uncover and brown.

Scalloped With Oysters.—Prepare the cold turkey as for either scallop for which the directions have been given, using oysters with it at discretion. A dozen to a pint of oysters may be used, according to your liking or supply of turkey. Moisten with the oyster liquor instead of with milk. Bake for fifteen minutes only in a steady oven.

Toothsome Fare.

Scalloped With Sausage.—If the supply of cold turkey is limited supplement it with cooked sausage, placing this and the turkey in the buttered pudding dish in alternate layers, covering the top with crumbs, moistening all with gravy and baking as you would another scallop.

Scalloped With Stock.—Add to well seasoned stock an egg for every cupful of cold turkey you have, cutting the meat into small pieces. Turn this into a well buttered pudding dish, cover with crumbs, salt and pepper and stick bits of butter over the top. Bake and brown.

Czarevitch Alexis, Heir to the Russian Throne

This handsome little boy in the uniform of a Russian hussar is the Czarevitch Alexis, heir apparent to the throne of Russia. He was born in July, 1904, so he has just passed his eighth birthday. His title in Russian is grand duke, and czarevitch means in English crown prince that is, he will some day become czar if he outlives his father, Czar Nicholas II. Grand Duke Alexis has English blood in his veins, as his mother is a granddaughter of the late Queen Victoria of England.

Recently Alexis has been very much in the public eye because of a reported attempt on his life by nihilists. Since his birth he has been the most carefully guarded of European royal children and is constantly under the care of Cossack officers chosen for their fidelity to the royal household. Most American boys would rebel at being under constant espionage, but that is one of many disagreeable things that royalty must endure. How much better to be a free American than the mightiest ruler of a monarchy!

A Geographical Game.

Two captains are chosen from among the players, and these in turn choose their sides until the party is equally divided. For convenience it is well to seat the parties in two rows, facing each other. Chance decides which captain shall begin the game. This he does by calling the name of a city or town, and then counting ten. Before he has finished counting his opposite opponent must call out the location of the city—that is, the state or country in which it is situated.

If he answers correctly he in turn calls the name of a place, and the second player in the opposite row must locate it before ten is counted. Should any player fail to answer before ten is counted, or answer incorrectly, he or she must drop out, and when there is but one player left on either side that one is the winner.

Snap—A Card Game.

In snap the one who succeeds in getting all the cards wins the game. All the cards are dealt, face down, and piled in front of each player without being examined. The player on the dealer's left first turns up the top card of his pack, placing it in front of his own pile. The next does the same, and so on in turn, but as soon as a player turns up a card corresponding in number to the card of the predecessor one of them cries "Snap!" Whichever player succeeds in saying it first takes not only the snap card, but all the cards already turned up. The cards he wins are placed at the bottom of his pack. It is necessary to be very quick and attentive to win at this game. Cards left over from the deal may be placed in a "widow" pile to be taken by the first "snapper."

Conundrum.

When are secrets like the sails of a ship? When they get wind.

His Sum.

Two and four make six,
A sum I never mix,
And I'll tell you why:
Bobby's four years old, you see,
Baby's two—will soon be three—
And these two will just make me—
I'm six in July.

NEW FASHIONS FOR SMALL FOLKS

Style Forecasts In Regard to Juvenile Frocks and Coats That May Be Helpful to the Home Dressmakers.

WE are told that children's garments are to be more picturesque than ever before this season. The directoire period is the source from which all inspiration for designers of adult garments is to be drawn, and it is one exceedingly rich in possibilities.

So far as the youngsters are concerned, it is not to be too closely followed, however.

Norfolk garments are for them to have quite a vogue. These are made in one piece and in two pieces, but all have the appearance of being one garment. Novel dresses along this line are of two fabrics, the Norfolk being of one color and the skirt of another. A plain color is often combined with a plaid.

Russian dresses which fasten at the side and are encircled by a belt are shown among the new models.

Middy dresses are another style likely to be popular, as they are becoming to most young girls. Often these garments are made up in a heavy washable fabric, like rep or linen, that can be worn all winter with warm underclothes and have the advantage of being laundered to always appear fresh and neat. The blouse and skirt may be all of one color, as dark blue or deep red, or there may be a white middy blouse with a plain dark plaited skirt of serge or worsted plaid.

When a worsted dress is chosen serge is the most desirable fabric, navy blue, brown and dark red being favorites. Black and white checks if small are considered good style. So, too, are unobtrusive plaids. Narrow stripes with a dark background are introduced.

The best qualities of children's garments are very simply made. Their only trimming, if they are for general use, is in most cases a collar and cuff set. These may be detachable, of lace, linen, embroidered batiste or pique. Fastened to the frock are often collars of satin, velvet, moire, broadcloth or bengaline. Sometimes yolks of net or lace or silk are used. A dainty silk tie generally finishes the collar of the Norfolk dress.

Braid, especially the narrow variety, is much used for decoration. So, too, are fancy buttons.

Plaited waists are very general. These are usually worn with small yolks. Some directoire and Robespierre effects are being advanced, but as yet they are not general, manufacturers wishing to test the public taste in this innovation as applied to juveniles' dress.

Sailor collars and surplices are numerous.

Velvet, velveteen and broadcloth are employed for many of the more expensive winter coats for children. Plushes, caracals, chinchillas, corduroys and double faced cloth are also extensively used. Serges and cheviots are favored for fall coats.

On the tailored coats groups of buttons with loops or buttons with bound buttonholes are featured.

In coats Norfolk effects are also to be seen. Some have yolks, while others have the plaits starting at the shoulder.

Single revers of a conspicuous type are also popular.

Young girls are wearing their hair in loose curls on the side of the face. It is a style that is becoming to most youthful faces and sets off to advantage the simple hats of the season. One of these chapeaux, with the upturned brim cut open in front, is illustrated here. The wide hair band of shirred ribbon, with rosettes at the side, also illustrated, is intended for dress wear.

bined vote on the several local tickets in the State is not as great as that for electors for President. This was due to two causes: (1), many voted for President only. (2), a strong effort was made by certain old leaders of the Republican party, who claimed for a time to be affiliating with us, to hold Progressives who had previously been Republicans to the support of the local ticket. Many yielded to this personal and false advice.

"If all the Progressives who voted for Progressive electors had voted for the local Progressive ticket, we should have had three Progressive Congressmen in the State, and at least twenty-one members of the House of Assembly. We should also have had a Progressive Senator from Cape May, but for the treachery of these erstwhile professing Progressives, who at heart, were against us, and only stayed with us as long as they thought staying might bring them some personal advantage. Now we know our people and we all know ourselves. We have demonstrated we are not a body of men who pin our faith to a cause because it is sure to win. Where will the 89,000 votes that were cast in New Jersey for Mr. Taft go? They are now a faction, which, if they stay together, can only block political progress and economic reforms. Our course seems clear. We are enlisted in a great cause; we cannot stop if we would, and I believe, we would not if we could. The old boss-ridden leadership of the Republican party never has, and unless all its leaders change, never will stand for the things in which we believe; namely:

"(1). The effective and complete regulation of all public utilities in the interests of the people by an authoritative commission with power to make a physical valuation of all railway property.

"(2). The election of United States Senators by the direct vote of the people of the several States, as they elect Governors.

"(3). An income tax, that those best able to bear the burdens of government shall pay their full share.

"(4). An eight hour day for all women, with prohibition of night work and child labor; coupled with a minimum living wage scale for women.

"(5). Preferential Primaries for President of the United States, that the Chicago fraud can never be again repeated.

"(6). Equal suffrage.

"(7). A National Industrial Commission to regulate the trusts, similar to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"(8). A tariff for the protection of labor, but with relief to the consumer by an immediate downward revision; all duties regulated through a commission with ample power.

"(9). Parcels Post, to facilitate and cheapen the delivery of express matter.

"(10). Initiative, Referendum and Recall; the people's weapons to secure good and prevent bad legislation, and to remove corrupt officials.

"(11). A more simple method of amending the State and National Constitutions.

"(12). The total elimination of corrupt expenditure of money at primary or election.

"We cannot affiliate with any party not for these things. Like all the other great progressive things which have come, they will have to be secured over the opposition of the bosses and the special interests behind them. We know that the Progressive party is heartily for these reforms; the people know that. If we are true to ourselves, and these great political and economic principles, we can safely rely upon popular support. We can be the majority party in the next year if the party in control of our State shall fail to give these things in the coming State Legislature and Congress. We are in a great fight, in a great cause, under great National leadership. The vote on the fifth of November last was in effect a great victory, in that it was an assurance by the people that they are ready to support the Progressive party, once they are confident that it is here to stay.

It is a pleasant pastime of our opponents to refer to us as a one-man party; that without Colonel Roosevelt, we would not be. Colonel Roosevelt is a magnetic leader, the greatest living American. We are fortunate to have him, but if he had died by the assassin's bullet, which his maligners provoked, the cause would have gone on just the same. The trouble with these old school politicians is they do not understand us or the spirit of our movement. It is founded in righteousness and a deep seated hatred of all corrupt political methods, and insupporting it, victory or defeat, makes no difference to us.

"To each member of the State Committee and each county chairman, and all the workers in the great fight just closed, I extend the thanks of all the officers of the State Committee. Everybody did nobly. We have just learned our strength. We now know how to fight. We gather today to publish the fact that we have enlisted for the war. I congratulate you all upon the outlook for the Progressive party in the nation and this State."

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Although the girls basketball team was defeated in their first game they are not yet discouraged and will travel to Somerville Monday to play the team of that High School. Both the girls and boys teams are greatly handicapped this year because they have no hall to practice in as yet.

The boys five travel to Kearny next Monday and expect a hard game. Although Coach Webster has not as yet had a chance to give the first team heavy practice he says the boys will put up a very good game. In the absence of Dunning at centre Roy Love will play that position.

THESE LITTLE WOMEN MAKE STRONG APPEAL

Turing into a poetical vein, the Junior Auxiliary of Holy Cross Episcopal church has invited its friends to a "Little Women Party," at which tea and candy will be sold in the Parish House on Monday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock:

"Good friends and neighbors (and we feel
A neighbor is a friend)
We beg that on the 18th day
Of this month, you attend
A Little Women Party—Oh,
Won't you, won't you come
And with your pennies, help us do
Our Missionary sum?"

Such an appeal as the above, which was received in the mail this morning, will no doubt bring its full and immediate response, to the abundant delight of the "little women."

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

HORSE SHOW OPENING AT MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

New York, Nov. 16 (Special).—With well-known horse lovers from many parts of the United States and Canada in attendance, the twenty-eighth annual exhibition of the National Horse Show Association had an auspicious opening today in Madison Square Garden. For an entire week society will pay its tribute to the fancy bred horse.

A cash prize list amounting to $40,000 has attracted the finest collection of aristocratic bred horses ever brought together in this country. The entry list shows unabated interest in the show horse, and the important and spectacular classes are well filled. The saddle horses are more numerous than ever before. The heavy harness horses and roadsters have somewhat diminished in comparison with former years, but the former make up in quality what they lack in quantity.

The show this year takes on more of an international character than ever before in its history. Not only have several American owners secured many finely bred animals aboard, but a number of foreign breeders are among the exhibitors. England, Holland and Belgium will be particularly well represented in the military contests.

Canada is taking a conspicuous part in the show. The Canadian contingent is the strongest ever sent here from across the border, and the Canadians are in high feather because of the performances made by some of their crack jumpers this summer. If they can repeat in the ring they are sure to capture their full share of honors.

"MAC" SAYS

Ideal football weather, did you say? Well, it couldn't be much better.

Don't forget that basketball game at the Y. M. C. A. tonight. It is due to be another hair-raiser.

Or the one at Hope chapel with the Bound Brook quintet.

We said yesterday that the Yale-Princeton score would be 5 to 6 in favor of Yale. But conditions have changed since the day before the battle and a "Jungle" representative has just informed us that the Tigers will roll up a count of MDCCCXCVII. That spells eighteen hundred and ninety-eight. Don't it strike you that they are carrying this spelling reform entirely too far?

No wonder firemen have lots of socks, the city furnishes the hose.

A Chicago workman has been put under bonds to keep him from working. Who wants to change places with him?

DODD HUNTING WITH 'MATTY' AND KELLAR

Giants' Pitcher, Jail Warden and Crack Shot in Wilds of North Carolina.

A letter was received yesterday at the Union county jail from Warden Charles W. Dodd, who is hunting in North Carolina with Christy Mathewson, of the New York Giants; Tom Kellar, formerly of Plainfield, the noted trap shooter, and George Schoenick, of the central office of the New York detective bureau. Warden Dodd says in the letter that game is plentiful and that there are plenty of ducks to be had if they could only shoot them. The inference in the letter is that there are as many ducks there now as there was when they first arrived. One deer has been shot, and some smaller game.

The party is encamped at Camp Bryan, Havelock, Craven county, North Carolina, having gone there about two weeks ago. The warden did not say in the letter when he expected to return home.

N. P. H. S. VS. KEARNY H. S. AT KEARNY

Forwards, Taylor, Van Mater; Centre, Love; Guards, Townley, Burner.

North Plainfield High School will start the basketball rolling toward another double championship at Kearney, next Monday afternoon when the boys' team goes to that place to stack up against their old rivals, the Kearney High School quintet. Scholarship deficiencies will keep Dunning out of the initial contest and his work in centre will be sadly missed. He proved to be the key of the boroughites attack last season and his shooting was always reliable and consistent.

Captain Townley will take Love, Van Mater, Taylor and Burner to Kearney and he has the opinion that these five will be capable of bringing home the bacon. Coach Webster, who drilled last year's champions, has been handling the athletes again this season and has them in top notch condition for the opening game.

BASKETBALL AT Y. M. C. A. GYM

Another Duet of Speedy Games on the Card for Tonight.

FORMER STARS TO PLAY

Peacock Back in Game—College and Y. M. C. A. Stars to Play—Stine Will Officiate—Preliminary Game Between Two Local Teams.

Basketball will again occupy the centre of the stage at the Y. M. C. A. tonight when the Ajax stack up against an aggregation of former Y. M. C. A. and college stars. As a preliminary appetizer, the Mohawk A. C. is scheduled to play the Temple Baptist quintet.

It goes without saying that the Ajax will be extended to the limit in the main attraction, as the opposing five has been holding regular practices in preparation for the game. Bergen Naylor is chief scout for the former stars and has gathered together a team of genuine shining lights. Naylor will play one guard, and Eugene Lidgate will probably take care of the other. The two Farmer brothers who are just fresh from the game at Pratt Institute will look after one of the forward and centre positions while Dave Clarin or Gavett will play the other forward.

The Ajax will have their regular lineup with Bill Peacock back in the game at forward. Peacock has not fully recovered from the injury he sustained to his ankle but intends to start the game and play as long as he is able.

The officiating part of the contest will be in charge of Herbert Stine, who acted so satisfactorily in this capacity last year.

LOCAL ELEVEN BEAT SOMERVILLE H. S.

Overwhelming Defeat Dealt out to the Somerset County Warriors.

Before a crowd of Friday afternoon football enthusiasts on Parker Field, the Plainfield High School eleven took the Somerville High School aggregation into camp by the score of 21 to 0. The fact that the overwhelming defeat was administered to Somerville, makes it doubly sweet for the local players, as the Somerset county warriors held the championship team, turned out at P. H. S., to a tie last season. The game itself showed the local aggregation to have a decided advantage over the visitors and ground was gained at will from the chirp of the referee's whistle in the first quarter to the time the game was called after dark. At times each team held like adamant and on other occasions the backfield runners went through the opposing defense at will. Captain Bowlby, of the Somerville team, was particularly adept at this department of the game and he tore up the local line like so much paper. Besides doing the bulk of the rushing for his combination, Bowlby commanded the attack from his position at halfback and did a lion's share of the tackling.

Two of the Plainfield's touchdowns were made on straight line bucking, one in the first and one in the third quarter, and this proved the favorite style of play for both elevens throughout the game. One of McDowell's sensational runs after he had secured a beautiful forward pass resulted in the final score of the game which a forward pass behind the goal line should have counted one more, but the ball was downed a few inches outside the ten yard zone and the ball had to be brought out to the twenty-five yard line.

The lineup:

S. H. S.		P. H. S.
Levin	left end	Jenkins
Schoonmaker	left guard	DuBois, Gavett
VanCleef	center	Carty
W. Douglas	right guard	White, Gavett
VanFleet, Hayes	right tackle	Dunwell
Smith	right end	McDowell
McHugh, VanFleet	quarterback	VanZandt
VanderBeek	right halfback	Green
Robeson	fullback	Good

Touchdowns—Good, Green, McDowell. Goals from touchdowns—Good 3. Referee—Phillips.

Score by quarters:

S. H. S.	0	0	0	0	0

ENJOYABLE DANCE OF MFG. LEAGUE

Good Entertainment Provided at Ball Players' Event at Sebring's Auditorium.

FUND FOR A BANQUET

League's Officials to Meet Monday Night to Plan Feast When Daily Press Cup Will Be Presented Rushmore-Garwood Team.

More than six hundred loyal rooters of the baseball teams of the Manufacturers' League transferred their enthusiasm last night from the bleachers to the dance floor of Sebring's Auditorium. The proceeds of the entertainment and dance, which proved to be such a success, will be used to defray the expenses of the league's banquet to be held the latter part of this month.

Many of the "stars" of the diamond were present last night, and showed as much agility and gracefulness on the slippery surface of the dance floor as on the sodded gardens of the baseball fields.

A number of features made the event more entertaining than usual. A prize waltz, with Jack Martin, Patrick Melvin, James Conway, Joseph Kerns, Michael Higgins and T. J. Larew as the judges, was won by Miss Anna Ross, of this city, with E. J. Grimes, of Somerville, as her partner. The holder of coupon No. 319 received a present and Paul Dow proved the lucky one. Each member of the arrangement committee, who worked so arduously for last night's success, were presented with a souvenior as a token of appreciation for services rendered. They were: William O'Loughlin, Burlin Banks, James Scott, J. Buckley, G. Miller, G. Linbloom, Claude Roseberry, F. Stiers, A. C. Causbrook, Harry Hann, H. Egan, William Demler, R. C. Doeringer, Edward Montross, James Montross, George McVoy, J. Garretson, O. K. Compton, Harry Van Zandt, P. Hoffman and George Evans.

A meeting of the league officials will be held Monday night in the Y. M. C. A., when a definite date will be decided for the banquet. At this affair the team of the Rushmore-Garwood Electric Co., the pennant winners, will be formally presented with the handsome silver cup, donated by the Daily Press, and which caused such keen rivalry among the six teams in the race to finish the baseball season in first place. The presentation will be made by James J. McNamee, our sporting editor.

HOPE CHAPEL GAME WILL BE FAST ONE

Y. M. A. of Bound Brook is Scheduled to Play Here Tonight.

Hope Chapel will resume its basketball schedule tonight when it lines up against the Young Men's Association, of Bound Brook, on the chapel court. The Bound Brook team always puts up a superior article of the indoor game and the contest is certain to be a corker.

Although it has had no regular games during the last two weeks, the Hope team has been holding regular practices and is in the best of condition for the fray. Bound Brook is composed of former Y. M. C. A. and High School stars who have been playing together for the past two years.

CONNIE MACK HALF OWNER OF ELEPHANTS

Philadelphia, Nov. 16.—Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia American League Baseball Club, today confirmed a report that he had bought the interests of Frank Hough and Samuel H. Jones in that club. Mack now holds fifty per cent. of the stock. He said there was no truth in the report that he would sell Bender or Oldring. He also denied the rumor that he might manage the New York team of the American League.

HOPE MIDGETS WIN.

In a fast and exciting game on the Hope Chapel court last night, the Chapel boys' club quintet took the North Plainfield Fireflies into camp for the second time this season by the score of 18 to 13. The game was a fast battle from beginning to end and neither team led by any marked advantage at any juncture. For the Hope chapel team, "Midget" Porter was the whole show, doing most of his team's basket caging and getting in some speedly passing. For the losers, Woolston upheld the colors most prominently.

MT. OLIVE'S FAIR WILL NET A GOODLY SUM

The four nights' fair and supper of the Missionary Society of the Mount Olive Baptist church was brought to a successful conclusion last night. The attendance each night was unusually large. The supper served proved a large source of revenue. It was in charge of Harry Gordon on Tuesday night; Mrs. Lena Bronson had charge Wednesday night; Mrs. M. L. Dempsey directed it Thursday night, and Friday night it was under the joint direction of Mrs. Abner Hancock and Mrs. M. L. Dempsey.

The Sunday-school auditorium, in which the fair was held, was attractively decorated; the booths especially so. The apron table was in charge of Mrs. Peter Gordon; fancy and needlework table was presided over by Mrs. Lena Bronson; at the china table one found Mrs. William Mayhew in charge; the mystery table, which was liberally patronized, was in charge of Mrs. Albert Aitkens. Miss Mattie Green and Miss Ruth Brown presided at the candy table. The postoffice, where one bought valuable mail, was in charge of Miss Lucy Brown and Agnes Alexander. Miss Helen Pollard sold peanuts.

One of the features of the fair was a "Missionary Tree," so-called because of its nature. This tree showed twelve limbs, and each limb had thirty branches, each branch representing one dollar. This tree alone will bring in a substantial sum. The net profits of the four nights will amount to $111 exclusive of the tree revenue.

Rev. M. W. Vaughn, with Mrs. S. M. Field, were the general committee in charge with the deacons. The twelve limbs of the tree were Mrs. M. L. Dempsey, Mrs. K. Kingslow, Mrs. D. Mayhew, Mrs. M. W. Vaughn, Deacon Abner Hancock, Deacon T. J. Banks, Mrs. Lena Bronson, George Carter, Deacon Daniel Brown, Miss Effie Ivy, Miss Edith Gordon, Mrs. S. M. Fields. The money raised will be used in the church work.

Likely Will Be Appointed U. S. Treasurer to Succeed Lee McClung.

Carmi Thompson, who succeeded Charles D. Hilles as secretary to President Taft when Mr. Hilles resigned to become chairman of the Republican national committee, will probably be appointed treasurer of the United States to succeed Lee McClung, resigned. Mr. Hilles is slated to get back his old job as secretary. Mr. Thompson was taken from the interior department to the White House. He is an Ohioan and is known to the Republicans of that state as "a man who knows how to do things."

JOHNSON RELEASED ON BAIL

Negro Pugilist's Mother Furnishes Part of $30,000 Bail.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—After a week's sojourn behind the bars Jack Johnson, heavyweight champion, was released from the Cook county jail.

When Federal Judge Carpenter convened court Attorney W. G. Anderson, for the negro, presented the names of Matthew S. Baldwin, a Chicago real estate man, and Mrs. Tiny Johnson, the prisoner's mother, as sureties for the $30,000 bail demanded by Judge Landis. Assistant United States District Attorney Parkin declared the new bond to be satisfactory and Judge Carpenter immediately ordered Johnson's release.

Parkin declared he would ask no further bond from the negro on the indictments charging violation of the Mann white slave act.

BISHOP TALKS ON MISSION EFFORTS

Rev. F. B. Leepe Tells M. E. Church Extension Society Work is Needed.

TO CONVERT ITALIANS

Rev. Dr. Randolph Makes Appeal for Church at Kenilworth and Rev. Drs. Platt and Coker also Enthuse Congregation at First M. E.

Introductory to the Interdenominational Home Mission Week, a district meeting of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension was held at the First M. E. church last night, at which time similar services were held in each of the other three districts of the Newark Conference. The speakers at the meeting here were Rev. Frederick B. Leepe, formerly of Detroit, who was elected a bishop at the General Conference of the Church held at Minneapolis this year, and who is stationed at Atlanta, Ga.; Rev. Dr. Ward Platt, corresponding secretary of the church, and Rev. Dr. Henry J. Coker, field agent in the middle west.

Bishop William A. Quayle was announced to speak, but found it impossible to come here and Bishop Leepe took his place. Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, district superintendent of the Elizabeth district, presided at the meeting, which was largely attended. Rev. F. J. Hubach, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, offered prayer. An organ voluntary by Clifford A. Braider opened the service. William Holmes of the First Baptist church choir, acted as precentor.

Dr. Randolph explained at the opening of the service that the Committee on Extension of Home Missions was in session in Newark, and it had been planned to hold meetings in the interest of home missions in all four districts. Dr. Randolph then briefly told what the Newark Conference had done for home missions last year, contributing $52,500 to home and foreign missions, in addition to about $24,000 given by the women.

It was stated that the Elizabeth district stood second in the list of contributors, but Dr. Randolph said that when he looked at the amount the district did not have much to boast of, as it figures about 41 cents per member. He made an appeal for help in establishing a church at Kenilworth, where there are 700 people of all denominations with not a Protestant church for white people. He said that any person who felt like giving $250 with which to purchase a lot for such a church, would be given full credit, and the same would be appreciated.

The rest of the evening was taken up by the three announced speakers. Dr. Platt in referring to some phases of mission work said that there are some people who have never heard enough of Christ to either accept or reject Him. He spoke of the glorious opportunity to bring the gospel to the people from all nations that find their way to this country and make their home here.

Dr. Platt said that the mind of the oriental is now very plastic but it will not be very long and for this reason it is the duty of the church to lose no time in making its impress on these people. Dr. Platt then gave a graphic description of conditions and the golden opportunities in the west and northwest.

Dr. Coker, of Denver, gave a brief account of conditions in the middle west, telling of the work that is being accomplished there among the thousands of foreigners that are settling in that part of the country. He said that the church owes much to these people, and he told of the great possibilities among the children of these thousands of people, how, if properly trained, they would make the best citizens in the country.

Bishop Leepe, an eloquent speaker, pictured the country which is growing so rapidly, adding that it is full of promise, prayer, prosperity. He said that he loved his country and his great desire was to see it saved for Christ. He made a strong appeal in behalf of the Italians, saying that he wants to see them won for Christ through a Protestant religion. He thought that the words of a certain woman, who was speaking to him, that God will have this world through the redemption of China, to be very significant and well worth thinking about, and it was his hope that this country might be the guiding star.

Bishop Leepe in conclusion referred to three races in this country, well worth the attention of the church—the Indians, the colored people and the genuine Americans which are to be found in the Blue Ridge section of the south, sometimes known as the Mountaineers. He described his visits among these people; also of the work that is being accomplished at Mt. Zion Academy, where seven buildings and several teachers are supported on the magnificent sum of $1,841 a year. While the tuition is about $3 a year there are hundreds of young men who cannot raise that amount for an education.

The bishop said that while he had known some of the students from his own college to be arrested for crime, he had yet to hear of a colored student after his graduation being guilty of any such thing, which he thought was remarkable.

KILLS HIMSELF AS WIFE IS DOOMED

Couldn't Bear to Think That She Was Dying.

SHOOTS HIMSELF IN MOUTH

Former New York Policeman Ends Misery In Tenafly Home—Suicide Caused by News That Wife Could Live but Two Months.

Tenafly, N. J., Nov. 16.—The strange conduct of Bernard J. Sweeney, a retired New York policeman, who during the last few weeks puzzled his friends and neighbors by giving them most of his possessions as keepsakes, was explained when he was found dead in his home in Laurel avenue, here.

After disposing of all his worldly goods, excepting enough to sustain his wife during a brief period that doctors say she will survive, Sweeney killed himself.

For the first time since their marriage, thirty years ago, Mr. and Mrs Sweeney were recently separated by her illness. She is suffering from cancer and was removed to Miss Alston's sanitarium, in West Sixty-first street New York, for an operation. Dr. Paul Outerbridge of 49 West Seventy-fourth street attended her, and he is said to have told Sweeney that it would be a matter of but a short time until she died. She might live a month or possibly two at the most.

The enforced absence of his wife and the knowledge that she was slowly dying was more than the man could bear. Alone in his cheerless home, he carefully arranged the details of his own death. The money due him from the police pension fund and proceeds to be obtained from the sale of a few articles left in his home would, he doubtless believed, be sufficient to support his wife while she lived. As for the rest of his goods, having no children, he gave them away.

After breakfast Sweeney went to his bedroom and, standing before a mirror shot himself in the mouth. The bullet passing upward, penetrated the brain A neighbor discovered him and notified the coroner, who decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

QUITS SCHOOL TO ELOPE.

Long Branch Set Astir by News of Wedding In New York.

Long Branch, N. Y., Nov. 16.—There was a stir in Chattle high school and young folks' circles here when announcement was made of the elopement of one of its students, Edgar L. Throckmorton, and Miss Julia E Mount, a former student. The young couple went to New York Thursday and were married. They kept their mission secret, preferring an elopement to a public announcement.

On their return to Long Branch they broke the news. The mother of Mrs. Throckmorton was first inclined not to receive her daughter, but later repented and gave the parental blessing, to which the blessing of the bridegroom's parents was added. Bridegroom and bride are each twenty years old Throckmorton will not quit school and go to work for his father, an engineer.

SISTERS DIE HOUR APART.

Aged Seventy-five and Eighty, They Will Be Buried Together.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 16.—Miss Marcia W. Wright and Miss Janet F. Wright, aged seventy-five and eighty years respectively, daughters of the late state librarian of Pennsylvania, died at their home in this city an hour apart. Both had been teachers in the public schools here for more than forty years.

Miss Marcia Wright was taken ill about five weeks ago. She suffered from infirmities of age, and when all hope for her recovery was given up her sister, through worry, was also stricken. The death of one hastened that of the other. The sisters will be buried at a double funeral tomorrow afternoon.

HANGS SELF IN PRISON CELL.

New Yorker Serving Sentence In Jersey Commits Suicide.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 16.—William J. Norwood of New York, who was sentenced to Trenton prison more than a year ago to serve three and one-half years, committed suicide in his cell.

The complainant against Norwood was Professor Julius M. Winslow of Hackensack. Norwood, who was twenty-six years old, called at his home in July, 1911, and demanded $100. His arrest and conviction followed. Norwood was known in Y. M. C. A. circles in New York and at the time of his arrest it was believed by many persons that he was of unsound mind.

TRIES SUICIDE WITH SCISSORS

George Maxwell, Barber of Marlton, Tears Throat and Both Wrists.

Marlton, N. J., Nov. 16.—George Maxwell of this city, a barber, tried suicide with a pair of scissors. He is in a critical condition at the Cooper hospital, Camden.

The man tore his throat and cut the arteries in both wrists. The only reason given is despondency.

WILLIAM J. CUMMINS.

Director of Carnegie Trust Company Must Go to Jail.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

William J. Cummins, once a director and would be exploiter of the defunct Carnegie Trust company, New York, must serve his Sing Sing sentence of not less than four years and eight months or more than eight years and eight months, according to a decision of the appellate division of the supreme court. He was convicted a year ago of having raised $140,000 on checks of the Nineteenth Ward bank and the Van Norden Trust company, ostensibly to protect stock of those concerns, and to have converted it to his own use.

ENGINEERS LIKELY TO RECEIVE MORE PAY

Said Arbitrators Are For Wage "Standardization."

New York, Nov. 16.—Word was received from Chicago that the arbitration board selected to decide between the eastern railroads and their locomotive engineers has come to a decision, and its report will be made public shortly.

The effect of the decision of the arbitrators, according to unofficial advices, will be to "standardize" the pay of the engineers on forty-eight eastern roads, which means a victory in an important point for the employees. It will mean a decided raise in wages for the men employed by practically all of the roads except the New York Central and the Pennsylvania system, but how many million dollars this means was not revealed.

The meeting in Chicago was of the subcommittee of the arbitration committee, which met to dispose of certain details. It was also hinted at in the Chicago reports that the report of the arbitrators will not be unanimous, but that Messrs. Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio, and Morrissey, president of the railroad employees' and investors' society, will file a minority report as a matter of form, each man disagreeing with the findings of the majority, which, however, binds them under the arbitration agreement.

In the long list of grievances filed by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers on behalf of the men last February the principal demand was for a standardization of pay for all railroads, such as is in force in the west.

The representatives of the railroads declined at once to accede to the demands, and for a day or two a general strike was threatened. While the decision will be binding on all the parties, it will only be operative until May 1, 1913, and will be retroactive, as it made for May 1, 1912.

TIME LIMIT FOR HEROES.

Their Deeds Must Be Reported Within 3 Years to Obtain Carnegie Medal.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 16.—The Carnegie hero fund commission has placed restrictions upon the period following an act of heroism within which the hero may be rewarded for his deed. Heretofore the only restriction was that the act must have been performed since the establishment of the commission in 1904.

Beginning with Jan. 1 next no act of heroism will be considered by the commission unless it has been performed within three years of the date on which application for recognition is made.

This step was taken because the neglect in reporting cases has resulted in the inability of the commission's investigators to secure the facts.

OPERATION FOR LORIMER.

Former Illinois Senator Will Go Under the Knife.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—Former Senator William Lorimer will be operated on for appendicitis at the Presbyterian hospital. At a consultation it was decided that an operation, while not imperative at this time, was the safest course to prevent a possible recurrence of Lorimer's attack.

Attending physicians declared Lorimer's general condition good. There is little inflammation, and the patient is in no danger.

NEW FIVE-CENT PIECE MEMORIAL TO INDIAN

Washington, Nov. 16.—The design of the new nickel, to supplant the five-cent coin now in circulation, will be perfected by Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh within a few weeks. George E. Roberts, director of the mint, and J. E. Fraser, of New York, an artist, who is working on the design, conferred with the Secretary Thursday.

An Indian head will adorn the face of the coin and the figure of a buffalo the reverse. The design is intended to honor the disappearing indian and buffalo, linked together in American history.

WINDOW TRANSPARENCY.

The publishers of The Youth's Companion will, as always at this season, present to every subscriber whose subscription is paid for 1913 a beautiful souvenir. This year it takes the unique form of a window transparency, to be hung in the window or in front of a lighted lamp. Through it the light shines as through the stained glass of a cathedral window, softly illuminating the design—a figure of autumn laden with fruits; and all around, wreathed in purple clusters of grapes and green foliage, is the circle of the months. It is the most attractive gift ever sent to Companion readers.

"WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH PLAINFIELD?"

"What's the matter with Plainfield" is intelligently and forcibly answered by a citizen of that city named Charles H. Hand. The writer asserts that the slow growth of Plainfield is due, in part, to the poor transportation facilities to and from New York, the remedy for which, it is asserted, is a tube under the Hudson for the use of Central Railroad trains. But the greater need is the consolidation of Plainfield and North Plainfield, there being two municipalities where one would be much better. North Plainfield is simply the overgrowth of Plainfield, as Highland Park is simply the overgrowth of New Brunswick. Now Mr Hand recommends that North Plainfield, although not, like Plainfield, in Union county, be annexed to Plainfield, and both places be run by one set of officials. There is much force in Mr. Hand's contentions, but no more than there is in favor of Highland Park and this city being managed by one municipal government.—New Brunswick Home News.

Prove That You Are Musical

THE old idea, "I am not musical," is a fallacy. Unless you are one person in ten thousand and really don't like music at all, you have a natural instinct for music, and with the proper means of bringing it out, you will have clear proof of its existence.

Here is the means. Sit down to the

VIRTUOLO

and select the music roll of any piece you have heard often enough to recognize. Close the sliding panel in front of the roll so you won't be watching the "roll perforations" go by. Then pedal as if you were beating time with your feet.

You won't have to be told what to do. As the music swells out and the swing of the piece takes hold of you, you find yourself instinctively pressing down on the buttons under your left hand when you want to get loudness and releasing the n instinctively when you want the music soft. You find yourself pressing the Aeolo buttons to make the air of the piece sing out clearly above the accompaniment.

It is your own instinct assuming it all that makes you do these things. No other player-piano permits instinctive playing.

ST. MARY'S MEN JAM THE CHURCH

1,100 Masculine Parishioners at Opening Service of Mission Week.

MANY AT EARLY MASS

House of Worship Again Crowded at 5 O'clock Service This Morning—Missionary Father Explains What the Services Mean.

When the second week of mission services opened at St. Mary's R. C. church last night, more than 1,100 men jammed the auditorium. By actual count there were 1,132 men in the congregation, and there wasn't room for another worshipper within the edifice. This morning at 5 o'clock mass the church was again filled.

Last night' service inaugurated a mission week for the masculine members of the parish. Last week was devoted to a mission for the women.

In opening his discourse the missionary father who preached last night explained the end and object of the mission.

A mission he said, is a course of sermons on "the eternal trusts of our holy religion" and of instructions on the principal duties of Christians preached by priests especially destined and trained for the great work. Making the mission means assisting at the sermons and instructions of the mission and going to confession and receiving holy communion during the mission. Hence, the object of the mission is to reclaim those who have strayed away from the practice of their religious duties or who are addicted to some vice; also to enable all who are in the state of sin to make their peace with God by a good and sincere confession; to rouse the careless and indifferent to a life of fervor and to increase the zeal of the good and enable them to perservere until death in the love and service of God. A mission is, therefore, a time of very serious thinking, a time of special graces, a time of taking our bearings, setting matters right with God, as taking stock and balancing accounts are to the merchant of vital importance.

The subjects of the sermons are the eternal truths of God's omnipotence and supreme authority as Creator and Sovereign Lord of all things, His purposes in creating man and sending him into the world, what man has to believe and do to save his soul, and the great importance and necessity of salvation. The great evil

MEMORABLE SPECTACLE MARKS MISSION'S END

The one week's mission conducted by Rev. Raymond Walsh, O. M., of the Frasican Fathers of Paterson at St. Mary's church, of Stony Hill, was a great success considering the location of the church and the distance most of the congregation have to travel to reach it. Every service, morning and evening, was attended by numbers that filled the church and at the closing service on Sunday afternoon, notwithstanding the threatening weather, the church was filled as usual.

After the final instruction all present renewed their baptismal vows as they held lighted candles aloft in their hands. Four small girls dressed all in white, acted as sponsors. Then followed the procession with the Holy Eucharist in and around the outside of the church in which the Holy Nname Society and all the men of the parish acted as a guard of honor, bearing lighted candles, the choir following, singing appropriate hymns. On the return to the church solemn benediction with the Blessed Sacrament was given by Rev. Father Schwarze, the pastor.

The service closed with the imparting of the papal blessing by the missionary. In the whole the exercises were most beautiful, consoling and inspiring.

"PAGODA LAND" PICTURES.

Rev. Dr. Vinton, who has worked in foreign lands as a missionary for several years, will give his famous motion picture entertainment, entitled, "Work and Play in Pagoda Land," at the First Baptist church, Friday night. It will be a popular Oriental travelogue. No admission fee will be charged, but a silver offering will be received.

BEGIN OBSERVANCE OF HOME MISSION WORK

Daily Meetings Under Auspices of Women's Federation Start Today.

Under the auspices of the Plainfield Federation of Women's Missionary Societies, home mission week will be observed this week. The subject for today will be "American Indians, Africans, Asiatics," and the one for tomorrow will be "The Frontier and the Island Possessions," both of which are to be studied at home.

In addition there will be a meeting of the Women's Home Mission Society at the First Baptist church tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Lucie Rising will present the subject, "Organization and Methods of Work of the Mormon Church." Mrs. J. L. Manning will lead the devotional exercises.

On Wednesday night, it is expected that Mrs. Ruth Mapelsden, district secretary of the Women's Home Mission Society of the Middle States, will be the speaker at the First Baptist church. In the morning at 10 o'clock there will be a union meeting at the Y. W. C. A., with Mrs. William E. Honeyman as leader. The subject will be "The Immigrants."

Perhaps, the most important meeting of the week will be held at the First Baptist church Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Gabriel Reid Maguire will preside and the feature will be an address on "Mormonism, a Menace to American Homes," by Hans P. Freece, an anti-Mormon, who has been successful in combating the progress of Mormonism both in this country and abroad.

Other features of the program will be singing by a chorus of young girls from the different churches in the city and borough, a recitation, "The Open Gates," by Miss Pauline Gates, and a portrayal, "The Nez Perce Indians Seeking the Book of Heaven," by Miss Addie Parker Jackson.

WILLIAMS CLUB PLAY IS LIVELY FARCE ROMANCE

The Williams Dramatic Club will give its annual play here at the Hartridge Auditorium a week from next Wednesday, Thanksgiving eve. Already two performances of "His Excellency, the Governor," have been given and have met with all the success that attended the presentation of "The Duke of Killicrankie," a year ago.

After the performance in Williamstown last week the "North Adams Transcript," in speaking of the show, said: "The presentation of the three-act farce romance, 'His Excellency, the Governor,' by the Williams College Dramatic Club, on Saturday night was a masterful presentation of a farce and the play was by far the most pretentious that 'Cap and Bells' has ever attempted. The setting of the play was decidedly realistic and the acting and costumes would give credit to the best theatrical productions."

There will be a dance after the performance here. Tickets may be obtained at Armstrong's Drug Store, or from any of the following patronesses:

Mrs. A. H. Atterbury, Mrs. E. T. Barrows, Mrs. R. Boardman, Mrs. J. Browne, Mrs. G. S. Clay, Mrs. T. M. Day, Mrs. R. H. Depew, Mrs. Harvey Fish, Mrs. Howard Fleming, Mrs. G. H. Goddard, Mrs. E. H. WILL PREACH TO JUNIORS.

The members of the Jr. O. U. A. M., of the city, comprising Franklin, Somerset, Benevolent and Plainfield Councils, have been invited to attend divine service at the First Baptist church next Sunday night, when Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, the pastor, will preach an appropriate Thanksgiving sermon. The choir will also give a special program of music.

The Philathea Class of Temple Baptist church will hold an oyster supper on Tuesday evening, November 26, in the Baraca Class rooms. It will be in the form of a free-will offering supper. All persons are invited to attend, the only thing that they are asked to do is to put in the offering what they think the supper is worth.

The regular monthly meeting of the "Standard Bearers," an organization of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, will be held Friday at the home of Miss Alice Lude, 43 Dekalb avenue. A social time will follow the meeting.

NEWSPAPER GIVES FATHER FIRST CLUE TO SON'S FATE

Charles A. Springsteen, of 23 Muhlenberg place, while being shaved in a barber shop Saturday afternoon, received the first intimation that it was his ten-year-old son, Charles A. Springsteen, Jr., who was killed on the Plainfield avenue bridge of the New Jersey Central that morning, when he heard someone reading the story of the accident in the Plainfield Daily Press. Mr. and Mrs Springsteen had been looking for the boy since early afternoon.

Mr. Springsteen left the shop and met Roundsman Andrew Saffron. The latter had been trying to identify the boy and when the father made inquiries about the accident the policeman learned enough to satisfy him that it was Springsteen's son who had lost his life. The two went to George Cole's undertaking parlor where the father identified the body.

The funeral services were held this afternoon at Meyersville, and the burial was at that place. Mr. Springsteen is employed at the Manganese Steel Safe Works, and among the floral tribues was one from employes of the works.

The last service in connection with the anniversary of the Young Men's Christian Association was delivered by B. R. Barber, secretary of the Calcutta, India, Y. M. C. A., the largest city association in India for the past thirteen years, at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday morning.

Mr. Barber spoke of the religious zeal of the Hindoo and said that he finds the expression in such efforts pleasing, such as the self Immolation that is to be witnessed at Benares. Two of the cases that he spoke of were of a man that has been sleeping on a bed of spikes for a number of years and of the man who said that he would hold his arm upright in its socket until God was revealed to him. He has had his arm upright so long that it has grown that way and he could not lower it now if he wanted to.

He told of an incident that he came across one day when he had slipped out of the association building.

A Hindoo rose from the ground, where he had been placing his head where his feet had been. In this way he covered the ground to his destination, always placing his feet where his head had been, prostrating every time. He covered the ground in this fashion because of some religious vow he had made. It would add tremendously to the power of the Christian church if it could claim such religious enthusiasm as this for Christ and Christianity, Mr. Barber said.

"We are making marked progress among the Hindoo," he said, "the progress can be seen in a great social service movement on the part of the better class of the Hindoos in behalf of the fifty millions of social outcasts in India, in a broadening of the educational opportunities, rising of the spirit of nationalism and in the more humane treatment of the womanhood of India. The particular field of the Y. M. C. A. of India is among the men who are to be the future leaders. At the present time there are more than twelve thousand of these young men on the membership rolls of the association."

Mr. Barber closed his address with a story of a young Hindoo of the Brahmin cast who became a Christian, knowing that the result of the step would cause the forefeiture of his inheritance and that it would necessitate his giving up his medical studies. When he professed his faith to follow the Christian religion Mr. Barber took him to Dr. Charles Cuthbert Hall, who was lecturing in Lndia at that time, to be baptised. After hearing the boy's story of how he had renounced all his claims on the property and aid of his parents and that he would have to give up his medical course, Dr. Hall offered to loan him the money with which to complete the course. He accepted the offer and today is a practicing physician in India. That young man was a member of the Calcutta association, and converted through Mr. Barber's Bible class.

LIKE THE CHANGE.

The change in the hour of the evening service at the Crescent Avenue church, which was inaugurated yesterday, is apparently highly appreciated by the congregation, judging by the large attendance. This service, which was formerly held in the evening, is now held at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and lasts about one hour. By this arrangement the members of the church not only have their Sunday evening free, but find it more convenient to attend the service at the earlier hour.

"PLATE RAIL SHOWER."

Miss Helen M. Dorthy, eldest daughter of Mrs. Ella Dorthy, of the New Madison, whose marriage to Albert J. Glaeser, of New York, will take place shortly, was given a "plate rail shower" Saturday afternoon, at the home of Miss Mary Leveridge, on Sherman avenue. Miss Leveridge arranged the "shower." There were about fifteen guests. The plates were very handsome. Tea was served during the afternoon.

FORMAL OPENING OF BONNIE BURN

Many Officials and Fraternal Society Members at Dedication Exercises.

ADDRESSES BY CLERICS

Freeholders' Director Transfers Buildings and Grounds to the Board of Governors—Description of Finely Equipped Hospital.

Bonnie Burn Sanitorium, Union county's tuberculosis hospital, located on the mountains back of Scotch Plains, the first one of the county institutions to be built in the State, was formerly dedicated at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, when the buildings and grounds were transferred from the Board of Freeholders to the Board of Governors of the institution. There were present a large number of county officials, including representatives of the courts, the Board of Freeholders, the Anti-Tuberculosis Societies of Plainfield and Elizabeth, Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., and other societies throughout the county.

It was planned to hold the exercises out of doors, but the cold weather prevented. They were held instead in the administration building. Rev. Dr. Addison W. Hayes, pastor of the Methodist church, of Westfield, offered the opening prayer. Then followed the transfer of the buildings and grounds to the Board of Governors, by John Newton Cady, director of the Board of Freeholders, and the acceptance of the same by Dr. William H. Murray, president of the Board of Governors.

There were short addresses by Rev. P. J. Steinmetz, rector of the Episcopal church, of Summit; Father B. M. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's R. C. church, this city; Rev. Dr. H. K. England, of Roselle, with the benediction by Rabbi N. Miller, of this city.

A handsome bronze tablet was unveiled in the administration building. It was made by Grove P. Hinman, of this city, and bears the name of the institution, the date of dedication, the name of the committee from the Board of Freeholders having charge of the work, comprising J. Hervey Doane, chairman; Henry C. Krausse, Adolph Gruener, S. P. T. Wilbur and J. Logan Fay; the name of the architect, C. W. Oakley, of Elizabeth; the name of the consulting engineer, George W. BICYCLIST FALLS IN FRONT OF MOTOR CAR

Perrine, Bewildered by Searchlights of Returning Football Crowd, Hurt.

Stephen Perrine, aged 65 years, of Prescott place and South Second street, while riding his bicycle on West Front street, Saturday night, became bewildered by the searchlights of the many automobiles returning home from the Princeton-Yale football game. He fell off his wheel in the vicinity of Lafayette place, directly in the path of a car owned and driven by Charles Francis Park, Jr., of Englewood. The automobile hit Perrine and disabled him. Mr. Park immediately placed the injured man in his machine and took him to the office of Dr. C. B. Lufburrow.

An examination showed that no bones were broken but that Perrine was suffering from bruises about the lower part of the body and legs. He was removed to his home in the ambulance. Dr. Lufburrow does not believe that the injuries are of a serious nature.

Mr. Park left his name and address. The auto, it is said, was going moderately slow at the time of the accident.

MEMBERS ASSIGN OVER DUE CLAIMS TO CREDIT ASSN.

The monthly meeting of the Business Men's Credit Association, which was recently incorporated, giving the association the right to sue as a corporation and not as an individual, will be held tonight in the Frost building on Park avenue, to take up matters of considerable importance presented by the executive committee. Whatever action is taken by the association will be binding on the membership, and for that reason it is important that the members be present.

It is proposed that no claims be received that are not assigned to the association, and that such claims are out of the hands of the one placing them with the association when assigned, and that after the debtor has received the necessary notice of the claim and failing to settle the same, suit will be brought in thirty days.

HOOD BREAKS IN WIFE'S HOUSE

Gains Entrance at Early Hour of Morning and is Found by Police.

CITY COURT TRIAL NEXT

Husband Being Sued for Divorce Gives Two Widely Different Reasons to Account for His Unseasonable Call—Batter Door to get Him

Smashing his way, it is alleged, through a sun parlor at the rear of the mansion, Richard Haden Hood, who last week made a bitter statement in connection with his wife's suit for divorce, gained entrance at 1:30 o'clock this morning, to Mrs. Hood's home at 541 Stelle avenue—the $100,000 property which Hood is seeking to regain from his wife by legal action.

Mr. Hood awaits arraignment before City Judge DeMeza, Saturday morning, when, according to the magistrate, he will be charged either with disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace or with breaking and entering. The latter is the charge burglars sometimes answer.

Mr. Hood asserts that he went to the house to secure papers belonging to him. According to Charles A. Reed, of counsel for Mrs. Hood, the husband went to the door of his wife's bedroom, which she had locked when the noise of his entrance echoed through the house, and demanded through the closed portal that she accompany him to Philadelphia.

Mrs. Hood has a telephone in her room and she lost no time in calling the police. Roundsman Higgins and Patrolmen Flatley and McCarthy were sent to the house in a hurry.

When the police arrived, it is alleged, Hood had locked himself in a third story room of the house, and was shouting his right to be there. The policemen battered the door down and took the protesting husband to police headquarters. City Judge DeMeza was called from his bed to answer the telephone after Mr. Hood was taken to headquarters, and in answer to the request of Isaac F. Runyon, Mr. Hood's lawyer, ordered the prisoner released. Mr. Hood appeared in court this morning, and upon motion of counsel arraignment was postponed until Saturday.

Hood had made tentative arrangements to go to the house to get some papers which he said were there, and it was planned according to Lawyer Reed, to go amicably to the house for the documents.

Mr. Hood, it is asserted, had agreed to remain away from the Stelle avenue house until the courts decided between him and his wife. Detectives, who had been constantly on guard about Mrs. Hood and the house, had been discharged. When Hood is alleged to have forced his way into the house the butler was the only man in it.

ONLY A LITTLE HUSTLING NEEDED TO WIN FINE MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Handsome Player-Piano, Excellent Piano Without Automatic Attachment and a Superb Vitaphone Offered in Daily Press Voting Contest.

Could the church or society of which any Plainfielder is a member use a $525 player-piano or a $275 piano or a $100 talking machine? The easiest and quickest way to secure one of these valuable instruments is to nominate some member of the organization as a candidate in the Daily Press subscription voting contest. The work of the entire membership of the church or lodge interested may be done in favor of the person nominated, and the winner may dispose of the prize in any manner deemed best.

These prizes represented in dollars and cents are handsome sums to secure in four short weeks. In no other way can an equal sum be realized without direct contribution or assessment. The Daily Press contest offers this opportunity without taxing anybody. The pianos were made by the Braumuller Piano Company, of New York, and are complete with stool, scarf and with the player goes ten rolls of selected music. These instruments are ready for inspection at Joseph Sattels', 108 North avenue. The player-piano will be at the disposal of the candidate who secures the most votes in the contest. The third prize, a $100 phonograph, is the product of the Vitaphone Company, of Plainfield, whose instruments represent the last word in talking machines. Votes are allowed on all payments on subscriptions to the Daily Press for a period of six months or one year. This means that every church member, or lodge member and individual, who interests himself or itself in the ambition of an organization or home will get value received for the amount of money collected, and it should be remembered that there is a ten cent cash refund to all contestants who secure at least five new yearly subscriptions and fail to win one of the three capital prizes. There is no better newspaper value anywhere than the Daily Press, subscriptions are not hard to secure and with our ten per cent. refund plan everyone who really tries will be well repaid for their efforts.

How to Get the Player Piano.

Members of organizations and individuals interested in the Daily Press contest and desirous of trying for the player-piano are invited to communicate with the Daily Press. The telephone is 1300. Inquiries will receive immediate attention and a representative will assist in prepairing plans for an effective campaign, based upon successful campaigning elsewhere. The first thing to do, however, is to get in touch with some active person already nominated, and arrange for co-operation during the contest, or to nominate a member of one's own society, or oneself.

A complete description of the Vitaphone, offered as the third award, will be published tomorrow.

GIBSON WANTS TO BE HEARD AS A WITNESS

Accused Lawyer Anxious to Tell of Drowning.

Middletown, N. Y., Nov. 18.—With the trial of Burton W. Gibson, the New York lawyer accused of slaying his client, Mrs. Rosalie Szabo, in Greenwood lake, New York, on July 16, beginning today, his lawyers, Robert H. Elder and Charles G. Goldzier, announced they were undecided whether Gibson will be allowed to testify in his own behalf. Gibson insists upon taking the stand in an effort to explain away the chain of circumstantial evidence that has been wound about him to make it appear that he strangled the woman and then threw her into the lake. The lawyers, it is known, are loath to permit him to do so on account of the other peculiar cases in which Gibson was involved, for it would pave the way for the prosecution to get these facts before the jury.

All of the principal actors in the trial passed a busy Sunday at Goshen. Coroner Wasservogel of New York and Assistant District Attorney Murphy of District Attorney Whitman's office arrived early in the day and were in conference with District Attorney Thomas C. Rogers of Orange county until late last night. Mr. Rogers stated that he believed that the trial would probably take eight days.

Gibson had a number of visitors and was fully as busy as the attorneys for the state. He was in conference practically all day with his attorneys, Robert H. Elder and Jacob H. Singer. Gibson's attorneys also had several conferences with witnesses whom they will call for the defense.

Gibson was in the same cheerful frame of mind which has characterized him since he has been in Goshen jail, and he is confident that he will be acquitted.

KILLED GUIDE FOR A DEER.

Dying Man Left Signed Statement Absolving the Hunter.

Skowhegan, Me., Nov. 18.—Sheriff John A. Moores received the report of a coroner's jury that Warren Holden of Jackman was shot and killed at Sandy Bar, near the Canadian line, by William Wilding of Indianapolis. Holden, who was a guide for Wilding on a hunting trip, was mistaken for a deer.

It was reported to the sheriff that Holden signed an explanation before he died absolving Wilding from blame for the shooting. A deputy sheriff will leave here for Jackman to serve a warrant on Wilding. Holden had been a guide for twenty years. He was forty years old and leaves a small son.

STORM BLOCKS LAKE TRAFFIC

Blinding Snowstorm Keeps Many Boats In Harbor at the Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 18.—A heavy rain, turning to a blinding snowstorm, accompanied by a thirty mile gale and falling temperature, makes navigation in the upper lake region practically impossible.

Few boats left port, although predictions are that the weather conditions will moderate. Many vessels are tied up here.

Although the lighter Reliance has succeeded in reaching the stranded steamer J. L. Weeks, on Iroquois Point, the high seas running have prevented any attempt to release her.

Nunn charges a conspiracy and attempt to defraud. He says the company is to be sold to the Electric Bond and Shares company and to St. Louis and Cincinnati capitalists for $4,000,000 less than its actual value.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

A. G. Delamater, the prominent producing manager of New York, announces that on Saturday, November 23, matinee and evening, he will present Neil Twomey's dramatization of Gene Stratton-Porter's "Freckles," at the Plainfield theatre. A comparison of this wonderful nature story is impossible, for there has been nothing produced in all the history of the American stage just like "Freckles." It is distinctive; original; but of such absorbing interest that it is not difficult to know why the hundreds of thousands of readers have delighted in the story, nor why it has touched the palate of modern fiction readers. Neil Twomey has stuck faithfully to the text of Mrs. Porter's story; every character has been brought out in bold relief in the play, and where the picture was in the mind's eye of the reader, it will now be in the actual line of vision. Delamater, does nothing by halves and so he has given carte blanche to scenic painters, electricians, carpenters and property-men; a big expense, yes; but the education of the theatre-goer is very complete and for success, demands perfect stage equipment. The great "Limberlost Swamp," in which "Freckles" takes hold of life, and forms his nature friendships is realistically shown. It is a beautiful stage picture with the thickness of the swamp forming a dark massive background below, while above tower gigantic trees. A knowledge of perfect stage lighting makes this effect possible.

HUNTERS RIDE BRIDGE TORN OUT BY TORRENT

Dunellen, Nov. 18.—Adrift on a bridge torn from its moorings by a freshet in the White Mountain country of New Hampshire, Dr. T. H. Platt and a party of hunters had a narrow escape from possible death during a recent deer hunting trip, according to the story told by Dr. Platt, who has just returned to his home here.

The party, with headquarters at Hell Gate Camp, had spent three weeks in the chase and had bagged a large number of deer and partridges. When the storms came, washing out many bridges, the men were unable to get away for more than a week. At last, seizing a favorable day, they mounted their horses and started, later securing a wagon to carry their game.

Just as the men, horses and wagon were in the middle of the only bridge left standing in miles, the current swept it away and it floated down stream nearly half a mile. By dint of hard work the men got their raft into a cross current, which carried it into a submerged field, where they effected a landing, not losing a single trophy of their chase.

After another twenty-four hours on horseback and three hours in automobiles the party reached Gorham, N. H., the starting point, and took the train home.

PROGRESSIVES TO KEEP UP BATTLE

State Adherents Organize on Permanent Basis.

70 DELEGATES PRESENT.

Resolutions Adopted Pledging Entrance of Candidates For All Elective Offices — Every Section of State to Be Covered by Newly Formed Body.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 18.—The Progressive party of New Jersey came into permanent being at a conference of members of the state committee and chairmen of county committees held here. Resolutions were adopted providing for elaborate organizations in every nook and corner of the state, and the new party is now pledged to enter candidates at all elections for all elective offices, from United States senator down to constable.

There were seventy of the active workers present. Former Governor John Franklin Fort presided. Among the delegates were four women—Mrs. Frank A. Patterson of Colonia, Mrs. Charles F. Feickert of Dunellen, Miss Marion C. Smith of East Orange and Miss Mary Emma Jones of Trenton—all members of the state Progressive committee.

The resolution providing for permanent organization of the new party in the state was introduced by Frank Thompson of Trenton, secretary of the Mercer County Progressive league, and was unanimously adopted. It follows:

Resolved, That it is the sense of the members of the Progressive state committee and the county chairman of the several counties gathered here that active work be done to further push the complete and thorough organization of the Progressive party in every county, municipality and election district in the state, and to this end we advise that Progressive clubs be formed in every locality and that local organizations be fully perfected.

Resolved, That we declare our severance and complete segregation from any other party affiliation and cordially invite all persons who believe in the principles which form the basis of our party without regard to their last party association to unite with us in establishing in New Jersey a strong, aggressive, fighting political force for the promotion of good government and progressive legislation in this state.

Resolved, That we declare it to be our purpose from this time forth to nominate candidates for every state, county and local office in the state and to further their election by all honorable means within our power.

Resolved, That we rejoice at the great total of 145,000 votes cast for Roosevelt and Johnson for president and vice president of the United States by the voters of New Jersey on the 5th of November last and congratulate all of those who cast such votes upon their patriotism and devotion to a great cause which they thus exhibited by their action.

Miss Cosette Bratton, a teacher in the Grammar grade of the Somerset School who has been absent because of an illness for a week, reported today for duty.

INSURGENT.

Hastings, Neb., Nov. 18 (Special).—A suit brought by the Nebraska "insurgents" of the Modern Woodmen of America who seek to prevent the head officers of the fraternity from putting into effect the increased rates agreed upon at the Chicago meeting last spring, came up for hearing before Judge Dungan here today. The members who are back of the suit have found much encouragement in the recent decision of Judge Bradshaw at Des Moines, in which he denied the proposed increase in the rates of the fraternal insurance society. The Nebraska suit is to be conducted by the same attorneys and on the same lines of evidence as the Iowa case.

ST. MARY'S MEN JAM CHURCH

sin is, the only unmixed evil, and the cause of all other evils in the world today. The eternity of hell, and the other universal effects of sin: Death the great leveller, and judgment, the great accounting that immediately follows the death of each and every one of us, and finally, the great mercy of God and His loving pity for all sinners who sincerely turn to Him and ask His pardon.

These subjects are treated simply and clearly with special views towards their practical application and influence on the every-day life of the hearers. The arrangement of the subjects is so clear and logical that when one has carefully followed the mission he has the true and complete solution of all the burning questions of the day, and he has the right and only tenable view of life. He is sure of his ground, he knows he has the truth, he can give a reason for the faith that is in him, he is fully armed for the great battle of life and prepared to meet the Master at the end Who will render to every one according to his works.

Father Brown took as the text of his sermon the words of Christ, "What will it profit a man to gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" We are created, said the preacher, to serve God and thereby save our souls. Man is not his own master; there is one to whom he owes obedience. He is the child of God, the creature of God, made to the image and likeness of his Creator. Man did not produce himself; he owes his existence to another and that other is the Lord and Maker of heaven and earth. Our own reason tells us we are creatures and therefore as creatures we depend absolutely on Him who has made us. We belong to God, body and soul. All that we have is from Him. From Him we came, and to Him we must return, and unto Him must we give an account of our lives.

God has placed us in this world to serve Him, continued the father. He has given us a law, and that law is contained in the ten commandments. By observing God's law we shall save our souls, and that is the one duty of man on earth. Everything else must be secondary to this. "Seek first the kingdom of God," Christ has said, and the kingdom of God for man on earth consists in the observance of God's law to His creatures. If we fail in this, if we violate God's law, if we refuse to obey and break the commandments, we render void God's purpose in placing us on the earth, we live as rebellious subjects in His eyes, we insult Him by our open refusal to comply with His commands and we make it impossible for Him to reward us as He wishes, we bring upon ourselves the punishment we have deserved by a life of sin.

The regular program of the services for the week at St. Mary's will be as follows: Masses at 5, 6, 7 and 8 o'clock every morning, followed by a short instruction service; at 7:45 o'clock every evening, a short instruction will be held and will be followed by the singing of hymns by the congregation and a sermon based on the interests of the Catholic church. The benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will be held at the close of every evening service.

Confessions of the men will be heard every day after the masses and from 3 until 6 o'clock every afternoon.

WARSHIPS NEAR AS BATTLE RAGES

Fear Massacre of Foreigners if Constantinople Falls.

TURKS CLAIM A VICTORY.

Reported They Have Repulsed Bulgarians on Left Side of Battle Line. Thought, However, That Turkish Capital Is Doomed.

London, Nov. 18.—Commanders of foreign warships which have been anchored off the Golden Horn for several days, evidently believing that the fall of Constantinople is only a matter of hours now, are preparing to land forces which will police the city and prevent a general massacre of the 500,000 Christians in the city and the looting of shops and houses when the remnants of the Turkish troops, rendered doubly fierce by hunger and defeat at the hands of a Christian enemy, pour into the great city.

It has been said that the powers would seize the city in time to prevent the Bulgarians capturing it, so that when peace terms are arranged the Bulgarians will not be able to point to the metropolitan district as conquered territory. But should the allies decide to outnumber the marines from the city they have a force which could accomplish this easily. Such an event is regarded as improbable, however.

The action of the warships' commanders, at the head of whom is the French admiral, is taken to mean that the sublime porte and the municipal government are on the point of deserting the city. The Ottoman rulers have said they would cross the Bosporus and set up the government headquarters at Brusa, Asia Minor, as soon as it was seen that the Bulgarians could not longer be kept outside the capital.

A dispatch from Constantinople to the Havas agency tells of a general attack all along the Tchatalja line, which began at 3 o'clock in the morning. The Turks at first succeeded in repulsing the Bulgarians on the left of their line, being assisted by shell fire of Turkish warships. The general opinion is, however, that Constantinople is as good as taken by the Balkan allies.

Turks Playing For Time.

The Turks have been dilatory in replying to the peremptory demands of the allies. The Bulgarians felt that the Ottomans were attempting to gain time in order that re-enforcements might be brought from Asia Minor. For this reason they are pressing forward with vigor to take the two outlets of the Sea of Marmora, the Bosporus and the Dardanelles. The Ottoman power in the west also suffered a fresh blow in the loss of San Giovanni di Medua, a port on the Adriatic sea.

A dispatch from Ricka, Montenegro, says that a strong division of Montenegrins have occupied the seaport as well as all contiguous territory. The fighting done by General Martinovich's Montenegrins before capturing the town was stubborn. The fire of the Montenegrin artillery proved too much for the 3,000 Turks who occupied the slopes of Mount Barbalusche, near the Drin river, and they fled.

The allies are attacking the Constantinople fortifications in a twenty mile line, while a turning movement has reached Killion, it is said. The Bulgarians will, however, make an assault on the Dardanelles, believing that in this way they will take Constantinople with less loss of life than by concentrating their attack in the Bosporus region.

Gossip of Peace Terms.

Although the dispatches do not indicate a reply to the allies in the twenty-four hour period which the allies named as their limit, the negotiations will go on simultaneously with hostilities. An unofficial description of the Turkish proffer says her terms of peace include the proposal that Crete be ceded to Greece in exchange for the restoration of Saloniki and the coastal districts occupied; that Adrianople and Kirk-Killise shall remain Turkish under a decentralized administration; that the vilayets of Uskub, Monastir and Scutari be granted broad autonomous powers if Bulgaria, Servia and Montenegro pay a yearly indemnity to Turkey, the government of these districts to be centered in single representatives of Turkey and each of the Balkan states, with its seat at Uskub; the railway to Saloniki to be completely free for exports of all articles from Servia; Kavala to be a free port for Bulgaria, and San Giovanni di Medua a free port for Montenegro, and the Balkan states must not demand separate war indemnities.

PERKY NEW IDAHO SENATOR.

Appointed by Governor Hawley to Succeed W. B. Heyburn.

Boise, Ida., Nov. 18.—Judge Kirtland I. Perky of Boise was appointed United States senator here by Governor Hawley to succeed the late Weldon B. Heyburn.

In an authorized statement Governor Hawley says he abandoned the plan to resign and have himself appointed, because the longer he considered the act the more repulsive it became to him, and he thought his intent would be misconstrued.

MR. WILSON'S CABINET.

There is an impression abroad that Woodrow Wilson as President of the United States will live up to his manifold lofty ideals and this has given rise to a somewhat more or less well founded report that in selecting the members of his official family he will not confine himself his own party. On the contrary, where he deems it to be of marked advantage to the country, it is believed that he will summon for his Cabinet men regardless of their political affiliations.

Should Mr. Wilson really propose to do this and actually fulfill such intention, he will be all the more honored by his admiring fellow-countrymen as one of high purposes and high attainments; as a statesman who holds fast to the principle of "country before party." And there is ample precedent for his so doing; though even were it a radical departure none would be surprised, for Mr. Wilson is an exceptional type of statesman in this land where an apostle of his own party once laid down the rule that "to the victors belong the spoils." The victor, however, it must be admitted in this case is not really the Democratic party for victory was only made certain by the hundreds of thousands of staunch Republicans who voted for Mr. Wilson for various reasons which it is quite unnecessary to rehearse here.

As to the matter of precents, it will be recalled that Grover Cleveland summoned Judge Gresham, a Republican, entrusting to him the chief post in his cabinet, the Secretaryship of State. Oscar Straus, a Democrat, was called by Theodore Roosevelt to his Cabinet and President William Howard Taft made Jacob W. Dickinson and Franklin McVeagh, both Democrats, Cabinet officers.

One name is prominently mentioned in connection with the Cabinet of the President-elect and there is a local interest attached for the man himself, none other than Dr. David Jayne Hill, is a former Plainfielder. Dr. Hill, a Republican, was raised in this city and attended the public schools here, his father at the time being pastor of the First Baptist church. His rise in politics has been rapid and today he is considered one of the ablest diplomats ever representing this country at foreign courts. His four years' experience as Assistant Secretary of State under President McKinley and his distinguished diplomatic career abroad in Switzerland, Holland and Germany, as one friend puts it, "pre-eminently qualify him, more than any other man in America, for our foreign secretaryship." He was one of America's representatives at The Hague Peace Conference, where he won world-wide fame. His last post was that of Ambassador at Berlin and to this day it is not clearly explained just why President Taft removed him. Whatever the cause, it certainly cannot be of discredit to Dr. Hill's diplomatic or personal reputation. It would be a great stroke for Mr. Wilson to cast aside any seeming political hinderances based solely on party lines and make this world-renowned diplomatist his Secretary of State. It would be still greater for him to utterly disregard party ties in gathering together his entire Cabinet.

THE LAWMAKERS' TASKS.

When the incoming Legislature convenes it will have an unusually important duty to perform in addition to its perfunctory work of duly electing Judge William Hughes, Democrat, as United States Senator to succeed Frank O. Briggs, Republican. It will be called upon to provide ways and means for a State convention to revise our archaic Constitution in order to ordain a new and more equitable form of representation in the State Senate; a readjustment of the courts system and an entire change in the method of the classification of counties. Regardless of the fact that the Governor and both branches of the lawmaking body are of one political faith, matters of so great weight as these would be expected to consume considerable time, and yet it is planned to dispose of them with all possible speed and adjourn before Woodrow Wilson is summoned to the seat of the Nation on March 4 to assume his office as chief Federal magistrate.

As for the reapportionment scheme for the State Senate, the idea is simply to substitute a fairer form of representation by size and population for the grossly disportionate one of county delegateship. Instead of having members of the Upper House at Trenton chosen by counties, it is proposed to divide the State up into Senatorial districts, based on either the vote represented or the population. This suggested innovation is strongly favored in Central and Northern parts, the more thickly settled sections, while it is naturally opposed in South Jersey, which would stand to lose in points of representation. Pennsylvania and other States have now what it is aimed to adopt in our own State, but as we have said, South Jersey will fight to the last ditch to prevent the change being made.

One of the strong demands is for a complete readjustment of the cumbersome, slow and costly system of Courts, a system that makes litigation a burden to the poor claimant and piles up riches for the lawyers and the delays of which are something awful to contemplate. Even the members of the Bar themselves agree to that proposition and their State association was the strong indoser of the movement which took shape four years ago for the adoption of amendments looking to the desired changes, but which failed of adoption by the vote of the people. This would form one of the most difficult tasks for the deliberations of the Constitutional amendment, for it would be next to impossible to get the lawyers' delegates to agree upthe subject.

Many other vital matters are to be considered as needed to change the Constitution, one of which is a change in the method of classification of cities and counties for purposes of legislation. The present Constitution was adopted in 1844, when the largest city of the State was not so big as Atlantic City is now, with its 50,000 of permanent population. Then the fact that that city is suddenly swollen to 300,000 population for nearly three months of the year and that other coast towns experience like changes because of the influx of summer pleasure-seekers makes it difficult to legislate for them while cities of the same classification, but of wholly different character, seek widely varying legislation. It is a fact that acts of the Legislature are now necessary for the construction of a fine engine house for a city or to increase the pay of a city fireman or policeman. In other respects the Constitution has become top-heavy for a State of the present dimensions and importance, having grown from a population of 377,859 in 1844 to 3,000,000 in this present year of honor and success.

MONASTIR CAPTURED; 45,000 TURKS CAPTIVES

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Londan, Nov. 18.—A dispatch from Belgrade reports the surrender this afternoon of the Turkish fortress at Monastir. More than 45,000 Ottoman troops and three generals gave up their arms. The surrender was made to Servian forces.

GUNMEN LIKELY WILL KNOW FATE TOMORROW

Today Devoted to Summing Up by Both Sides.

New York, Nov. 18.—Charles G. F. Wahle, chief counsel for "Gyp the Blood," "Lefty Louie," "Whitey Lewis" and "Dago Frank," the gangsters on trial for the actual killing of Herman Rosenthal, plans to address the jury for three hours today in summing up for the defense. Assistant District Attorney Frank Moss will speak for about the same length of time for the prosecution late this afternoon.

As Justice Goff's charge to the jury probably will be lengthy, the justice, it was said, will not begin his charge until tomorrow. Then, of course, the fate of the gunmen will be in the hands of the jury.

It is the general belief of the lawyers and laymen who have followed the trial closely that the jury will not require much time to reach a verdict.

The state is very hopeful that it has made its case, but is far from being cocksure about it. The gunmen's counsel said they "can't see anything but an acquittal for all four defendants."

Mr. Wahle spent yesterday preparing a skeleton of the defense's case requested by Justice Goff and promises to have it ready for Justice Goff tonight. In the Becker trial Justice Goff also asked the defense for a similar skeleton, but it was not forthcoming in time.

"Rose's own story," said Mr. Wahle when it was recalled that it was Rose's story that convicted Becker, "was not corroborated in the present trial, and the cross examination proved that he was not telling the truth. When the jury disregards the story, as the jury must, only the witnesses who identified the defendants as the gunmen are left to be considered."

Mr. Wahle said that one of the strongest points in his case is the fact that none of the gunmen, according to their own testimony, knew Rosenthal and that therefore they wouldn't have known whom to shoot even if they had gone there for the purpose of shooting him.

AUTOIST ENDS HIS LIFE.

Thomas Reid Believed to Be Insane From Effects of Accident.

Montclair, N. J., Nov. 18.—Thomas A. Reid of 45 South Mountain avenue, who a week ago was seriously injured by his automobile striking an electric light pole in Eagle Rock park, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head.

Mrs. Reid and the nurse were downstairs at dinner, and in their absence Reid left his bed and, securing a revolver, went on to a small porch from the second story window of his home. There he put the revolver in his mouth and shot himself, dying instantly. Chief of Police Harry Gallagher, who was notified, made an investigation of the shooting along with Dr. James S. Brown, who was also summoned. The police chief said that Reid, in his opinion, had committed suicide while suffering from temporary aberration of mind, due to the intense pain occasioned by the internal injuries which he sustained in the automobile accident.

ASSAULTS GIRL; CONVICTED.

Second of Trio In Washington Park Affair to Be Sentenced This Week.

Woodbury, N. J., Nov. 18.—After Judge Swackhamer had charged the jury in the case of Anna Vedetto versus Joseph Straus it required the jury only a few moments to bring in a verdict of guilty. This case is the second in connection with the alleged assault on Miss Vedetto last August at Washington park, in which three young men terribly assaulted the sixteen-year-old girl, but only two have been caught. Joseph Loftus was the first of the two tried, and he was at once found guilty.

The young men, both of whom are residents of Philadelphia, will be sentenced next week. The girl was one of the most forward witnesses ever seen here, and her testimony was to the point in every detail and not shaken by the severe cross examination by the young men's lawyer.

DR. HILL MENTIONED FOR CHIEF CABINET OFFICE

Dr. David Jayne Hill, former Ambassador to Germany, who is a native of Plainfield, is prominently mentioned as the new Secretary of State under the administration of President-elect Woodrow Wilson. The latter is expected in certain high quarters in Europe to establish the system long in vogue with other Governments of maintaining a permanent semi-professional diplomatic service as much divorced from partisan politics as the conditions permit.

A well known American public man now in Berlin advances the view that Dr. Wilson has a fine opportunity to raise the prestige of American diplomacy abroad at one stroke by raising above party and appointing Dr. Hill as Secretary of State. Dr. Hill was the son of Rev. Dr. David J. Hill, who was pastor of the First Baptist church, from 1828-1839. The son was graduated from the Plainfield public schools.

Elizabeth, Nov. 18 (Special).—The Union County Board of Election is engaged today in recounting, simultaneously the votes cast for Cornelius van Herwerden, Republican, and Stanley E. Gunnison, Jr., Progressive, candidates for Common Council, from the Second ward, and that of the votes cast for George T. Parrot, Republican, and James P. According to the count of the votes by the district boards election night, vanHerwerden was defeated by three votes, and in view of certain things he alleged he felt sure that the count was not a fair one, hence his application for a recount.

SCHWARTZ'S BULLET FATAL; HIS FUNERAL TOMORROW

Charles Henry Schwartz, of Dunellen avenue, Dunellen, who shot himself in the head early Saturday morning, died at Muhlenberg Hospital late Saturday afternoon. He died without regaining consciousness and the cause of the suicide remains a mystery.

CONSTANTINOPLE HEARS SOUND OF CANNONADING

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Nov. 18. With battle raging just outside Constantinople, the sound of cannonading being plainly heard in the city two thousand men from foreign warships have been landed to guard foreign embassies and legations, according to a cable from Ambassador Rockhill, today. He said that all the war vessels in the harbor contributed to this guard, including the American gunboat Scorpion.

The Ambassador reported that the big assault on the city began at 4 o'clock Sunday morning with fighting along the entire line of the Chatalja forts. The sound of the bombardment was plainly heard. Rockhill said that at the time his despatch was filed every measure had been made for protection of foreigners and there appeared to be no cause for apprehension for their safety.

ADDITION TO FACTORY.

Due to the fact that the demand for the instrument greatly exceeds the supply, the Vitaphone Company is making a temporary enlargement of its factory on North avenue, opposite the Netherwood station, while plans are being rushed for the huge permanent factory buildings to be located there. RUNYON AND HUGHES HAVE NOT FILED STATEMENTS

Washington, Nov. 18.—Statements of campaign expenses, under the new Federal law, have been filed by nearly all the New Jersey candidates for Congress representing the three leading political parties. Only William Hughes, the Democratic primary choice for United States Senator, and William N. Runyon, of Plainfield, Republican candidate for the House of Representatives in the Fifth district, have so far failed to file their expenditures.

The campaign cost Senator Frank O. Briggs, the primary choice of the Republicans for the Senate, $4,064.-50. He contributed $1,000 to the Republican State Committee, $1,000 to the Essex County Republican Committee and $500 each to the Republican committees of Mercer, Union and Bergen. The rest was disbursed miscellaneously.

Before proceeding to look for the papers, Mr. Hood, it is said, disconnected a telephone downstairs, supposedly to prevent communication with the police. Mrs. Hood's counsel says Hood went to his wife's room as soon as he gained entrance, and demanded that the startled woman go with him to Philadelphia, mentioning a settlement he said he had arranged in that city.

When Roundsman Higgins, and Patrolmen McCarthy and Flatley arrived and placed the husband under arrest he said:

"This is my property; lock me up if you want to, I'm ready to go the limit with this case."

On the way to the station house, the police say, he lost some of his assurance and asked the policemen to make it easy for him.

"I heard that my house was being robbed," the police say he asserted, "and simply went there to protect my property."

Speaking of the episode today Lawyer Reed said:

"I am unable to account for Mr Hood's strange action unless it was for the purpose of seeing whether he would be allowed to remain in the house, in which case he would have tried to create a false impression of his presence there."

Speaking of the Miss Dorothy Hoyt mentioned in the divorce proceedings, Mr. Reed said the Miss Hoyt who lived with her aunt, Mrs. Fields, at 686 West Eighth street, and, as told in the Daily Press, is staying now with a friend in Europe, is positively the girl whom Mrs. Hood charges with indiscretions with her husband.

Mrs. Hood, today, refused to comment on the early-morning incident.

BONNIE BURN DEDICATED

the name of the county engineer, J. L. Bauer, of Elizabeth. Metzger & Wells, of Philadelphia, were the general contractors; Burns & Co., of Elizabeth, built the power house; Storms & Co., of Newark, built the power plant, while the Johns-Manville Company, of Finderne, furnished the piping for the underdrains.

The sanitorium is situated on a sixty-five acre tract of land, which was known as the Fullerton farm. The land was purchased for $13,000, and the whole expense of land, buildings, equipment, furnishings, power plant, power house, superintendent's residence, aggregates $210,000, which is covered by a bond issue which has thirty years to run. It is the opinion of experts that the county has one of the finest sanitoriums of the kind in the country and rivals those which cost twice as much money.

Situated on the property which includes a lake, is building A, known as the administration building; B1 and B2, closed wards for the more advanced patients; C and C1, open wards for incipient cases; D, the nurses home, and there is also a building for the female help. The freeholders have leased an additional ten acres adjoining, upon which there is a house in which the engineer will live. There is also a residence for the superintendent, Dr. J. F. Runnels and his family. This is the old farm house which stood on the land when it was purchased. The male help on the place will live in commodious quarters in the upper part of the power plant. There are accommodations at present for one hundred patients.

Among the equipment is a fine laundry, a sterilizer, an incinerator, and a modern fire apparatus, including a large pump, which is operated by electricity, together with a hydrant in front of every building. By simply pressing an electric button it is possible to get a one hundred pound pressure of water for fire purposes. There is also situated above the group of buildings higher on the mountain, a large concrete tank with a capacity of 50,000 gallons of water, which will be used for laundry and other purposes about the camp and is also available for fire purposes if anything should happen to the other supply.

The Board of Governors of the sanitorium and their terms of office, follow: President, Dr. William H. Murray, of Plainfield, five years; E. T. Holmes, of Summit, four years; William J. McCloud, of Elizabeth, three years; Dr. N. L. Wilson, of Elizabeth, two years; William C. Howard, of Rahway, one year.

It is especially gratifying to the Board of Freeholders and the committee in charge of the work of establishing the sanitorium that the work was started before it was made compulsory by the State. It was two years ago that J. Hervey Doane first began to agitate the idea of establishing such an institution and he and other members of the committee have worked unceasingly for its completion.

WOMAN INJURED WHEN CARRIAGE LOSES WHEEL

Mrs. Robert Scott and her son, Robert Scott, Jr., of this city, had a narrow escape from severe injury yesterday afternoon while riding in a carriage from the Bound Brook station of the New Jersey Central to the home of Mrs. Scott's parents in South Bound Brook. As the carriage was going under the railroad bridge at Bound Brook, a wheel came off, allowing the body to drop.

Mrs. Scott, who was holding the baby on her lap, was pitched forward, and her back was severely wrenched. The baby escaped injury. The horse started to run away, but was caught before going very far. The rig was in charge of a boy.

DR. VINING TELLS OF MISSION WORK ABROAD

Rev. Dr. Vining, of Toronto, Canada, representative of the World's Baptist Congress for the Dominion of Canada, occupied the pulpit of the Park Avenue Baptist church, last night, and he gave a vivid talk on the mission work being carried on in Russia, Italy Hungary, Switzerland and Moravia. While he spoke more especially of the mission work in Russia, telling how the Czar had given his permission to the missionaries to establish a school in Petersburg, he also brought interesting facts concerning the other countries.

After the evening's discourse, Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, the pastor, administered the ordinance of baptism

Miss Katherine Knox, of Truell Inn is seriously ill with neurasthenia.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SOME THANKSGIVING SALADS.

GRAPES, oranges, apples, grapefruit and winter pears may all be used as the basis for the Thanksgiving salads. Nuts may be combined with these.

At this time a fruit salad is, of course, the most appropriate one, and several excellent salads of this kind are mentioned here.

Several fruits may be combined in making up a salad. Apples combine with almost any fruits, and English walnut meats make a nice decoration as well as give an agreeable flavor to an otherwise flat and insipid dish.

Fruit Combinations.

Green Grape Salad.—Take one pound of green grapes and remove the skins and seeds. Mix with thin slices of apple. Put in a cold place till time to serve. Serve on lettuce leaves with French dressing made by combining two tablespoonfuls of olive oil with one of lemon juice.

Orange and Grape Salad.—Take a half pound of green grapes, two large, ripe oranges and two bananas. Pare the oranges and remove the pulp without any skin. Wash the grapes, cut in half and remove the seeds. Skin, scrape and slice the bananas. Mix all together and serve on lettuce leaves with French dressing or mayonnaise. This must be served ice cold.

Nice to See and Eat.

Grape and Walnut Salad.—Take two oranges, remove the skin and divide into sections. Peel three bananas and cut in one-fourth inch slices. Remove the seeds and skins from one-half a pound of malaga grapes. Break into pieces the meats of a dozen English walnuts. Mix all together and serve on lettuce leaves with French dressing.

Mixed Fruit Salad.—Take half a box of gelatin, soak it in a pint of water, add the juice of two lemons and two cupfuls of sugar. Bring to a boil and strain. When cool pour over two sliced oranges, two bananas, half a cupful of English walnut meats as nearly whole as possible. Stand on the ice till it sets. Serve with whipped cream.

FUR FASHIONS.

Trimmings That Appear on the Swagger Suits This Winter.

Some of the smartest new suits have collars and cuffs of fur. Chinchilla, squirrel and skunk are used with excellent effect. Frequently only the collar and revers are of fur, and these are so attached that they can be removed when required. Occasionally bands of fur are used on the skirt also.

The vogue for Norfolk, Russian and other plaited effects in children's dresses makes the belt a necessity, and there are many smart leather belts being worn. Patent leather and suedes are particularly desirable.

In the cut is shown an attractive semiprincess model for young girls and small women that includes many of the best and newest features. The skirt is draped in graceful fashion, and the waist has fullness enough to be becoming to slight figures.

ELIAS M. AMMONS.

Ranch Owner Elected by Democrats as Governor of Colorado.

For governor Colorado chose this year Elias M. Ammons, Democrat, a wealthy stockman and ranch owner. He is about fifty-four years of age and has been active in politics for about twenty years. Mr. Ammons has represented his district in both branches of the state legislature for ten years, the past two years as senator.

7 HURT, 3 MAY DIE, AS MAN IN AUTO FAINTS

Puts on Brakes Without Shutting Off Power.

Camden, N. J., Nov. 18.—Motoring toward Atlantic City from his home in Spring City, Pa., William Brown, with a party of six in his auto, had arrived at Waterford, twenty miles from here, without any accident, when, as he was speeding along the White Horse turnpike, he realized quite suddenly that he was going to faint. He knew the signs, for the faintness was a recurrent trouble, the legacy of a fall he suffered some twelve years ago.

With the idea of halting the auto he pushed down on the foot brake. But he forgot to shut off the power. The rear axle snapped and the car turned over. Three of the party were caught beneath the overturned motor, and the others were thrown to the side of the road. The fall knocked them unconscious. There the next auto that came along found them, and they were brought here to Cooper hospital.

It is feared that two and possibly three of those hurt may die. These were the persons injured:

Mrs. Ella Brown, fractured skull; condition critical.

William Brown, her son, injured hip and bad cuts.

Anna Brown, her daughter, from Atlantic City, fractured skull; condition critical.

Esther Brown, her six-year-old daughter, fractured skull; condition critical.

Mrs. Kate Wright, brain concussion.

Mary Wright, her eight-year-old daughter, fractured skull; condition critical.

William Wright, her fourteen-year-old son, bad bruises.

JOHNSON'S SON LANDS PUNCH

Son of Progressive Governor Adds to Reputation as Boxer.

San Francisco, Nov. 18.—Hiram W. Johnson, Jr., son of California's Progressive governor, is known as Jack Johnson among his friends because of his ability as a boxer. This ability stood him in good stead when James Reed, a husky young fellow from Monterey loaded with booze, picked a quarrel with him in the St. Francis hotel barroom.

The Monterey youth objected to Johnson's natty check suit with a red rose in the buttonhole and made some uncomplimentary remarks about the costume and about the fact that young Johnson was drinking mineral water. Johnson told him he ought to hesitate about making such remarks, whereupon the Monterey man kicked Johnson above the knee. The governor's son landed one right hand wallop on the chin, and the man was out.

LORIMER UNDER OPERATION.

Is Rallying From Its Effects and Is Expected to Recover.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—William Lorimer is rallying from the effects of the operation for appendicitis which was performed on him at the Presbyterian hospital. His family physician, Dr. S. R. Slaymaker, said that there was every reason to expect his recovery.

Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan, who performed the operation, said a complicated appendix lesion was found and the appendix was removed.

Arrangements are being made for a "get together" banquet of the officers and teachers of the Bible schools of the First, Temple and Park Avenue Baptist churches, to be held on Thursday evening, December 5. Further details of the affair will be announced later.

DELAYED SPURT WINS FOR AJAX

Association Players Again Come to the Front at the Last Moment.

CLEVER OPPONENTS

Score 29 to 25—Winning Goals Made From Centre of Floor in Last Minute of Play—Playing Close—Ajax Have Regular Team.

Ability to come to the fore with the necessary spurt in the last few minutes of play won another nerve-racking basketball game for the Y. M. C. A. Ajax Saturday night, when they took the Mystic Five into camp with a 29 to 25 score. As has been the case in all of the previous Ajax contests, the score of the two teams was separated by a margin of but one point, a few minutes before time was called and the outcome was uncertain until the final whistle blew. Five minutes before the second half ended the score stood 21 to 20 in favor of the Ajax and they soon increased their lead to 25 to 20 only to be pushed on to further efforts when the Mystic shooters caged a duet of field goals and a foul shot. In the last few moments of the game the Ajax displayed their famous eleventh hour spurt and two beautiful field goals from the centre of the floor sewed up the game.

Because of the intense rivalry between the contending fives, the playing was close, and this caused the usual amount of over guarding that generally accompanies it so that time was called frequently for one player or another to regain his wind or feet. The Ajax were particularly unfortunate in regard to injuries as Captain Brynarski, Glover and Dunning all sustained painful cuts or bruises but pluckily resumed play. For the first time this season William Peacock, the Ajax forward, played with the team and as his injured ankle held up well under the strain, he will probably play regularly from now on.

The Mystic Five were composed of a quintet of the speediest players in the city, and before the game popular opinion was greatly in their favor. Not only did they outweigh the Y. M. C. A. players, but everyone of them were experienced men, well known on the court. Included in the lineup were the two Farmer brothers, who were members of the Pratt Institute basketball team last season; Jack Ricketts, last year's Plainfield High School captain; Bergen Naylor, who formerly played with the Y. M. C. A. first team, and Louis Ulmer, who is now playing with the Bound Brook team.

Next Saturday night the Ajax will play the Grace church basketball team at the Y. M. C. A. gym, and a fast preliminary game will also be staged.

The lineup:

FIRST TEAM IDEA WAS OBLITERATED

All Agitation Was Set Aside When the "Best" Were Conquered.

Although the fact was concealed from most of the witnesses present in the Y. M. C. A. gallery Saturday evening it was nevertheless true that the Ajax were fighting for something more than mere basketball supremacy over the so-called Mystic Five. For some time past agitation has been rife at the local Y. M. C. A. in regard to reorganizing a first basketball team to represent the association on outside courts throughout the State, and many and varied have been the opinions presented to accomplish that end. Among the considerations brought before the physical department committee, one proposition suggested that the Ajax be allowed to represent the association as a first team.

To some this idea seemed ridiculous and they were not backward in expressing their opinions on the negative side of the question. The fact that the Ajax team was made up wholly of High School boys seemed to be sufficient cause for many to believe that they could not creditably represent the Y. M. C. A. All of this agitation took place during the seasons of 1910-11, but the Ajax kept plodding along conquering first one quintet and then another and are playing together with exactly the same lineup today.

More definite steps have been taken during the past two weeks to effect the organization of a first team and the cream of the Senior membership was picked to receive a tryout. It goes without saying that the team was a formidable one and when approached for a game the Ajax manager was a little backward in signing up the contest. He finally set last Saturday night for what was then to be the Ajax last stand and the would-be first team part on the finishing touches for the game. Before the contest was called ample pains were taken by the physical supervisors to inform the Ajax players that in the event of their receiving a beating they would hereafter be considered as a second or minor team.

This is the exact situation the Ajax were in when they lined up against the best that the Y. M. C. A. Senior department could produce Saturday night, and after forty gruelling minutes the Ajax came out with colors flying on the better end of a 29 to 25 score. When the facts are considered it now seems only plausible that the Ajax are entitled to represent the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. on the basketball court and as they have proved themselves the best the association can turn out this right should be unrestricted.

Further steps have been taken by Manager Hetfield to enable those interested to get a line on the Ajax real ability and he is now communicating with the Manager of the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. first team in an endeavor to get them to come to Plainfield for a game on Thanksgiving Day.

FAMOUS HALFBACK INSANE.

Harry Asselen of Minnesota University Committed to an Asylum.

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 18.—Harry Asselen, who was famous eight years ago as a plunging halfback on the University of Minnesota football eleven, was committed to an asylum for the insane at Fort Stellacoom.

His trouble, it was stated, resulted from an injury received on the football field, from which he never recovered. Thrown on his head, his spinal column was severely wrenched. Soon afterward he left college.

WEST ENDS DIE HARD.

In an interesting game of football (for the winners) the Dunellen A. C. trounced the West End A. C. Saturday afternoon with a score that was 35 parts whitewash. John Muir, although a tenderfoot at the gridiron sport, put up a good game for the losers and in return received a goodly supply of soreness.

PUMPELLY KICKING.

Here's the Player Whose Kick Made Football History Saturday.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

With the score 6 to 3 in favor of Princeton and only six minutes to play from the forty-seven yard line—a distance that the Orange and Black viewed with the utmost complacency as being a wide margin of safety—Pumpelly, a black haired, stocky legged young man, who had been in and out of the game several times during the afternoon, dropped a field goal across the Princeton goal by the space of less than an inch, tieing the score. It was one of the most spectacular plays in the history of the gridiron game.

MOHAWKS RUN AWAY WITH PRELIMINARY

Take a One Sided Game From the Temples on Y. M. C. A. Court.

Playing as a preliminary attraction to the Ajax-Mystic Five game at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night, the Mohawk A. C. and Temple Baptist fives put up a rather disappointing exhibition of the indoor game, the former winning by the top heavy score of 32 to 9. For the better half of the first period the game was close and really interesting while the score stood 2 to 1, but the Temple quintet's guarding became loose and the Mohawks shot at random.

For the victors, Moulton proved the main point getter, while Moore put up the best all around game for the Temples. The overwhelming defeat can be, in a large measure, layed to the fact that the losers have no court to practice on and therefore have little or no chance to develop the finer points of the game.

The lineup:

MOHAWK A. C.

	G.	F.	P.

HOPES SHOW CLASS IN BOUND BROOK GAME

Incidentally Rolling up 40 Points—B. B. Gets But 17.

In the most interesting game they have played this season, the Hope Chapel five defeated the Y. M. A., of Bound Brook, on the local court, Saturday evening, the score when the final whistle sounded being 40-17.

No sooner than play had begun Doig started the scoring for Hope with a neat goal from the center of the floor, and from this time on the local five were in the lead. At no time were they in real danger of being tied or beaten. The score at the end of the first half stood: Hope Chapel, 18; Bound Brook, 2. Bound Brook's two points were scored on fouls.

In the second half, the visitors took a brace and played much speedier ball, but while they were rolling up 15 points in this period Hope was by no means idle. The West End players scored 22 points.

The Chapelites played as one man which, with the very accurate shooting by T. Heron, was the means of running the score so high.

Mathews and Hall were the most consistent players for the Bound Brook quintet, Hall taking advantage of a number of called fouls.

SOMEONE OFFERED RECKLESS ODDS

A Little Good Advice to the Plainfield Football Man.

A 'phone call was received at this office yesterday morning from the manager of the Rutgers College football team who seemed to be hot on the trail of some frivolous young sportsman in this city. The college man said that reports had reached his ears to the effect that someone in Plainfield was offering odds of two to one on Stevens against Rutgers next Saturday. The Rutgers pilot did not call up because he wanted to take the man "up" but he thought it might be well to investigate into the mental condition of such an individual and place him somewhere where his flourishing supply of "long greens" will not be molested by the New Brunswick collegians.

We were shocked to hear of such an instance in this the Queen City of the East, and were surprised to find that the "booky" had not been smothered long before his fame reached New Brunswick. Rutgers has an unusually strong eleven this fall and their 15 to 0 defeat over Haverford last Saturday seems to bid fair to their returning next Saturday afternoon with the Stevens' scalp. This will be the biggest game of the year between two New Jersey colleges and popular sentiment seems to favor Rutgers in this city.

ONE MORE VICTORY FOR BOROUGH TEAM

Holy Cross Defeats the Raritan A. C. on Cricket Field.

In a twilight game on Cricket Field Saturday afternoon the Holy Cross football aggregation came across with their usual weekly victory by taking the Raritan A. C., of Perth Amboy, in tow by the count of 13 to 3. Manager Doyle, of the local eleven, received a message early in the afternoon informing him that the Raritans would not be able to appear and he notified his players that there would be no game. About 4 o'clock the visitors strolled into town equipped to play and Doyle made a circuit of the town in an automobile rounding up his herd that had become scattered far and wide.

After much delay the game was finally started before a mob of football followers who were blessed with a large portion of the qualities of "sticktuitiveness." Holy Cross relied on its usual open style of play and the result proved to be a duet of touchdowns. Weather conditions were ideal for the game and both teams played for all that was in them. The Raritan lineup was somewhat crippled by the absence of two of its best men and one of the players who lined up against Holy Cross sustained a dislocated hip but pluckily remained in the play.

The lineup:

N. P. H. S. BASKETBALL TO START AT KEARNY TODAY

The North Plainfield High School basketball team will open the season this afternoon at Kearny against the High School of that place. Several changes have been made in the boroughites lineup and they will play their initial contest without the services of Frank Dunning, last year's mainstay at centre. He will probably be out of the game for sometime to come and Love is being coached to fill in the vacancy.

Captain Townley will be back at guard with Ashley Burner as his running mate, and Taylor and Van Mater will occupy the forward positions.

SCORE OF WATCHUNG HUNT MEMBERS IN LIVELY RUN

Twenty members of the Watchung Hunt Club met the hounds at Old Meeker Inn, near Elizabeth, Saturday afternoon, and enjoyed a spirited chase through Roselle, Cranford, Westfield, Mountainside and Fanwood, and finishing at Truell Hall. The weather was ideal for the run, the going was good and the hounds were fast. There was not a single accident, although but twelve of the number that started were able to finish. The huntsmen were followed by many grooms and people in automobiles.

The following finished: Rufus C. Finch, M. F. H.; L. B. Smith, H. A. Bourne, J. Schuyler Casey, F. D. French, Fred Alpers, H L. Finch, R. H. Towner, Miss Gertrude Noe, Miss Margaret Dana, Beveley Brown and Huntsman Harrison.

SILVER JUBILEE OF A. A. U.

New York, Nov. 18 (Special).—The governing powers in amateur athletics in the United States gathered in force at the Waldorf-Astoria today for the silver jubilee meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of America. The gathering began with the customary business session, at which the records made during the year were passed upon and several new and important rules and amendments considered. The program for the remainder of the day and evening provided for a number of addresses reviewing the twenty-five years' history of the A. A. U. and the part it has played in the advancement of amateur sports in this country.

THE WING SHIFT IN FOOTBALL

How the Famous Gridiron Play Came Into Existence.

FIRST USED BY MINNESOTA.

Gophers Worked Havoc Among Western Teams In 1910 by the Shift—It Helped Yale Out of Big Hole the Same Year.

No play in the present football game is more often used by players and is less understood by spectators than the Minnesota "wing shift." The play originally was introduced in the east by Tom Shevlin, former Yale captain, who taught it to the Eli in 1910. Since then many wing shifts have been developed, all based upon the one originally used by Minnesota.

Today the play is so well known that the larger colleges all have a good defense for the once mighty move. However, it still is used, and it is interesting to note its origin, as told by John R. Richards, the western football authority.

"The regular formation, as it is called, of an agressive line shows three

FITZPATRICK, CHICAGO'S STAR HALFBACK.

Coach Alonzo Stagg of Chicago believes that in Halfback Fitzpatrick he has one of the most promising men in the position. Stagg says he will be the star halfback of the west in the next season. He is a speedy and hard runner and an aggressive tackler.

men on each side of center. The rules require seven men on the line at the moment the ball is put in play," says Mr. Richards. "If these men take their places slowly, the defensive team will, of course, adjust itself to be in the best position to meet what is likely to happen.

"Many plays have been devised in the past to get more than three on one side of the center, so as to throw a superior number of men at a numerically weaker defense. But this shifting was always done in such a way that the defense had time to readjust itself before the attack. The shifting of linemen from one side to the other was done by having them go directly from their places on one wing to the other side.

"The backs might or might not shift at the same time. However, the process could not prevent an alert defense from shifting and bringing up re-enforcements to the point threatened.

"Three years ago this problem of out flanking was given a little additional strategy by Dr. Harry Williams, coach at Minnesota university. Therein Dr. Williams contributed the fourth really fundamental development to football.

"Dr. Williams is a practicing physician of Minneapolis. His recreation is football coaching and planning.

"In 1909 Minnesota worked havoc with its rivals by means of a new shift principle. Two linemen, usually tackles, were pulled out of the line and stationed back of center. The holes they left were not closed, and while these tackles stood behind the line the defense could not tell which side would be re-enforced.

"The tackles suddenly jumped into one of these holes, the other hole closing and the backs shifting in the same movement. Bang went the play before the defense could call up re-enforcements or while so doing.

"By this strategy Minnesota succeeded in getting re-enforcements over 5 per cent nearer the point of attack before it could be determined where they were going.

"During the season of 1910 Yale had hard sledding. The army beat Eli. Brown murdered it, 21 to 0. November arrived, and Princeton remained to be faced. 'Help, help!' was the cry from New Haven.

"Tom Shevlin, former Yale captain, living at Minneapolis and one of Dr. Williams' aids, heard the call and hurried to New Haven. He took drawings and ideas of the Minnesota shift with him.

"Shevlin was given command on Yale field and behind closed gates began teaching Minnesota's plays.

"Two weeks later the team beat Princeton, an absolutely unexpected outcome. A week later Yale tied Harvard, thus redeeming a bad season. A new idea from a western college did it too."

SOCCER TEAM LOSES ANOTHER TIGHT GAME

Burns Takes Lead in the First Half and Holds It.

The Burns soccer aggregation played with fire in their eyes Saturday, defeating the Plainfield aggregation in an Intercity Soccer League game on the Clinton avenue grounds, by the score of 2 to 1. This is the fifth straight game lost by the locals. Although they started out strong registering three consecutive wins at the start of the season and were looked upon as contenders for the pennant with the champion Eurekas, the recent poor showing of the Plainfielders has put them out of the running.

The game started with the locals having the advantage of the strong wind blowing from the west. Plainfield showed fairly good form at the start and was urged by the small collections of fans present, to send the Harrisonites back home in defeat, but Burns scattered the hopes of a Plainfield victory by scoring two points in quick succession.

Both points were made after fierce scrimmages in front of the uprights. This ended the scoring for the half with the Burns players two goals in the lead, the locals being blanked.

The second half began with the visitors playing on the defensive. The ball sored back and forth through the air with neither team having the advantage until in about the middle of the session Henderson sent the sphere between the poles for Plainfield's first tally. From this time until the end of the contest the home team missed many chances to clinch the game. The defensive tactics of their opponents stalled every attempt.

Next Saturday the locals will journey to Kearney and play the strong Nairn team, who they defeated early in the season by the score of 4 to 2. The Nairns are runners-up with the Eurekas for first place.

SCOOP THOUGHT A STEAM ROLLER HAD HIT HIM

Quick Heat

SQUARE POT BOILERS develop full heating capacity in a few moments and are rightfully called "quick heaters." The reason can be seen by a glance at the sectional view herewith. Interior surfaces in SQUARE POT BOILERS are brought low, in direct contact with the fire, and also trend sharply upward, thus providing instantaneous water heating and lively circulation. The result is a free-steaming boiler that gives quick and satisfactory house heating.

SQUARE POT BOILERS are economical of coal, require little attention and are easily regulated for either mild or severe weather. Call on the nearest dealer for a full demonstration.

ADMITS MURDER OF THIRTEEN BOYS

Gloats In Inhuman Crimes In Letters to Police.

THOUGHT EDUCATED MAN.

Missives Written In Boston Afford Clew For Detectives—One Says That Strangler Will Be In Buffalo on Wednesday.

Buffalo, Nov. 18.—Chief of Police Gilson of the Lackawanna department is convinced that the self styled homicidal maniac signing himself "R. J. Lommessori," whose stories of postal cards and letters written to George Josephs, father of one of his victims, whose decomposed body was found in the vault of an outhouse in Lackawanna, has more than a dozen murders to his credit. He writes to the police of having killed "twelve besides" the Josephs lad.

Records in the coroner's office in New York city bear out the text of a postal card addressed to Chief Gilson from the maniac. It reads:

Boston, Nov. 11.—Wednesday night, Dec. 40, 1902, I enticed Michael Diac Kruck, a newsboy at Eighty-sixth street and Central Park West, New York city, into the park opposite the entrance to the Arsenal police station, and I later strangled him and just escaped the police officer who found him.

Boy's Body Found In Lot.

Kruck's body on the date mentioned in the card was found in an excavation at a point where West Eighty-sixth street terminates at Central park. The coroner's physician, Dr. Higgins, after an autopsy reported death due to strangulation. An inquest held on Jan. 12, 1903, resulted in the finding by a coroner's jury that death was due to asphyxiation by strangulation inflicted by some unknown person.

About 9 o'clock last night the last portion of the dismembered corpse of the Josephs boy was taken from the vault of an outhouse in the rear of a saloon on the Ridge road at Lackawanna. The body was found in sixteen parts, the skull being the last portion recovered. The flesh had entirely disappeared from it.

It doesn't appear that the body had been carved or chopped up, but that it had become dismembered in the thirteen months it had laid in slime of the outhouse, where it was crammed by the murderer after he had first assaulted and then strangled the little Syrian lad on the night of Oct. 12, 1911, when the boy was last seen alive.

Police Get Another Note.

Another one of the strange and rambling communications which have been received by Chief of Police Gilson of Lackawanna and the father of the murdered boy has been received. In the form of a letter, addressed to Chief Gilson, the communication, postmarked Boston, Nov. 15, and written on stationery of the Tremont hotel of that city, stated that the writer, who was responsible for the murder, would be in Buffalo on Wednesday to give himself up to the police. The note was unsigned.

In all ten postal cards and letters have been received by the police of Lackawanna. Two have been addressed to the father of the murdered boy. The father states that their contents were most revolting, written by an apparently well educated but desperately degenerate man. These communications have been received during the past three months and were written in Buffalo, Boston and New York. In all the man confesses to having murdered thirteen, one since he killed the Josephs boy.

FRANKLIN TORREY DEAD AT 83

Cousin of President Taft and Owner of Marble Works In Italy.

Florence, Nov. 18.—Franklin Torrey, eighty-three years old, is dead here of bronchitis and heart failure. He was the father of Mrs. Edward J. Berwind (Herminie Torrey) of Newport, who is now here. Mr. Torrey was a cousin of President Taft and was formerly United States consul at Genoa. He came to Italy in his youth to study sculpture, some of his statues being in America.

Later he became the owner of the Carrarra marble works and was a leading member of the American colony in Florence. The American church here was built largely by his energy and munificence. He leaves a widow. The funeral will take place here.

DIES FROM BREATHING PAINT

Fumes From Newly Decorated Room Cost Woman's Life.

New York, Nov. 18.—After breathing the air in a room freshly painted Margaret Weber of 1886 Third avenue was taken to the Mount Sinai hospital on Nov. 1 and is dead.

The doctors ascribed the death to the inhalation of the odor of fresh paint. The death was reported to the coroner and investigated by Coroner's Physician E. T. Ray, whose analysis concurred with that of the doctors at the hospital.

Nurse Killed, Three Hurt, In Auto.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Nov. 18.—Miss Anna McLinden, a nurse, was killed and three men were seriously injured when their automobile crashed into a tree. The glare of a trolley car headlight is said to have confused the driver, causing him to run the automobile off the road.

Karpen Guaranteed Upholstered Furniture One-Third Off

S. Karpen & Bro., of Chicago, is the largest and most prominent manufacturer of upholstered furniture in the country. "Karpen Guaranteed Upholstered Furniture" is known from coast to coast for its stability of construction and fineness of finish. This concern has a fixed policy of bringing out new designs. Even with its immense manufacturing facilities, the creating of new designs caused other patterns to be dropped. Having discontinued making these patterns, all the furniture of these designs that remain on hand at the time are close out "at a price." It is this year's surplus—which includes many of Karpen's best selling patterns—that we offer for sale at one-third lower than regular selling prices. When we bought these patterns we had them upholstered in the newest and best coverings. The quality of the upholstering is the best, as S. Karpen & Bro. are absolutely and unreservedly adapted to making only high grade furniture, and would not allow the Karpen trademark to appear on any article of furniture that the house could not absolutely guarantee. In this collection of library, parlor and living-room furniture the framework is in most cases contructed of solid mahogany. The coverings include damask, tapestry, velour, panne and the genuine Karpen sterling leather. There are rockers, arm chairs, couches, davenports, sofa beds and two and three piece suits—in genuine leather or any of the most desired coverings. The quality is the highest possible to obtain. The prices are less than such furniture would ordinarily cost at wholesale. That the sale is of great importance to every woman contemplating refurnishing the living-room, parlor or library or adding certain pieces goes without question.

ADVOCATE EDITOR PREACHES AT 2 METHODIST CHURCHES

Rev. Dr. J. J. Wallace, editor of the Pittsburg Christian Advocate, spoke at the morning service at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church yesterday, attended the Sunday-school in the afternoon, and in the evening delivered an address before the congregation of the Grace M. E. church in North Plainfield.

While in this city Dr. Wallace stayed at the home of the Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, pastor of the Monroe Avenue church. He is in the East attending the meeting of the general committee of Home Missions of the Methodist Episcopal church, which is in session in Newark.

Among his subjects yesterday was "The Program of the Kingdom." He said in part:

"The Kingdom means three things—a grace, a good and a movement. Grace to be said; good to be sought, and a movement to be forwarded. Jesus emphasized the grace in his earlier ministry, but later dwelt on movement. The goal of the movement is the perfect union of Christ with humanity.

"The program of the movement so far as we are concerned, involves the advertising of Christ, the increase of that which is his in the world and connection with a divine bureau of mercy and help.

"We need the grace, but we obtain the rewards of the Kingdom by taking our part on the program."

The Home Department of Trinity Reformed church will hold a social for the visitors Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the church parlor.

STATE TO TEST ROAD SURFACES

Experimental Stretch Will Be Laid Near Here Before Winter.

MEEKER WILL INSPECT

Six Combinations of Materials Under Trial—Department Refuses to Endorse Any Kind of Road Until Use Demonstrates Value.

State Road Commissioner Colonel Edwin A. Stevens has given out contracts for the construction of six sections of different road surfacing materials, all of the work to be laid on the road from the Passaic River to the Passaic Valley road, in Morris county, traversed daily by thousands of automobiles and other vehicles between Plainfield and Bernardsville, and constituting one of the most severe testing points in the State. The roads will be built before the cold weather stops road construction, thus giving the State road department the required time during the most severe testing weather to watch how each road surfacing material holds up under the strain, as well as to gather the data as to the holding up qualities of such materials after the cold weather has passed and the damaging weather of the spring sets in.

State Road Inspector Robert A. Meeker, of this city and Col. Stevens will inspect these sections of roads all winter and the most careful observation will be maintained. The department is seeking just the right kind of road pavement having in mind that the automobile is here to stay, and some surfacing material must be gotten to render road travel comfortable and of such consistency that the heavy machines will not tear it to pieces. The department is giving road surfaces fair treatment and refuses to advocate any kind of a road until experiments, actual usage, has demonstrated just what is the right kind of road to build. What will be done

GIRL'S TESTIMONY HAS MOTHER SENT FROM CITY

Mary Jenkins, colored, of 35 Plainfield avenue, who was arrested several months ago on account of her devotion to an affinity named Oscar Jenkins, and ordered to leave town, was brought before City Judge De Meza this morning on complaint of Truant Officer Miss Holly, for not sending her daughter Viola to school.

The Judge recognized the defendant. She testified that her husband, Andrew Jenkins, was living in Philadelphia; that she was supporting herself by taking in washing; that she earned $18 a week and out of that paid $17 every month for rent; and that she hadn't seen Jenkins for a long time.

Viola violated the ancient rule, that "children should be seen and not heard," and proved her mother's undoing. Showing her eagerness to talk, she was questioned by Chief Kiely and the court, with the result that it was learned that Jenkins is still living with the woman.

City Judge DeMeza again ordered Mrs. Jenkins out of town and said he would give her until Saturday to effect the change.

KELLEY GETS ANOTHER CHANCE TO SWEAR OFF

John Kelley, who was arrested Saturday on a charge of being intoxicated, had sentence suspended yesterday under condition that he take the pledge. According to the story he told the police this morning he was on his way to the minister's house, when the temptation to have one farewell drink before joining the teetotalers overcame him. He was persuaded by some friends to have several drinks, and learning that he was making a disturbance in the vicinity of Park avenue and Front street, late last night Chief Kiely sent Patrolman Myers out to re-arrest him.

Kelly spent the night in jail. Appearing before City Judge DeMeza this morning he told his story and sentence was again suspended. Kelley again started out for the minister's house to take the pledge, promising nothing would tempt him from his course today.

FLEW HAD NO CHANCE TO FLY

OYSTER SUPPER UPSET

All the Men Present Leave to Count Their Fowls When Chicken Thief's Capture is Heralded About South Plainfield.

Just as the guests were gathering in force at the South Plainfield Baptist church last night for the annual oyster supper of the Ladies' Aid Society and the chairman of the committee was telling herself that every last bit of victuals was going to be eaten up and she was sure there wasn't going to be pie enough to go around, into the theatre of action entered a chicken thief from Newark and nearly ruined the whole affair.

The train of events that projected the chicken thief into the orbit of the social whirl began with Arthur Randolph. He was on his way to the supper when he noticed a stranger lurking in the shadow of a large tree in front of William Faulk's place on Maple avenue. There have been a half a dozen chicken thefts in South Plainfield within a month, and every stranger who is careless enough to seek the shadow of a large tree when a South Plainfielder approaches has only himself to blame for subsequent happenings.

Mr. Randolph did what every normal South Plainfielder would have done. Straightway he hunted up Marshal Duffey and told him about the stranger and the deep shadow cast by Mr. Faulks' big tree. Marshal Duffey swore in Mr. Randolph as a deputy on the spot and summoned Marshal Saverd to swell the posse.

They corraled the stranger near the home of E. M. Ten Eyck.. He had a bag with him containing ten chickens, minus their heads. In the captive's pocket was a small hatchet. The posse learned of its presense when the prisoner, annoyed at highly personal questions propounded by Marshal Saverd, hurled it at the marshal's head.

The marshal dodged the hatchet and retorted with his club. The reply was effective.

The posse took the prisoner to the firehouse and notified Justice of the Peace Kaine to come and hold a hearing. In the meantime word that a thief with ten chickens had been caught reached the oyster supper. With a unanimity that gave the chairman of the committee a shock every man at the supper hurried home to count his chickens. They came back after a while, but for a time it looked as if the supper would be a total loss.

To Justice Kaine, sternly questioning him at the firehouse, the prisoner said it was nobody's business what his name was, and insisted that a kind-hearted old farmer had given him the chickens.

Appears then Mr. Ten Eyck, bearing a peach basket in which reposes ten chicken heads which he had picked up near his coop. Sadly Mr. Ten Eyck demonstrated that the heads fitted the bodies in the prisoner's bag.

Ensued a search of the prisoner's clothes which disclosed a letter, apparently from his daughter. It begged the prisoner to come home so the family could have a happy Thanksgiving. Mr. Ten Eyck, apprised of the contents of the letter, bitterly observed that anybody ought to be able to provide a happy Thanksgiving with ten of his chickens.

The prisoner convented to talk of himself when the letter was discovered. He said his name was John Flew—honest to goodness, Judge, and not made up just to fit a chicken case—and that he lived on Rugby street, Newark ,where a wife and six children were worrying about him.

Flew was recognized by a villager as one of two men who stopped earlier in the evening at Thornton's Hotel with a companion for a drink. Search was made for the companion without avail. Flew was taken to New Brunswick to be locked in the county jail at midnight.

POINT FOR LOUGHLIN IN CHANCERY ACTION

Court Says, in Offhand Opinion, That Laundry Co. Seems Unfair.

The injunction obtained by the Morey-LaRue Laundry Company against its former employe, Norman D. Loughlin, came up for argument this morning before Vice Chancellor Stevens in the Chancery Chambers at Newark. The argument disclosed that Loughlin had signed a contract with the Morey-LaRue Laundry Company, agreeing not to work for a rival laundry in Plainfield for a period of ninety days in event of his discharge according to the contract. Robert Newton Crane represented Loughlin, and brought out the fact that the discharge of Loughlin was brought about through the Morey-LaRue Laundry Company dismissing him and hiring a laundry wagon driver from the Queen City Laundry.

The Vice Chancellor was of the offhand opinion that this did not appear to be fair to either the defendant or the Queen City Laundry Company and gave counsel for Morey-LaRue Laundry Company until Thursday to further substantiate his claim in forcing the contract, and at that time the case will be finally disposed of. The decision will establish a legal precedent.

GUARDS ABOUT HOOD MANSION

Millionaires' Wife Afraid of Another Sudden Visit From Husband.

HE HINTS AT ACTION

Says He Will Keep Promise to Remain From House Until After Court Hearing—Compromise Proposition is Offered.

In anticipation of further trouble from her husband who claims the right to occupy the Stelle avenue mansion regardless of pending legal action, Mrs. Frances Sparks Hood has re-engaged a squad of detectives to guard the property.

Mr. Hood said today that he would keep his promise to the police to remain away from the residence pending his arraignment Saturday morning.

"But," he added, "I am released from that promise immediately after my appearance in court Saturday, and I have no other agreement with anyone to remain away from the property, which is mine, after that date."

Former Senator Charles A. Reed, of Mrs. Hood's counsel, told a Daily Press reporter this morning that Mr. Hood has come to him with several compromise propositions.

"I was called on the telephone last night," he said, "by Mr. Hood, who offered to give bond to the amount of $50,000 as security, if he could be allowed to take possession of the property until the suit in the Chancery Court over the estate is settled."

Speaking of his early Monday morning entrance into the house, Mr. Hood said today:

"Any statement that there was an agreement that I should not enter the grounds or the house is ridiculous. There can be no possible reason for waiving any of my rights.

"Monday night there were several men in the rear grounds of my house. It must be inferred whether or not I knew these men, but one of them told me that the sun parlor door had been broken open. I entered the house through this broken door, which I closed. I went into my den and ten minutes later went upstairs looking for my mother-in-law, Mrs. Thomas W. Sparks, of Philadelphia, who I thought was in my house.

"I knocked at the door of the room Mrs. Sparks had occupied, and my wife called out to know who was there. I answered, and she recognized my voice. She thereupon telephoned for the police. I opened the door and ushered them in.

"After twenty-five minutes of conversation to Headquarters one of them told me he had orders to arrest me. I asked on what charge, and he went back to talk to Headquarters again. I went to a third floor room no one had occupied for months and locked the door, so as to make the arrest one that would involve the breaking of a lock. The police broke open the door and I was placed under arrest, as I was told under instructions from Mrs. Hood, who claimed to own the property.

"I then made the counter claim that I owned the property, and asked that Mrs. Hood be arrested. After Roundsman Higgins, who was in command of the squad of three, talked once more to Headquarters he told me that she was under arrest."

The police said today that Mrs. Hood had not been placed under arrest.

JULIA GIFFORD SAYS SHE IS THROUGH WITH FITZ FOREVER

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 19.—"I hope within a year to be just plain Julia Gifford again," said Mrs. Robert Fitzsimmons yesterday in her dressing room at the Garrick Theatre, where she is playing the leading role in the "Balkan Princess."

"I will never live with 'Bob' Fitzsimmons again," she continued. "I am sure I shall continue to do splendidly as a single woman. I feel free and unhandicapped and am highly satisfied with life."

"You will apply for divorce when?" she was asked.

"When I say that I hope to be Julia Gifford again within a year is that not sufficient?" she replied.

GUNNISON GAINS ONE ON RE-COUNT

County Board Returns Show 325 Votes for Him and 321 for Van Herwerden.

BALLOTS ARE DISPUTED

Justice Bergen Will Pass Upon Twenty-eight Ballots to Which Objections Were Taken by Respective Counsel.

Elizabeth, Nov. 19 (Special).—The re-count of the votes in the Second ward, Plainfield, on the petition of Cornelius vanHerwerden, Republican candidate for Council, who was defeated by three votes by Stanley E. Gunnison, Jr., Progressive, was completed at 11 o'clock this morning by the County Board of Elections, and according to the figures, Mr. Gunnison received 325 and Mr. vanHerwerden 321 votes, giving the former a plurality of four instead of three.

The counsel for both sides will arrange to appear before Justice Bergen and argue the points of merit on referred ballots in behalf of their clients.

There were eight ballots rejected entirely, and there were twenty-eight ballots referred to the court for a decision. In the majority of ballots referred to the court the voters had written in the names of justices of the peace and constables and had not used the "X" opposite their names, or had put an "X" opposite the words justice of the peace or constable and not written in the names. One rejected ballot showed that the voter had voted for two Councilmen, and the ballot was void.

Taking up the re-count in detail in the First district four ballots were referred to the court, two against Mr. vanHerwerden, one against Mr. Gunnison and one Democratic vote that did not effect either candidate. In the Second district six ballots were referred to the court, one against Mr. vanHerwerden, three against Mr. Gunnison and two not affecting either candidate.

In the Third district five ballots were referred to the court, three against Mr. vanHerwerden and two not affecting either candidate. In the Fourth district, thirteen ballots were referred to the court, eight against Mr. vanHerwerden, four against Mr. Gunnison and one not affecting either one.

FINEST MAKE OF TALKING MACHINE A PRIZE IN DAILY PRESS CONTEST

One Hundred Dollar Vitaphone, the Highest Improvement in Phonographs, Will Go to the Contestant Finishing Third in the Race.

In addition to the most generous offer of a $525 player-piano and the $325 piano without the player attachment, the Daily Press has decided to make this contest the best ever, by including as a third prize a $100 Cabinet Vitaphone as an extra inducement to vote getters, as told in yesterday's issue. It will be awarded to the contestant receiving the third largest number of votes. This instrument has been purchased from The Vitaphone Company, a local concern, and contains points of merit not to be found in other makes of talking machines.

The Vitaphone, meaning a life-like sound, is everything the name implies; reproducing voice and instrument so true to life, that one may close their eyes and imagine the performer actually present. No other instrument unites such a pleasing variety of entertainments. It reproduces the original tone in purity, strength and detail and no matallic parts hamper, diminish or partly destroy the skill of the artist.

Although the talking machine during the past twenty years has been more or less familiar in the musical world, the main attraction was the supreme novelty of hearing the human voice issue from an inanimate combination of wood and metal. However intensely interesting because oft his seeming reversal of natural laws, the strident nastal twang and various noises imposed upon the sweet strains of songster the instrument alike, have rendered the reproduction so lacking in true harmony and so distressing to the sensitive ear that no talking machine ever attained its proper place as the one musical instrument combining every form of music, until the introduction of the Vitaphone.

This beautiful instrument comes in mahogany, golden oak and mission oak, and has a triple spring motor than can be wound while playing, interchangeable diaphragm connection

Sales Managers

Not every sales manager understands if he had an adding machine in his department, he could handle his figure work with fully 50 per cent saving—and nobody likes to see an increase of overhead in the sales department, notwithstanding that it is the sales producer. Take the Split & Normal Burroughs, for instance, it handles in one operation—cost, selling price and profit—makes out statistical statements—and it will show you, sales, both cash and credit—will give you order number and amount of any of your sales; it will show salesman's number, cash and credit sales opposite, do each of these things in one operation of the handle, and will add only those columns that you want added.

We would like to make a demonstration in your own department. It won't cost you a penny.

CASH REGISTER MAKERS ARE BROUGHT INTO COURT

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 19 (Special).—The prediction that the case of the National Cash Register Company would be one of the important anti-trust prosecutions left over for the Wilson administration to push to a conclusion is not likely to be fulfilled. The case was called in the United States District Court here today, a special panel of jurors has been drawn, and the indications are that the trial will proceed without delay.

In point of magnitude of the property involved and the prominence of some of the individual defendants the case is one of the most important of its kind ever pressed by the Government. The defendants, thirty in number, must answer to charges of conspiracy to obstruct and monopolize the cash register business, in violation of the criminal provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law. The indictments were returned by the Federal grand jury sitting in this city last February.

The principal defendants named in the Government bill are the following officers of the National Cash Register Company: President, John H. Patterson; vice president, Edward A. Deeds; secretary, George C. Edgeter; treasurer, W. F. Bippus; directors, William H. Muzzey, William Pfiom and Alfred H. Thomas. All are residents of Dayton, Ohio, where the factory and general offices of the company are located. In addition to those named the defendants include more than twenty officials and managers of the branch sales department of the company.

The National Cash Register Company is alleged to have gained a monopoly of the business during the last twenty years, the actual offense charged in the indictment covering a period of three years. The methods alleged to have been used to obtain the monopoly charged are as follows:

Threatened suits for infringement of patents to be brought to harass competitors, not for valid legal reasons.

Selling imitations of competitors' machines as "knockers" to prejudice customers of business rivals.

Tampering with employes of competitors.

Organizing spurious competitive companies.

Seeking patents on inventions of competitors.

Buying up competitors or forcing them out of business.

Bribing employes of competitors and employes of transportation, telephone and telegraph companies.

Will You Do Us the Honor of Allowing Us to Place
This Superb VICTROLA
In Your Home for Two Weeks Without Any Cost or Obligation to You?

Of course, we think that you will be so happy over its possession, and that all the family will enjoy it so thoroughly, that you will not be willing to part with it at the end of its visit.

But, if it is otherwise, we will bring it back, and thank you for your hospitality—glad to have had the privilege of showing you and your friends what a delightful entertainer the Victrola is.

We believe that you would not be without a Victrola in your home if you really knew how much enjoyment it gave.

"Why," exclaimed one woman, who was listening to a Caruso record being played, "I could shut my eyes and believe I was at the Metropolitan Opera House, it is so real and natural."

Exactly so—for it is his very voice; and, instead of dressing up to go to the opera, and paying $6 a seat, you can sit down in your own easy chair, at home, and hear the wonderful songs of Caruso, Farrar, Tetrazzini, Melba, Sembrich, Homer, and all the other great opera stars—ALL THE SAME EVENING, without any tiresome waiting.

And you can hear all the popular songs of the day—and be entertained by minstrel songs and stories. You can listen to the world's greatest violinists, whistlers or brass bands ¶

WE WANT YOU TO REALIZE ALL THIS.

So we take all the risk and place no obligation whatever upon you in accepting the two weeks' entertainment which we offer to you, ENTIRELY FREE, as explained below.

100 Victrolas to Be Loaned

We have set aside a stock of just 100 of these magnificent instruments to place in acceptable homes. When this number is allotted the offer will be cancelled—and in any event this offer terminates on November 25th. The Victrolas will be delivered entirely free, anywhere within the limits of our regular delivery service. Of course, this offer cannot be made to people living outside of our own delivery territory. There will be no rental or delivery charge of any kind for the Victrola loaned under this offer. But, of course, you will need music, and Victor records are never exchangeable, and it is impossible for us to accept the total loss of all the records which may be sent out, so we will ask those to whom we loan the Victrola to purchase a dozen Victor Records, the cost of which will be a very insignificant price for the pleasure secured during the fortnight the instrument is in your possession. Of course, you will realize that it will cost us much more to deliver the Victrola to you and take it back to the store again than the small amount you pay for these records.

You may select from the entire Victor Catalogue, according to the price you wish to pay. When this purchase is made and satisfactory references are given, the Victrola will be delivered on trial for two weeks, absolutely without cost to you. At the end of two weeks, if you wish us to take the Victrola back, we will do so—the records, of course, remaining your property.

Special Terms If Purchase Is Made

To those who make up their minds to purchase the Victrola, after the loan period expires, we offer very easy terms of payment, which will enable any one of moderate income to possess this superb home entertainer.

If it does not suit you to come to the store, you may simply mail us your check for $10 as a deposit on the purchase of the records that you will select, and inclose a list of two or three references. Catalogue will be immediately mailed to you, from which you can select the records desired, and if everything is satisfactory, upon receipt of your list, the records and Victrola will be delivered to your home by us. As stated above, this offer can be accepted by only 100 people, and prompt action will place you among this fortunate number.

TO TEST ROAD SURFACES

when the engineers have solved the problem they will not state, but it is a good assumption that out of the results of this experimenting the department will evolve a standard road, and after that all road surfaces will have to be proven to get away from the standard road surfaces being ordered.

This season of the year was selected for doing the work, so that the greatest value of the test would accrue. Besides, the materials are all on one road, one starting in where the other leaves off, thus presenting a uniform course for the tests, as nearly all vehicles which start at one end of this road traverse it to its end.

Careful observations will be made at stated intervals all winter and spring and the results carefully preserved and tabulated. The work is to be done in the most careful manner, and being subjected to the same tests, the relative merits of such differing road surfacing materials will be settled, the department hopes, by all the tests.

On the first section the foundation is of broken stone six inches deep and rolled. After the rolling there is poured cold-mixed asphalt-concrete and rolled until it is hard and of two inches in depth after final compression. This is plain amiesite.

The second section is to be laid on a stone foundation similar to the first section and covered with asphalt-concrete, to which has been added twenty-five pounds waste-paper fibre to the ton of pavement and rolled until it has been thoroughly consolidated. This is called fibremese.

For the third section the start will be akin to that of the previous sections and in the concrete while it is still moist will be spread sixty pounds of one and one-half inch stone per square yard of road surface and topped until the upper edges of the stone are one-fourth of an inch below the bitumen pavement. This latter layer is composed of seventy pounds bitumen mortar per square yard of road surface and is prepared of approved sand and filler and not less than 8 per cent. or more than 11 per cent. of bitumen. This section will be styled "bitumen concrete."

Section four will also be built of a concrete base composed of one part cement, two parts sharp sand and five parts one and one-half inch stone, and this surface painted with hot cement not below 175 degrees and above 223 degrees of heat centigrade, and seventy pounds of this mortar will be applied per square yard of road surface. There is no name given for this class of material. All of these roads are well rolled.

Section five will have a concrete base, four inches deep in this and the following class of roads, all concrete freshly mixed and rolled and tamped and protected from the sun and travel for five days. At the expiration of this rest period the surface is to be painted with bitumen cement, one-half gallon to the square yard, and stone grit spread over and rolled with bitumen thoroughly over the entire surface. This is called bitumen blanket.

For section six there is a special earth base, concrete, one part silico cement, five parts earth, with sufficient water to make concrete mortar. Before it has set cold bitumen cement is to be applied, mixed cold and spread cold and finished by rolling to two inches in depth. No name for this combination is given by the commissioner.

WIFE DRUNKARD, SAYS RICH MAN

Jersey City Lumber Dealer Now Seeking Divorce.

"JOCKO MENDO" IS NAMED

Plaintiff Asserts Spouse Drank So Heavily That She Had Queer Hallucinations—"Likes Her Glass of Beer," He Declares She Says.

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 19.—Asserting that his wife, Mrs. Eliza Gardiner, is addicted to the drink habit and that she has been ill as a result of it, Charles M. Gardiner of 3460 Hudson boulevard, this city, testified against her in his suit for a divorce.

The hearing was held before Charles Roe, advisory master in chancery, and was attended by many persons prominent in this city, where Mr. Gardiner is a wealthy lumber dealer.

Mr. Gardiner names Jocko Mendo as corespondent and testified that he once saw Mendo and Mrs. Gardiner leave a Jersey City hotel together. He pursued them, he said, and Mendo struck him with his fist and then fled and hid in a coalbin.

The Gardiners were married in 1895. Five years later, Mr. Gardiner testified, Mrs. Gardiner began to drink. He declared she said, "I like my glass of beer and won't stop it for anybody." Mr. Gardiner produced a bill for champagne and other drinks, which he said his wife had mislaid.

When she was ill in August last, Mr. Gardiner asserted, she said she saw a headless rabbit chased by a lion and that some one was trying to throw a net over her.

For a week, he said, she was missing from home, and then he found her sitting on the stoop of their house. She told him, he declared, that she was taken ill on the street, that physicians had taken her to Philadelphia, where she was in a hospital for a week, but that she escaped and walked to Jersey City.

She asked him for $200, he said, but he gave her $5. He also gave her the use of a room in the house, he said, but refused to live with her.

Mr. Gardiner said he had trailed his wife many times in his automobile.

Mrs. Gardiner denied all the allegations made by her husband.

TWO BRACELETS TO THE GIRL

Camden High School Authorities Against "the Jingle."

Camden, N. J., Nov. 19.—Under a recent edict of the faculty of the high school of Camden the girl pupils are not permitted to wear more than one bracelet on each arm. It was explained by a principal that the order became imperative on account of the disturbance caused by the jingling of bracelets on desks.

On opening the session at which the announcement was made the principal, Miss Clara Burroughs, delivered a talk on "Social Conditions and Manners to Be Upheld by the Girls." She declared that the jingling of a dozen bracelets on one desk could not be tolerated, so that in the future bracelets must be discarded as to numbers, but she would be willing for them to wear one on each arm.

Shortly after supper she expressed her pleasure at seeing all her children gathered about her for the first time in several years when stricken. She died before a physician arrived.

IN OFFICE BY FLIP OF COIN

One Jersey Candidate Wins From Another When Vote Is Tied.

Ogdensburg, N. J., Nov. 19.—John Palmer of Sparta and John Master of this city, rival candidates for collector in the recent election and each of whom received 186 votes, decided not to go to the expense of a recount, but to toss a coin to see which got the office. Palmer cried "Heads!" as the coin fell, and "heads" it was, so the two men shook hands and stuck to their agreement.

WOMEN CANNOT VOTE.

Affirming the decision of the Supreme Court, an opinion was handed down yesterday by the Court of Errors and Appeals holding that in New Jersey women have no right to vote The case had attracted widespread attention and the decision of the highest tribunal in the State was awaited with more than usual interest. Summing up its history in the briefest possible form, Harriet F. Carpenter, of Stirling, instituted the proceedings against a district board of elections in Passaic township on the ground that it had refused to permit her to register for the general election in November, 1911, when she presented herself at the polling place for that purpose. Her claim was that she was a "duly qualified voter" and based her contention on the Constitution of 1776 and more recent laws of the State.

To use its own language, the lower court disposed of the case for the following reasons:

"The decision of the Supreme Court is that prior to the adoption of the Constitution of 1776 women had no legal claim to vote; that no right to vote was conferred on females by that Constitution; even though the act of 1797 permitted females to vote it was subsequently repealed by the statutes of 1807. That the act of 1807 and subsequent statutes, excluding females from the right to vote, are not in contravention of the Constitution of 1776; that the act of 1844, calling for a Constitutional convention and which excluded women from voting for delegates thereto, was neither in contravention of the Constitution of 1776, and that the Constitution of 1844, having been submitted to the vote of the people, in pursuance of the act of 1844 and adopted, is the fundamental law of this State until supplanted either by a new legislation adopted as that was adopted or by amendment in the manner therein provided."

On the contention that the implication if not the express language of the Constitution is adverse to the right of women to vote in the State, the Errors Court affirmed the judgment of the Supreme Court. In his opinion Justice Swayze said that it might be well for the people to insert the word "sex" in the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution along with "race, color or previous condition of servitude." He adds: "But until they do so the right to vote for representatives in Congress or for Presidential electors stands on no firmer base than the right to vote for members of the State Legislature under the State Constitution. It is said that in the absence of any qualifications fixed by the Constitution the right to vote at such election belongs to the people, women as well as men. It is, however, well settled that the right to vote is not a natural inherent right, but is the creation of constitutions and statutes."

The opinion concludes: "They have no such right unless they can show a statute or constitutional provision giving it to them. There is no such statute and the implication, if not the express language of the Constitution, is adverse to the right claim; the contention of the plaintiff in error fails. We have only to add that as to the right claimed to vote for Presidential electors the matter is wholly within the control of the State."

A MAYOR-EVANGEL.

The Trenton True American pays a deserved tribute to Mayor Donnelly, the foremost advocate of the commission form of government in this part of the country if not in the land. Mr. Donnelly for some years past has made a careful study of the plan for a business-like administration of public affairs of cities and a large share of the credit for the adoption of the better government system by many munipicalities is due to his intelligent presentation of the scheme's merits.

Of his work, the Trenton paper says:

"Mayor Donnelly is not only helping to make Commission Government a success in Trenton, but he is helping mightily to make the idea popular in other cities. Trenton's mayor has been asked to contribute a second article on the smaller board plan to the Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, a publication that is devoted to the cause of good government and that is read and quoted by students of governmental science throughout the country.

"Some of the things that Mayor Donnolly has said and done in Trenton have been used and will continue to be used in spreading the gospel of Commission Government in other cities where the fight for more efficient public service is on. He was quoted frequently in New Orleans and St. Paul, two cities of goodly size that have adopted this modern system of government. He is still being quoted in Buffalo, a city of more than 400,000 inhabitants, which has twice voted for Commission Government, though twice defeated of its achievement by the corrupt political machines of New York State. He will be quoted in Baltimore, which is demanding of the next Maryland legislature the legal right to adopt the new system.

"When the fight for Commission Government was on here, it was predicted that Trenton's example would serve to inspire other large cities throughout the Republic to adopt the idea. Mayor Donnelly has done wonders toward giving effect to that prophecy."

We suggest that some public spirited body, preferably the Chamber of Commerce, invite Trenton's mayor to address a Plainfield audience on government by commission. There is a strong sentiment in favor of the adoption of the plan here and were our people to hear Mr. Donnelly on the subject undoubtedly hundreds who are now either opposed to the plan or have no opinions on the matter whatever would be converted.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 19.—Trains Nos. 81 and 84 of the Seaboard Air Line Railway collided headon near Granite, North Carolina, this morning. Four members of the train crews and two express messengers were killed and four others injured. No passengers were killed or injured. These trains are two of the best equipped on the road. They run between Washington, D. C., and Jacksonville, Florida. The escape from death or injury by the passengers is attributed by officials of the company to the fact that both trains are made up of all steel coaches.

CAR VESTIBULE SHUT, MAN HURT ON FENCE

Metuchen, Nov. 19.—Robert Walker, of Trenton, was bruised and scratched when he found the vestibule doors of a moving Pennsylvania train closed after he had swung on the step. The railing close to the track along the Main street bridge prevented his swinging off and his body was scraped over the pickets.

Walker works in Perth Amboy and goes home for week-ends. Yesterday he was late and the train was pulling out when he swung on the step.

Several similar accidents have occurred at the railing, and last summer a New Brunswick youth lost his life there.

Miss Adelaide Hull, dressed as an old-fashioned "milk-girl," stood at the door and soliciated a small offering. Miss Marjorie Chandler sold the candy, and among those who assisted in serving the guests were the Misses Florence Carmwell, Daisy Feideman, Lillian Rollison, Blanche Dein and Anna McCoy. Those who arranged the successful fair were Mrs. Virginia Brant, and the Misses Isabelle Ashwell, Iola Moore, Catherine Overton and Marion Carman.

TURKS MAKE LAST DESPERATE STAND

Seize Guns and Temporarily Check Onrushing Bulgars.

MONASTIR HAS FALLEN.

Fifty Thousand of Sultan's Troops Lay Down Their Arms to Servians and Greeks — Rockhill Cables Americans Are Safe.

Constantinople, Nov. 19.—The division under Mahmoud Mukhtar made a spirited frontal attack upon the Bulgars and, according to the official Turkish reports, broke up their formation, seized a number of guns and drove the Bulgars back. The Ottoman reports admit that the Turkish losses were heavy, as they had to advance through a hail of artillery fire.

While the capital awaits the details of the fighting sailors from the foreign ships are patrolling the streets of the city. They are the object of much interest to the natives, who crowd about them as they make camp in front of the foreign embassies at Pera.

Turks Lose Monastir.

—London, Nov. 19.—The Turkish town of Monastir has fallen to the Servians and Greeks. Fifty thousand Turks laid down their arms today.

The main body of the western Turkish army fought desperately to save the important town, but the fall of Monastir was assured when a Greek army cut the communication with Ochrida to the north, where the Turks were planning to retreat in case of defeat.

The struggle was most bloody. One report has it that the Serbs alone lost 2,500 during the first day's battle.

Djavid Pasha, commander of the Turkish troops concentrated in and about Monastir, succeeded in throwing back a division of Greek troops advancing through the defile of Kirlider, about twenty miles from the city, yesterday.

Last night, however, the Servians, floundering through mud up to their knees, made a series of spirited attacks with their artillery covering the infantry from the heights of Oblakovo and Kechista, from which the Turks had been swept.

With the capture of Monastir the work of the Serbo-Greek army in the west is practically done.

The Turks in Monastir were discouraged by their defeats, disorganized and lacked provisions.

The Greeks sent back word to Athens that at Saloniki, which they captured on the way to Monastir, they secured $20,000,000 from the Turks in that city.

Americans Are Protected.

Washington, Nov. 19.—All necessary precautions for the protection of Americans in the vicinity of Constantinople have been taken by members of the diplomatic corps there, according to dispatches from Ambassador Rockhill to the state department. The ambassador stated that while no serious trouble was feared at present, the representatives of the European governments thought it best to land men from the international fleet before Constantinople for the protection of the embassies and legations.

Six men from the United States gunboat Scorpion, station ship at Constantinople, were included in the landing parties. The foreign naval commanders have made all arrangements. Ambassador Rockhill stated, for the protection of foreign residents on both sides of the Bosporus from San Stefano to Buyukdere. Thorough measures for the protection of the city have also been adopted, and no uneasiness is warranted, it is now believed.

The United States government has received from the representatives of the powers repeated assurances that Americans will be fully provided for by them in case of foreigners being endangered.

PROGRESSIVES ORGANIZE.

New York, Nov. 19.—Progressives who are interested in forming a club like the Union League club, or the Republican club, or the National Democratic club, met at the Hotel Manhattan. On the committee are George W. Perkins, Senator Dixon, Elon Huntington Hooker, who was treasurer of the Progressive national committee; William H. Hotchkiss, state chairman; John W. Bruce, Oscar S. Straus and Timothy L. Woodruff.

Comptroller Prendergast and Senator Dixon were not at the meeting, but 200 Progressives from New York and up the state were there. It was suggested that the club should be a purely New York organization. Some, however, said the club should be the center of a string of Progressive clubs in many parts of the country. Just what sort of organization should be formed was left to another committee, of which Mr. Woodruff was made chairman.

PREHISTORIC MAN HAD DECIDED SENSE OF ART

Members of the Monday Afternoon Club were much interested yesterday afternoon in a lecture at Hartridge Auditorium given by Arthur Wesley Dow, of Columbia University. The subject was "Art in Everyday Life." With the aid of stereoptican views, the lecturer demonstrated that fine specimens of real art are often seen in the homes of the poorest people.

He showed how people living in the primitive age possessed a high sense of art in regard to shape, tone and color. Some of the articles made in the prehistoric age are now in various museums of art, viewed and admired by thousands.

Pictures were shown of pottery and straw basket work by the American Indians. Greek architecture and implements, Japanese paintings of pottery and the beautiful gardens to be seen in Japan and various works of art by the Chinese, Persians and the Alaskan Indians.

ATTENDANCE AT MISSION AGAIN JAMS ST. MARY'S

The second night of the mission for men at St. Mary's church attracted an attendance that taxed the church's capacity to such an extent that many were obliged to return to their homes unable to get inside the doors.

The Mission instruction was conducted by Rev. Father Brown and the sermon was preached by the Rev. Father Keaney. He talked on "Sin." He said that the labors of social reformers and politicians who are striving to make this earth happy are spent in vain so long as men's lives are filled with sin.

"You may look into the jails, prisons and asylums and the conclusion forced upon you is that the inmates of these institutions are there as a result of sins committed by themselves or inherited as a legacy from others. Man is his brother's keeper and his sister's keeper, too. The man who is responsible for the downfall of any woman carries a load of sin that is like a millstone about his neck.

"God's will must be done. If we do not serve God here we must serve Him in the hereafter. Hell is the place for sinners and God sends them there. He is the Supreme Judge from whose decision there is no appeal. His will must be done."

CHURCH AUXILIARY WORK.

The Women's Auxiliary of Holy Cross church met this afternoon for the first session of the season. Plans for social and missionary work were discussed and provisions and cash donations for the Christ School, of Arden, N. C., were received and will be sent to that institution as the usual Thanksgiving offering.

GIBSON INSISTS ON PICKING HIS JURORS

One Lawyer Threatens to Withdraw From Defense.

Goshen, N. Y., Nov. 19.—A serious clash between Burton W. Gibson, the lawyer accused of murdering his client, Mrs. Rose Menschik Szabo, for her $10,000 estate, and his counsel as to who shall dominate in matters causing difference of opinion has resulted from the first day of the trial spent in selecting a jury. Robert H. Elder says that five of the jurors were selected against his better judgment by Gibson because when it comes down to a matter of a verdict of guilty the jurors are the ones to "hand out the dope" and Gibson is the one to suffer.

Charles Goldizer, one of Gibson's lawyers, says Gibson has "either a fool for a client or a fool for a lawyer, as you like to look at it," and intimates that circumstances might arise which would cause his withdrawal. As for Gibson, he gleefully said as he sat on the cot in his cell, his wife by his side: "I've had my way the first day in the selection of the jury. I am satisfied. We have a fine body of men."

Gibson declared that his counsel was certain that it would not be necessary for him to take the stand.

"If I think it advisable," he added, "I shall certainly go on." Gibson admitted dissenting with his counsel, saying: "We were scrapping all day. Didn't you hear us?"

Mr. Elder said that five men on the jury were chosen by Gibson. Later he said there was no juror accepted whom he did not approve of.

At one point during the examination Elder told Gibson to "keep still" so loudly that he was heard by lawyers for the prosecution.

Charles Goldizer examined only one talesman during yesterday. When asked why this was, he declared that he was not a lawyer to stand dictation by a client as to who should go on the jury, and in this connection he revised the adage about a man having a fool for a client when he acts as his own lawyer.

ASTOR GLAD TO BE ON JURY.

Appreciates Honor of Being on Third Panel as Father Did.

New York, Nov. 19.—Vincent Astor, who was notified on his twenty-first birthday that he had been named by Sheriff Harburger to fill the vacancy on the third panel of the sheriff's jury occasioned by the death of his father, sent the following letter to the sheriff in reply:

"It is with pleasure that I have received your notification of my appointment to the third panel, sheriff's jury. My father always highly appreciated the honor of being a member of such a body, and I am glad of the opportunity of filling the place which he held."

HIT BY AUTO, HE CAN'T TALK.

Blow on Head Said to Have Deprived Man of Speech.

Baltimore, Nov. 19.—Edward J. Holland, twenty-two years old, was run down by an automobile while at Newark, Del., and as a result of the accident is deprived of the power of speech. He is now in bed at his home here suffering from injuries about the head and body.

How the accident occurred the members of his family have been unable to learn. The young man was in search of work and after trying New York stopped off at Newark on his way back. His physician attributes the loss of speech to the blow on the head.

Albany For $50,000,000 State Bond.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

THE THANKSGIVING BIRD.

GOOD turkeys have plump breasts, white flesh and black legs. Hen turkeys are generally the best. A young gobbler has small spurs.

Fifteen minutes to the pound is the time allowed for roasting a young turkey. An older turkey takes more time. It should be roasted slowly and basted often.

After the turkey is trussed its skin should be wet, and it should be well dredged with flour and sprinkled with salt and pepper.

Two Savory Roasts.

Turkey With Chestnut Dressing.—Take an eight pound turkey, bake two and one-half hours. After the turkey has been washed and singed prepare the dressing as follows: Remove the shell from a pint of chestnuts. Cook in slightly salted water until tender. Then drain, skin and chop. Add to the nuts a half loaf of stale bread put through the food chopper, one-quarter of a pound of butter, salt and pepper to taste and one egg. Mix all together, adding a little warm water if it seems too dry. Garnish with link sausage fried a light brown. For the gravy—as usual, just before dishing up add one pint of oysters. Simmer until the edges curl.

Turkey a la Creole.—The creoles have a unique method of roasting their fowl. They cover it with a thick paste of flour and water, and about twenty minutes before serving they remove the crust and cover the fowl with slices of bacon. The fowl is deliciously juicy.

A Foreign Process.

Turkey German Style.—Singe and draw the turkey. Wash it in cold water and wipe with a clean towel. Season inside with half a teaspoonful of salt. Make the dressing and fill the crop and inside of the body with it.

Sew the turkey up, twist the wings over its back and run a skewer through the thighs into the body. Pass a string across the back of the bird, crossing it below the breast; then catch it over the point of the skewer, cross the string again and tie it on the back.

Rub one tablespoonful salt all over the turkey and lay in a roasting pan. Spread two ounces butter over the breast, then place the pan in a medium hot oven to roast. Turn often and baste freely with its own gravy till the bird is light brown on all sides. Add one cupful boiling water; continue to roast, basting frequently till done, which will take about two and a half hours, or you may allow fifteen minutes to a pound.

Serve with giblet sauce.

Anna Thompson.

FASHION STRAWS.

Most of the Fashionable Skirts Are Without Trimming.

Most of the tailored skirts are not trimmed. All the elaboration is in the coats. Some of the skirts have plaits.

Bright colors veiled with chiffon are much used by Paris blouse makers.

ONE PIECE BLOUSE.

Brocades, oriental prints and lamie cloth are all used this way.

A question of importance in selecting a traveling coat is the color. It should be of a neutral tone, beige or gray, which will accord with any frock.

This surplice blouse, that is full at the shoulders, is very attractive. It is made with one piece sleeves that can be long or short, as preferred, and the model is good for the separate blouse or to match the skirt.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 40 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office giving number, 7630, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

GIRL WIFE'S PLEA SAVES TYLER GIBBS

Letter Induces Judge Daly to Suspend Pronouncement of Sentence.

New Brunswick, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Tyler M. Gibbs, formerly Miss Delaphine Bennett, of Metuchen, pleaded so earnestly with Judge Daly in a letter yesterday that the court gave her bridegroom, who pleaded non vult to a bigamy charge, a chance to show his worthiness of the Metuchen girl. Sentence was not suspended in the usual acceptance of that term. The pronouncement of sentence was suspended and Judge Daly told Gibbs that his sentence would depend entirely upon how he treated his young wife, the second Mrs. Gibbs, in the bigamy case.

"I received a letter this morning from your wife," said Judge Daly to the tall, prosperous looking contractor who stood in the prisoner's dock. "She certified to the court that you had been remarried to her and she begged me, for her sake, not to imprison you because such an act on my part would be more of an injury to her than to you. The force of that argument is so impelling that the court almost feels inclined to follow it. If I should send you to State prison it would blast her life and possibly someone else close to her. I would have no hesitancy in sending you to prison if it was not for that fact.

"I have serious doubts as to your story that you thought when you first married this girl that you had a right to do so. You are an intelligent man However, you have done the square thing now. You married the young girl you wronged.

"My investigation of your past record convinced me that you have been careless. A man of your ability should have made a good name for yourself should have been a useful member of society. Your record for ordinary common morality has not been good.

"The court is going to give you a chance now to treat this girl decently; to get down to the seriousness of life and be a real husband to this girl. I am not going to depend on your promise to do this. I am going to suspend the sentencing of you at this time and your sentence in the future will depend entirely on how you treat this young girl wife."

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Professors Phelps and Webster have at last received their tennis cups captured by winning the High School doubles tennis tournament. The cups are small, but handsomely engraved.

The Sigma Gamma Kappa has fixed on Friday, December 6, as the day for their Thanksgiving social.

The freshmen basketball team held its first practise yesterday afternoon and about twelve candidates responded. Coach Earley expects to enter a strong team in the class league.

Edson Day played part of a game yesterday and shot one of the two baskets made. He looks pretty good in a big game after all.

The girls' five did not travel yesterday. They will play the Flemington five that defeated them last week at Debele Hall on Saturday.

While this cold weather keeps up there will be no special work in the afternoon as a sufficient amount of heat cannot be raised in the Manual Training building.

Coach Webster accompanied the basketball five yesterday and is pleased with the way the boys played their first game.

The Junior play is progressing rapidly and tickets are now on sale.

No basketball hall has as yet been secured and the basketball schedules announce home games next week.

Charles Beckman, the editor of the "Scout," is making a hit with his "Personifications of Popular Songs" every week.

"MAC" SAYS

Two more weeks and football will be a thing of the past. After Princeton and Yale have had th ir annual tilt the interest in the gridiron game begins to wane.

Now the question arises as to whether or not the revised code of rules has had any effect on the game. We have opinions of our own but will not venture to reflect on the rule committee.

Someone has just said that it will soon be time for baseball again. Well, we seem to be having it all the time. Didn't Taft go out on a spectacular assist from T. R. to Wilson?

Jack Doyle, the genial Holy Cross manager, was the busiest guy in Plainfield last Saturday afternoon trying to sign up a game to satisfy the hungry mob of football enthusiasts that swept down on Cricket Field.

He's always busy except when he's resting up; then he's the "next to the busiest guy" the busier one being himself when selling tickets.

Coach Hamilton is burning the midnight oil trying to solve the practice problem. Every time he calls for an evening drill some important player is missing.

Cheer up, "Doc." Those secret drills held in the sunshine of the moon may be the keynote to your team's success.

"Cutey" Glover, the husky Y. M. C. A. lad, is ambitious to become a great songster. His favorite piece seems to be "Mrs. (Somebody's) Wooden Wedding," and he is scouting around to find the greatest thing to take before singing. Well, "Cutey," we might suggest a good dose of "breath."

Whew! It's cold. Look's like a coat of white snow instead of whitewash for the eleven that plays Holy Cross at Cricket Field Saturday.

DAVE SHEAN SIGNS AT ALTAR.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 19 (Special)—Dave Shean, former second baseman of the Boston National League baseball club and last season with the Providence Club, was married today to Miss Eleanor C. Toomey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Toomey, of East Boston. The ceremony was performed this morning in the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer.

INTERNATIONAL FIELD TRIALS.

Ruthven, Ont., Nov. 19 (Special).—The annual field trials of the International Field Trial Club began on the club preserves near here today. Many prominent sportsmen from a distance were on hand with their high-class dogs, having been attracted by the rich stakes offered.

N. P. H. S. DEFEATED IN FIRST CONTEST

Kearny High School Walloped Boroughites to the Tune of 35 to 9.

With a much patched up team the male basketball players of the North Plainfield High School went down to a 35 to 9 defeat at Kearny yesterday afternoon. The remnants of last year's championship quintet put up a disappointing exhibition of the indoor game and the contest savored nothing of the 1911 spectacular plays which were developed during the course of that most successful season. Dunning was out of the lineup because of scholarship deficiencies and Bill Taylor's position at forward was also a weak spot.

Over half of the boroughites points were garnered from the foul line by "Curley" Taylor, while Burner and Day contributed one field goal each. The cause of defeat is layed to the irregularity of practice and the limited amount of real basketball material to pick from. The usual speedy and bewildering team work of N. P. H. S. which baffled many an opponent last season was entirely missing and this caused the playing to be decidedly listless.

Kearny took the spheriod up and down the floor with clocklike precision and every man on the home team managed to cage at least one goal from the field.

Professional Sculling Champion Ernest Barry has secured the Sportsman cup as his property by winning three contests inside of two years. The first Sportsman cup was won outright by Hanlon.

SOME FOOTBALL GAME THIS.

Percy Haughton, the football coach, was talking about queer football games.

"There was a Thanksgiving day game in Philadelphia," he said, "that was played in a deluge of snow and rain, with Franklin field a foot deep in cold, gray slush.

"The Princeton man, who won the toss, said rather bitterly before the game began:

"'Do we have to play in this fluid?'

"'Yes, of course you do,' was the impatient reply. 'Come, come; you've won the toss. Which end do you take?'

"'Well,' said the Princeton man, shaking his head at the gray waste of waters spread before him—'well, I guess we'll kick with the tide.'"

BRICKLEY GRIDIRON HERO.

Several Experts Say Harvard Back Is the Greatest of All Footballers.

Walter Camp, the dean of football, believes that Charles Brickley, if he keeps up his present gait, will rank among the best of the gridiron heroes before he finishes his course at Harvard. Keene Fitzpatrick, trainer of the Princeton team, and Captain Wendell of Harvard agree in terming Brickley as the greatest football player ever developed.

"Brickley was by all odds the star of the Princeton-Harvard game, even outside his field kicks," said Camp recently. "He appears a very versatile young man. He was a strong line smasher, kept going well and made one of the prettiest runs of the game, besides being ever on the alert on the defense. If he maintains his present gait through his remaining college years he will rank very high among the greatest heroes of the game."

"I have seen games played by big university elevens," said Trainer Fitzpatrick, "from all sections of the country over a span of many years, but I set down the performance of Brickley against Princeton as one of the greatest athletic exhibitions it has ever been my good fortune to witness. He is one of the best athletes of all time."

Captain Wendell said: "Charley Brickley's work proved, I think, that he is one of the most remarkable players that football has ever produced if not the very best of them all. When you think of the all around game he played against Princeton it certainly makes one believe that he is about the best player that the game has ever seen."

Brickley is like Thorpe of Carlisle in many ways. He's an all round athlete, a baseball and basketball player and a good athlete otherwise. Brickley won the hop, step and jump at the Olympic tryouts and was a member of the American team that went to Stockholm.

Hold Bicycle Polo Tourney.

St. Louis recently witnessed bicycle polo, the players using a ball a little bigger than a baseball and playing on bicycles and hitting the ball with both wheels with equal ease. The rules of the play are about the same as pony polo. The goal is a cage, sitting on the ground, three feet long and one foot high. This country is the latest to take up the game, which is played in Asia, Europe and South America. In Buenos Aires there is a league of twenty clubs.

A new light has been installed in the pulpit of Trinity Reformed church by the officers of the Bible school.

TWO ASPIRANTS OUT FOR COUNTY TAX BOARD JOB

Elizabeth, Nov. 19.—Former Assemblyman Lloyd Thompson, of Westfield, and John D. Duncan, secretary of the First Street Association, are aspirants for membership in the Union County Board for the Equalization and Tax Assessments. Both men are fighting for the place to be vacated by C. C. Pollard, of this city, whose term expires next April. Mr. Pollard is a Republican and as the board must be non-partisan, his successor must also be a Republican.

Residents of this city claim that a local man should be appointed so as to have Elizabeth represented on the board. It is said that Congressman William E. Tuttle, Jr., of Westfield, is supporting Mr. Thompson.

NATION'S CAUSE FOR THANKS TO ALMIGHTY

His Hand Seen Even in Discovery of America, Says Preacher.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong preached on "Our Country's Debt to Christ," at the First Baptist church, Sunday morning. As no other nation has been blessed, he said, our country has. For its discovery, its settlement and progress, every true American thanks God.

Was there not the hand of God behind that indomitable courage which made Columbus, resisting a host of opposition, persevere till he had spanned the Atlantic and touched American soil; that brought shiploads of men and women to our shores to settle the infant colonies and set up a civilization against fearful odds; which aided this group of isolated colonies, with no central government, to resist successfully a dominant nation whose vessels dotted the Atlantic, and whose army was feared by every other nation? asked Dr. Strong. We have great reason also to thank God for the great and noble men He has raised up in every crisis, such as Washington, Benjamin Franklin and Abraham Lincoln, of beloved memory. His Providential hand also has directed in the great inventions which have contributed to our country's greatness; the steamboat, the magnificent harvesting implements used on our vast fields of grain, the telephone, and a thousand others. But America's greatness lies not alone in her achievements along scientific and industrial lines, but in the more direct contributions of the Christian church. If any American should glory in his flag the Christian American is that one. And "What shall we render unto the Lord for all His benefits?" The least we can do is to win America for Christ, to make possible the greatest activity and power for His church, and with a consecrated patriotism synonymous with Christianity lend heart and hand to the extension of the kingdom of the Prince of Peace, till every American shall not only be free in a political and social sense, but free from the bondage of sin and death. The time is short in which each of us may do his part. Let us spend it wisely, nobly, truly.

Next Sunday morning the ordinance of baptism will be observed and in the evening there will be a thanksgiving, patriotic service with special music, and the order of Junior Master Mechanics will attend in a body. Friday afternoon an interdenominational conference and rally will occur, at which the subject of Mormonism and missions among the Indians will be presented, and in the evening Sumner Vinton, a missionary in India, will give a moving picture and stereopticon address which will be of intense interest.

A special program has been arranged by the women of the First Presbyterian church for the services to be held on Wednesday night in connection with the Home Mission Week which is being observed in all Presbyterian churches in this country.

PRAISE FOR DOCTORS AND UNION OFFICIALS

Father Bogan's Tribute to Those Who Brought Bonnie Burn into Being.

The following is the address delivered by Rev. Bernard M. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's R. C. church, at the dedication of Bonnie Burn Sanitorium yesterday afternoon:

"We need not follow the early history of humane sympathy through far-off India where under the Buddist King Agoka, 252 B. C., the guest house of the Latins found oriental imitation. From the papyrii we find that the Egyptians found remedies for human ills and that physicians held clinics in the Temples. But to follow the success and failure of hospital work from Pagan antiquity through Roman and Greek development were perhaps an evidence of cheap erudition attainable by any owner or borrower of a reputable encyclopedia, rather than of interest to the humane American who in our day has joined so generously in the work of universal civilization to stop the ravages of tuberculosis and inspire confidence in its victims. Looking out upon the campaign now working so happily toward this hopeful result we find nothing so eminenty practical as the generous cooperation of eminent specialists who, meeting the multitudes that greet them in printed pamphlets or crowded lecture hall, deliver their message of hope in homely, popular language. The absence of technical expression is in itself seized by the popular mind as an evidence of condescending sincerity. To know from authority and experience what is dangerous to our bodily welfare and to hear from the same learned source how to avoid that danger and to counteract its influence has gone far toward the accomplishment even thus early in the campaign of results that must be encouraging to our physicians. We of Union county have much to boast of in the consummation of this ideal sanitorium. Favored by natural environment so close to our residents that climatic conditions may be enjoyed at home by those who here shall be cured and shall live in appreciation a life of prolonged usefulness. We are no less fortunate, I am informed, inthe happy selection of a superintendent whose reputation for efficiency inspires confidence in the institution itself.

"The honor given me of addressing you on this formal opening day of our county's Sanitorium for Tuberculosis Patients, is doubly appreciated inasmuch as it gives me opportunity to express my personal interest with that of my fellow-residents of Union county, in the work of the Tuberculosis Commission and to pay a tribute as well to the practical efficiency of this special work of the Board of Freeholders. I refer in this sincerely complimentary way for the reason that, despite the loyalty of constituents whose votes call men into public life, the answer to such call but too seldom takes the form of congratulation on the work of our officials. Perhaps it is chiefly because of our confidence in them that we are silent. That some have, through venal influence, in some places, been recreant to that confidence may warp the better judgment of some of us. Yet it still remains a matter of too unfrequent notice that our public officials deserve not only the confidence that puts them into office but the conserving trust that materially lightens their work and helps towards efficient practical results.

"The occasion wherein others are to address you does not permit of an exhaustive treatment of the subject of hosital or sanitorial work. It covers many a page of very human history from the incipient efforts in distant pagan days before the dawn of Christianity to introduce, instead of the destruction of the ill and infirm, the humane practice of caring for them and providing even crude convenience for convalescence.

"Perhaps I should not be suspected of too great pride in the land of my forefathers, second only in my love for this land of my birth, to select from the lore of history this interesting item that one of the earliest hospitals on record was that founded by Princess Mocha in Ireland three hundred years before the dawn of Christianity. It was called Broin Boerg—the House of Sorrow—and was used by the Redbranch Knights until its destruction nearly six hundred years afterwards.

"Should there be a call upon us in slightly increased taxation to meet the necessary expenditure to continue this humane work, the eloquence of our purse should be resounding in its approval. Looking out on this fair autumn evening toward the golden glory of a setting sun, may we not hope that the day of our practical helpfulness may be followed by the sun of righteousness shining with glowing approval on our interest in the work and welfare of Bonnie Burn Sanitorium.

"To the physicians of our community, without whose sympathetic interest in this institution it would be as a body without a soul, I may be permitted to offer a word of cordial tribute. 'I would,' said the eminent Dr. W. W. Keen, of Philadelphia, 'that some artist might paint a companion picture of 'The Conquerors in War' and entitle it 'The Conquerors in Medicine.' Instead of spectral hills and a barren waste, the scene should be laid in a happy smiling valley, bounded by the delectable mountains and kissed by a fertile sun. And in the stately procession, side by side with the Jenners, the Listers, the Warrens, the Sampsons, the Bellroths, the Livingstons, the Pare's, the Virchows and the Hunters, would walk many a modest but unknown hero who has yielded up his spirit in the performance of duty. Instead of treading their way between lines of corpses they should march between lines of grateful men and women and a host of God's little children who on bended knee and clasped hands, would reverently invoke Heaven's richest benedictions upon their deliverers. Thus should humanity recognize its debt to the medical profession.'"

Mrs. R. N. Waring, of Newark, will give a beginners' program at the meeting of the Plainfield Graded Union, at the Y. W. C. A., Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. All beginners' teachers are urged to be present.

from amplifier to horn. Plays either needle or sapphire records. It is beautifully finished and polished. The machine stands four feet high and has a twelve inch turntable, and a filing compartment holding 150 records.

A novel feature of the Vitaphone is the stationary sound box rigidly fixed to its supporting frame and made of few and simple parts. This construction permits the use of a tension spring to maintain the necessary pressure holding the stylus in the groove of the record. Not carrying a floating sound box oscilating and tearing out the delicate sound wave impressions, a record used on the Vitaphone has a much longer life than is possible on any other Talking Machine. The Vitaphone is not confined to either style of record it plays both equally well. Some people prefer one and others another, both are good and the only real difference is that of varying artistic ability and care used in manufacture. To secure the best results use Vitaphone records of either system.

With this added inducement there is bound to be "something doing" among the "live ones" in Plainfield and surrounding towns. So better get a move on and get your name in before the nominations are published, which in all probability will be in tomorrow's Press.

MUSURGIA WILL SING FOR NOTHING TO AID THE C. O. S.

In speaking of the Musurgia concert, which is to be given for the benefit of the Charity Organization Society at the High School Auditorium on next Thursday, one friend of the society stated to a member of the board the other day that, while he would be glad to give money directly to the society, he did not care to do it for the purchase of tickets for a concert such as this where some portion of the money went to the people giving the concert. He was surprised to hear that the Musurgia was giving this concert without receiving one cent of remuneration.

The concert is the outcome of a promise made by the Musurgia Society to its retiring president when a year or two ago he moved from New York to Plainfield. The promise was that at any time that he would name a worthy charity at Plainfield for which he would like a concert given, the Musurgia would come and give it.

Every man in the Musurgia organization will sing in the concert. There are thirty-five voices, in addition to the conductor and accompanist. There will be an extra car on the 5:30 train from New York on Thursday afternoon which will bring the men to Plainfield where Doctors Hedges and DuBois, Messrs. DeForest, Carter, Stevens, Mellor, Tyler, Hammond and Day have placed their motor cars at the disposal of the society. The men will be taken by them to the Country Club, where they will leave directly after the concert on the 10:36 train for New York.

Miss Mabel Maxson and Mrs. Emily Wilkinson, will give an entertainment at Truell Court, tonight, comprising music, songs and readings

2 DEAD, 5 DYING IN FIGHT WITH THIEF

Gem Robber, Trapped With Woman, Opens Fire.

3 DETECTIVES CAN'T LIVE.

Sleuths Follow Crook With International Reputation In Taxi to Hotel. When They Confront Him In Room He Begins Murderous Attack.

New York, Nov. 19.—A handsomely dressed couple who had boarded a yellow taxicab downtown and, with two trunks and three suit cases, had driven to the Elsmere hotel at 824 Courtlandt avenue were followed by detectives, who suspected the pair of robbing a house on the upper west side of gems valued at $50,000. The detectives followed the couple to a room on the third floor.

Shooting followed. When the smoke was cleared seven persons lay on the floor.

The Dead—Unidentified woman, about thirty years old, known as Lottie; unidentified man, about forty-eight years old, known as Vogal, said to be an international crook.

The Dying—Martin F. Fay, thirty-six, a Central office detective attached to the West One Hundredth street station, shot through the body, the bullet entering the abdomen; William Butler, thirty-seven, 1040 Simpson street, a waiter in the hotel, shot through the back, the bullet coming out of the abdomen; John Allen, fifty-four, a former Central office detective, now chief of detectives employed by the National Surety company, shot in the right temple; Gerard Louise, twenty-nine, 793 Crotona avenue, a private detective, shot in the abdomen and both legs; Louis Mondscheim, proprietor of the Elsmere hotel, shot through the body, the bullet entering the pit of the stomach.

The injured persons were hurried to Lebanon hospital by Drs. Epstein and Woveschein, who said none of them had any chance to recover.

The dead man and woman were taken to the Morrisania police station, and their trunks and suit cases were seized by the police. It is said they contained articles of great value.

Kept Big Robbery a Secret.

Since the diamond robbery the police obeying instructions from headquarters, have kept the affair quiet. They learned little that would lead to the arrest of the robbers, but were aware they were not of the ordinary kind and were being assisted in the robberies and the sale of stolen goods by a woman. Detective Fay was assigned to the case and instructed to stick to it. At the same time the National Surety company, which had insured the jewelry against theft, assigned its chief detective, Allen, and Louise, one of its brightest assistants, to the case. Fay and Allen, friends of long standing worked together.

Just how the trailers came upon the man and woman is not known. It is supposed they were watching a downtown hotel when they saw the couple come out, place their trunks and suit cases on the car and start uptown.

The private detectives and Fay came in a second cab, but stopped at One Hundred and Sixtieth street as the first cab drew up in front of the Elsmere.

The detectives alighted and watched the man and woman get down from their cab. The baggage was lifted out and carried into the house, and the man paid the chauffeur, giving him a handsome tip.

Thought to Be Bridal Couple.

The couple registered as man and wife. Their dress and general appearance was such that the hotel attendants regarded them as bride and bridegroom. They were shown to a front room on the third floor and their baggage was carried to them.

Hardly had they been settled in the room when Fay and his companions entered the hotel. Fay, showing his shield, said to Mondscheim:

"The man and woman who just registered here are wanted for a big diamond robbery. I will have to be shown to their room to arrest them."

"If they are crooks I'm glad you have come for them," replied Mondscheim. "You can get them now, and I will help you. Come, Butler," he called to the waiter, "show us up to that room the bridal couple are occupying on the third floor."

The detectives went to the room and knocked at the door.

"What do you want?" demanded the man inside.

Just at this time the clerk, to see the excitement, came up the stairs. But he did not go close to the door.

"I have a message for you," said the waiter.

The man came to the door, opened it an inch and asked:

"Why can't I be left to the privacy of this room? I want no message from any one. If any more come keep them for me till morning."

Before he could finish speaking Fay had put his foot between the door and the jamb. The man inside threw his weight against the door, but the five men outside were too strong for him, and the door was hurled open.

Bullets Began to Fly.

The hunted man staggered across the room, where the woman stood by a half empty trunk, seized a magazine pistol which lay in the tray and fired.

IN BALKAN WAR.

Abandoned Turkish Gun Carriage; Cross Marks an Unexploded Shell.

This abandoned Turkish gun carriage shows what a narrow escape the driver had. A shell landed on top of the carriage, but did not explode. It is not necessary to note the speed with which the Turk fled from his dangerous position.

Fay, who was in front, fell with a shriek, but as he fell he drew his own revolver.

The thief fired fast. Allen next fell. Then the hotel proprietor keeled over with a groan. Louise fell across his body, and Butler was shot as he was trying to escape from the room by the open door. Out in the hall stood the clerk, paralyzed from fright.

Then the fire was returned. Fay began to shoot and at the same time young Louise drew his revolver.

First the woman with a piercing shriek reeled and fell on the bed. The man was shot, but he continued to fight, and his magazine gun was snapping when not a cartridge was left. Then as suddenly as the woman had collapsed, he dropped his weapon, staggered and fell on the bed where she lay.

The shooting aroused the entire neighborhood. Policemen came and found the five men bleeding and dying on the floor, and the man and woman dead on the bed. How many times the last two had been shot could not be learned, but it was said that at least half a dozen bullets had entered the man's body.

GUNMEN MAY KNOW THEIR FATE TONIGHT

Alleged Rosenthal Slayers Hopeful of Acquittal.

New York, Nov. 19.—It was the opinion of the defense and prosecution and of spectators who have followed the testimony in the trial of "Gyp the Blood," "Lefty Louie," "Whitey Lewis" and "Dago Frank" for the killing of Herman Rosenthal that the gunmen will not have to remain awake very late tonight to learn the verdict.

"See you at dinner tomorrow night," "Lefty Louie" grinned to the press table as "Lefty" and the other gunmen started back for the Tombs just before 5:30 o'clock last evening.

But the grin seemed forced even for the deep thinking "Lefty," whose grins throughout the trial have been forced. For during almost three hours of the afternoon the four young gunmen had been listening to Assistant District Attorney Moss sum up for the state three hours of careful analysis of the testimony of the defense.

During the morning session, when also for the three hours the gunmen's counsel, Charles G. F. Wahle, told the jury of the "conspiracy against these four boys" and pictured after disposing of each point in his argument the horror of the little procession of four youths walking in turn to the electric chair, the four well dressed young gangsters gazed straight into space their heads slightly bowed.

For once "Gyp the Blood," youngest and seemingly most impudent of the quartet, was solemnity itself. The quiet, black eyed little "Lefty Louie" was a graven image. Tears rolled down the cheeks of the more emotional "Dago Frank" during the peroration of his counsel's address, and the boisterous, round faced "Whitey Lewis," who on the witness stand had been the most excitable of the four, wiped his eyes in a shamefaced way, too, as Mr Wahle finished his summing up.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Massachusetts has elected a Democratic lieutenant governor for the first time.

Governor George W. Donaghey, of Arkansas, aspires to a seat in the United States senate.

In the recent election the Socialist vote in Kansas exceeded 30,000, about 12,000 more than ever before.

Barratt O'Hara, lieutenant governor- elect of Illinois, is one of the youngest men ever elected to that office in the United States.

In the defeat of William B. Wilson, of the 15th Pennsylvania district, organized labor will lose one of its ablest representatives in Congress.

Circuit Judge John W. Mason, for several years Republican national committeeman for West Virginia, seeks to succeed Clarence W. Watson in the United States senate.

Frank T. O'Hair, who is to succeed "Uncle Joe" Cannon in the House, was born in a log cabin in Edgar County, Illinois, and spent his boyhood days on a farm.

Staunton, Va., the place of Governor Wilson's birth, is planning to make the President-elect's home coming jubilee next month one of the biggest days in the State's history.

Hugh C. Wallace, of the State of Washington, who is mentioned for the post of Postmaster-General in President Wilson's cabinet, is a son in-law of the late Chief Justice Melville W. Fuller.

Samuel V. Stewart, whom the Democrats of Montana have elected governor, was born in Ohio forty years ago, was educated in the University of Kansas and went to Montana and began the practice of law fourteen years ago.

Congressman Morris Sheppard, selected to succeed Joseph W. Bailey as United States senator from Texas, worked as a night watchman in the State Capitol at Austin to earn the money for his expenses at college.

Josephus Daniels, Democratic national committeeman for North Carolina and well known as the publisher of the Raleigh News and Observer, is picked by some politicians as a likely choice for the post of Postmaster-General in the Wilson cabinet.

Louis B. Hanna, governor-elect of North Dakota, entered Congress in 1909, having previously served in both houses of the State legislature. Mr. Hanna was born in Pittsburgh, but was one of the pioneer settlers of the Dakotas. He began as a lumber merchant, but later became a banker and purchased large land holdings.

Before the election of November 5 women could vote in six States, having a total of thirty-seven electoral votes, as follows: California, 13; Colorado, 6; Washington, 7; Idaho, 4; Utah, 4, and Wyoming, 3. Their recent victories give women a choice in the allotment of thirty-three more electoral votes—Michigan, 15; Kansas, 10; Oregon, 5, and Arizona, 3.

ALLIANCE OUT OF ORDINARY.

London, Nov. 19 (Special).—An international matrimonial alliance that reversed the general rule of titled bridegroom and American heiress bride was celebrated in Holy Trinity church, Sloane street, today, when the Countess Camilla Hoyos became the bride of Charles W. Short, Jr., of Boston. The wedding attracted a large gathering of fashionable society. The Countess was given away by her eldest brother, Count Hoyos. Mr. Short was attended by his brother as best man. The bride looked very pretty in a gown of white chiffon with an old Brussels lace train and veil. She was attended by six bridemaids gowned in white chiffon, trimmed with white swansdown. The ceremony at the church was followed by a large reception at the home of the bride's mother in Cumberland place. The bride is the youngest daughter of the late Count George Hoyos, of Fiume, Austria, and she has passed much of the time in London with her widowed mother, who is an English woman, a daughter of the late Sir William Whitehead. The widowed Princess Herbert Bismarck is a sister of the bride. Mr. Short, the bridegroom, is the son of a well known lawyer of Cincinnati. He graduated from Harvard in 1908 and afterward studied architecture. He and his bride will make their home in Boston.

TO BEAUTIFY SMALL CITIES.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 19 (Special).—The eighth annual convention of the American Civic Association began here today with a good attendance of municipal officials and civic leaders from all parts of the country. President J. Horace McFarland called the gathering to order and will preside over the three days' session. The program calls for an exhaustive discussion of city planning with special reference to the problems of the small cities and towns. Other matters that will receive attention are the billboard and smoke nuisances, markets and market places and the extermination of the house fly.

BIGGER HOSPITAL SOON TO BE FACT

Work on the New Buildings Is Well Under Way.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION

How the Concrete Results of the Generous Benefactions of Plainfielders Will Look When Aritsans Get Through—Three Structures.

Now that the work of erecting the new buildings at Muhlenberg Hospital, the money for which was raised during an aggressive campaign a year ago, is well under way, a detailed idea of what is to be done may prove interesting to the public which so largely assisted in raising the money for the purpose. Three new buildings are to be erected—the private room pavilion, the Closson-Edgerton Memorial Obstetrical pavilion, and the Marsh Memorial Pathological Laboratory.

Perhaps, the most important of these buildings is the private room pavilion, the estimated cost of which, exclusive of the finishing of the third floor, is $50,000. The size of the building will be 40x100, three stories, facing on Park avenue. It will contain sixteen private rooms and two private wards. It will be strictly fire- and sound-proof. It will be constructed of Fisk tapestry brick, which is considered the last word in brick work, and will be trimmed with Indiana limestone, with four columns of the same stone.

The building will join on the main structure, connecting with the corridor of the latter running east and west. The entrance will be on Park avenue, separate from the entrance to the ward for visitors. There will be ornamental iron grill work about the main doors. Upon entering the building one will step into a vestibule and thence to a lobby, where an attendant will direct visitors, and attend to telephone calls. To the right

SOMERSET ELECTION BILLS ARE CUT DOWN

North Plainfield Clerk's Account Pruned From $175 to $73.

Somerville, Nov. 20 (Special).—The auditing committee of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders met at the courthouse, at Somerville, yesterday, and went over the bills for the recent election. The bulk of these were for services of the several district boards of registry and election. The pay of the election boards is fixed by law, but many of these had figured the amounts due them in excess of that fixed, and these were cut.

A set sum of $30 was allowed as rent for every polling place in the county. This sum is not satisfactory to renters in Somerville and North Plainfield. An additional sum of $5 was allowed each district for storing booths, but some of the members of the committee wanted to cut this out.

According to the Geran law the amount to be paid the township and municipal clerks was to be fixed by the several municipalities, but the committee ignored this section. Nearly every bill was trimmed, the borough clerk of North Plainfield having his cut from $175 to $73. Among the items on the latter bill were sums spent for supplies, which the borough will have to pay.

VAN HERWERDEN GOES TO COUNCIL

Supreme Court Justice Bergen Passes on Disputed Ballots in 2d Ward Contest.

GUNNISON IS DEFEATED

On Face of District Boards Figures Gunnison Won by 3 Votes and He Gained One on County Board's Recount.

Cornelius vanHerwerden will succeed Councilman Frank L. Holt as the representative in the Common Council from the Second ward, on January 1, and not Stanley E. Gunnison, Jr., who was at first thought to have been elected by three votes. As a result of the recount made on the petition of vanHerwerden, Justice Bergen has decided that the Republican nominee wins by two votes, reversing the first figures when Gunnison was announced as the winner by three votes and the recount returns whereby Gunnison won by four votes.

Following the conclusion of the recount at Elizabeth, yesterday morning, when the actual vote gave vanHerwerden 321 against 325 for Gunnison, there were twenty-eight ballots referred to the court for a decision. Mr. vanHerwerden felt confident then of ultimate victory.

Justice Bergen informed V. W. Nash, Jr., counsel for vanHerwerden, and Mayor G. W. V. Moy, counsel for Gunnison, that he would be in his office at Somerville late yesterday afternoon to render a decision on the disputed ballots. The legal representatives were present, together with William R. Wilson and Frank Pfaff, counsel for James P. Kelley, the contestant for the surrogateship; Donald McLean and Raymond B. Parrott, representing George T. Parrot, who has been declared elected as surrogate on the Republican ticket, and Peter Tillman, clerk of the board of elections, who brought the disputed ballots to Somerville.

Justice Bergen counted twelve of the disputed ballots in favor of vanHerwerden and six of the twenty-four were given to Gunnison. On the six ballots counted for Gunnison the voters had written in names for constable and justice of the peace, but had failed to put an "X" opposite the names. This also was true of the twelve votes counted in favor of vanHerwerden. Justice Bergen decided that this only invalidated the votes for constable and justice of the peace.

By this decision the votes gave vanHerwerden a net gain of six. One ballot which showed an "X," but with no name appearing was thrown out for both contestants. Each candidate lost a ballot through an erasure. There was one ballot cast for Gunnison which had the address of the candidate for constable written thereon. This was thrown out.

Another ballot cast for vanHerwerden had a double "X," which Justice Bergen decided was a marked ballot and was thrown out. There were four other ballots in dispute which affected the surrogateship recount, but not the one for councilman.

Justice Bergen allowing vanHerwerden twelve additional votes and Gunnison six additional votes, made the final official count, 333 for vanHerwerden and 331 for Gunnison.

HERE ARE PRIZES WORTH WHILE; WHO WILL GAIN TITLE TO THEM?

But a Little While And the Eager Contestants Will Be at Their Tasks With Ceaseless and Telling Energy.

Everybody in Plainfield and vicinity knows by this time that the Daily Press is going to give away—absolutely free—a $525 player-piano, a $275 piano and a $100 cabinet Vitaphone. The announcement in last night's issue telling of the adding of the Vitaphone is certain to act as an added incentive to those who are trying to determine whether to enter the contest or not. This offer is not to be passed upon lightly. The long felt need of any organization, be it a club, lodge or other society, can be realized and it can be the winner of one of these high-grade musical instruments if the work is taken up in an earnest manner, but it should be done now while the field is wide open and waiting with its harvest of votes. The same applies to an individual contestant.

It may be that one's nomination has not yet been received. If such is the case fill out the nomination blank on another page of this paper and mail or send it to this office and the name will be added to the list and the contestant will receive the necessary subscription blanks, etc.

Energy and effort are what count in securing the votes which will mean so much to a contestant and to those who have as yet neglected to take advantage of this wonderful offer will be surprised beyond measure at the result if they will but devote a short time each day to telling their friends of the great prize for which they are working, enlisting their support and having them use their influence in getting the support of others. None of the fields have been worked as yet, and the ones who get busy now have the best opportunity for winning the big prize—the player-piano. Remember that all those in the competition securing at least five yearly subscriptions, even if they do not win one of the three prizes, will receive a ten per cent. commission on all business turned in.

The list of contestaonts is now being made up. Now is the time to enroll candidates. Get busy!

Shipping & Receiving clerks have been buying the Split & Normal Burroughs to the tune of several thousand a year, simply because with this machine they can have—the gross, tare and net weight, all at one time—or, they can put in the invoice number and freight prepaid—or give the package number, gross and tare weight—all in one operation of the handle, and the machine adds only those columns that you want added.

Of course, it means the saving of about 35 per cent. of the time in handling the figures in the Shipping or Receiving department. We would like to make a demonstration of what this machine can do in your shipping or receiving department.

TROOPS FOR INAUGURATION.

It would be but a fitting recognition of the great honor that comes to New Jersey for the first time in the history of our country to make the greatest possible display in connection with the inaugural parade at Washington on March 4 when our Governor takes the oath of office as President of the Republic. The suggestion has been advanced that the entire military force of the State be called out on that auspicious occasion.

Every loyal Jerseyman is justly proud of the great distinction accorded his State and partisanship finds no place when one of Jersey's sons is exalted by the sovereign people of the United States. The question of expense is one that should not be of any weight either, for New Jersey can well afford to be of a lavish hand when the honor means so much to it.

Assemblyman-elect Bredenbek, of Hudson county, has intimated that he will introduce a bill in the Legislature calling for an appropriation of $25,000 for the purpose. Adjutant-General Sadler, however, is authority for the statement that the sum proposed would be inadequate. The entire division would include five infantry regiments, two batteries, two cavalry regiments, hospital, signal and telegraph corps. The combined forces aggregate 5,000 men and when railroad fares, subsistence, freight on horses and guns and necessary incidentals are figured up, it is plain to be seen that considerably more than $25,000 will be needed. But what matter it, if the cost would be $50,000? New Jersey can well afford it; all loyal Jerseymen would approve it. New Jersey would be honoring itself.

TO REDUCE LIVING COST.

Relief from the present burdensome tariff is promised by the Democratic Congressmen by July 1, next, and the party leaders in both branches are already shaping their plans to expedite the revision of the duties downward when a special session is convened about April 15. The plan agreed upon is to take up the schedules in this order: Wool, cotton, metals, chemicals, sugar and rubber. The schedule will be reduced, an average rate of 42 per cent. instead of 50 per cent. having been fixed upon, and this will mean a saving of more than fifty millions of dollars to the American people's clothes bill. A saving of some $88,000,000 annually to their cotton bill will be brought about by a reduction of the cotton ad valorem rate from 48 to 27 per cent. When the metal and chemical schedules are pruned down, the combined savings on those two items will be in the neighborhood of $100,000,000. It is estimated that free sugar would save the American people about $113,000,000 a year, and the Democratic program, if enacted into law, would save the consumer $743,000,000 annually, with a probable net revenue loss of about $6,000,000.

Would you like to have a player-piano, or piano without the automatic attachment, or handsomely encased Vitaphone in your home, lodge or club room or in your Sunday school? Any one of these fine musical instruments can be obtained by those who do the most hustling in the Daily Press subscription contest. Even if you fail to land one of these choice prizes, you will be rewarded for your efforts, a ten per cent. cash commission being allowed to all who turn in the names of five or more new yearly subscribers.

THE FORUM.

PROTECTING WORKWOMEN.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
DEPARTMENT OF LABOR.
Trenton, N. J., Nov. 14, 1912.

Editors, Daily Press:

The last session of the Legislature enacted a law specifying that no female shall be employed, allowed or permitted to work in any manufactory, mercantile establishment, in any bakery, laundry or restaurant more than ten hours in any one day, or more than six days, or sixty hours in any one week; provided, that nothing herein contained shall be held to apply to any mercantile establishment for the six working days next preceding the twenty-fifth day of December in each year; and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall apply to canneries engaged in perishable product, such as fruits or vegetables.

The following definitions are contained in this law:

"Manufacturing establishments," as used in this act, means any place where articles for use or consumption are regularly made.

"Mercantile establishments," as used in this act, means any place where goods, wares or merchandise are offered for sale.

"Bakery," as used in this act, shall include all buildings, rooms or places where biscuits, pies, bread, crackers, cakes and confectionery are made or manufactured for sale.

"Restaurant," as used in this act, means any place where refreshments, both food or drink, and where meals are served to the public.

"Laundry," as used in this act, means any place where laundry work is regularly carried on.

This law took effect on October 1 of this year and it is expected that the hours of employment for women in all enterprises coming within the classifications set forth in the act will be readjusted so as to conform with the terms of this statute. The law specifies a penalty of not less than $25 or more than $50 for a first violation of any of the provisions of this act, and for a second offense a fine of not less than $50 or more than $200, placing the responsibility of the enforcement of this legislation on the Department of Labor.

I am, therefore, taking this opportunity of publicly directing the attention of all parties interested in or affected by this legislation to its provisions, and to notify them that copies of this law and an abstract of the law may be obtained by addressing the Department of Labor, State House, Trenton, N. J.

I further wish to caution all employers of women in the establishments mentioned that the department will feel justified in undertaking prosecution for any violation of the terms of this act which may be established.

The department will appreciate the co-operation of employers in securing a compliance with both the letter and spirit of this law.

Yours, respectfully,
LEWIS T. BRYANT,
Commissioner of Labor.

BIGGER HOSPITAL SOON A FACT

of the lobby will be a reception room for visitors.

Straight ahead will be a vista through the length of the corridor. Opening from the lobby there will be a corridor seven feet wide the entire length of the building. All the rooms open from the corridor, while the stairway and elevator open out from the connecting corridor, so as to insure [illegible] and privacy.

[illegible] there will be a dietitian, [illegible], dressers for diets and [illegible] steam table to [illegible] food [illegible] and a sink. The idea being to prepare all food in the main kitchen and distribute it to the diet kitchens [illegible] to be served to patients. Each floor will have its own [illegible] and they will be kept the distance for the service on each floor.

There will be duty room for nurses, a dryer and warming receptable for blankets and linen; also separate lavatories for men and women, a linen room the full depth of the corridor to the wall of the building; also a maid's closet. Two of the rooms at the southwest corner will connect with private bath between. The floors of the corridors, diet kitchens and lavatories will be of tile, and those in the private rooms will be of oak and the walls will be tiled five feet high.

A patient by pressing a call button will simply turn on a light over the door, and other lights in the diet kitchen, duty room and nurse's station, thus doing away with the ringing of bells. At the end of the corridor on the south there will be a large solarium, 14x20, three sides of which will be enclosed with glass, and it will be fitted up to make a comfortable place for convalescent patients. The second floor will be an exact duplicate of the first floor, except that it will have no private wards. There will be only private rooms on the second floor, the idea being to make the building as much a revenue producer as possible.

Later on the idea is to place some private wards on the third floor, reserving those on the first floor for private rooms. It would cost about $15,000 to finish the third floor, and if any public spirited citizen desires to contribute that amount, it would be greatly appreciated.

The Closson-Edgerton Memorial Obstetrical Pavilion, which will be built with the money left through the will of Mrs. Minnie Closson-Edgerton will be located at the east end of the corridor of the present building, extending north. It will face on Randolph road, and will be one story similar to the present operation pavilion, and will serve to balance the present group of buildings. This will also be fire- and sound-proof, and will have a solarium at the south end of the ward, with lavatory connecting the duty room. There will be a diet kitchen, preparation and operating rooms and nursery. At the north end there will be four commodious private rooms with a separate lavatory so arranged that the private rooms will be shut off from the rest of the building. There will also be linen and maid's closets.

The corridor, duty room, lavatories, prepartion, operating rooms and kitchen will have tile floors and the walls of the same, except the corridor will be tiled, while the private rooms will have oak floors. The trim of the doors and windows will be of oak, flat veneered doors without panels. The estimated cost of this building is $18,000 and the capacity eight or nine persons.

The Marsh Memorial Pathological Laboratory is made possible by the contribution of Mrs. Marsh, in memory of her husband, the late Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh. The estimated cost is $5,000, and the building will be equipped with every modern appliance.

The committee has also arranged to build a "shelter" for visitors [illegible] Park avenue and Randolph road. This has been needed for a long time. [illegible] will be a simple, yet attractive affair, in keeping with the general architecture of the grounds and buildings. The work has been started on the private room pavilion and the Closson-Edgerton building. The contractor, Alexander Milne, found it necessary to go ten feet below the cellar bottom to build his foundation owing to an old water course. However, there was not the slightest evidence of dampness, the soil being sand and gravel.

In providing for a children's ward which will be a feature, it has been decided to use the second floor of the present administration building, with a capacity for twenty children. There was raised in all for the work, $130,000, of which $20,000 was taken at once to pay off the running operating debt of the institution.

Crow, Lewis & Wickenhoefer, of New York, who designed the Soale Maternity Hospital, New York, are the architects. Alexander Milne, of this city, has the general contract. The committee from the Board of Governors in charge of the work comprises Frank J. Hubbard, chairman; George P. Mellick, Percy H. Stewart, Edward H. Ladd, Jr., Samuel Townsend and Henry L. Hall.

SCENE OF MURDER.

Hotel Elsmere and Room In Which Deadly Battle Raged.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

Private Detective John Allen, once known in the New York police department as "Spider" Allen, died from wounds inflicted by Therirdo Razyesky, alias Joseph Vogel, when he found himself cornered like a rat in a room at the Elsmere hotel, the Bronx, and sent a hail of bullets from a magazine revolver around the room, shooting six persons and then committing suicide. The result of the desperate battle in the hotel room now stands at three dead and two dying.

BRYAN SECRETARY OF STATE, IT'S REPORTED

Declared He's Sure to Be In Wilson's Cabinet.

Washington, Nov. 20.—William J. Bryan will be secretary of state in the cabinet of President Woodrow Wilson provided he accepts. It was learned on authority that can hardly be questioned that the premier post in the Wilson administration has been offered to the Nebraskan and that he probably will accept. Furthermore Mr. Bryan apparently will be one of Mr. Wilson's chief advisers in selecting the new cabinet.

The tender to Mr. Bryan of the portfolio of state is the only cabinet matter that has been formally settled up to this time.

Mr. Bryan's interest in the next administration can no longer be minimized. For weal or woe the president has made acknowledgments to the leader of the so called progressive wing of the Democracy by inviting him to sit at his right at the council table and to advise with him in forming a cabinet. He apparently has performed for Mr. Bryan the same office that President Elect Taft did for Philander C. Knox four years ago by offering him the secretaryship of state at the very outset of the making of his cabinet and commissioning him to assist in building the administrative machine.

That is the significance that is now attached to Mr. Bryan's forthcoming visit to Bermuda, which was reported in press dispatches from Hamilton, Bermuda, where President Wilson is now reposing. Mr. Bryan has been in Washington for more than a week. While he has been very guarded in his talks even with his personal friends, he has conferred with many of the party leaders, and to some of them he has appeared in a conciliatory attitude, advising harmony and apparently showing a willingness to co-operate for the future party success.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 44 degrees; 11 a. m., 57 degrees; 1 p. m., 59 degrees.

SESAME CLUB.

The Sesame Club will meet tomorrow morning with Mrs. H. D. Corbusier, 608 Park avenue. The subject will be "Colonial Days."

PASTORAL "AT HOME."

Rev. and Mrs. J. O. McKelvey will be at home Thursday night from 8 to 10 o'clock to all the church members that care to call. "At homes" are held monthly by Rev. and Mrs. McKelvey.

Joseph Angerbauer, Sr., of East Third street, is still in the hospital, where he was taken six weeks ago. His general condition is said to be slightly improved.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church will hold a meeting tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Philip Bach, on Somerset street.

The Kitchen Cupboard

THE PUMPKIN PIE.

THE autumn feast would not be complete without the golden pumpkin pie.

When preparing the pumpkin for pies cut it into strips, taking out the central pith and the seeds. Pare the strips, cut into pieces and run through the meat chopper, using the coarse cutter.

Put into a saucepan with boiling water, using one-fourth as much water as pumpkin. Cover the saucepan and boil for ten minutes. Then let the vessel simmer slowly on the back of the fire for three or four hours. This is a simple method of preparing the pumpkin for the pie filling. The other ingredients may be added when the pie is to be made.

Simple Pastry.

Eggless Pumpkin Pie.—When eggs are high and you wish to economize the following recipe is worth trying: Use a tablespoonful of cornstarch for each egg called for. Do not spice the pumpkin until the pies are ready for the oven, then dust thickly with powdered cinnamon and dot with bits of butter.

Economical Pumpkin Pie.—Take five tablespoonfuls of the cooked pumpkin, mash it fine, add one egg, a tablespoonful of flour, two-thirds of a cupful of sugar, a pinch of salt, one-half teaspoonful ginger, one-quarter teaspoonful cinnamon or allspice and enough milk to fill one pie. Bake with lower crust only and brown slightly on top.

When Eggs Are Plentiful.

Rich Pumpkin Pie.—Take five tablespoonfuls of the cooked pumpkin, three eggs, one cupful of sugar, one pint of rich milk, a pinch of salt, a small piece of butter. Season with nutmeg and cinnamon. This is enough for two pies. For the crust use one cupful of lard to two cupfuls of flour and a pinch of salt. Mix with a fork, stirring in as little water as possible.

Pumpkin Custard Pies.—Pare and cut into small pieces enough pumpkin to fill a pint measure, place in a saucepan, cover with half a cupful of water and steam until tender. Then lift off the lid and let the water evaporate. Drain in a colander. Beat four eggs together, add to them two cupfuls of rich milk and then the pumpkin, a scant cup of sugar, a teaspoonful of cinnamon and half a spoonful of ginger. Mix and pour into individual baking dishes lined with puff paste. Bake in the oven and serve at once.

VANITY'S VISIONS.

Spangled Tunics Brighten Up an Old Frock Wonderfully.

Spangled and beaded tunics to wear with satin gowns are very popular.

Bands, medallions and ornaments of metal are employed on the afternoon and evening wraps and costumes.

PLAITED SKIRTS VERY SMART.

Tunic draperies of transparent lace, like chantilly, shadow and malines, are used for evening gowns.

Clever use of red is one of the season's smartest features.

Brick red and Persian red are both in high favor. Strong yellows are much used in veiled effects for evening.

Finely-plaited skirts are among the novelties of the season. The plaits are laid so flat that they give long, straight lines, at the same time the fullness yielding to every movement of the figure. This plaited skirt can be made with perfectly flat knife plaits turning backward, so that they form little box plaits at the center, or it can be accordion plaited by machinery.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

All roads lead to Philadelphia this week for suffragists and their sympathizers. On Thursday (tomorrow) morning at 10 a. m., preliminary committee meetings of the National Suffrage Association will be held, and at 12 m. a great outdoor meeting at Independence Hall will practically open the convention. At 2:30 p. m. will be heard the addresses of welcome from Mayor Blankenburg and from Mrs. Ellen H. E. Price, president of the Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association, and response by Mrs. James Lees Lardlan, New York, second auditor. Greetings from fraternal delegates and many interesting reports will follow. At 8:30 p. m., Miss Jane Addams, first vice president, will preside, and after President Shaw's annual address there will be fifteen minutes addresses from leaders in the campaign States of Ohio, Kansas, Oregon, Michigan, Wisconsin and Arizona. Friday will be devoted to business during the day, several important amendments to the constitution having been presented and many recommendations from the executive committee. The evening program Friday has been arranged by the National Men's League for Woman Suffrage with James L. Lardlan presiding, speakers, Reginald W. Kaufman, Jesse Lynch Williams, Witter Bynnes, A. I. G. Taylor, Hon. Fred C. Howe, George Foster Peabody, Judge Dimmer Beebes, Rev. Henry Gratham Mythen. Saturday is another day of interesting conferences and business. The evening is called college league evening, with M. Carey Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr, presiding. On Sunday at 3 p. m., there will be a great procession, followed by a Thanksgiving service; prayer, Bishop Darlington; speakers, Dr. W. E. B. Dubois, Miss Jane Addams, Rev. Anna H. Shaw, Miss Julia Lathrop. Monday will be devoted to election of officers, reports and unfinished business, and the evening session will do honor to Baroness von Luttner and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, followed by fifteen five minute addresses by representative men and women. This will practically close the convention. The official delegates from New Jersey are: Mrs. E. F. Feickert, of Plainfield, newly elected president of N. J. W. S. A.; Mrs. C. S. Laddey, ex president; Mrs. Minola G. Sexton, honorary president; Mrs. Mary L. Calvin, ex-secretary; Mrs. Anna B. Jeffery, treasurer; Mrs. Horace Hill; alternates, Mrs. Russell Dorr, Plainfield; Mrs. Anthony and Miss Paul, Jersey City; Mrs. Wilson, Vineland.

An important meeting of the New Jersey delegates and alternates was held in Newark this morning to decide on the policy of New Jersey at the convention.

The Pennsylvania suffragists expect to furnish all delegates with entertainment, lodging and breakfast. The reduction of a fare and three fifths on the certificate plan has been secured for persons attending the convention. All who go are urged to purchase their ticket on the certificate plan whether they save little or much, as by so ding they will help others who need the reduction rate and it is better to save money for the cause than to give it to the railroads.

One of the important amendments to the constitution to be considered is "That the officers and members of the National American Woman Suffrage Association maintain a strictly non-partisan attitude to all political parties, excepting, however, members of the association from States where equal suffrage is in force."

WHY COLORADO WENT WET.

Colorado carried many progressive measures at the last election, but the constitutional amendment for State-wide prohibition was defeated. It was the first time that this measure had been submitted in a suffrage State, and the reasons for the result are of interest.

The Denver Times, in announcing the loss of the amendment by 30,000 majority, publishes a series of interviews with prominent Denver women, giving their opinion as to why it did not win.

Ellis Meredith writes to The Woman's Journal:

"Of course, the wet victory will be quoted against equal suffrage; but the fact remains that it is because under our local option law conditions are so good, and dry territory increasing so fast, that many people feel we shall come nearer regulating the traffic this way than by so-called total prohibition, with the police power in all the big towns opposed to it. It is the belief that prohibition doesn't prohibit that defeats this measure everywhere, and with us we do feel that the local option law has been a great success. The list of other measures that have carried are greatly to our credit."

Within four years after equal suffrage was granted in Colorado the number of no-license towns had more than quadrupled, and it has increased still more largely since. Before women got the ballot many saloon-keepers had served on the Denver City Council. Not one has been elected to it in the nineteen years since then.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

The absolute hit of the present theatrical season is unanimously conceded to Geo. M. Cohan, who continues to present himself in his latest play offering, "Broadway Jones," in his own theatre where enough people are turned away at each performance to fill that popular playhouse all over again. Seats for "Broadway Jones" are now on sale for all holiday matinees, including Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day.

One of the best attractions in New York City is "Hawthorne of the U. S. A.," the romantic farce now being offered at the Astor theatre by Cohan & Harris with Douglas Fairbanks in the stellar role. No play presented in recent years has succeeded in arresting and holding the tense attention noticeable in the Astor theatre audiences as they follow the adventures of Hawthorne, whose deeds of heroism and valor are typical of the clean lived young American of today. The climax in "Hawthorne of the U. S. A." are productive of thrill after thrill, and the fight that finishes the second act will fairly lift you out of your seat. Matinees Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

PENNSYLVANIA ZOOLOGIST TELLS HUNTERS HOW THEY CAN AVOID GUNNING ACCIDENTS

The observance of a few ordinary precautions and rules, says Professor H. A. Surface, State zoologist, of Pennsylvania, will prevent many serious gunning accidents. The accidents which are associated with the hunting season are usually caused by carelessness on the part of the hunters. Adherence to the following suggestions made by Professor Surface, he asserts, will reduce these to a minimum and will also give a hunter a better insight to the sport which he is anxious to enjoy:

One—Always keep the gun pointed from yourself and other persons.

Two—Carry a gun with the end pointed either upward toward the sky or downward, toward the ground. Never sweep the horizon with it. If accidentily discharged while in the former position, no harm is likely to result, but if discharged while held horizontally it may result seriously.

Three—In getting over logs or fences always see that the gun is first put over and in a solid position where it will not fall. Then go to another place to climb over, and pick up the weapon with the end pointing where it should.

Four—Never pull or draw a gun toward yourself by the muzzle, especially in wagons, boats, over fences, logs, etc.

Five—Do not load the gun until after leaving the house, and draw the loads (or remove the caps, if a muzzle loader, and watch that no percussion is left on the tube) as soon as leaving the hunting grounds.

Six—Never keep a loaded gun around the house or tent, and do not leave a loaded weapon where it may be knocked down by dogs or children.

Seven—Do not carry the gun cocked excepting when alert for the game to rise.

Eight—Do not shoot into moving bushes or in the direction of a noise without being sure the desired game is there and seeing it for certainty. The movement or noise may be caused by some person or by domesticated stock.

Nine—Watch the muzzle of the gun that no mud, snow or other material fills it; and do not load as heavily with white or nitro powder as with black powder. This may prevent accident from bursting.

Ten—Do not start a fire in the woods without first providing against its spreading, and do not leave it burning under any circumstances.

Eleven—Do not wound game and leave it to suffer and die of its injuries. Better to spend an hour searching for a winged bird than to let it remain and suffer for a day or two before relieved by a merciful death.

Twelve—Do not shoot protected birds or animals. There is a reason for protecting them. Find what it is and you will agree that the law is generally correct in giving them a protective season.

Thirteen—If you are going for fun only it is all right to take inexperienced friends, a well-filled lunch basket, literature and a target, and go to the nearest grove.

Fourteen—If going for game, go alone or with experienced hunters only. Carry only what is essential. Hunt with the back to the sun, slowly and quietly, and in such places and at such time of day as experience has taught that the particular kind of game sought is to be found.

Fifteen—Do not hunt for "anything." This generally results in nothing. Different kinds of game are to be found in different places and at varying times of day, according to the species sought. Decide before starting out as to the kind of game to be hunted and the region to be visited.

Sixteen—Ascertain if farms or premises are "posted" or hunting is forbidden, and keep out of trouble by either avoiding them or by asking the owners for permission to hunt on those portions where no damage to live stock may result.

Seventeen—If fences are knocked down in climbing over them take time to fix them up properly. Leave gates and bars just as they were found. If open, leave them so, as that is evidently what the owner wants, but if closed be sure to close and fasten them as before.

Eighteen—Be satisfied with a fair share of game, and do not try to exceed the legal timit or to kill all that may be found just because it may be there.

PUNTS AND PUNCHES

Yale has kicked eight goals after 11 touchdowns this fall, and has scored three times by goals from the field.

The Carlisle Indians have rolled up the highest total of points this season of any of the eastern college teams.

Dartmouth coaches think that in Scovil, the large freshman back, they have one of the coming line breakers of the country.

The Syracuse University eleven held Yale to three touchdowns this fall, and since then have defeated both Michigan and Lafayette.

Harvard does not confer a "letter" upon a player who takes part in a Princeton game. The "H" reward is won in a game against Yale only.

Captain Wendell, of the Harvard eleven, who has been out of the game on account of injuries, expects to be able to play in the Yale game.

Captain Pendleton and "Hobey" Baker, of the Princeton Tigers, are having a close contest as to which can kick the more goals after touchdowns.

Penn State is said by Philadelphia experts to be the best football team in the country, with only the possible exception of Harvard and Yale.

Harvard has an advantage over Yale this year in that its team has been practically intact for six or seven weeks, while Yale has been making more than the usual number of shifts.

Pal Moore and Young Shughrue have been matched to box at Waterbury, Conn., Thanksgiving Day.

Bob Fitzsimmons, the former heavyweight champion, and his son Bob, Jr., are giving boxing exhibitions on the vaudeville stage.

Patsy Hogan, one of the old school of lightweights, has been appointed boxing instructor of the New Orleans Athletic Club.

Promoter Coffroth, of San Francisco, will try to arrange a match between Champion Wolgast and the winner of the Mandot-Rivers bout.

The National Sporting Club of London is trying to arrange a match between Eddie McGoorty and Dave Smith, the Australian champion.

Once more Peter Maher comes across with a challenge to muss up Sandy Ferguson or any other "white hope," now at large roaming the country.

Ad Wolgast will sail for England in January, to meet Frerrie Welsh, who recently defeated Matt Wells for the lightweight championship of England.

Manager Jimmy Dunn, who looks after the interests of Johnny Kilbane, has established a booking exchange for fighters in Cleveland. He states that he has 40 boxers under his management.

Tommy Ryan, former middleweight champion, announces his retirement from the game entirely. We thought that Tommy had retired several years ago, but his recent announcement shows that we are five or six years behind in our boxing dope.

SCHEDULED FOR TONIGHT.

Johnny Coulon vs. Charley Goldman, 10 rounds, at Brooklyn.

Battling Hurley vs. Paddy Sullivan, 10 rounds, at Brooklyn.

Charlie White vs. Pal Moore, 10 rounds, at Kenesha, Wis.

CAPTAIN WENDELL.

Regarded as One of Year's Most Sensational Football Players.

The Harvard team has one of the best sack fields in the east with Brickley and Captain Wendell. Wendell was tried for a time at fullback, but is now back at his old position at half and gives promise of becoming one of the year's most sensational line plungers. Injuries have laid him up most of the season, but he played a great game against Dartmouth and hopes the Crimson will wave over the Blue.

THANKSGIVING DAY BASKETBALL CARD

Double Bill at the Y. M. C. A. Next Thursday Afternoon Hard to Duplicate.

One of the finest cards of basketball that has been offered to the local public in many years has been arranged by Manager Hetfield, of the Y. M. C. A. Ajax, to take place at the Y. M. C. A. gym Thanksgiving Day afternoon. Two of the fastest teams in this section of the State, and without a doubt the superior teams of this city and borough will come together in the main attraction and the game will be one for blood as both teams have a clean slate and each is desirous of keeping its record unmarred by defeat. The representative fives of Hope chapel and the Y. M. C. A. have always been the closest of rivals and whenever they clash the outcome is uncertain until the shriek of the final whistle. Hope Chapel has won all three of the games it has played this season and in every instance have come out ahead with a goodly margin to spare. The Ajax, on the other hand, have also won a trio, but in every case the opposing team has been right in the running until the association players came to the fore with their famous spurt and the latter have never come through with more than four points to spare. This fact does not reflect in any way on the playing ability of the Y. M. C. A. team however, as all of their opponents have been teams far superior to those encountered by Hope chapel.

It now seems probable that all of the Ajax players who have been out of the game because of injuries will be able to get back into the fray in time for this all important contest and the best available lineup will represent the home team.

As a preliminary bill, the Y. W. C. A. team and the feminine basket-cagers from the Wesley Methodist church Sunday-school, of Paterson, will occasion no little interest as both have aggregations that are hard to duplicate in girls' basketball circles. The local team is captained by Miss Helen Hummel, who led the North Plainfield High School girls' team on the court last year and is still considered one of the best feminine basket-cagers in the State. As assistants in her work this year Miss Hummel will have Miss Clara Smith, the star guard of last year's N. P. H. S. team; Miss Ida Hummel, who played with the Y. W. C. A. team last year, and Miss Maher, also a member of the association quintet last season.

The Paterson team is made up entirely of High School girls and during their practices which are held in the Y. W. C. A. gym, of Paterson, they have the advantage of the coaching which Miss Nellie B. Leyde, the physical director of that association, can give them.

ATHLETIC EVENTS AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Future Greats in a Competition for Athletic Supremacy.

Twenty-four contestants engaged in athletic competition in the two boys' classes held at the local Y. M. C. A., yesterday afternoon, and the two events promoted some keen rivalry among the athletes. In the National League, which is made up of fellows in the High School class, the standing hop, step and jump was on the card and Brynarski came out victor by three inches over Peacock who was the runner up. Buckle, who took third place, had but one inch to spare over Lavere, the fourth man.

In the College League of the junior boys' class, the snap under was scheduled and Arthur Stout took first honors in that event. The snap under which is made with the parallel bars, is somewhat of an innovation at the local gym and considering the nature of the event the youngsters made unusually creditable showings.

The summaries:

Standing hop, step and jump—Brynarski, New York, 23.3; Peacock, Chicago, 23; Buckle, Boston, 21.9; Lavere, Boston, 21.8; Glover, New York, 20.10; Blair, New York, 20.6; Miller, New York, 19.9; Genismar, Boston, 19; Smelson, Boston, 15; Hall, Chicago, 14.

The Snap Under—Stout, Penn, 5.8; Ryder, Princeton, 5.6; Marsh, Princeton, 5.1; Kinney, Harvard, 5; McDowell, Princeton, 4.11; Adam, Harvard, 4.11; Foster, Yale, 4.8; Sheng, Penn, 4.5; Krausse, Harvard, 4.3; Walter, Yale, 3.10; Brower, Princeton, 3.7; Stover, Penn, 3.7; Smalley, Yale, 3; Hylan, Yale, 2.

ARREST HICKEY FOR KILLING BUFFALO BOY

Suspect Was In Sanitarium For Drunkenness.

New York, Nov. 20.—Locked up in a cell in the Ocean county jail at Toms River, N. J., is a man whom the police of Buffalo, N. Y., believe to be the murderer of Joseph Josephs, the seven year-old boy whose dismembered body was found in a sewer vault at Lackawanna, near Buffalo, last Saturday. The suspect, who gives the name of J. Frank Hickey, was arrested by Sheriff Frank Tilton of Ocean county at Keswick, near Whiting, N. J., where is located a sanitarium for victims of the liquor habit. A telegram from the chief of police of Buffalo to Sheriff Tilton on Monday gave a description of the man and the sheriff did the rest.

Although Hickey asserts his innocence of the crime and says he does not even know the Josephs boy, he admits that he once worked in Lackawanna near the Josephs home, and that he was later employed in Buffalo. He took his arrest coolly and at first was inclined to waive extradition proceedings. Later, however, he decided to fight and engaged former Assistant Prosecutor Jeffrey of Ocean county to represent him. A representative of the chief of police in Buffalo is expected in Toms River today with photographs of the man who has been the object of a country wide search for the past three days.

Chief Regan, according to dispatches from Buffalo, has no doubt that the Toms River prisoner will prove to be the slayer of the Josephs boy and possibly of Michael Kruck, a New York newsboy, who has long been missing. It has been the belief of the police authorities for several days that if the murderer ever was captured he would eventually break down and confess not only to these two crimes but in addition to many others of which nothing is known, the victims having been considered simply as "disappeared."

Hickey has been under treatment for excessive drinking.

A Winter Necessity—
A Summer Convenience

Madam! If you are hunting an all-round, year-round kitchen range, the Newport will please you. Burns both coal and gas—at the same time or either alone. Practically two ranges in one. Gives double cooking capacity and takes little more room than an ordinary six-hole coal range. The is especially fine for summer use when a coal fire becomes oppressive. Everything that you can do with the coal fire you can do as well with the gas burners. These boil, bake, fry and stew perfectly, and never overheat the kitchen. The Newport has a large water-back and conveniently placed dampers. Embraces every recent improvement. Is easily cleaned and cared for. Ask the BOYNTON man about this range.

MR. & MRS. DUNCAN IN "FRECKLES"

At Plainfield Theatre, Saturday, Matinee and Night.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

The dramatization of Gene Stratton-Porter's "Freckles," has proved that there is no end of success to good, clean, moral plays. It is to the credit of A. G. Delmater, he of the "Beverly of Graustark," and other successful plays, who first saw the possibilities of Mrs. Porter's work, and now it stands as one of the substantial successes of the pat decade of theatrical history. This is not a surmise, a flimsy prognostication, or the exaggeration of the press agent, but an absolute certainty. It has been tried and a dramatic writer of world-wide reputation has said, like a majority of the critics: "It is fair to prophesy that 'Freckles,' the play, will attain a popularity equal to that of the novel," and it will not be out of place to state that the novel has had over a million readers. It has proved the best seller of all the best sellers of the past ten years. Mr. Delamater has given "Freckles" a perfect stage investiture, and there will be found nothing wanting in the matter of scenery, accessories or cast; it is up to the required standard of a Delamater production, and that should be sufficient. It will be seen at the Plainfield theatre, Saturday afternoon and evening. As a love story, it is full of real sentiment; as a story of adventure, it is positively gripping, in fact, in all the elementary features, there is no character or set of characters which have been seen for years so intensely interesting, nor has there been a more beautiful stage picture than "Freckles."

ALLIES REPLY TO PLEA FOR PEACE

Ask Entry Into Adrianople, Scutari and Janina.

TO EVACUATE TCHATALJA.

Will Not Enter Constantinople if Four Turkish Towns Are Surrendered. Both Sides Welcome Cessation of Fierce Fighting.

Sofia, Nov. 20.—Kiamil Pasha, grand vizier of the Turks, has received from the Bulgarian premier, Gusshof, the conditions under which the Bulgars will consent to an armistice. The allies had announced their readiness to consider the proposition made to them by Turkey for an armistic with peace in view, and this is their answer:

"First.—The allies will not enter Constantinople if the forts of Tchatalja are evacuated and four important Turkish towns are surrendered before they will hear of an armistice the diplomats of the little states will call upon Nazim Pasha to lead every one of his fighting men from the forts in front of the capital which he has struggled so long to hold.

"Second.—Adrianople, that has stood out against Bulgar and Serb since first the Bulgars came across the border at Mustapha Pasha and where so many Turks have lost their lives in desperate sallies in the face of galling artillery fire, where cholera and famine have been as bitter an enemy of the Turk as of the foe outside his walls, must be surrendered

"Third.—That Scutari, which place the Montenegrins are besieging and have been besieging since they started the war and whose commander said he would die with every Turk in the defenses before he surrendered, must be given up by the Turk if he seeks an armistice.

"And Janina, beleagured by the Greeks, and Tibra, in Albania, must open their gates to the allies before they will give their promise not to enter the sultan's city."

Both Sides Burying Dead.

London, Nov. 20.—On the embattled ground before the Tchataija defenses the Bulgars and the Turks are burying their dead. A dispatch from Constantinople says that an eight hours armistice was agreed to between Nazim Pasha and the Bulgarian commanders

Both sides have suffered heavy casualties, and the bodies of the dead on the field of battle increase the danger of cholera that has proved so great a menace to the combatants.

The respite was welcome to Bulgar and Turk alike, worn by the four fierce days and nights of fighting In these latter days of the war the Bulgarian fighting men have not met with the success that swept the Turk ahead of them all the way from Mustapha Pasha to the gates of the sultan's city, and it is believed that the fact that they have had their fill of fighting for the time being, together with the dread of the cholera that awaits them in Constantinople, has had much to do with the talk of peace that went on between the diplomats of the two nations today However badly he may have been defeated at the outset, military men believe, if any credence can be placed in the dispatches telling of the last two or three days of fighting, that Nazim Pasha has distinguished himself as one who did not know when he was defeated and who put up a grim struggle in the last ditch.

Turks Display White Flag.

The Montenegrins and Servians met before Alessio in that stretch of sea coast upon which Austria keeps so jealous an eye and so spirited was their attack that the Turk hauled up the white flag over the city.

From Montenegrin sources comes the word that 500 Turkish soldiers disguised as Montenegrins appeared before San Giovanni di Medua, which the Black mountain warriors had captured According to these reports, they cheered for King Nicholas, but the Montenegrins saw through the ruse and fired on the Turks, many of whom were killed and the rest captured.

A Vienna dispatch denies the rumor that Austrian warships have set sail for Durazzo, on the Adriatic, near where the Servians are maneuvering.

King Peter of Servia plans a triumphal entrance into Monastir, which fell to his troops after a bloody fight, and the streets of that city are already being decorated.

At Saloniki the queen of Greece is superintending the feeding of 6,000 Moslem, 2,000 Jewish and 1,000 Greek families. All the political prisoners have been liberated.

RESPITE FOR THE ALLENS.

Governor Stays Execution of Outlaws to Dec. 13.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 20.—Governor Mann of Virginia respited until Dec. 13 Floyd Allen and his son, Claude Swanson Allen, both condemned to die on Friday for their complicity in the murders at Judge Massie's courtroom in Hillsville, Va.

Lovely Chiffon Waists $3

ACTUALLY WORTH $5.00 AND $6.00
ONLY ONE HUNDRED IN THE LOT.

Just one hundred truly beautiful $5 and $6 chiffon waists at $3 Thursday! 'Tis a pity there are not more of them, but the maker had no more. On the other hand, it is fortunate for early shoppers that the lot is small, for this is one reason why we bought them so cheaply. The waists are indeed, beautiful. And though the lot is limited, there are many different styles—varied enough to please all women. Some are embroidered, others have yoke of net and trimmed with lace and silk. All sizes in the lot, but, of course, not all sizes in every style. No mail, 'phone or C. O. D. orders filled; none on approval; regular $5 and $6 waists, while 100 last $3.00

SAYS WIFE DREW A KNIFE ON HIM

Lawyer, Seeking Divorce, Tells of Domestic Abuses.

SHE HAS NAMED A WIDOW

On Many Occasions, Husband Says, He Returned Home at Night and Found Door Locked and Bell Muffled by His Wife.

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 20.—Edward Dudley, a wealthy lawyer and club member of Camden, and his wife, Marie Mullock Dudley, a handsome brunette, appeared in the court of chancery before Vice Chancellor Stevenson in a divorce action, Mr. Dudley alleging desertion and Mrs. Dudley naming Mrs. Elizabeth Battell Vanderpool, a widow who lives on her own estate at Saugerties, N. Y., known as Meadow side.

The Dudley home in Camden is called the Grange and is one of the show places of that section of the state. The Dudleys were married on March 4, 1899, and lived together until May, 1905, although their relations have been strained since almost the first day of their marriage. Mr. Dudley said that his wife continually accused him, and they were unable to get along together. He said drinking was the cause of many of her outbreaks.

When she had taken one or two drinks, he said, she would abuse him in the presence of his friends. "One night," said Dudley on the stand, "when the butler had left the dining room and we were at the table together she suddenly jumped from her chair and, grabbing a carving knife from the table, she rushed at me, crying, 'You devil, I'm going to kill you!'

"I told her that it was as good a time as any other to do it.

"Then she threw the knife on the floor and cried, 'You devil, you!'"

"Shortly after that she went to her room, dressed and went out, taking theater tickets I had ordered for the night. I remained at home. I don't know who she went to the theater with."

On many occasions, Dudley said, he returned home at night and found the door locked and the bell muffled. Unless he was able to raise the servants by his cries he had to go to a hotel and sleep. He said he went to Europe in 1899, 1900, 1901 and 1902 with his wife, but on the last trip she made it so uncomfortable for him that he told her he would never go with her again. In 1903, 1904 and 1905 she went alone and would not take her maid with her, although he begged her to do so. When she went away in 1903, he said, he went to the pier to see her off, but she shut herself in her stateroom and locked the door. He did her goodby through the door, he said.

COLLINS WANTS NEW CHARTER FOR ELIZABETH

Elizabeth, Nov. 20.—General Dennis F. Collins made an address at the weekly dinner of the Board of Trade in the Elks' Clubhouse yesterday. General Collins, who was elected councilman from the Sixth ward, told his hearers that many improvements were needed in this city to keep pace with its growth. The speaker said that the thing demanding immediate attention is a new charter. The present one was drawn in 1864 and is antiquated for modern Elizabeth, said the speaker. The elimination of politics from the government of the city was another point of interest discussed by him. At the present time, according to the views of the general, politics play an important part in local police affairs.

"District men hold back appointments and promotions until after election, pending the work accomplished by the various aspirants at the polls on election day," continued General Collins.

"This policy must be changed and I want to go back into the Council to help fight for such changes," said the speaker. Police and public works commissioners are advocated by General Collins.

TWO PLAINFIELDERS ATTEND ODD FELLOWS' CONVENTION

Trenton is once more the mecca of a host of delegates today, when the annual Grand Lodge of the Odd Fellows of New Jersey opens the sessions of its 79th assembly. Over 400 delegates, from all parts of the State, will be present, with headquarters at the Windsor Hotel. Besides these, there will be a great number of invited guests coming from the jurisdictions of other States.

Those that will represent the Plainfield lodges at the convention of Odd Fellows in Trenton today and tomorrow are Joseph H. Sheppard, of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, and Charles Young, of Queen City Lodge, No. 226.

Besides the record of last year's doings, amendments to the State constitution will be voted upon at the session and speeches will be given by the State representatives who were present at the recent Sovereign Grand Lodge at Winnepeg, Man. The names of these follow: C. Feming Stanger, of Glassboro; Dr. Frank Crowther, of Perth Amboy; William H. Biddle, of Atlantic City, and Oscar N. Falk, of Paterson.

STRUCK JURY IN PERJURY TRIAL

Somerville, Nov. 20.—(Special).—Before Judge Case in the Somerset County Court yesterday a struck jury was drawn to try Nicholas Gallucci and Giovanni Gallipolo, charged with perjury in the trial of Salvatore Pannette, who was convicted recently of atrocious assault upon Jacob Levine. Owing to the illness of Judge Isaac P. Runyon, of North Plainfield, the trial went over to December 3.

LECTURE ON THE ACROPOLIS.

EXPOSITION TO BOOST JERSEY

Elizabeth Board of Trade to Start Show on Feb. 10.

Elizabeth, N. J., Nov. 20.—Building up a county is the object of the Elizabeth board of trade, which is making elaborate plans for one of the greatest industrial expositions ever held in New Jersey. The big show will be held in the new Second regiment armory in this city from Feb. 10 to 15, 1913.

The floor space of the big building has been divided into 138 booths, most of which contain 100 square feet each. These will be rented to Union county manufacturers at a nominal price. One of the features of the plans for the exposition is the fact that the board does not intend to reap any profit from it. Any amount in excess of 10 per cent above the expenses will be divided pro rata among the exhibitors.

JERSEY GROWN PINEAPPLE.

Springfield Man Produces One After Six Years' Work.

Springfield, N. J., Nov. 20.—School Trustee Morris B. Allen of Union township possesses what he declares is the only pineapple ever grown in that municipality. He expects it to adorn his table on Sunday. Allen planted the core of a pineapple in his garden about six years ago. It sprouted that year, and he potted it for winter, the plant making a welcome addition to the others in the house.

The next summer he set it out again, and the process of repotting was repeated. The fruit first began to show signs of appearing last winter. It developed slowly but surely, and now it appears to be quite edible. The plant gives promise of producing other pineapples in time.

Found Dead From Gas.

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 20.—George Hogan, forty-five years of age, was found dead in his room in the boarding house of John Connolly at 668 Communipaw avenue, this city, by William Gilbert, a friend, who made an early call upon him. The gas was turned on and Hogan was found in a sitting posture, leaning against the foot of the bed. Whether it was suicide or an accident it was impossible to tell.

MANY PATIENTS TO BE RECEIVED

36 Sufferers Qualify for Treatment at Bonnie Burn Sanitarium.

MUST OBEY THE RULES

If They Don't, the Management Has Power to Enforce the Regulations—Latter Are Designed to Check Plague's Spread.

The Board of Managers of Bonnie Burn Sanatorium will meet at the institution tomorrow afternoon to complete the details prior to the formal reception of patients. On and after Monday of next week the sanatorium will be put to practical use in waging war on the white plague. Dr. J. E. Runnells, the medical superintendent in charge, said this morning that he has received thirty-six applications for admission from afflicted residents of the county, who have fulfilled all the requirements for becoming patients and have signified their intentions of entering the sanatorium as soon as it is ready. This number is only six more than half of what accommodations have been made for and if need be from twenty to twenty-five more can be taken in on very short notice.

All physicians and the management of each anti-tuberculosis society or league in the county have been supplied with application blanks and other literature giving all information necessary in making application and the requirements to be met assuring admission as a patient.

There are certain rules which must be observed by all who enter, but they are simple and easy to obey. Disregard of some of them, however, will prevent any progress being made in the fight for health and where the patient is so careless of his or her own welfare as to break them, the management of the sanatorium has the power to enforce observance.

FEAST CELEBRATES FAMILY REUNION

Former Plainfield Contractor Has Helped to Develope Decatur, Illinois.

A dinner party was given at the home of Mrs. Emma Moore, of 426 East Second street, yesterday afternoon, in connection with a reunion of Joseph D. Mills, a prominent business man of Decatur, Illinois, and other members of the family, including the latter's sister, Mrs. Phebe Fowler, of this city. The house was attractively decorated, the color scheme being yellow and white. Three generations were represented.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Wilkson, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. William Wittke, of Summit; Mrs. Emma Moore, Mrs. Phebe Fowler, Mrs. John A. Cook. Mr. Mills and his daughter, Mrs. A. Shellabarger, will leave for Decatur on Monday, after which they will go to California for the winter.

Mr. Mills, who is a retired lumber merchant and contractor of Decatur, is the son of the late Stewart Mills. He is eighty-six years old and was born at Westfield, March 2, 1826. He attended the public schools of Plainfield, afterward learning carpentry with Jacob Thorn, father of Albert Thorn, of East Front street.

While following his trade here he built a number of dwellings, including the Stevens house at East Second street and Watchung avenue; also the building occupied by Christian Gloekler at Front and Somerset streets. Mr. Mills removed from here to Staten Island and then to Newark, where he followed his trade for a few years. He then went to Decatur, where he has lived for sixty-five years.

When Mr. Mills went to Decatur there was a population of 600 and today it has reached 40,000. He has been prominently identified with city affairs there, being a councilmen from 1869-70. He assisted in getting a municipal water plant for the city, which gives the city a substantial net income over expenses. He also was instrumental in securing gas and electric light for Decatur, and through his influence many fine roads were built through Macon county, in which Decatur is situated. Mr. Mills was also a member of the Board of Education for several years, and helped to establish the excellent school system there.

Mr. Mills sold out his business two years ago and since then has been spending his winters in the south or in California. In comparing Plainfield and Decatur, Mr. Mills says they have many similar points. The license system is about the same, $1,000 being charged for selling beer and $1,200 for selling whiskey and beer. Decatur has a saloon "zone," restricting licensed places to the business section.

HOUSEHOLD MENACED BY FLYING BULLETS

Markmanship Practice of Young Boroughites Lands Men in Court.

The lives of members of the household of George H. Dalley, who resides at 54 Mountain avenue, were endangered Tuesday when bullets coming from the guns of four boys testing their marksmanship in the vicinity, crashed through the rear windows of the house, lodging in the sidewalls.

One of the boys was identified and as a result C. K. Bennett, 13 years old, of 206 Watchung avenue; C. E. Merrola, 13 years old, of 44 Mountain avenue; Floyd Emmons, 12 years old, of 58 Mountain avenue, and Andrew McDonough, 13 years old, of 63 Summit avenue, were arrested by Roundsman Keller and arraigned before Recorder Gano this morning. Mr. Dalley was the complainant.

The boys admitted their guilt and were severely reprimanded by the court, and sentence suspended. They have been ordered by the Recorder to pay for damage done to the property and for the broken windows. The guns used were 22 calibre repeating rifles.

JURY OUT IN CASE AGAINST COL. HARDY

Accused of Beating Wife's Friend in Ejecting Her From House.

Col. John F. Hardy, aged 63 years, a Virginian by birth and a retired New York business man, who with Mrs. Hardy resides on Park avenue, just over the line in Middlesex county, is the defendant in a trial in the Middlesex County Court, in which a charge of assault made by Mrs. Sarah P. Krug, of Avenel, near Woodbridge, figures. The action is for $25,000. The trial was begun yesterday and is still on today. William A. Coddington, of this city, represents the defendant; Joseph E. Stricker, the State, while Russell E. Watson is personal counsel for the plaintiff.

The alleged assault charge grew out of a visit Mrs. Krug paid to the Hardy home, after being repeatedly warned to keep away. Mrs. Krug, who is about half the age of Mrs. Hardy, who is eighty years old, is accused of being a disturbing element in the Hardy household, although the testimony showed that for several years the two families were very friendly. Recently, it is said, Mrs. Krug on her visits to the Hardy home, become meddlesome and her presence always resulted in trouble between the colonel and his wife.

According to the testimony of the plaintiff yesterday, on the occasion of the last visit Col. Hardy forcibly ejected Mrs. Krug from his home. The latter admitted that she had received a letter from Col. Hardy's lawyer that her visits must stop, but she said she consulted her counsel and was advised to visit Mrs. Hardy at any time it was agreeable to the latter.

The prominence of the Hardys and the Krugs has brought wide attention to the trial. It was stated yesterday that Mrs. Hardy would not be called as a witness. The Hardy's have separated, it is said, since the trouble.

Mrs. Krug, according to her testimony yesterday, said that she felt it her duty to visit Mrs. Hardy, explaining that she was prompted solely by sympathy to call on her. In the altercation between her and the colonel, the latter claimed that Mr. Krug stabbed him with a hat pin.

Dr. Joseph B. Harrison, of Westfield, described a visit of Mrs. Krug and her husband to his office on June 21 last, and he had treated her for bruises about the neck, arms and back. She was hysterical, according to the physician.

The case was given to the jury about 11:30 o'clock this morning and at 2:30 this afternoon the jury was still out. It was the opinion of those who have closely followed the case that there will be a disagreement. The morning session of the court was taken up with the examination of a few remaining witnesses and the summing up by counsel.

HUNTERS' HARD GOING

The following riders finished: Rufus C. Finch, M. F. H.; Mrs. Brown Rolston, Jack O'Day, William P. Smith, Jr., Harry L. Finch, Mrs. W. S. Brown, F. D. French and Huntsman Harrison.

HINTS FOR EXHIBITORS ON EVE OF THE SHOW

Poultry Association Members Told How to Prepare for Competition.

The various committees in charge of the first annual show of the New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement to be held in Sebring's Auditorium, November 25-30, reported at a meeting in Exempt Firemen's Hall last night that all plans for the event had been completed and that the enthusiasm among local fanciers assured the success of the enterprise.

The members heard an interesting lecture by Prof. Harry R. Lewis, of the State Experimental Station, at New Brunswick, on "Fitting, Showing and Judging." The professor told of the various ways of priming fowls for exhibition, and how the poultry are judged by eminent experts.

He gave interesting statistics from the poultry census taken recently, stating that forty-seven plants in this State carry one thousand birds each through the winter and that 250 poultry raisers carry from 500 to 1,000. Valuable literature containing many hints for owners of poultry farms was given out.

Joseph Weaner, chairman of the show committee, reported that more than 700 birds had been entered for the exhibition, including 47 pens of ten birds each and 250 single entries. A record number of prizes, some of the most valuable ever offered for a show of this kind, have been donated. Everything, he said, pointed to success, and Plainfield will take a place after the event among the great poultry centers of the East.

Prof. Lewis said in part:

"In selecting individual birds for exhibition a number of minor defects are preferable to one glaring defect. One of the most important points is the appearance of head parts. They are the first seen and most important for that reason. The body shape of the birds is of next importance. Nervousness in birds is objectionable as birds that will not submit quietly to examination and handling by judges, will not receive the same consideration as those that remain quiet and well posed.

"It is very necessary to wash white birds before sending them to the show, as a bird that is pure white and clean will win over a bird that is dirty if other points are equal. Birds should be shipped so as to arrive at the show room at such time as will make it possible for them to be immediately placed in coops."

Prof. Lewis announced January 1 and 2, 1913, as poultry days at the Experiment Station, and invited all persons interested to attend.

BROTHERS CHARGES BRING HYSTERIA ON MARY JACKSON

Mrs. Mary Jackson, colored, of 216 Plainfield avenue, appeared in court this morning as complainant against her brother, Charles Milford, of Plainfield avenue, whom she accused of using strong language and raising a disturbance in her home. The quarrel is alleged to have been over insurance paper.

When the evidence had been submitted Milford was discharged and Sergeant Flynn was told to investigate the complainant's family affairs. When the accusations against her by Milford were made, Mrs. Jackson rushed from the court room and threw herself into the street in a state of hysteria. She was taken home in a cab, crying her innocence.

CRITICISM FOR ELECTION BOARDS

Recount May Lead to Formal Charges Against First Warders.

2 DISTRICTS INVOLVED

Boxes and Study of Tally Sheets Indicate Incompetence—Gross Neglect of Duty Likely to Be Charged.

Charges of neglect are shaping against election officers of the First and Second districts of the First ward, it is said, as a result of disclosures made during the course of the recount at Elizabeth of the surrogateship vote.

The election officers of the Second district of the First ward returned no totals on the vote for surrogate, but the official vote as compiled by the county clerk was: Kelly, fifty-two; Parrot, eighty-two. The recount gave Kelly forty-nine and Parrot eighty-one, which was a gain of two votes for Parrot and put him one in the lead.

The condition of the ballot boxes from the First district of the First ward and a mixup in the tally of the vote may have effect on the recount. The boxes were reported in bad condition and the ballots were not folded properly.

The poll book showed that 195 persons had voted, but the registry list contained only 184 names and there were only 176 ballots in the box.

In the Second district the tally sheet gave no totals that could be considered. Marks were made that indicated that Kelly had received three votes and Parrot eight, whereas 195 votes were cast in the district.

As a result of these conditions, charges of gross neglect are being made against the election officers in these districts.

HOPE CHAPEL MEMBERS CONSIDER IMMIGRATION

Hope chapel members in large numbers last night attended the meeting held under the auspices of the Women's Home Missionary Society. The subject under consideration was "Immigration and Missions."

Short addresses were made by the pastor, Rev. F. L. Greene, on "Ellis Island," by the Misses Lona Becker and Jessie Duncan, and Walter Firstbrook, of the Christian Endeavor Society, on "Immigrants," and by Mrs. G. Herbert Condict, president of the Missionary Society, on "The Call to the Work."

The addresses dealt with the conditions which brought the immigrants from Southern Europe to this country and the environment in which they live in the larger cities, and showed that the Protestant churches—of New York, in particular,—are moving away from the center of the foreign population and are leaving the immigrants unchurched as far as the evangelical denominations are concerned.

The Missionary Society of Hope chapel expects to send a Christmas box to Ellis Island for the immigrants who land during Christmas week.

The Auditor Should Remember

As an auditor you should remember that the Split & Normal Burroughs, which is different from 99 other adding machines out of one hundred, gives you Comparative Statements, in one operation—giving you invoice number, date and amount of purchases, and so shows your number and amount of return checks, and date,—remittance number and amount of commission—and adds only those columns that you want added, all in one operation.

A little bit different from the machine you probably have seen. It does more and is worth more, but you will agree that the difference in price is small.

MRS. HETTY GREEN IS NEARING FOUR-SCORE

New York, Nov. 21 (Special).—Mrs. Hetty Green, mistress of a fortune estimated at close to one hundred millions, reached her seventy-seventh birthday anniversary today. The wealthiest woman in the world does not take much stock in birthday celebrations, and the fact that this was the anniversary of her birth caused no variance of her usual routine. The day was remembered, however, with messages and tokens from her son, E. H. R. Green; her daughter, Sylvia, and the latter's husband, Matthew A. Wilks.

Mrs. Green has retired from the active management of her vast affairs. Such, at least, was the announcement made more than a year ago, when E. H. R. Green gave up his home in Texas and came to New York for the purpose, as stated, of relieving his mother of the great burden imposed upon her by the care of her colossal fortune. But to all appearances Mrs. Green is still looking after her own affairs. She visits her banking offices daily and it is nothing out of the ordinary for her to attend several directors' meetings between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. In the meantime, "Ned," as she fondly calls her only son, continues to spend much of his time in Texas, where he has large railroad and other interests that require his personal attention.

At the age of seventy-seven Mrs. Green is handling the largest fortune possessed by any woman in the world. If the popular estimates are correct her fortune exceeds some $20,000,000 or more than that of Mrs. Russell Sage, who is reckoned the second richest woman in the world.

The wealth of Mrs. Green is widely diversified. Her real estate holdings fairly freckle the face of the country. Her property in New York city amounts to millions, while in Boston, where the foundation of her immense fortune was laid years ago by real estate investments, she still possesses entire streets of residence and business property. Her mortgages embrace some of the safest properties in a chain of cities extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Railroads, steamboats, traction roads, mines of gold, silver, copper and iron, telephones and telegraphs, all contribute to her income, and it is her proud boast that not one investment is a losing proposition.

Man, He's Been a Mystery For Thousands of Year's, And He's Still a Mystery !

Two thousand years ago a gent named Socrates said: "As a man thinks, so is he."

Two weeks ago, Professor G. Standey Stall come out with the statement: "As a man eats, so is he."

As it seems to be a hobby nowadays in taking a "blind stab" on the subject of man, I wish to put my oar in with this:

"As a Man Dresses, So Is He"

It is the DRESS of the Yellow Primrose that makes us pick it up along the roadside in preference to other flowers.

It is the DRESS of the Successful Man that makes Opportunity or Fate or Luck or whatever you choose to call it, pick him up along the Roadside of Life in preference to others.

HYDE AND BONDSMAN.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

The trial of former City Chamberlain Charles H. Hyde of New York on an indictment charging him with bribery was begun before Justice Goff in the criminal branch of the supreme court. Mr. Hyde is charged with forcing Joseph G. Robin to lend money to the Carnegie Trust company under threats of withdrawing city deposits from Robin's Northern bank, which failed later. The above is from a photograph taken yesterday. C. W. Fitzgibbons is Hyde's bondsman.

GET JURY QUICKLY FOR HYDE

On Promise Not to Delay Trial He Won't Go to Prison.

New York, Nov. 21.—It took just four hours and thirteen minutes actual court time to secure a jury to try Charles M. Hyde, former city chamberlain, on a technical charge of demanding and receiving a bribe as a public official in the criminal branch of the supreme court.

District Attorney Whitman will open the case for the people and will briefly outline the charge and the means by which he hopes to establish it. Hyde himself for the present will be allowed to remain out on bail, but his further freedom depends upon his own lawyers and the prosecution. Just as Justice Goff was about to order the defendant in custody, as is his custom, the pleas and protests of his counsel that the former chamberlain, himself a lawyer, is his own chief counsel and that incarceration would delay the trial, led the court to extend a privilege to the man on one condition—that is, that there be no delays, no fighting for time, but hard, fast work.

HICKEY INDICTED FOR KILLING BUFFALO BOY

Police Fear Violence at Hands of Angry Populace.

Buffalo, Nov. 21.—J. Frank Hickey, under arrest in Toms River, N. J., was indicted and formally charged with the murder of Joseph Joseph, the seven-year-old Syrian boy whose body was recovered in Lackawanna city last Saturday. J. Craig Roberts, an assistant district attorney, left for New York, where he will meet Governor Dix and have the extradition papers approved.

Hickey, on advice of counsel, has refused to talk since his arrest further than to declare his innocence. He has, it is said in the district attorney's office, admitted having been in Boston on the dates two postal cards bearing on the murder were mailed to Buffalo, but denies that he wrote those or any other cards.

Commissioners of police of Lackawanna city asked that when Hickey is brought from New Jersey he be locked up in the Erie County penitentiary in Buffalo instead of the city prison at Lackawanna city. The commissioners say that the people of Lackawanna are much wrought up and that since the arrest of Hickey frequent threats of violence have been heard.

Toms River, N. J., Nov. 21.—District Attorney Wesley Dudley and Chief of Police Ray Gilson of Lackawanna, N. Y., reached here. They looked over J. Frank Hickey, who was arrested at Whitings on their information, and confirmed the sheriff in the arrest. They say he is the man wanted.

As soon as they had identified Hickey, who spent a quiet night in the county jail, they went to a long distance telephone and began calling up Lackawanna and Buffalo. As a result of their messages it is expected that some other officer will start for New Jersey by way of Albany, where he will obtain the signature of the governor to extradition papers directed to the governor of New Jersey.

WOMAN AND SON END LIFE.

Children Returning From School Find Bodies on Parlor Floor.

New York, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Kate Herling, thirty-eight years old, and her six-year-old son, Edgar, were found dead of gas in the parlor of their home, 169 Irving avenue, Williamsburg, by two of the woman's children who had returned from school for their noonday meal.

The dead mother and her child were clasped in each other's arms, and from a gas jet there hung a tube through which the pair had inhaled the fumes.

INFORMERS FREED TODAY.

Webber Is Wealthy and Vallon Has $2,000 "Getaway Money"—Four Gunmen Will Be Arraigned For Death Sentence Next Tuesday.

New York, Nov. 21.—Before nightfall cell keys will be turned in the west side prison and Jack Rose, "Bridgie" Webber, Harry Vallon and Sam Schepps, on whose testimony Lieutenant Becker and the four gunmen were convicted of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, will be free men.

Willie Shapiro, the chauffeur of the gray "murder car," whose case appeals more to those thoroughly familiar with the whole Rosenthal situation than that of any other associated with the murder, must wait until Mr. Whitman has satisfied himself about some details in the indictment for murder which now holds Shapiro before the prosecutor moves for the dismissal of the indictment. But the move for dismissal will come very soon, and the chunky little chauffeur will then hurry off with his mother "as far away as anybody can go" and with his mother will live in this far away place for the rest of his life.

But as Willie is flat broke and seems to have no friends except the various lawyers who know his story, Willie was wondering today where his ticket to the far away place is coming from.

Vallon Has "Getaway Money."

Harry Vallon recently had returned to him about $2,000, which he had contributed toward the $10,000 bail on which Jack Zelig was out on when killed and which was returned to the various members of the Sam Paul group who chipped in to the bail fund. Vallon therefore has "getaway" money, but if any one tells you positively where he intends to go when liberated, don't believe it. He hasn't told any one.

Max Steuer, counsel for "Bridgie Webber, said that he believed that Webber is suffering too much from an attack of rheumatism at present to leave town. Webber, however, whose bank account is placed at "more than $100,000," says he is going to Europe to stay about three months and that he will leave just as soon as his booking can be arranged.

Sam Schepps, although held on the technical charge of vagrancy, has "wealthy brothers" who are ready to help him, it was said by one of his lawyers. Schepps intends to start for Hot Springs, Ark., immediately, the lawyer continued, to take up again the course of treatment which was sadly interrupted when detectives brought him back to town.

Jack Rose, the litterateur, will "go away for a short rest" perhaps, but he intends to stay here after the brief vacation to get out his book. The prosecution has the assurance of all the informers, and they are willing to be bonded also, that they will be ready at any time, especially Rose, to testify for the state in case either of the murder verdicts are reversed or if wanted before the John Doe investigation.

Zelig Threatened Dynamite.

Just three days before Jack Zelig was killed he delivered a verbal message for the informers to one of their lawyers, who now that the gunmen have been convicted decided to tell the nature of the communication. The card of this lawyer was found in Zelig's pocket when the gangster was killed.

"But I never delivered the message to my client or the others in the prison," added the lawyer, "because I didn't want to disturb them any more than necessary. Zelig came to my table while I was lunching at a restaurant and told me to tell the informers that if they testified against the four Zelig gunmen, which the four did after Zelig himself had been murdered, the four would be killed.

"And tell them the jail won't protect them," added Zelig. "Tell them dynamite will be used."

The Zelig gunmen—"Lefty Louie," "Gyp the Blood," "Whitey Lewis" and "Dago Frank"—were arraigned before Justice Goff to hear a date set for the pronouncement of sentence and to swear as to their pedigrees. Mr. Wahle, their counsel, asked that next Wednesday be set for the sentence, but Justice Goff said that as Wednesday will be Thanksgiving eve he would sentence on Tuesday next.

Mr. Wahle said later that on that date he will move that the verdict be set aside "as against the weight of evidence because of errors of law during the trial.

McADAMS FOR PROSECUTOR.

Among the appointments for Union county that the Acting-Governor, selected to fill Woodrow Wilson's place, will have at his disposal is the prosecutorship. The term of Addison C. Swift will expire on March 11 and as he is a Republican, there is no possible chance of his being renamed for it has been many years since the Democrats have been in control of the patronage in the State and the spoils will be distributed within their ranks.

The office of prosecutor is a very important one and no doubt great care will be taken in the selection of the lawyer to fill it. As might be expected there are many in a receptive mood although but two so far as we can learn are avowed candidates. They are Robert H. McAdams and A. A. Stein, both of Elizabeth. They are both young men and at the present time both are office-holders. Mr. Stein is mayor of Elizabeth, while Mr. McAdams is chairman of the County Board of Elections.

The candidacy of McAdams particularly appeals to us, for as an independent newspaper, owing allegience to no party we have only the best interests of the county in view and are therefore constrained to say a good word for a man of known probity and ability. McAdams is a "clean-cut" and fearless type of lawyer, who does not make a practise of playing to the galleries or parading himself before the public. He has built up a large and lucrative practise by strict attention to business and by giving his best in serving his clients. By his fellow counselors and citizens generally in his home city he is held in high regard.

Although a strict party man and one who is always to be found fighting for the supremacy of its principles, he is not what might be termed an offensive partisan. If the honor should come to him, it is quite certain that he would conscientiously, aggressively and ably discharge the duties devolving upon the prosecutorship and would never be accused of showing fear or favor.

Under the tenure of office act, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., the present assistant prosecutor, will continue in office and with a man of the stamp of McAdams as his superior, Union county would have a team in charge of the State's cases that would earn a good reputation for themselves and for the people whose interests they care for.

VOTES FOR WOMEN.

Probably no righteous cause has made such tremendous advance within the last five years as has "votes for women." Today the preachers of the political doctrine of equal suffrage not only get respectful hearing but gain recruits by thousands upon thousands. No longer is the plan considered visionary, impractical and dangerous. No longer is the opposition "the blatant, deriding, dogmatically confident thing that it was even five years ago." The sincere, logical advovacy of the right by devoted and persistent women, and men too, throughout the country has gained the admiration if not the support of the multitude.

Within the last year Oregon, Arizona, Kansas and Michigan have given to women the ballot that was rightfully hers. The women of California and other western States have been making use of the franchise for some time, and it has been most amply demonstrated that the experiment, if you would so term it, has been an unbounded success. But there is much work yet to be done before the day comes when in all the Union the ballot will be given to women. Only ten of the forty-eight States have made the franchise equal, but it is undeniable that in the States where only males are allowed to vote almost inestimable progress has been made by the cause and it would not be strange should it come to pass that at the next Presidential election a majority of the States will have granted the women's plea.

Mayor Donnelly and former Mayor Katzenbach, both of Trenton, are being groomed as candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. It would not be surprising, however, when the time comes, if some distinguished man practically unknown in politics is given the honor.

Mr. Bryan may not have a place in the Cabinet but he will have a big voice in shaping the administration's policies just the same.

The contributing editor for Saturday's issue will be Assemblyman W. delaR. Anderson, of North Plainfield township.

Mr. Wilson intimates that he will relieve the newspapers of the task of selecting his Cabinet.

JERSEY GRAND LODGE ODD FELLOWS MEETS

Nearly 2,000 New Members Added to Lodges During Year.

Trenton, Nov. 21.—The seventy-ninth annual session of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of New Jersey has opened here.

The report of the grand secretary showed that during the last year 1995 new members were taken into the subordinate lodges of the State, and that the total membership at the close of the last fiscal year was 29,468. The estimated membership now is 30,000. The Odd Fellows' Home, at Trenton, was reported free from debt. This home now represents an investment of $61,544.35.

The officers chosen were:

Grand master, George W. Shinn, of Burlington; deputy grand master, James H. White, of Paterson; grand secretary, Harry S. Pine, of Trenton; grand treasurer, Joseph R. Deason, of Bordentown; grand warden, George W. Bechtold, of Jersey City; grand representative, C. Fleming Stanger, of Glassboro.

The only contest for the elective offices today was for grand warden, in which Bechtold won on the first ballot.

INDICTMENT AGAINST HYDE MAY COLLAPSE

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, Nov. 21.—Charles H. Hyde's attorneys threw a real scare in the camp of the prosecution when Attorney John B. Stanchfield moved before Justice Goff today that the indictment be dismissed as imperfect and not charging a crime. He declared that the document was a work of art but for the purposes of prosecution was worthless. It failed, he said, to show that Hyde had benefited a single cent by the alleged loans made by Robin as head of the Northern Bank to the Carnegie Trust Co. Further he said, the indictment suggested that Hyde as city chamberlain was an administrative or executive officer of the city which was not so.

Assistant District Attorney Moss admitted that he was not prepared to argue the point. He said that he did not know whether the contention was well founde dor not, but held that even though the indictment was faulty in part, there was enough of it legally drawn to warrant the continuation of the trial.

Justice Goff said that because of th eimportance of the motion he would deny it temporarily but would give the defense the right to renew it when the State's case was completed, and suggested that both sides be ready to submit briefs at that time. It was generally believed by many of the lawyers that Justice Goff would be compelled to grant the motion on the showing that Stanchfield made.

HOME MISSION WORK TALK RECEIVES CLOSE ATTENTION

In the First Baptist church last evening, Mrs. Reuben Maplesden, representing the Women's Home Missionary Department of the Northern Baptist Convention, held the close interest of the large audience for a half hour while she told of the field and forces of the work represented by the women of her denomination. The attendance not only filled the main Sunday-school room but over-flowed into the adjoining rooms. The regular mid-week service is becoming so largely attended that it has been found necessary to appoint ushers to assist in seating the people.

At the close of the service last night Mrs. J. M. Gilbert, a member of the choir, sang most effectively "Heaven is My Home." It is with great regret that the church is about to part with Mrs. Gilbert who goes to Providence, Rhode Island. Another singer will be secured promptly to take her place. Next Sunday promises to be a memorable day in the history of this church.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The Freshmen basketball team has elected Warren Townley captain and Addison Newkirk manager.

The Sigma Gamma Kappa Club held a meeting yesterday afternoon and selected a playlet, "The First Thanksgiving," for its Thanksgiving entertainment to be held on December 6. The entertainment will be held at the Y. W. C. A.

Tickets for the Junior play are now on sale.

Since the special work has been stopped during the cold mornings, Coach Webster has plenty of time to give to the basketball team. Yesterday he was out with the squad. The next game will be with Summit H. S. at Debele Hall.

The members of last year's girl's basketball team are thinking of organizing as an independent team. They will play at least one game with a fast team from Paterson at the Y. M. C. A. Thanksgiving afternoon.

In a few days a meeting of the class basketball teams will be called to prepare a schedule. The league will be better balanced than last year.

Vosburgh will deliver his famous lecture illustrated by 450 beautiful stereopticon views of peoples and scenes from the Orient. This lecture has been given hundreds of times in many of the leading cities after filling several dates for Dr. Russel Conwell. The North American of Philadelphia said, "The pictures were undoubtedly the finest shown in Philadelphia of the Orient." Admission will be by ticket. DESCRIPTION OF PIANOS.

Made by Braumuller Piano Co., 627-641 West 43d Street, New York City.

Aside from the fact that one piano contains the player and the other does not, there is no difference between the instruments. Both are fully warranted by the makers, who are an old established and reliable firm.

Seven and one-third Octaves; Overstrung Bass; three strings to each note, except in Wound Bass Strings; New Patent Upright Grand Scale; Full Composite Metal Plate, extending over pin-block to top of Piano; Tuning Pins specially fitted with hardwood Bushings; Patent Metal Key-Bottom Support; Ivory Keys; full length Music Desk; Revolving Fall-Board; Nickel-plated Continuous Hinges; handsome mouldings; elaborate carvings; carved Trusses and Pilasters; Empire Top.

Case: Antique Mahogany. All Upright cases are Double Veneered and have hardwood, varnished backs. Every Braumuller Player-Piano is fully warranted.

DESCRIPTION OF PLAYER-PIANO.

The Player is the latest device of the kind, and is the simplest and easiest working apparatus on the market. It is made by the Gulbranson-Dickinson Co., of Chicago, and is fully warranted. A test of the Player can be made at any time at Joseph Sattel's warerooms at 108 North avenue. Briefly it can be described as follows:

Style 21 contains 88 note Player Mechanism, playing every note of the scale.

Special "Clutch-button" attachment, enabling the performer to obtain a diminished volume of tone in the bass, middle treble, or upper treble registers, by touching one of the three buttons. Each acts independently of the other.

The entire construction of the Mechanism is on simple lines. Durability, effectiveness and expression are the principal features.

Cash value of player-piano, stool, rolls and cover, $525.

Cash value of piano, stool and cover, $275.

DESCRIPTION OF VITAPHONE.

The $100 Cabinet Vitaphone is the third prize. This instrument was made by The Vitaphone Company, of Netherwood, and contains points of merit not to be found in other makes of talking machines.

It reproduces voice and instrument so true to life, that one may close their eyes and imagine the performer actually present. No other instrument reproduces the original tone in purity, strength and detail as well, and no metallic parts hamper, diminish or partly destroy the skill of the artist.

Winner can have choice of mahogany, golden oak or mission oak case. There is a triple spring motor that can be wound while playing, interchangeable diaphragm connection from amplifier to horn. Plays either needle or sapphire records. It is beautifully finished and polished. The machine stands four feet high and has a twelve inch turntable, and a filing compartment holding 150 records.

A novel feature of the Vitaphone is the stationary sound box, rigidly fixed to its supporting frame and made of few and simple parts. Any make of records can be used and owing to its construction, a record used on the Vitaphone has a much longer life than is possible on any other Talking Machine.

HOW TO SECURE VOTES.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

An attraction which should cause more than the usual desire to see a play, is Neil Twomey's dramatization of Gene Stratton-Porter's widely read story, "Freckles," which will be the attraction at the Plainfield theatre Saturday, afternoon and evening. When it is considered that this fascinating story of Indiana's great swamp country, "The Limberlost," has had more than a million readers, there is no wonder that the drama is causing far more than the ordinary attention. Where a book contains the vital requisites for dramatization, the play is always of more interest than the story, because the imagination is not taxed and the characters are living, breathing ones. Those who have read "Freckles" will understand the possibilities for a drama of more than ordinary strength in action, and environment. There is unlimited scope for the scene painter, the electrician and the stage mechanic, and in these features the production is said to be of surpassing magnificence. A guarantee of the worth of this play is the fact that it has been staged by A. G. Delamater, who has some notable successes to his credit, and who never does anything by halves. There are hundreds of thousands of theatre-goers who will remember his "Beverly of Graustark," and other productions which have been so successful.

Adelaide Thurston had all the good fairies hovering around her cradle for this charming star has every good gift that goes to make a woman great upon the stage even to the rarest of them all—the power of selecting pleasing, highly successful plays of which her new vehicle, "The Love Affair," is the highest type. Her unfailing charm adorning positive and commanding histrionic genius has won her a nation-wide following that eagerly awaits each season the news of her return. She is so likeable and splendidly endowed with womanly strength and depth of emotion, is so captivating in all her moods that to see her is to feel enriched and ennobled. Only Maude Adams has ever been named as approaching Miss Thurston in fascination, personality and irresistible power of characterization that blend to make all heads captive. It was Miss Thurston, who, as a slip of a girl, was named by Maude Adams to succeed her as "Lady Babbie" in "The Little Minister" and so right royally did she triumph that she became a star in her own right and revealed her greatness in a series of successes that honored the stage by their distinction, class and artistry. Such were, "Sweet Clover," "At Cozy Corners," "Polly Primrose," "The Triumph of Betty," "The Girl Out Yonder," "The Woman's Hour," "Contrary Mary" and "Miss Ananias." Adelaide Thurston will appear at the Plainfield theatre, Wednesday night, November 27, in her latest success, "The Love Affair," by Frederick Paulding, who will be remembered as the author of "The Woman's Hour," that delightful American comedy played by Miss Thurston so successfully a few seasons ago.

With a plot that is unique, a style that is graceful and clever, a love story of enduring beauty, background of brilliant color, is the new version of Lem B. Parker's four act society drama, "A Girl of the Mountains," which comes to the Plainfield theatre, Thursday, afternoon and evening, November 29. It is not too much to say that Wee & Lambert's production embodies all, moreover, "A Girl of the Mountains" is backed by a company of more than ordinary merit and a full scenic equipment is carried.

Lena Ashwell has been lying at the point of death in London, but has rallied and her recovery is now confidently expected.

William Hodge's new play is by Frederick Landis and Bayard Veiller, author of "Within the Law," and is to be called "People Are Coming."

After a few eastern engagements David Belasco will take David Warfield to California for an indefinite run of "The Return of Peter Grimm."

The title selected for the new Louis N. Parker comedy, in which Mme. Simone will begin her second American season, is "At Versailled—1780."

The British censor, in the person of the Lord Chamberlain himself, has seen a private performance of Max Reinhardt's new pantomime, "A Venetian Night," and decided to withdraw his objection to its production.

Victor Jacob is writing the music to a book by De Fleures and De Caillavet, a production of which is to be made by Max Reinhardt in Berlin. The presentation of a French play in Berlin is exceptional.

For the principal role in "The Spy" Charles Frohman has engaged Cyril Keightly, recently seen in "The New Sex." His part will be that now acted in London by George Alexander in the version known as "The Turning Point."

E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe will hereafter spend their vacation in America. It is their intention to build a home on Long Island. Plans for the house are under way. Mr. and Mrs. Sothern expect to occupy their new home the coming summer.

The first announcement of Maude Adams' coming season of three weeks at the Empire theatre, New York, in "Peter Pan," has brought hundreds of letters to the box office of the theatre ordering seats, although the date of the first performance is two months off.

Porter Emerson Browne who wrote "A Fool There Was" and "The Spendthrift," has gone to London, where he will personally direct the English production of the latter show, opening next week, with Fannie Ward playing Thais McGrane's original role.

TEN-STARRED FLAG TO FLY IN PHILADELPHIA

Emblem of Growing Triumph to Enthuse Big Suffrage Convention.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 21 (Special.)—Elated over the recent addition of four stars to their flag, hundreds of delegates to the forty-fourth annual convention of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, which meets today for a five days' session, are here preparing to give to "the cause" the most notable impetus since the inception of the equal franchise movement. The women have come from every section of the country and are among the leaders in their respective States. The hotels are filled with them, and many others of the delegates are being entertained in private homes.

The program prepared for the gathering provides for many novel and attractive features. Witherspoon Hall, where the most of the sessions will be held, has been handsomely decorated for the occasion. The six-star flag, conspicuous at the former conventions of the organization, gives way this year to the ten-star flag, the four new stars representing the States of Michigan, Kansas, Oregon and Arizona, which adopted woman suffrage amendments at the recent elections.

A fine array of talent has been obtained to address the various meetings, consisting of prominent men and women who have become famous for their devotion and labor along different lines of human activity.

The meetings will vary in character from a great outdoor rally in Independence Square on the opening day to a thanksgiving service on Sunday afternoon in the Metropolitan Opera House. All of the evening sessions will be open to the public.

At the formal opening of the convention tonight Miss Jane Addams, of Chicago, will preside, and the national president, Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, will deliver her annual address. Another feature of the evening's program will be addresses from leaders who aided the cause to victory in Arizona, Michigan, Oregon and Kansas.

The men enlisted in the equal suffrage cause will have their innings Friday evening. The session will be in the entire charge of the National Men's League for Woman Suffrage and men only will appear on the program as speakers.

The program for the Saturday evening session will be conducted entirely by the National College Equal Suffrage League, of which Dr. M. Carey Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr College, is the head. Two debating teams made up of young women college students will engage in a debate on the subject of equal suffrage.

A special program has been prepared for the Independence Square rally today. The original Woman's Declaration of Rights will be read, and Mrs. Charlotte Pierce, the only living signer, will be present, and be formally presented with a bouquet of flowers.

The Sunday afternoon thanksgiving service in the opera house will probably be the largest indoor suffrage meeting ever held in this country. The background of the stage will be a huge world map, showing the progress of the suffrage movement up to date. All the suffrage territory will be painted in bright red. A band of sixty musicians will furnish the music for the meeting. Rev. Anna Howard Shaw will preside and among the speakers will be Miss Jane Addams and Miss Julia Lathrop, the latter the newly appointed head of the Children's Bureau.

A mass of routine work will be disposed of at the daily business sessions of the convention. Reports will be received from the various national officers and committees and from delegates representing all of the States. These reports will embody a narration of the progress made during the past year, the plans of campaign found most effective and an exchange of ideas through debate.

The speakers who will be heard at the night sessions will include many persons of national or international prominence. In addition to those already named they will include Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, of New York; Miss Harriet Taylor Upton, of Ohio; Mrs. Susan W. Fitzgerald, of Boston; Mrs. Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin; Baroness Von Suttner, the celebrated advocate of international peace, and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance, who has just returned from an eighteen months' trip around the world.

The election of officers of the association for the ensuing year is a subject that is already exciting lively discussion among the delegates. Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, of Philadelphia, will be a candidate for re-election to the presidency and will be seriously opposed for the first time during the eight years she has held the office. The opposition has centered upon Miss Laura Clay, of Kentucky, as their candidate. The supporters of Dr. Shaw profess to feel no fear over the result of the contest.

THANKSGIVING SKETCH IN AID OF GOOD CHEER

A sketch entitled "Thanksgiving and Pumpkinville," will be presented in the parlors of the Congregational church by the members of the Sunday-school Tuesday night, November 26. The entertainment is the larger expression of the Thanksgiving cheer started by James Mac Clymont, Jr.'s, Bible class some years ago. This year the entire Sunday-school is working with the Mac Clymont class in giving of Thanksgiving dinners to the needy and deserving in the city. At the conclusion of the entertainment a silver offering will be received for the dinner fund.

The entertainment is entirely free and visitors will be welcomed. Those who desire may send contributions of money or provisions to the parsonage, West Seventh street and Madison avenue. The Mac'Clymont class will distribute the dinners the Wednesday before Thanksgiving.

BABCOCK STATES IT COST HIM $125 TO LOSE SEAT

Elizabeth, Nov. 21.—Candidates in the recent election will be allowed until next Monday to file their statements of expenses with the county clerk, city clerk or clerks in the municipalities in which they were candidates for local offices, according to the decision of County Clerk Calvert today. Those who do not file their accounts by that time are liable for indictment. Last year there were several offenders brought before Judge Edward S. Atwater in the Court of Common Pleas for failure to comply with the law in this regard, and this year the court has asked that notice be made extensively of the time when the accounts must be filed.

George L. Babcock, who was defeated on the Republican ticket for member of the Assembly, yesterday filed his account, showing that he had expended $125, which he had given to the Union County Republican Committee. The candidates on the Progressive ticket in Cranford filed all their expenses under one head, the treasurer of the Progressive Executive Committee of Cranford acting as treasurer for the candidates. The statement showed receipts of $230 from various sources and expenses of $229.10.

INNOCENT MAN MAY BE SERVING A LIFE TERM

Flemington, Nov. 21.—That an innocent man may be serving a life sentence for a murder committed by another is suggested in a letter just received by the sheriff here from a prisoner in the county jail.

According to the letter, Frank Burd, a fellow-prisoner, confided to the sheriff's informant, that he (Burd) had murdered Manning Riley January 19, 1907, for which crime John Schuyler was twice sentenced to be hanged, only to have the Court of Pardons commute his sentence to life imprisonment. Schuyler was convicted on circumstantial evidence. It was known that he and the victim, Riley, had been enemies for many years.

Burd's alleged confession to his fellow-prisoner and the subsequent letter to the sheriff has caused the prosecutor to make an investigation. The matter will be brought to the attention of the December grand jury and in the meantime Burd will be detained in the jail here.

Burd was committed to the jail several weeks ago for a minor crime at High Bridge. It is said that he has served terms in the Rahway Reformatory and in the jails of Pennsylvania. Little is known about him around here, but his alleged story is getting considerable attention by the county authorities.

BIG MISSIONARY MEETING AT 1ST BAPTIST CHURCH

Under the auspices of the Plainfield Federation of Women's Missionary Societies, an interdenominational meeting will be held in the First Baptist church, tomorrow afternoon at . o'clock. Mrs. Gabriel Reid Maguire will preside. After the opening exercises, Miss Pauline Gates will recite one of Rev. Charles L. Thompson's poems, "The Story of the Nez Perce Indians," and their search for the "White Man's Book of Heaven" will be given in three parts. Miss Addie Parker Jackson will read the story as the Indians are gathered in council.

The Indians decide to send braves to find the "White Man's Book" that shows the way to the "Great Spirit." They visit Gen. Clark in St. Louis and though entertained royally by him are compelled to return to their people without the Book. The young women who will take part in the portrayal are Mrs. Royle T. Phillips, the Misses Ashwell, Cole, Phillips, Miller Brown, Rapalje, Adams, Lee, Weeks Tubbs, Whitall and Alpaugh. After the offertory solo by Mrs. Robert Giddes, Hans P. Freece, an anti-Mormon missionary, will speak. Men women and children are cordially invited.

COUNTY POULTRY AND LAND SHOW PLANNED

The annual poultry and agricultural exhibition of Union county which will be held in the new Armory at Elizabeth, December 4, 5, 6 and 7, will be one of the most important exhibitions of its kind ever held in this part of the country. No efforts have been spared to have every branch of poultry raising and agriculture covered by educational exhibits so that any one seeking information can obtain it by attending this exhibition and asking questions of the experts who will be in attendance.

A large assortment of modern agricultural implements will be displayed. There will also be several kinds of incubators and brooders as well as many up-to-date poultry appliances which simplify the feeding and care of fowl.

In order to encourage the farmers to exhibit their products, there is no entry fee charged. All entries must be made by Monday, November 25, and any one not having received entry blanks should write at once to F. Warren Sumner, director, Elizabeth, N. J., who will send blanks and premium list giving full instructions. Tickets will be given free of charge to all exhibitors.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Federal Authorities After Persons Missing Railroad Tickets.

The passenger department of the New Jersey Central has issued stringent instructions to all employes in passenger train service to report at once all cases of the use of tickets which arouse their suspicions. These instructions are especially significant in view of the report that persons believed to represent the Federal authorities at Washington are investigating such cases. The New Jersey Central recently obtained from the Court of Chancery of New Jersey an injunction prohibiting the misuse of commutation tickets. **

Fred Coursey and Harry Duffield Await In Camden Prison Until They Are Sent to Death House In Trenton For Murder of Karl Kellerman.

Camden, N. J., Nov. 21.—Fred Coursey and Harry Duffield, the youths who were found guilty of murder in the first degree in this city Saturday on the charge of killing Karl Kellerman and sentenced to die during the week of Dec. 29, are still in the Camden jail awaiting removal to the death house at Trenton. Arrangements had been made to take them to Trenton, but because of the illness of Sheriff Nowery, the lads were detained in Camden.

A touching scene was enacted in the prison when three women, expecting that the condemned youths would be taken to the death chamber, came to bid Coursey farewell. They were the mother, fiance and a former sweetheart of Coursey. The three women wept as they spoke to the prisoner through the iron bars of his cell and several times his mother, broken hearted, nearly collapsed.

Four days before Coursey and Duffield shot Kellerman, imitating a moving picture play they had seen the same evening, Coursey and Miss Ray Foulkes of Lakehurst, N. J., became engaged. Miss Foulkes is a tall blond. Her eyes filled with tears as she extended her hand through the bars and spoke to Coursey:

"Goodby, Fred," she said. "We may not meet again in this world, but we shall be united in the next. I know you are innocent, and I will always believe in you. Be brave." She turned her head and wept bitterly.

Miss May Griffith of 110 North Twenty-first street, East Camden, who for the first time met the young woman who was successful in winning Coursey's heart, was equally overcome. Coursey lived at her mother's home until the time he was arrested.

"I always loved Fred," she said, "and I was surprised to learn of his engagement. I did not know of it until I saw Miss Foulkes here, and I am sorry for her sake that Fred has got into so much trouble."

The women remained in the prison until the visiting hour was over, and they had to be led away by the guards.

ATHLETE A SUICIDE.

Perry Apparently Killed Himself Because of Family Trouble.

Verona, N. J., Nov. 21.—The body of Ernest Perry, an architect, thirty-two years old, was found close to the sidewalk on Prospect street. He had committed suicide by shooting himself. It is believed that family troubles led Perry to his act. His wife, whom he married three years ago, left him a year ago, taking their baby with her. She has since been living in Glen Ridge with her mother, Mrs. John Stryker of Ridgewood avenue, and her husband had been living with his father, Oscar Perry of Hill Crest terrace, Verona.

Perry formerly lived in Montclair, moving to Verona four years ago with his parents. He was an expert basketball player and captained the Crescent basketball team of Montclair for several years. He was a prominent Odd Fellow.

Friends of Dr. Elliott Offer to Make Up Part of Money Taken.

Passaic, N. J., Nov. 21.—Friends of former City Sanitarian Dr. J. Nelson Elliott of this city, who some time ago voluntarily returned from Havana, where he had fled after embezzling $1,100 of city money, have offered to reimburse the city to the extent of $500 in cash and with a note signed by Dr. Elliott for the remainder.

Just how the officials will act on the proposition has not been determined, but it is understood that it will not be considered unless the full amount of the loss is paid in cash. Even then the matter is in the hands of the prosecutor, and it may not be possible to save Dr. Elliott from a jail sentence.

SUICIDE APOLOGIZES TO WIFE

Leaves Woman Note Telling Her to Be Good to Children.

Passaic, N. J., Nov. 21.—Leaving a note to his wife apologizing for the act, Isaac Einhorn, a grocer, thirty years old, committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid. In June he was injured in a runaway and lay unconscious thirty hours in a hospital.

In the letter to his wife he wrote: "I could endure the suffering no longer. Please forgive me. Be a good mother to your children. Goodby." Mrs. Einhorn is left with boys four and six years old.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SOME SEASONABLE SOUPS.

WHEN the housewife is considering what to serve in the way of soups her mind now turns to the late vegetables available for the purpose. Beets, carrots, celery, potatoes, late tomatoes, onions, turnips, cabbages and cauliflowers are among the availables in fresh vegetables.

Two Delicious Soups.

Cream of Beet Soup.—Take four bunches of selected blood beets, pare, grate and strain through a sieve. Then put on the fire and scald them. Boil a pint of sweet milk and add it to the beets. Stir in a saltspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of sifted flour, two tablespoonfuls of butter, a little cream and a sprinkle of pepper. Stir these slowly into the soup until it is as thick as cream.

Cream of Celery Soup.—Take a bunch of celery, a quart of milk, two tablespoonfuls of flour, a tablespoonful of butter, a teaspoonful and a half of salt, a quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper. Select the outside stalks of celery, clean, cut into half inch lengths and take a quart and a half of these, cover with cold water and cook until tender. Drain and mash the celery through a wire strainer. Take the water in which the celery was cooked, the strained celery and add to the milk, which has been boiled in the top of a double boiler. Rub the flour and butter together and work into a smooth paste with a little cold milk. Add this to the soup, then add the salt and pepper. Boil one minute, strain through a fine strainer and serve.

Rich, Yet Inexpensive.

Cream of Carrot Soup.—Take four carrots, a quart of milk, a tablespoonful each of butter, finely chopped onion, flour, chopped parsley a teaspoonful of salt and a quarter of a teaspoonful of white pepper. Wash and scrape the carrots, cut into pieces, cover with boiling water, add the teaspoonful of salt and boil until tender. Drain and mash. Put the milk on in the upper part of a double boiler. As soon as it boils add the carrot. Put the butter and onion in a frying pan, cook one minute, then add the flour and one cupful of the water the carrots were cooked in. Stir until smooth and creamy, then stir into the milk. Season with salt and pepper, cook three minutes, strain through a wire strainer and add the chopped parsley.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.
Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Jos. Smith, Mrs. Wm. M. Sandford, Jr.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

The Plainfield delegates to the Mothers' Congress at Riverton last week were so impressed with the wonderful message of Mrs. L. M. Johnson, of Fairhope, Ala., principal of the School of Organic Education, that a successful effort was made to bring her to Plainfield. Mrs. Johnson will speak in the High School Auditorium Tuesday evening, December 3, at 8 o'clock, on "The School of the Future." Unless the individual emerges from an institution sounder of body, more intelligent of mind, sweeter and more helpful in spirit, the process has not been educational is the theory of the School of Organic Education. All who are interested in the education of their children are invited to attend.

Every sanitary precaution necessary in private homes should be enforced many times more vigorously in school houses.—(Bulletin U. S. Bureau of Education).

"Child Welfare can only be secured as parents and teachers every where write for child study, any State which does not double its membership in such associations should ask the reason why."

Do you know not only where your child is but what he is doing when at school or play at home?

Are you giving the training of your child physically, mentally and morally intelligent study?

Do you realize that every time your child leaves your home he is influenced by the conditions you help create as a part of the community?

More important than the mothers' diet, although that is very important, is her manner of living. Worry, anxiety, loss of sleep, household cares, great fatigue and social dissipation often affect the quality and the quantity of the milk and sometimes compel the mother to take the baby off the breast and put it on a bottle. Uncontrolled emotions, fright, grief or passion often cause sickness of the child and at other times they cause a complete disappearance of the milk. A common cause of sickness of breast-fed children is too frequent nursing. It requires two hours for the baby to digest mothers milk and a longer time, if it is fed on cow's milk. This means that a new-born babe should not be nursed oftener than once in two hours. Too frequent nursing will make the baby vomit and sometimes will bring on a severe diarrheoa, a baby that is nursed too frequently is almost sure to be restless and peevish both night and day.

There are books in the Plainfield library which may be obtained for the asking, to help mothers and fathers in the sex education of their children.

All children should be taught the value of money by having an allowance of their own. The child may at first be inclined to spend for temporary satisfactions or merely to put the money away as he gets it. Neither of which is desirable. The child should have the experience of spending a penny as soon as he gets it for something that gives immediate pleasure only, and also the experience of saving for awhile and then buying something that gives more lasting satisfaction. The parents should skillfully suggest what the child shall do, being careful that when he saves his money for something, he will be so well satisfied with his purchase that he will deny himself little temporary satisfactions in order that he may get something worth while.

One can always make little children eager over anything by tactful methods. One can make them enthusiastic over care of babies very easily, but is it best for the next generation that little girls of ten to fourteen years, instead of freedom and open air and play, be taught in the schools to life, carry, tend, feed, manage babies? It is best for the baby to be cared for by an intelligent child or by an intelligent mother. It is wise for society to tolerate or to encourage through its educational system, the economic or any other condition that separate mothers and babies by teaching little girls to do mother's work? We hear much of child labor in factories; but there is also a problem of it in the homes. Do any sexual mistakes of early adolescence come from the too early cultivation of parental instincts before right education has laid foundations of ideals? A recent masterly study of vocational education in Europe for the benefit of this country includes among its final recommendations one that vocational education should not be given under fifteen years of age, that their earlier years are needed for founding general intelligence and ideals and tastes, and securing elementary co-ordination of hand and brain centres. If this is right and it claims to sum up all educational experience, then the vocation of home making in its most important art—care of babies—does not belong in elementary schools. We are the only animal, some one has said, that works its young in the care of others. With us it is already proving a blight. I submit that girls are entitled to their girlhood, if they are to become good mothers, as are boys to their boyhood as a preparation for fatherhood, as are babies to their mothers and mothers to their babies, and I sumbit that it is worth while—very worth while—to do as it done in some places, [illegible] for mothers, enabling them to bring up their babies in homes suitable for making citizens, with visiting nurses and teaching clinics to show them how.

BRUNSWICK HIGH EASY FOR P. H. S.

Local Warriors Come Home With a 19 to 0 Victory.

Yearning for another victory on some out of town field before the 1912 football season closes its doors, the Plainfield High School eleven journeyed to New Brunswick yesterday afternoon and railroaded the High School team of that place to the tune of 19 to 0 on a field that was layed out alongside of the P. R. R. railroad and the pigskin booters had to keep their eyes open in order not to lose the oval on a passing freight. Forward passing featured the game and their were a number of good advances made on this method of attack by both contestants.

The keynote of the victory, however, is sounded in the word Good. Good tackling and superior line rushing by Good won the game for the locals. He was the big noise from start to finish and without his services the game would have easily been New Brunswicks. In the final period of play P. H. S. took the ball on downs on her own 2 yard line and with the aid of Good and a wonderful display of defensive work carried the ball the length of the field for a touchdown.

In speaking of the contest this morning, the P. H. S. players proclaimed it to be the roughest they have played in and time was called frequently for some warrior to romp up and down the field in an endeavor to recover an ear or a finger that he had suddenly missed, or thought he had at least. Perhaps the most disheartening feature of the game and the one which greatly marred the locals victory was the injury to Captain Van Zant. While rushing the ball he was tackled around the neck with such violence that it cracked his collarbone and he will be out of the game for the rest of the season. Good took his place in calling the signals and will be obliged to occupy this all-important position during the remainder of the present season.

The teams lined up as follows:

P. H. S.		N. B. H. S.
Mann	left end	Jackson
Berrien	left tackle	Redshaw
DuBois	left guard	McDonald
Carter	centre	Dunham
White	right guard	Scott
Gavett	right tackle	Jackson
McDowell	right end	Hankins
Van Zandt	quarterback	Solomon
Snyder	left halfback	Manley
Good	fullback	Garrigan

Substitutes — Plainfield, Noonan for Mann, Jenkins for Good, Good for Van Zandt, Moore for Gavett, Thompson for White. New Brunswick, Freeman for Solomon.

The score by periods:

N. B. H. S.	0	0	0	0	0
P. H. S.	6	6	0	7	19

Touchdowns—Good 2, Van Zandt. Goal from touchdown—Good. Referee—Mr. Linke. Umpire—Mr. Giles. Linesmen—Messrs. Sweeney and Linke. Timers—Messrs. Jones and Krom.

UMPIRE EVANS, FEARING JOHNSON'S SPEED, CALLED GAME IN TWILIGHT.

Umpire Bill Evans remarked the other day that Walter Johnson, the shrapnel shooter of the Washingtons, is the only pitcher whose speed ever made him blink. "It was getting dark one afternoon when I was umpiring behind Johnson," said Evans, "and I noticed that Catcher Williams was having trouble grabbing the fast ones. 'Hey,' I remarked to him, 'be careful. Don't let any of those get past and hit me.' The ball came in faster and faster and had me blinking and dodging. I thought it was about time to quit taking chanees, so I turned around to the stand and sang out, 'Game called!'"

—Watch Press want advs. for a message from the man who is forced to sell some lots quickly!

WALTER JOHNSON'S SPEED SCARES GEORGE STOVALL.

George Stovall, manager of the St. Louis Americans, in an interview recently said:

"I don't think there is any pitcher in the country that can approach Johnson for speed, curves and control. I am a very fair hitter, but when Johnson was pitching I could not do much. About the first ball he pitched was a beaner at my head and I would fall to the ground. Of course the next two he would put over, but I was afraid of them, like every one else is. It is his speed that scares you. Of all the pitchers I ever batted against he is the hardest to hit, for half the time the ball slips by you before you can see it."

TEWANIMA COOL INDIVIDUAL

Carlisle Runner Remains In Ignorance Concerning "Excitement."

Publicity never bothered Lewis Tewanima, the little Hopi Indian who for the last half dozen years has kept the colors of Carlisle Indian school well in the front ranks.

It made no difference to Lewis how many people stared at him when he was on the mark waiting for the start of a race. He was even cooler than the proverbial cucumber. The word "excited" was one totally unknown to Tewanima. He was never afflicted with stage fright nor scared by the ability of any runner because he never paid any attention to any other runner in the race. They could run as they pleased. He always ran as Glen Warner told him. And Glen pretty nearly knew what every one in the race could do and what the little Hopi could do.

In the ten mile American championship race some two or three years ago in New York Tewanima happened to bump into a runner as he was going by, but not enough to interfere with the stride of the paleface. It was a fast effort with the white man, and he possibly thought the Indian was trying to force him from the track.

TEWANIMA, CARLISLE'S STAR RUNNER.

He mustered up enough speed to again catch the Indian, and when he did so he spat in his face.

Tewanima did not even look up—in fact, paid not the slightest attention to the insult. You can go over the records from that day to this and you will find that Tewanima has beaten the paleface every time. He never said anything, for, like most Indians, he is a stoic, but he remembers. Indians are long on memory. They never forget.

Lewis was not strong for photographs. He was totally indifferent as to their being taken. He never asked for one himself, no matter who took it. As the years rolled by and he accumulated prizes by the trunkful it became necessary in the course of events that a photograph be taken. Lewis got into his running togs, and all the medals, cups, watches, banners and plaques that he had won were placed in position.

Then the photographer looked around with a worried expression. He was puzzled. He scratched his head, walked around the room several times and then said:

"Now, where the deuce am I goin' to put that Indian?"

FEW ATHLETES STAY RETIRED

Lure of Sport Generally Brings Them Back.

M'FARLAND IS THE LATEST.

Retired a Few Weeks Ago—Now Says He Will Continue—Instances of Many Ball Players and Pugilists Who Quit Only to Return.

By TOMMY CLARK.

Packey McFarland will not retire from the ring. A few weeks ago Packey announced that he would quit the sport, but suddenly changed his mind and will continue. In fact, McFarland is getting the money too easily to seriously think of quitting the ring.

It is a funny thing how a lot of athletes have announced that they would quit sport for good only to find that the lure of the game in which they excelled has again and again proved too strong to be resisted, and the result has been that once more they returned to a sport to which a farewell had been bidden.

Sometimes the return has been disastrous. Sometimes it has been successful.

Jim Jeffries furnishes a doleful case of the wrecking of a great reputation by an effort to come back and get the dollars after the athletic prowess of his youth had passed.

The boilermaker quit the ring admired as few fighters had ever been. His marvelous record of victories in a short time over Peter Jackson, Jim Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons, Tom Sharkey and Gus Ruhlin rated him as the greatest heavyweight the world had ever seen. When he stuck a couple of jolts into Jack Munro, the false alarm miner, whose claim to fame rested on an alleged knockdown he scored against Jeffries in a bout at Butte, the boilermaker announced that he was done with the ring game and would settle down to his ease in his Los Angeles home, where he had a paying cafe and saloon.

Jeffries resisted many efforts to get him out of retirement, and it was eight years before the siren call of dollars got so strong that he could not ignore it. Johnson had cleaned up all of the white heavyweights, and it became the belief of the American sporting public that only one man could beat the negro, and that was Jeffries.

The sad outcome of the effort that Jeffries made is still remembered. The wretched showing he made at Reno did more than shatter his great reputation. It won him the contempt of thousands who saw the fight, because it was contended that the former champion displayed distinct lack of courage both before and after the bout.

Battling Nelson announced his retirement after he dropped his title in his bout with Wolgast, but the Dane was not able to stay away from the chance of making money and perhaps of proving that he lost to Ad on a fluke and could reverse the decision in another bout.

Fitzsimmons thought he was done with the ring after his second bout with Jim Jeffries, but he, too, was decoyed back in 1908 and was a two round mark for Jack Johnson.

Tommy Ryan, who had a long career, quit and returned two or three times; so did his conqueror, Kid McCoy, who figured in a bout within a year.

Many star baseball players have tried to quit the game, but the number who have succeeded is few. The only important pair that come to memory now are Bill Lange, Chicago's great outfielder of the early nineties, who left baseball when he was at the height of his ability and could have commanded almost any salary, and Fielder Jones, manager of the Chicago Americans, who headed the team that won the world's championship in 1906.

Jones made good his promise, and, though this was five years ago, he has steadily remained outside the fold, but he nearly always turns up in time to see the games of the world's series played.

Garland Stahl tried to get out of baseball in 1910, at which time he was playing first base for the Boston Americans and acting as captain of the team.

Stahl is in the banking business in his Galeton (Ill.) home, and he wearied of baseball and determined to stick strictly to a financial occupation, but when James McAleer bought control of the Boston Americans he wanted Stahl for manager and made such a good proposition that Garland was unable to resist, and he came back to the game.

Mike Donlin, now with Pittsburgh, retired on two occasions, on one of them to become the theatrical partner of his wife, the late Mabel Hite, but Mike couldn't stay out of the game and came back as a member of the Giants, shifting thence to Boston and ending up at Pittsburgh, where he has now the utility hitting role.

Ralph Rose, the Olympic weight putter, was done with athletics until the recurring of the Olympic competition inspired him with the motive of trying his power once more. Ralph made good and demonstrated himself still a topnotcher among the missile hurlers.

Sometimes it is love of sport, sometimes it is the need of the cash, but from one motive or another it is hard for the champion in any sport to stay retired.

Danny Maher Renews Contract

Jockey Danny Maher's riding contracts for 1913 remain the same as for this year. Lord Rosebery has his services exclusively, the Hartford rider having made a big success with Rosebery's horses on the English turf.

PLENTY FOR WHICH TO FEEL THANKFUL

It Was No Misnomer to Call This a Thanksgiving Supper.

The annual Thanksgiving supper and entertainment under the auspices of the Woman's Society for Christian Work was given at the Seventh Day Baptist church last night, and proved a complete success. More than 200 suppers were served from 6 to 8 o'clock, and all the guests thoroughly enjoyed the fine menu prepared by the women of the church, which included generous portions of every dish from tomato bisque soup to ice cream, pie and coffee.

The supper was served in the church parlors, although it was necessary to make use of one large room in the Sunday-school auditorium to accommodate the patrons of the affair.

Following the feast there was an informal program, comprising violin solos by Mrs. Violet Truell Johnson; several piano selections, Hugo Brandt; the reading of "Standish of Standish," by Mrs. James E. Kimball; and the reading of the President's Thanksgiving proclamation by Rev. Edward Shaw, pastor of the church. This was the first appearance of Mr. Brandt in an entertainment at the church, and his playing of classical numbers proved a real treat.

There was a sale of fancy and plain aprons and fancy articles. The apron table was in charge of Mrs. Henry M. Maxson and Mrs. C. L. Ford, and the fancy table was in charge of Mrs. Charles P. Titsworth, Mrs. A. W. Vars and Miss Mary T. Greene.

The refreshment committee comprised Mrs. O. S. Rogers, Mrs. Asa F. Randolph, Mrs. C. W. Spicer, Mrs. Marcus L. Clawson, Mrs. Charles H. Dunham, Mrs. Frank H. Smith and Mrs. George L. Babcock. Mrs. George E. Stillman was chairman of the program committee, assisted by other members of the society. Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard was in charge of the dining-room, assisted by Mrs. Frank A. Langworthy, and about fifteen young women who acted as waitresses. Mrs. F. A. Dunham was the cashier.

MRS. SZABO CHOKED TO DEATH, SAYS DOCTOR

Another Witness Saw Lawyer and Client Struggling.

Goshen, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Tempered with the mildness and merriment of a homelike atmosphere, justice in Orange county is proving itself relentless in linking the chain of evidence against Burton W. Gibson, the lawyer accused of murdering his client for her estate. The state's principal witnesses so far have made out the strongest possible case of circumstantial evidence against the accused.

"Pressure on the pneumogastric nerve, controlling the heart and lungs will cause death instantaneously," declared Dr. George W. King of Jersey City. "The lungs were flat. Nothing found at the autopsy indicated that the deceased died of drowning. Everything indicates that she died of strangulation by force applied from without."

This testimony followed a demonstration by John Minturn, storekeeper, of Sterling Forest, who told how he saw Gibson struggling with the Szabo woman in the boat on the day the woman was drowned. This witness described in some detail what he saw on the day.

Minturn's narrative evidently upset the defendant and his wife. Both were very pale, and Gibson twisted his fingers and rubbed his hands nervously. When he put his hand to his face the wife took hold of his fingers and pulled it down, looking into his eyes. Then she turned to Attorney Elder and watched his grueling cross examination.

Dr. King's testimony was next in importance to Minturn's.

The motive for the murder was established by Mr. Wassergovel by showing Gibson was the executor of the Szabo estate. Six bank clerks from different institutions showed that the lawyer within a month after his client's death tried to close all her savings accounts.

Bryan's message was sent from Bermuda, where he lectures.

THE FACTORY WHISTLE

From American Machinist

I note considerable discussion in your paper lately on the subject of the factory whistle. Some hold that a little shop should announce itself in a shrill falsetto and a big plant should have a deep, throaty whistle as befitting its magnitude.

We all must admit that the factory whistle is a nuisance. This fact has been deeply impressed upon me, because next to our office is a lumber yard and mill with an ordinary whistle for morning, noon and night use, and a decidedly extraordinary whistle to call the different foremen to the office whenever a collector comes with an ice bill, or one of their wives wants them on the 'phone to tell them to stop at Wunderlich's on the way home and bring some liverwurst.

There are five foremen and each has a signal all his own. No. 1 answers to one toot, No. 2 to two toots, and so on. We thank Providence that there are no more than five foremen. Every fifteen minutes or less, one or the other of them is called to the office. We can never use our 'phone unless the windows are closed and I estimate that enough steam is wasted through that whistle to operate three or four plants.

While factory whistles as a rule are a nuisance, there is no reason why they should not be useful and at the same time be made to appeal to our esthetic sense. This could be effected with a set of chime whistles and a keyboard, and with them we could do wonders. We ought to inject a little more sentiment into the machine-tool business, anyway. We all take ourselves too seriously. Our emotions and finer sensibilities are suppressed.

Just now the only good opportunity we have to give vent to our feelings and air our little grievances is at the annual and semi-annual conventions, but these are too far apart. Six months is a long stretch and if we coop up our emotions all that time they are likely to spill over or distort our respective livers. A chime whistle would circumvent such a painful condition. It would be the balance wheel as well as the safety valve for our industrial passions.

For instance, suppose your best man was out on a big deal, and had been gone two weeks, sending in expense accounts as long as presidential messages, when along comes Mr. Ubiquitous Competitor and nails the contract, and doesn't leave you anything but gloomy memories. Now instead of nursing a grouch you could step right over to the whistle keyboard and pound out something like "Chopin's Funeral March," or "Somebody Else is Getting It," or perhaps "Goodbye Mister Greenback." Then you would have all the cinders and slag out of your system, and you would feel better right away.

Or, on the other hand, it might be the twenty-ninth of the month and on figuring up sales you discover that they are less than for the corresponding month of last year, which by the way was the worst you ever had, when on the next morning, the thirtieth, you get a rush order for nineteen machines which you happen to have finished in stock. There's a situation that calls for expression, and lots of it. What do you do? Just trot over to the chimes and thrum the "Merry Widow Waltz" or "Heaven is Not Far Away," and put real feeling into it.

And besides, the whistles would be handy for a lot of chores around the place. Your new stenographer, who uses a simplified spelling all her own and sticks Speermint all over the furniture, might strike you for an advance in salary. Instead of saying harsh words and looking cross you could play "You Must Think I'm Santa Claus," and the matter would be settled as pleasantly as taking a sugar-coated pill.

I think that if the machine-tool builders would take these suggestions "seriously," and put them into practice, they would be a much happier and more prosperous lot, and they would have better appetites and clearer consciences.

ORIGINAL PAINTING OF NEW JERSEY SEAL FOUND NEAR HERE

The Old Herbert Homestead in the Vicinity of Bound Brook.

The Original Painting of the Coat of Arms of the State of New Jersey.

—Courtesy Newark Sunday Call.

(From the Newark Sunday Call.)

Hanging in a dim corner of a dark hallway in a residence in a nearby town is a work of art that should be of interest to all citizens of New Jersey. It is the original oil painting of the coat of arms of the State of New Jersey, still stretched in the old oak frame, black with age, in which the artist first placed it. Rumor dates the origin of this painting back to the time when the seat of government was temporarily at Perth Amboy.

There the painting was made by William Dunlap in 1789, as is noted by the signature and date on the painting itself, and hung on the wall of the State House, later known as the Court House. This was some time afterward destroyed by fire and the painting, together with some other things, was rescued and stored in an old house in Perth Amboy, where they seem to have been forgotten or considered lost. During this period the coat of arms was reproduced in oils, but with slight differences from the original. This reproduction is the one that now hangs in the State House at Trenton. The original painting found its way into the hands of Dr. Manning Blackwell, who before his death gave it to his intimate friend, John I. Sutphen. Mr. Sutphen's wife, Mrs. Elizabeth D. Sutphen, in turn bequeathed it to her niece, Mrs. Henry Herbert, wife of the cashier of the First National Bank, of Bound Brook, in whose hands it is at present.

An effort was made several years ago by Mrs. Sutphen to have the painting placed in the State House at Trenton, where it properly belongs. The canvas was taken to the Capitol, where it hung on exhibition and its authenticity seemingly proved beyond a doubt; but, as was the case with Huck Finn's prayers, "nothing come of it." Through Senator W. W. Smalley, whose home is also in Bound Brook, the work will again be offered to the State and, should they not care to acquire it, Mrs. Herbert has about decided to bequeath it to Rutgers College. The painting has an intrinsic value, large sums having been offered for it by art collectors. Mrs. Herbert told the Call representative that she considered it worth about $5,000, though the value to the State should be priceless.

Owing to the somewhat dimming of the original colors, great difficulty was met in photographing the painting and in making the accompanying reproduction.

The artist, William Dunlap, who sleeps in a Perth Amboy churchyard, is more famed for other work done in his busy lifetime than for his painting. He is known as the Father of the American Drama, having been the first professional playwright produced by this country. His plays dealt with American subjects and were produced in New York by a company he managed in a theatre he directed. In honor of his dramatic work, one of the leading learned bodies, the Dunlap Society, was named after him.

William Dunlap was a historian also. His little history of the early American drama is a classic, much admired by students of the stage, sought after by the book collector and pilfered by the historian. Some of Dunlap's descriptions of the revolutionary war, especially events around Perth Amboy, are among the most vivid records of the period extant.

Should Mrs. Herbert find further trouble in disposing of the painting, the Dunlap Society would undoubtedly make ardent efforts to obtain the treasure.

CHARMING ACTRESS WOMEN'S FAVORITE

Sweet Miss Thurston to Be Seen Here Captivates the Gentler Sex.

A woman who is universally admired by her own sex is sure to be possessed of an infinite number of charms; the same may be said of an actress who is popular with women. Adelaide Thurston is such an actress. Her gentle and appealing charm, and her power to portray character that combine the buoyancy of youth and the purity of unsullied womanhood caused Charles Frohman to select Miss Thurston for the role of Lady Babbie in Barrie's exquisite creation, "The Little Minister." The young actress proved herself to be an ideal Lady Babbie, and it was her charming interpretation of the famous character that established her reputation as a "woman's actress."

There are on our stage many female stars about whom men rave, but who do not appeal to their own sex, and are, on that account, only indifferently successful; but the actress who invariably finds a crowd of matiness girls waiting at the stage door to see her leave the theatre need not worry about her future. If the matinee girls go to see her the men will be sure to follow.

Miss Thurston while abroad the past summer purchased some exquisite gowns with which to grace her now play, "The Love Affair." The real sucess attained by Miss Thurston is attributed in a large part to the fact that she gives her personal attention to every deail concerning her productions. She is ably assisted in this, her latest vehicle, by Frederick Paulding, the author who, though being associated with her as leading man and stage director, is thoroughly familiar with her every mood.

Mr. Paulding selected the supporting company including William Vanderbilt, Roberta Brennen, May Davis Sara Enright, Edward Delaney, Sidney Blair, Graham Earle and Edwin Burke.

Francis X. Hope has given "The Love Affair" a magnificent scenic production. The sale of seats for Miss Thurston's engagement in this city in "The Love Affair," Wednesday, November 26, is now open.

AUTO SPEEDING AS NEGLIGENCE

Court Holds Law's Violation Places Owner on Defense in Accidents.

AFFIRMS A JUDGMENT

High Tribunal Rules That Motorist Running His Car at Illegal Speed Who Fgures in Accidents He is on Defensive.

Trenton, Nov. 22.—Violation of the law regulating the operation of motor vehicles is in itself sufficient evidence of negligent driving to place an owner of a car upon his defense in case of accident, according to a principle laid down by the Court of Errors and Appeals in affirming a judgment for damages recovered by Jacob S. Meyer and Joseph Peter against Harold T. Creighton.

The court's decision affirming the judgment was announced last Monday, the reasons for the affirmance being set forth in an opinion filed by Judge Vredenburgh Wednesday afternoon.

Meyer & Peter were the owners of an electric delivery wagon with which an automobile owned by Creighton collided July 15, 1911, in a public street at Deal. At the time of the accident both vehicles were being driven in the same direction along Roseld avenue. The delivery wagon was running at the rate of about eight miles an hour, while the Creighton car, according to the testimony, was being run at a speed of from forty to forty-five miles an hour.

Just before the collision actually occurred Herman Herbert, driver of the Meyer & Peter car, gave the usual signal of his intention to turn to the left. He then veered slightly to the right in order to make the turn into a private lane, and just as his car started on the turn it was crash-

THINK STATE SHOULD PAY CRONEY CLAIM

Freeholders and Mosquito Fighters to Confer Again Next Week.

Another conference between the Union Conuty Mosquito Extermination Commission and the committee from the Union County Board of Freeholders, which has been investigating the county's liability under the employers' liability act for the death of George H. Croney, of this city, who died as the result of injury while in the employ of the commission, will be held next week.

A report will be submitted for presentation to the freeholders at the December meeting. The opinion prevails among members of the Board that the county is not liable and that the family of the dead man should look to the State for compensation. It has been pointed out that the mosquito commission was created by a State law, and the freeholders are only called upon to supply the funds for the work.

This is the first case of the kind which has arisen under the employers' liability act. The act has been found binding on individual and corporate employers, but the question to be decided is whether it is binding on municipalities and counties.

SEARCHING FOR RELATIVES OF LATE OTTO HARTMAN

Creating the impression that Otto Hartman, an importer of colors with offices in New York, who died last Friday in St. Vincent's Hospital, New York, had left a fortune, several men have been canvassing North Plainfield in an effort to find relatives of the dead man. The city directory of 1891-2 shows that an Otto Hartman resided in Maple avenue, North Plainfield. As far as could be learned a man named Otto Hartman lived in the borough but was a machinist, of which little was known.

Hartman was taken from a New York hotel suffering with pneumonia and died in the hospital several days after arriving. A memorandum book was found in his clothes containing the name of Martin L. Bauer, Owego, Tioga county, N. Y. He was of German parentage.

BAPTIST BIBLE CLASS BANQUET

Pastor Hopes His Young Men Love Scripture as Well as a Feast.

IRISH PREACHER TALKS

Dr. Reid Tells of the Hardy Faith of Erin's 3,000 Baptists—Not Sure That St. Patrick Wasn't One of Them.

Rev. Dr. S. J. Reid, of Belfast, Ireland, who is in this country in the interest of the Baptists of Ireland; Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the church; Arthur M. Harris, superintendent of the Bible School; George A. Batchelor and Benjamin J. Phelps, teachers, were the speakers at the fourth annual banquet of the Men's Bible Conference Class at the First Baptist church, last night. There were about one hundred members and friends of the class present. John G. MacLaughlin, president of the class, in the absence of Charles W. McCutchen, was toastmaster.

The Sunday-school, where the banquet was held, was elaborately decorated, all four sides of the room being draped with large American flags. During the serving of the dinner, which was an especially good one, Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan's orchestra played popular selections. The whole affair was pronounced the best of the kind given by the church organization.

Rev. Dr. Strong, the first speaker, after congratulating the class upon its success, expressed the hope that the men loved the Bible as much as they did the banquet that had been served. He likened a banquet to the Bible in that it presents such a variety and appeals to every mood and taste. The doctor said that one does not like all things equally well, whether it be a banquet or the Bible, and the fact that a person does not

HARDY IS FREED; FACES CIVIL SUIT

Jury Decrees He Acted Within Law in Ejecting Mrs. Krug.

SHE WANTS $25,000

Former Judge W. A. Coddington Fights Great Legal Battle for the Accused Horseman, and Thinks Civil Action Must Now Fail.

Col. John M. Hardy, who was the defendant in the Middlesex county court on a charge of atrocious assault made by Mrs. Sarah P. Krug, of Avenel, was acquitted of the charge by a jury yesterday afternoon, following the strong presentation of the facts of the case by his counsel, William A. Coddington, of this city. Throughout two days, the case was fought bitterly every step.

The points raised by Mr. Coddington were that a man's house is his castle, that the husband is the head of the household and is in control, that he has the right to keep out all objectionable or interloping persons and when such persons refuse to obey the head of the household they must be regarded as trespassers and the husband has the right to use so much force as may be necessary to eject such persons from his property.

On all of these points Judge Daly, before whom the case was tried, charged the jury, and although the jury was out a considerable time, it is said there was never any doubt as to Col. Hardy's rights in the matter. During the closing hours of the trial there were several phases that touched on the dramatic. Mrs. Krug's counsel held up a torn shirtwaist, which it was claimed was worn by the plaintiff when it is alleged Col. Hardy ejected her from his premises, and again when Mr. Coddington held up a hat pin and described the manner in which Mrs. Krug made a viscious attack of his client, at the same time declaring: "I'll kill you! I'll kill you!"

Single handed and alone Mr. Coddington fought for the rights of his client against an array of counsel on the other side including Lum, Tamble & Collier, of Newark. Mr. Coddington was insistent that the indictment case be tried first, claiming the right to use the result of that case in any future action. Now that Col. Hardy has been acquitted on the indictment charge, Mr. Coddington believes that the trial for the $25,000 damages claimed by Mrs. Krug, must of necessity fail.

Miss Martha Griggs, a graduate nurse, of this city, who lived in the Hardy household, and James Bishop, a Plainfield boy, who works at the Hardy place, were called as witnesses yesterday to testify to what they had seen. According to the testimony yesterday, Mrs. Hardy is now residing on East Seventh street, this city.

INSPECTION AND NOMINATION.

WHERE LIVES THERE A SINGLE SOUL DEVOID OF THE CHARMS OF MUSIC

"Music Hath Charms to Soothe the Maddened Beast" and tho' Man is Not a "Beast" He Dearly Loves to Hear the Strains from Musical Instruments— Here's The Solution.

It is undeniable that "music hath charms to soothe the maddened beast." But "hubby" is not a "beast," however much some really fond wives might be inclined to so classify him.

Where is there a man who cares not for the charms of music as interpreted by the finest mechanical instruments the brain and hand of the best in civilization has been able to devise?

Such a creature is not to be found. All men, forscoth how hardened their tuneful souls, loves to hear the strains of musical mirth as transmitted by the piano and the phonograph per example.

Realizing this as a self-evident proposition, the Daily Press has augured well to distribute as Christmas gifts, if one would so term it, a player-piano, a piano without that wonderous automatic attachment and a talking machine.

Two superb pianos, the one with the player arrangement and the other without, as well as a Vitaphone, the last word in the phonograph art, will be given to those who finish, in their regular order, in the Daily Press campaign for subscriptions.

The individual man or the man as represented in a collective body such as a Sunday-school, a lodge, a club, a society or such, polling the largest vote will receive the player-piano. And so, in order, the second will receive the piano, and the third in the race will become the owner of the marvelous Vitaphone.

And there is no gamble in this contest. All who work in earnest will be duly rewarded. It is arranged that any contestant, obtaining five or more yearly subscribers, shall be rewarded with a ten per cent. commission. This minimum limit is placed because no one really working could obtain less than that number for a paper that sells on its own merits. Even the winners of the grand prizes will come in for a share of the commission money. It will be ten per cent of the cash receipts for all.

If there is anything not clear to the reader, telephone or personally consult the Contest Editor, at the Daily Press office.

One thing has been overlooked—there's a ballot box at the Daily Press office, where the coupons clipped from this or any other issue of the Daily Press are to be deposited. It is also the receptacle for yearly subscriptions. Deposit the ballots in it now.

"VICE PROBLEM."

MUSURGIA SOCIETY CAPTURES AUDIENCE

"Best Concert in Many Days," General Verdict of Crowded House.

Singing before a large and appreciative audience, members of the Musurgia Society, composed of soloists from choirs of the principal churches in New York, scored a notable success last night in the High School Auditorium, where they appeared for the benefit of the Charity Organization Society of this city. The effect of fifty male voices, trained, well balanced and well blended in concerted effort was thoroughly enjoyed and the applause following each number on the program, made it compulsory for the singers to respond with encores repeatedly.

The auditorium was crowded, and the general verdict was that the concert was the best of its kind heard here in many a long day.

The Musurgia Society has a reputation as one of the best singing organizations in New York. They have appeared many times in charity's cause in New York, but last night's concert marked their first appearance for charity in any other city but the Metropolis.

The chorus numbers were interspersed with duos by Frank W. Rauch, baritone, and Albert Walsh, basso, and solos by Charles H. Mann, basso. Each artist exhibited rare technique and volume of tone. Syb Owens, a pianist of reputation, favored with a humorous recitation, by request, which pleased the audience immensely.

The opening numbers, "The Cavalier's Song," "When Stars are in the Quiet Skies," and "Drinking Song," scored immediate triumphs for the singers among the audience. Another selection which was unusually pleasing to the ear was "The Song of the Camp," a musical setting by H. J. Stewart, of Bayard Taylor's poem. The poem tells the story of the charge at Balaklava in the Crimean War, and when the poet refers to the soldiers' reveries of the home land after the charge and the dream of the "girl back home," "Annie Laurie" is hummed by the chorus. Charles H. Mann, baritone was the incidental soloist and handled his part beautifully.

The program:

1.—The Cavalier's Song, by Reinald Werrenrath.

2.—(a) When Stars are in the Quiet Skies, by Lucas; (b) Drinking Son, by Hugh Whitefield Martin.

3.—(a) An Ivy Leaf, by Mildenberg; (b) When I Am Dying, by Amy Woodford Finden, by A. D. Clark, tenor.

4.—Lochinvar, by William G. Hammond, incidental solos by Frank W. Rauch, baritone, and Albert Walsh, basso.

5.—The Song of the Camp, by H. J. Stewart incidental solos by Chas. H. Mann, baritone.

6.—Songs, selected by Albert Walsh, basso.

7.—(a) A Tiny Song, by Ernest Schmid, incidental solo by Fred Vettel; (b) Kathleen Mavourneen, by Crouch-Vogrien; (c) Ho, Jolly Jenkin, by Sullivan-Schnecker.

8.—(a) Lullaby, by Brahms; (b) Ho, John Peel (Old English Hunting Song), arranged by Mark Andrews.

PROGRAM OF CONCERT AT Y. M. C. A. TONIGHT

At the musicale to be given in Y. M. C. A. Hall, tonight, by Mrs. McNeill Hopcraft the following will assist: Miss Florence Cary, soprano; Mrs. Ida Randolph-Smalley, accompanist; Clarence Seward, of New York, baritone, and Hugo Brandt, piano soloist.

The program will be as follows:

(a) "La Visione," with violin obligator, Vanuccini; (b) "Bon Jour Suson," E. Pessard; Mrs. McNeill Hopcraft and Miss Violet Johnson; piano solos—(a) "Hochzeitstag Auf Trolhhaugen," E. Grieg; (b) "Humoresque," Hugo Brandt; Hugo Brandt; (a) "Dio Posente Dio D'Amor," Faust, Charles Gounod; (b) "The Violet," Muldenberg; Clarence Seward, Frank Howard Warner, accompanist; (a) Aria—"Je Dis Que Rien Ne M'Epouvante," Carmen, Bizet; (b) "Roses Bloom in the Garden," Salter; Miss Florence Cary; piano solor, Ida Randolph Smalley; silver offering; "The Nightingale," Ward Stephens; Mrs. McNeil Hopcraft; (a) "Love's Tribute," first time," Frank Howard Warner; (b) Song from "Love In Winter," first time, Frank Howard Warner; Mrs. McNeill Hopcraft, accompanied by the composer; piano solos—(a) Valse, C Sharp Minor, F. Chopin; (b) Slav Dance, E Major, Hugo Brandt; Hugo Brandt; (a) "Fio Dir Margherita," Polka, Arditi; (b) "I Breath Thy Name," Mary Turner Salter; Miss Florence Cary; "Pro Peccatis Stabat Mater," Rossini; "Billy and His Drum," Gerret Smitt; Clarence Seward.

ONLY FEW EXPENSE ACCOUNTS UNFILED

Practically All Candidates at Recent Election Have Complied with Law.

Elizabeth, Nov. 22.—Most of the candidates who ran for office at the last election have compiled with the law in regard to filing their certificates of expenses and there remain but a few to be filed with the county or city clerk. With the possible exception of last year, when the Geran law first went into effect, there has not been a campaign in which so little money has been spent by the candidates for campaign purposes. The publication of the amounts received and money spent, and for what it was expended, has seemingly had a deterrent effect on the large expenditures which formerly characterized local campaigns.

Those who have filed their accounts with County Clerk Calvert since and including yesterday afternoon are as follows:

James J. McCann, of Plainfield, elected for one year term to the board of freeholders on the Democratic ticket, gave $28 to the Union County Democratic Committee.

Joseph F. Greer, also elected to the board of freeholders for the two year term, spent $90.40, which he gave to the County Democratic Committee.

Lloyd Thompson, of Westfield, who ran on the Republican ticket for member of Assembly, gave to the Union County Republican Committee $125 to aid in his candidacy.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The parts of "John Alden" will be played by Katherine Giddings; "Miles Standish," Lucy Douglas, and "Priscilla," by Anna Hull. The play will be given at the Y. W. C. A., December 6. Girl friends of the members are invited.

The Crimson basketball team, consisting of last year's High School team, will play the First Presbyterian church team at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow evening. The High School lineup will be "The Taylor Brothers," forwards; Dunning, centre; Townley and Burner, guards.

ROGERS PEET COMPANY

PRUDENTIAL AT LAND SHOW.

One of the very interesting features of the National Land and Irrigation Exposition at the 71st Regiment Armory, New York City, is the exhibit of the Prudential Insurance Company of America. First to strike the eye of the visitors are two immense allegorical paintings entitled "The Farmer Produces Wealth; Life Insurance Saves It for the Family." A card informs visitors that the Prudential has over $47,000,000 loaned in farm mortgages and has paid $233,000,000 to policy holders.

AGAIN THE CIGARETTE EVIL.

Having learned of the alleged selling of cigarettes and tobacco in other forms to school children, it is said the Board of Education of North Plainfield will plan a campaign against this evil at a meeting Monday night in the Somerset School building. An investigation made by a disinterested man bore out the fact that school children can easily obtain tobacco in some of the borough stores.

NOVEMBER 22 IN HISTORY.

1659—John Bradshaw, president of the high court of justice that condemned Charles I to death, died in London. Born about 1600.

THE BILLBOARD.

Trenton proposes to enact an ordinance prohibiting the use of building walls for advertising purposes. The practise of plastering structures with billboards is not confined to that city unfortunately; it exists everywhere for "human nature is the same the world over" as one of our highly respected fellow citizens is want to observe. Wherever there is the maximum of greed and the minimum of civic pride, these unsightly advertising signs will be found. Right here in our own community, which some may call "the city beautiful," the view is made abhorrent by the conspicuousness of flaring advertising matter. Safe and sane business men do not waste their money and cause pain to the vision of others by attempting to get publicity for their wares through such means. But just as a "fool is born every minute," so are some short-sighted and public virtueless citizens to be found who, regardless of the right of others, despoil the landscape and the "skyline" for the purpose of personal gain.

In Trenton, Commissioner LaBarre holds that the billboard advertising is a disgrace to the place, and hence he and his fellow commissioners aim to rid the community of it. We have very serious misgivings as to their success. It seems hardly possible that an ordinance can be framed to cope with the evil, especially so when a State law framed for the identical purpose has been declared unconstitutional. The only possible avenue of relief would be through that obtained by educating such offenders to their duties as public spirited citizens, and with such sordid individuals that task seems hard indeed.

PUBLISH ASSESSMENTS.

Notwithstanding that the proceedings of the assessment commissioners for street openings, sewers and macadamizing are advertised at every stage of their work, very few of the interested property owners learn of the assessments until the bills are presented. Inquiry at the office of the City Clerk shows that not more than two or three people came in to examine the commissioner's reports on the opening of Manson place and other streets and the assessments for sewers.

In view of the fact that so little attention is paid by numerous persons to these official advertisements, so conspicuously published in both local papers, would it not be worth the trouble and expense as an extra precaution to send out postal card notices so that all persons assessed would be compelled to know the amount charged against them in advance of the hearing before the Common Council? Perhaps publishing the assessment lists in the papers would be an equally good way of notifying the property owners. In fact we believe that plan would be preferable.

INAUGURATION DATE.

It is announced that when Congress is convened Representative Henry will again fight for the adoption of his proposition to change the date for the inauguration from March 4 to the last Thursday in April. He introduced the measure last winter and its defeat was due to a peculiar political situation in the House at that time. Undaunted and with renewed vigor he purposes to work for its approval. Experience has often demonstrated that the weather in early March is most unfavorable for an outdoor spectacle of such grandeur and magnitude. Only four years ago when Mr. Taft was sworn into office a blinding snow storm so tied up traffic that but half of the troops reached the Capitol in time to participate in the parade. The latter part of April offers more seasonable weather for the demonstration, and Mr. Henry is rendering a public service by his persistent effort for a change in the date.

There are altogether too many obstructions on the sidewalks in the business section of the city and there is no excuse whatever for the toleration of any of them. The East Front street merchants have taken the proper course in petitioning the Common Council to have the abuse abated, but why is it necessary when there is an ordinance forbidding such a practise?

Contributed editorials are a regular feature on Saturdays of the newspaper that originates and does not imitate. The contributing editor for tomorrow's issue will be William de la R. Anderson, of North Plainfield township, who made a good reputation for himself as a member of the Assembly last winter.

President Taft says that he believes the Presidential term of office should be six years, but had that rule been in effect the American people would not have had the opportunity to "recall" Mr. Taft.

No additional entrants for the postmastership race?

Our idea of the "grab-all" is Elizabeth Democracy.

POWERS ASK BULGARS TO MODIFY DEMANDS

Report That Terms Submitted to Ottoman Government Will be Made Easier.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

London, Nov. 22.—While efforts continued today to bring about an end of the war, fighting was resumed between the Turks and Bulgarians at Tchatalja. Advices from Constantinople said that heavy cannonading was heard there throughout the night. Under cover of a terrific bombardment from the Turkish warships off shore Ottoman troops were reported landing some distance at the rear of the right wing of Czar Ferdinand's troops.

The condition of the masses at Constantinople and of the troops at the front was declared to be frightful. A despatch from Athens said that the Greek government had ordered 30,000 of its troops in western Turkey to go to Tchatalja to help the Bulgarians. The Constantinople correspondent of the Daily Mail said in a late despatch that an attack from the rear on the Dardanelles forts with the co-operation of the Greek fleet appeared to be imminent.

Sofia, Nov. 22.—A communication was received from the Powers today by the Bulgarian government urging the Balan allies to modify their demands upon Turkey.

TO DRAW CHECK FOR LESS THAN $1 UNLAWFUL

Few business men know that by a Federal statute it is unlawful to draw a check for an amount less than one dollar. The law forbidding it was passed fifty years ago but it seems that it has never been enforced and were it to be, untold inconvenience would be caused to big business interests. The Standard Oil Company, for instance, particularly since it has been dissolved into a collection of companies, draws many checks in favor of stockholders for sums less than a dollar. Even the United States Government does so.

Yet the U. S. Compiled Statutes, section 3583, page 2398, Act of July 17, 1862, chapter 196, section 2, expressly forbids it in the following language:

"No person shall make, issue, circulate, or pay out any note, check, memorandum, token, or other obligation for a less sum than one dollar, intended to circulate as money or to be received or used in lieu of lawful money of the United States; and every person so offending shall be fined not more than five hundred dollars or imprisoned not more than six months, or both, at the discretion of the court."

IN BALKAN WAR.

Ground Strewn With Weapons Left by Terror Stricken Turks.

This picture is one of the most interesting from the front in the Balkan war. It shows some of the 80,000 guns dropped by the Turkish soldiers in their mad flight from Uskub and Kumanova. The rifles were thrown aside as the routed Turks fled in disorder and terror after the victorious onslaughts of the Bulgarians. This gives actual and positive pictorial evidence of the utter defeat of the Turks.

SAW GIBSON AND MRS. SZABO FALL IN LAKE

Witness Says They Were Several Feet Apart.

Goshen, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Burton W. Gibson began his defense against the charge of strangling Rosa Szabo while rowing with her on Greenwood lake last July. The opening address to the jury was made by Charles Goldzier, associate counsel.

Important witnesses were called by the defense during the afternoon session. One of these was the foreigner whose surprising testimony has been hinted at by Gibson. Harry C. Laux, a German employed in New York as an electrical engineer, declared that from a distance of 600 feet he saw Gibson and his companion standing in the boat, several feet apart, plunge into the lake.

"I saw Gibson twice that afternoon while rowing. The second time I was opposite Storm island. I looked up to see him and the woman standing. They were four or five feet apart and went into the water at the same time I did not think any accident had happened and continued rowing away from their boat."

"Did they touch each other?"

"No."

Under cross examination witness said it looked to him as if they had jumped into the water.

John J. Wright, a butcher of Paterson, N. J., testified for the defense that he stood at the same point on the shore from where a Mrs. Benninger said she saw Gibson turn his boat bottom side up. Witness declared the distance was so far that it would be difficult to see without the aid of opera glasses.

Thomas Garrison, a guide at Greenwood lake, saw Gibson and Mrs. Szabo go out of the boat on opposite sides. He thought they were in swimming and paid no more attention to them.

U. S. SIXTH IN FARMING.

Agricultural Pursuits Followed by 35 Per Cent of Population.

Washington, Nov. 22.—One more reason for the high cost of living and its solution by intensive farming is discussed by the department of agriculture in a report just issued showing the decrease in available farm labor and the increase in its cost.

The report estimates that 35 per cent of the country's population is engaged in farming, placing this country sixth in the list of the world's agricultural countries. England and Wales, with only 8 per cent engaged in farming, mark the lowest ebb.

RENEW FIGHTING AS PEACE FAILS

Cannonading Again Is Heard on Tchatalja Lines.

FIERCE BATTLE IS RAGING

Both Sides Claim Victories on Land and Sea—Surrender of Four Cities by Turks Too Big a Price to Pay For Peace.

London, Nov. 22.—Once more today in Constantinople there comes the sound of artillery fire, telling the people of the sultan's city that the fighting is on again. The troops of Nazim Pasha in the Tchatalja forts took up their arms. The Turk has rejected the terms of the allies.

The action of the Ottoman government comes as no surprise to diplomats. The surrender of Adrianople, Scutari, Janina and Driba and the evacuation of the Tchatalja lines, the terms under which the allies said they would forego their entrance into Constantinople, made too bitter a pill for the proud palate of the Ottoman.

The official announcement of the terms simply said:

"The porte, finding the Bulgarian conditions for an armistice unacceptable, has ordered Nazim Pasha to resume military operations."

Deny Sinking of Cruiser.

Sofia, Nov. 22. The reported sinking of the Turkish cruiser Hamidieh by Bulgarian torpedo boats off the port of Varna, in the Black sea, has not been confirmed. The cruiser was torpedoed forty miles offshore and signaled to another cruiser for help. The latter fired on the Bulgarian torpedo boats, which returned to Varna damaged about the funnels. A jackie was wounded. Darkness prevented the Bulgarians from learning the fate of the Hamidieh.

Torpedo Boats Sunk.

Constantinople, Nov. 22.—It is stated here that the Turkish cruiser Hamidieh was slightly damaged by the Bulgarian attack. Two of the Bulgarian torpedo boats are said to have been sunk and two others are said to have been seriously damaged by Turkish shells.

The grand vizier, Kiamil Pasha, spoke bitterly of the harshness of the terms today. He said that he had received them from the Russian ambassador. Turkey's acceptance of them was impossible, he said.

There comes word of a naval engagement between a Turkish cruiser and Bulgarian torpedo boats in the Black sea, where each side claims the victory.

There is evidently fighting going on in the waters of the Marmora sea, for the sound of firing could be heard off the southern entrance of the Bosporus in Constantinople.

Athens received a dispatch telling of the victory of her troops over the defeated Turkish troops falling back from captured Monastir. The Greeks say they came up with and cut to pieces the rear guard and then pressed on to engage the main body near Florina, where there was a heavy battle. No details of the result of the fighting had reached Athens.

GOVERNOR'S DAUGHTER GONE

Miss Norma Garvin Hasn't Been Seen Since She Attended Lecture.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 22.—Miss Norma Garvin, second daughter of former Governor F. L. C. Garvin, is missing from her home in Lonsdale, and fears are entertained for her safety.

Miss Garvin, who is thirty-five years old, left home to attend a lecture by Mrs. Maud Howe Elliott of Newport before the College Equal Suffrage association in this city. Mrs. Elliott was expected to return with her to the Garvin homestead and spend the night there. When she did not return her father felt that she might have remained with Mrs. Elliott at the home of some mutual friend in this city, but when she had still failed to return he notified the police of this city and Pawtucket.

VICTIM OF MOSCHINI PLOT.

Mother of American Wife of Italian Deputy Makes Charges.

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 22.—That the wife of Vittorio Moschini, member of the Italian house of deputies, is the victim of a plot headed by her husband is the belief of her mother, Mrs. M. E. Swaine of this city.

Mrs. Swaine declares that she has letters from her daughter saying her husband turned against her because she refused to let him domineer over her and made false charges against her. Mrs. Swaine says she will immediately take up the affair with the state department.

Signora Moschini was formerly on the stage. Her mother is the wife of a grocer here, but her first husband, Olga's father, was a wealthy contractor.

Fruit Steamer Aground.

Appraise Press Publishing Stock at $604 a Share.

New York, Nov. 22.—The appraisal of the estate of Joseph Pulitzer has been filed, showing that the gross value of the real and personal property is $18,525,116 and the net value of the estate, which is exclusive of funeral expenses, administrative expenses and executors' commissions, is $16,843,484. His 4,990 shares of stock in the Press Publishing company, publishers of the World and Evening World, are appraised at $604 a share, or $3,016,455. His 9,164 shares of stock in the Pulitzer Publishing company of St. Louis are appraised at $1,115,717. The par value of both stocks is $100 a share.

The values placed on the stocks in the two publishing companies by Joseph I. Berry, the appraiser, is based largely upon the testimony of Melville E. Stone as to the value of the newspapers of the services of Mr. Pulitzer and the decrease in value of the property due to his death. He said that Mr. Pulitzer's services are difficult to estimate in dollars and cents, but that $100,000 a year would have been small pay for the services Mr. Pulitzer gave.

"The newspaper business is an extremely hazardous business compared with other forms of investment," said Mr. Stone. "The supreme hazard in a newspaper business is in having an intelligent head, in which the public will have confidence. There is a burning illustration of this in the case of the World. The property was owned originally by Jay Gould, and because it was owned by him and because he could not with his other investments arouse public confidence in it, he was glad to sell it at a very great loss to Mr. Pulitzer."

Rev. E. R. Brown, pastor of the Dunellen Methodist church, is to be the speaker at the Rescue Mission tonight.

BAPTIST BANQUET

like some parts of the Bible is no indication that it affects his spirituality. He hoped that all would learn to like the Bible. He said that there was a time when he did not like the Bible as much as at present, but through the conscientious study of the Book, especially those parts he knew the least about, he learned to love it more than any book. Dr. Strong said that now he reads his newspaper and the periodicals in reference to his Bible and has found the latter to be the most up-to-date book of all times.

Benjamin J. Phelps, the assistant teacher of the class, spoke on the subject of "Service and Sacrifice," urging those present to give their best service, a whole-hearted service to God. He felt sure that many failed in this respect, but added that God is entitled to the best possible service. He said that some people only think of God when calamity or adversity befalls them, but when well and enjoying health they forget Him.

Dr. Reid's talk was full of Irish witticism, and he interspersed his remarks with many amusing anectodotes. He is now in this country for the purpose of raising a fund for a Baptist college in Belfast, and he told of the work being done in Ireland by the Baptists, which he said number 3,000. He told of the sacrifice his people have been compelled to make to adhere to the Baptist faith, and how true they had been in its support.

Referring to the sacrifice of his people, Dr. Reid said that he thought it would be a good thing if the people in this country had to fight for their faith. What is needed is something to awaken the Christian people. Speaking of the fact that Ireland is the home of saints, he said that he was not quite sure but that St. Patrick was a Baptist. He said that the Baptists in Ireland have got to have backbone —they need it. As to the Irish question of Home Rule, the speaker said that he thought the only way it would be settled right would be through the religion of Christ.

Arthur M. Harris gave an interesting rescription of a bicycle trip he took through Ireland in 1887. He paid a compliment to Dr. Strong, as "a man who loves and knows his Bible and each Sunday is preaching the meat of the Word," and urged the men to love and stury their Bibles. He offered a suggestion that all the organized Bible classes of the city get together for the civic betterment of the city.

"Efficiency," was the subject of the talk by George H. Batchelor, teacher of the class. He said that nowadays there are experts in every line, and this must be true of the service of God. He said that a God-ordered life is a successful one, and efficiency is often killed by envy and other bad habits. He urged the men to cultivate right habits. Prayer, love of the Master and church attendance being some of them, and to have a love for "the other fellow."

At the conclusion of the affair a vote of thanks was given to Dr. Buchanan's orchestra and the banquet committee. The excellent dinner was served by Mrs. Henry Johnson.

AUTO SPEEDING

ed into by the Creighton car.

At the close of the trial counsel for Creighton moved for a non-suit upon the ground that no negligent management of the Creighton car had appeared. In holding that this motion was properly denied the Court of Errors enunciated the principle that the rate of speed at which the Creighton car was being driven was evidence of its negligent operation sufficient to put the defendant upon his defense.

Elaborating upon this principle set forth in the syllabus of his opinion, Judge Vredenburgh said:

"The Legislatures of 1906 and 1909, enacted laws containing provisions intended, as I understand them, to secure, primarily, the safety of traffic and travel in the public highways of the State against the dangers liable to result to person and property, arising from the high rate of speed which motor vehicles were then known by the public to be capable of attaining.

"The rate of speed of forty-five miles an hour which the plaintiffs' evidence showed the defendant's motor vehicle was running in the public highway when it overtook and collided with that of the plaintiff, was expressly forbidden by the law just quoted. Such fact, I think, under the circumstances of the collision, is held to be sufficient evidence of the defendant's negligence.

"Independently of any statute the driving of any vehicle on a public highway at a rate of speed that is inconsistent with such control of the vehicle as is necessary to avoid running down other vehicles going in the same direction is some proof of negligence."

The question as to whether the driver of the Meyer & Peter car had been guality of contributory negligence, the court held, was properly left to the jury to decide in connection with all the circumstances in the case.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

"MAC" SAYS

Although the gridiron season is speedily drawing to a close, in the few remaining games to be played the P. H. S. team will greatly miss the services of Arthur Van Zandt, its captain and quarterback. Van Zandt had his collarbone fractured in the game against New Brunswick High School and will be out of football for the remainder of the season and probably basketball as well. As the P. H. S. captain did all the field generaling of his team, the gap left vacant by his sudden removal will be hard to fill as no other second string man is available for the position and it now looks as though the subject were entirely up to Monroe Good.

If Good takes up this phase of the gridiron work in addition to his duties as protector and promoter of the Wakin's advance, the rest of the players on the team might as well send in their suits as it seems as though Good was pretty nearly the whole troupe.

A query has just come to hand from some rabid baseball fan very likely who has probably just about recovered from from the world's series ordeal. He says that by some mathematical calculation, whatever that may mean, he can figure out how many players, pinch hitters, etc., play on a baseball team, but no amount of brain racking has been able to satisfy him as to the number of feminine athletes playing on a field hockey team. This has always been a mystery to us as well as the questioner, but we would suggest that he take a trip out to Parker Field and get put on the field while the hockey players are wielding the willow clubs, then by counting the number of bumps he has on his person by the time he reaches safe territory he can ascertain how many players took a whack at him. They are all pretty sure to get at least one solid crack before they come to the conclusion that the victim is not the ball.

There is a special detachment of infantry floating around town scouting for the fellow who proposed that Holy Cross- P. H. S. football match. Hope they don't find the instigator as they have a habit of putting people out of the way for such offenses now a days, and we certainly would like to see the affair staged.

How should a basketball aggregation be treated that arranged a game in good faith with a rival team and then at the eleventh hour, when the contest was advertised all over the city, called off the game? However, this is what the Grace church quintet did to the Y. M. C. A. Ajax who were carded to play them Saturday night at the association gym.

When a game is advertised as this one was it leaves the manager in an embarassing predicament as he has to face a large crowd who come expecting to see the advertised team play, and then has to explain the situation by substituting another team.

Manager Hetfield has scoured the town for a suitable opponent, however, and seems to have landed the real thing in the Leals' Academy quintet. This will give the interscholastic dopesters a chance to get a line on Leals as a possible contender for championship honors on the court this season. The Ajax have already eliminated the N. P. H. S. team, by taking a fall out of it under an assumed name and are out to humiliate Leals in the same manner.

Don't forget basketball night at the Y. M. C. A again tomorrow night, another corking good card is on tap. As the preliminary attraction to the Ajax's game the Crimson A. C. and the Presbyterian Five will clash. The Crimsons are the same aggregation that put up such a noteworthy fight against the Ajax two weeks ago and should make the church team hustle to keep in the running.

SOUTHERN CHAMPIONSHIP.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 22 (Special).—The crack football teams of Vanderbilt University and Alabama Polytechnic Institute have finished their final practice work and are awaiting the call to battle on the gridiron here tomorrow. Keen interest is displayed in the contest, as the result will virtually determine the Southern championship.

BAYONNE ELEVEN AT CRICKET FIELD

A Game Also Proposed Against P. H. S. and May Become a Reality.

Cricket Field will again be the centre of attraction for football followers tomorrow afternoon, when the Holy Cross eleven lines up against the strong Bayonne Athletic Club aggregation. The boroughites have been aching for an opportunity to get a whack at the Bayonne bunch for some time past and it goes without saying that the game will be a hot one. Coach Hamilton had his charges out for a stiff drill last evening on Hyde Oval and all of the regulars are reported to be in first class shape to take the field for another victory.

There has been some talk, during the past week, of a proposed game between the Holy Cross eleven and the Plainfield High School warriors to be pulled off a week from tomorrow and if there is any truth in this rumor it will certainly be a welcome to local enthusiasts who have been shouting for the clash all through the season. Nothing better could be arranged to wind up the local gridiron season and a game like this would decide beyond a doubt the football supremacy question which is a subject of much concern to many just at present.

George Linke, who has been coaching the scholastic team, seems to be the advocator of the P. H. S. end of the deal and he really thinks that his understudies could wallop Holy Cross in such a way as to wipe the church combination entirely off the map. Manager Doyle, of Holy Cross, is equally as confident and the repeated successes of his team on the gridiron during the 1912 season is one not to be dispised, so his word seems to have some weight behind it.

To all those who have followed closely the schedule of the respective teams it can be plainly seen that the church boys have established a record which is far superior to the P. H. S. record but performances and marks held up against other aggregations count for naught in the real gridiron reckoning and the school boys are noted for springing unlooked for surprises of various natures. But on the other hand, the hashed over and revised football code has already proved itself an ally to the weaker and lighter combinations and P. H. S. might spring the unlooked for and come out ahead through some trick play or formation that was bewildering to their opponents. Linke has drilled his players time and again through their complete repertoire of plays and they are as familiar with the most complicated as they are with the easiest and most simple.

TWO LIVELY LEAGUE CONTESTS AT Y. M. C. A.

Reds Defeat Greens and Oranges the Whites at Basketball.

Two enthusiastic games took place in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last night, when the teams of the senior class Color League clashed for supremacy on the basketball court. The Reds faced the Greens and the Oranges the Whites. The Reds defeated their opponents by the score of 25 to 4 and the Oranges were victorious after a hard tussel with the Whites with a score of 14 to 6.

The line-ups of the teams were as follows:

REDS.		GREENS.
J. Farmer	centre	Sampson
Naylor		Gunzelman
Boice	forwards	Anderson
Gennerich		Smith
H. Vail	guards	L. D. Farmer

ORANGES.		WHITES.
A. Thompson	centre	McCombs, Winans
Newmiller	forwards	Manning
Trotter		Caruso
Welle	guards	Hoagland
Harris		Conger

The standing of the teams is as follows: Oranges, 131; Reds, 130; Greens, 92; Whites, 83.

The next events in the athletic contests will be the two standing broad jumps, to be held next Tuesday evening.

JOE JACKSON WANTS INCREASE IN SALARY

Cleveland, Nov. 22.—Joe Jackson, runner-up to Ty Cobb in the American League batting honors, and a man whom Owner Somers, of the Cleveland Naps, has helped considerably in more ways than one, is a holdout for next year.

Word reached here from Jackson, who is at his home in Greenville, S. C., that he did not intend to sign with the Naps next year unless the Cleveland club raised his contract in a most substantial manner. Jackson for the last two years has drawn down a tidy sum for playing the outfield, beside being recipient of many little favors from Owner Somers, who took a keen interest in the Southern boy.

HOPE CHAPEL RECORD STILL UNBLEMISHED

Local Basket Cagers Score a 44 to 17 Defeat on Scotch Plains Rivals.

Hope chapel still maintained an untainted record on the basketball court and at the same time got in a little valuable practice last night at Scotch Plains, when they took the 'Plains' Baptist quintet into camp by the count of 44 to 17. Lack of practice was sounded as the greatest cause for the overwhelming score by the home team and considering their unexperience and the fact that this was their initial contest of the season, the newly organized aggregation did remarkably well against the veteran Chapelites.

Last night's game inaugurated a new basketball rendezvous for this vicinity as the Scotch Plains' Parish House has been transformed into a finely equipped gymnasium and the victors proclaimed the court to be a first-class one for basketball. The 'Plains combination will surely be heard from before the season closes *and it would be well for local man*agers to take Stotch Plains into consideration when drawing up a schedule.

As usual, the Hope Chapel scoring machine, composed of the Heron duet, could have won the game single handed as they chalked up the grand total of 29 points between them. For the losers Thompson and Hatfield, two old P. H. S. athletes, held up the scoring end and tallied 11 points between them.

The score:

DOUBLE HEADER AT Y. M. C. A.

Two corking good games of basketball are scheduled to be pulled off in the Y. M. C. A. gym tomorrow night. The Ajax will line up against the Leal's Academy team in the main bill and the Presbyterian quintet will play the Crimson A. C. in a preliminary.

COMPANY K NEXT IN LINE.

Hope Chapel will have the Company K basketball team as their opponents at the chapel gym tomorrow night. Both teams are traveling at a speedy clip and a good contest should result.

HOLY CROSS PRACTISE.

"Doc" Hamilton has issued a call for practise to be held on Hyde Oval tonight. Everyone expecting to get in tomorrow's game against the Bayonne Vikings are requested to be out in football togs.

INFORMERS LEAVE WEST SIDE PRISON

Rose, Webber, Et Al Wildly Dash For Taxicabs.

DEPARTURE SPECTACULAR.

Webber Plans to Sail For Europe Tomorrow—Jack Rose Essays to Make Speech Scoring Police, but Is Checked by Lawyer.

New York, Nov. 22.—Jack Rose, "Bridgie" Webber, Sam Schepps and Harry Vallon, the informers in the Rosenthal case, are breathing the free air of this city. Their release from the west side prison yesterday was spectacular. Sam Schepps, the first of the four to be released, "flashed his roll" of yellow backs to the crowd upon being discharged for vagrancy, chatted nervously about himself in the corridors for a few minutes and then, with a suitcase in either hand, made a dash for a taxicab and cackled hysterically to moving picture men and the crowd to make way for the taxicab so that he could "get away from there quick."

Jack Rose and "Bridgie" Webber sneaked away two hours later, or early in the afternoon, hidden behind the drawn shades of taxicabs which first had been backed into the prison yard so that the informers could climb into the taxicabs unseen by the crowd of 500 or more men and women waiting beneath the elevated tracks in West Fifty-third street.

Harry Vallon, watching his chance while the crowd was pressing toward the jail yard gates to see the taxis come out, appeared at the street door of the jail, above the heads of the crowd, while all eyes were glued to the gates leading to the yard. And Vallon quickly sneaked down the steps to the edge of the crowd, circled it and climbed into a touring car and sped away.

Afraid of the Police.

All chattered loudly that they had no fear of bodily harm from the crowd, individually or collectively, but that they did fear the uniformed police and plain clothes men whom Inspector Dwyer had brought to the prison to keep the crowd in order. Jack Rose had a speech all prepared, which after a rehearsal within and against the advice of Lawyer Bernard Sandler and the protests of the timid "Bridgie" Webber, he insisted upon trying to deliver from the highest step leading to the street door of the prison.

It was a speech in which the uniformed and plain clothes men were to be designated by Rose as "framers, and the higher officials and the city administration in general, the officials to be named by the baldheaded orator in turn, were to be told they are "highly and exceedingly inefficient sapheads." But Jack wasn't permitted to make his speech. The police told him in effect to "beat it."

Schepps immediately upon his release in the forenoon raced north to the home of his mother in West One Hundred and Forty-fourth street. There, later in the day, came Miss Sadie Applefield from the office of Lawyer Thomas T. Reilly, counsel for Mrs. Leona Schepps, to serve upon Schepps a notice and summons in accordance with a bill of divorce for statutory cause and asking $10 a week alimony and $50 counsel fee.

Rose, accompanied by his brother and Lawyer Sandler, shot north in Eighth avenue in their taxicab to Seventy-second street and Riverside drive. Here the shades were raised so that Rose might pick out a perfectly good mansion along the drive in front of which he wanted to pose for the photographers in the machine that accompanied him. He climbed out on the east side of the drive and struck an attitude. The camera man had just finished photographing him when a policeman came along and ordered Rose to leave.

Rose re-entered the auto, and the machine started up the drive in a cloud of dust. Rose and his brother continued north for a ride and then returned to Rose's home at One Hundred and Tenth street and Broadway, where he stayed last night.

Webber Is Mysterious.

"Bridgey" Webber and Mrs. Webber motored south down Seventh avenue. Their destination was not learned.

Rose will stay in town for a day or two and then go to Florida to "rest up."

Vallon says he can't live in any place except New York permanently. He will go to Florida for awhile and then return to New York. He said he intended to run a moving picture show on his return. Webber intends to sail for Europe tomorrow and stay abroad for about three months.

The three informers shook hands with Willie Shapiro, the chauffeur of the murder car, just before leaving the prison. Willie has been indicted for murder in the first degree. A motion will have to be made by the district attorney in the supreme court to dismiss the indictment in Willie's case before he will be freed.

Schepps said shortly after his release that Rube Bernstein had telegraphed him an offer of $200 per week to open in vaudeville in Washington on Dec. 2, but he said he was waiting for $10,000 a week.

Weather Forecast.

Fair and cold today; tomorrow fair; moderate southwest and west winds.

TAFT TO GET $25,000 CARNEGIE PENSION

Yearly Sum Is Provided For Future Ex-Presidents.

New York, Nov. 22.—An annual pension of $25,000 for each future ex president of the United States is the latest form which the beneficence of Andrew Carnegie is to take. This announcement of Mr. Carnegie's intention was made by the eight trustees of the Carnegie corporation of New York at the close of their second annual meeting in his residence in Fifth avenue.

"Provision has been made through this corporation for a pension for each future ex-president and his widow, unmarried, of $25,000 per year as long as these remain unprovided for by the nation, that they may be able to spend the latter part of their lives devoting their knowledge gained of public affairs to the public good free from pecuniary cares. These pensions will be promptly offered to the ex-presidents or their widows, so that no application will be required from them."

Mr. Carnegie declined through his secretary to have anything further to say just at present about the fund for ex-presidents. One of the trustees, however, explained that it was the intention that President Taft, upon his retirement next March, should be the first to profit by its provisions. Otherwise Mrs. Mary Scott Harrison, widow of former President Benjamin Harrison, and ex-President Theodore Roosevelt would have become the only other beneficiaries under the terms of the endowment, for Mrs. Cleveland, by her approaching marriage to Professor T. J. Preston, of Wells college would have put herself beyond its scope.

Taft Makes No Comment.

Washington, Nov. 22.—President Taft received the first news of the intention of the Carnegie foundation to grant a pension of $25,000 a year to ex-presidents of the United States from newspaper men who called at the White House for a statement of his views on the plan. In reply to a note sent to him, Mr. Taft said he had no comment to make at present.

PATTERSON HOME BURNS.

Homestead 250 Years Old, Antique Furniture and Books Destroyed.

Red Bank, N. J., Nov. 22.—Fire destroyed the homestead on the estate of the late John H. Patterson on Riverside drive, on the north shore of the North Shrewsbury river. The damage amounted to about $30,000. Several thousand dollars' worth of antique furniture was destroyed and 2,000 books.

The house since the death of Mr. Patterson had been occupied by Dr. E. A. Miller, a retired Newark physician. The house, about 250 years old, was known throughout the state as a historical landmark.

Mr. Patterson was sheriff of Monmouth county for eight years, was head warden in the state prison at Trenton for ten years and served as sergeant at arms in the national house of representatives.

Elizabeth, Nov. 22.—A site for the new $50,000 clubhouse for the Knights of Columbus of this city will soon be selected by the executive board of Bayley Council, K. of C., according to an announcement made yesterday. The board has been working for some time endeavoring to secure a suitable location, but the plans have been kept quiet until yesterday.

STATE SYSTEMATIZER PUTS UNION CO. IN FIRST RANK

Elizabeth, Nov. 22.—That Union county stands in the first rank over the four counties examined by James Cameron, appointed by Governor Wilson to investigate and systematize all county affairs in the State, is the report made by Mr. Cameron after the detailed examination he has made in the past two days. Examinations have been made in the counties of Hudson, Essex and Bergen and Mr. Cameron asserts that the system in this county is superior to those in the counties he has previously examined.

The method of collecting and disbursing the school moneys, used by Mr. Leavitt, pleased Mr. Cameron greatly. The money is distributed in this county the same day it is received by the county collector.

SMALL BOY SAYS HE WAS ABANDONED AFTER JOY RIDE

Roy Haupt, 13 years old, of Irvington, a suburb of Newark, arrested last night by Patrolman Bader in front of 1132 East Second street, recounted a story of an auto joy-ride to this city with some other boys who deserted him when Plainfield was reached. He told the police he did not know his companions nor could he give any reason why they had left him penniless in a strange city after inviting him on the ride.

The lad's parents were communicated with early this morning and a brother came on the first train from Newark to take him home. He was enthusiastic in his praise of the nice way the cops treated him and said he would write them a long letter some day.

ITEMS OF NEW MILITIA PLAN

Where Jersey Would Stand Under Division War Department Proposes.

NEED GOV.'S APPROVAL

Adjutant General Not Likely to Take Any Action Until Wilson's Return From Bermuda—Additional Forces Will Be Necessary.

Trenton, Nov. 22.—Until the return of Governor Wilson from Bermuda, it is improbable that Adjutant General Wilbur F. Sadler, Jr., will take any action upon the communication received from Robert Shaw Oliver, acting secretary of war, regarding the plans of the War Department for dividing the organized militia of the State into twelve tactical divisions.

Approval of the War Department's scheme would have to be given by the Governor as Commander-in-chief, and while, of course, it might be done by the acting Governor, it is not likely that he will take any action.

Under the War Department plan the entire military force of the United States would be divided into sixteen tactical divisions. The first four of these would be composed of the regular army and the remaining twelve of the organized militia.

In the plan formulated the eighth division, with headquarters at Washington, would be made up of the organized militia of New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and West Virginia. Each division would be divided into four brigades, the idea being that where field armies are formed, the organizations comprising the fourth brigade of any division assigned to the field army would be employed as army troops, together with any excess of troops in the division.

Carrying the idea into detail the first brigade of the eighth division would be composed of three regiments of New Jersey Infantry, presumably those in the northern part of the State; the second brigade of two Jersey regiments and one Delaware regiment; the third brigade of three Maryland regiments and the fourth brigade of three Virginia and two West Virginia regiments.

Other troops attached to the division would be the two Jersey troops of cavalry, one Maryland troop of cavalry, two New Jersey and three Virginia batteries of field artillery, one company of New Jersey signal corps and one New Jersey field hospital.

Accompanying the communication from the Secretary of War is a schedule showing what the War Department regards as the proper proportion of State troops, figured on the basis of the number of infantry regiments of each.

In New Jersey there are five regiments of infantry, the nearest corresponding number in the schedule being six infantry regiments. With six infantry regiments the War Department estimates that there should be eight troops of cavalry, eight batteries of field artillery, two companies of engineers, one or two signal corps, two field hospitals and two ambulance companies.

In other words, to bring the proportion of State troops up to the number suggested by the War Department New Jersey would have to organize five or six additional troops of cavalry, a like number of batteries of field artillery, two companies of engineers, a field hospital and two ambulance companies.

There is no suggestion in the communication that the States should carry out the exact proportions suggested, though it is the opinion of the war college that to do so would be to place the organized militia of the country upon its most efficient basis.

It is pointed out by the Secretary of War that when necessary to employ mobile troops as a field force, it is essential that all details should be worked out in time of peace, leaving as little as possible for the hour of emergency. Field armies will be formed by grouping two or more divisions, as may seem desirable.

It is pointed out that the working out of the scheme does not mean that regulars and militiamen will not continue to train, maneuver and fight side by side, though they have not been mixed in the formation of the tactical divisions.

MISUSING RAILROAD TICKETS.

The passenger department of the New Jersey Central has issued stringent instructions to all employes in passenger train service to report at once all cases of the use of tickets which arouse their suspicions. These instructions are especially significant in view of the report that persons believed to represent the Federal authorities at Washington are investigating such cases. The New Jersey Central recently obtained from the Court of Chancery of New Jersey an injunction prohibiting the misuse of commutation tickets.

The Angelus

The Player-Piano Pre-eminent

Concerning which it is possible a misapprehension may exist in the minds of fair, but uninformed, people who have read the recently published claims of another player-piano.

The First Player-Piano

The U. S. Official Census Report, 1900:

"In 1895 Messrs. Wilcox & White, of Meriden, Conn., began manufacturing an interior attachment, and in February, 1897, built their first 'Angelus,' a cabinet piano-player. This instrument, the invention of E. H. White, may be regarded as the pioneer of the various similar attachments which have since been placed upon the market."

The Encyclopaedia Britannica:

"The first automatic piano-player ready for performance was the ANGELUS (No. 24799, 1897).....(here follows 26 lines of technical description of the ANGELUS)..... The..... followed in 1898. The.....in 1900."

The Best Player-Piano

Mascagni—composer of the world-loved Intermezzo—writes:

"The Angelus is a wonderful virtuoso-pianist, and at the same time an excellent organist. Thanks to the marvelous means of expression, it can give the complicated pieces more life and soul than any other instrument of its kind is able to give. Bravo to the Inventors!"

Out of consideration for busy men and women we refrain from publishing any of the scores of testimonials, of similar tenor to the above, from musicians of international eminence. These, and a long list of notable men and women—headed by the name of the late King Edward, of Great Britain—who have purchased Angelus player-pianos, are before us as we write. But—

Let these unquestioned authorities once and for all dispose of which was the first Player-piano and—what is more important—which is the best

Now a personal word with you who read this.

The player-piano is the piano of the Twentieth Century.

The night of the dumb piano passed with the dawning of the Angelus day.

Dust need no longer gather on the keys that open the door to the garden of joys, where it is always day, always June.

—the Garden of Music;

A child can play the ANGELUS;

—an old man, whose fingers are too weak to press the keys;

—a worker in mines, a builder of bridges, a pilot on the world's water's—men whose strenuous lives have known no moments that could be given to the study of music or the learning of the pianoforte.

The very soul of music rests within

The Wonderful Phrasing Lever

of the ANGELUS, controlled by one finger of the right hand.

It is only a small rocking lever.

Yet, by slightly depressing the end to the right the music instantly changes time, becomes faster.

By similarly depressing the end to the left the music goes slower and slower, and finally pauses if that end of the lever be held down.

Can't you imagine the wonderful possibilities this one exclusive feature of the ANGELUS opens before you?

In playing "The Kerry Dance," for example, where the lilt of the dance is followed suddenly by a slow minor movement.

The Melody Buttons and the Melodant

The melody buttons are controlled by two fingers of the left hand.

With both held down all the music is uniformly soft.

Lift the finger to the right—keeping the other finger down—and the melody of the song you are playing stands out clear above the softly played accompaniment.

If the accompaniment is to be accentuated, and the melody softened, reverse the process—lift your finger to the left, keep down your finger to the right.

The melodant—entirely independent of the melody buttons—accomplishes the same ends automatically, according to the reading of which contains marginal perforations prepared by a master of music, giving the selection its proper interpretation, its correct changes of volume, its best musical effects.

Only the ANGELUS has these invaluable features.
Only the ANGELUS has so human a touch.

The World's Great Pianos Wedded to the ANGELUS

Striking testimony to the pre-eminence of the ANGELUS over all other piano-playing aids is furnished by the character of the pianos that have been merged with it.

—the CHICKERING, the oldest of American pianos;
—the SCHOMACKER, for 40 years the choice of America's Presidents;
—the EMERSON, "the sweet-toned Emerson", founded in 1849;
—the LINDEMAN, founded in 1838;
—and the celebrated KNABE, established in 1837, the tone of which is as fresh, as vibrant, as true, after ten years' use, as on the day it left the factory.

We have them all, with the ANGELUS built into the heart of every one.

The Wanamaker Easy-Payment Plan Removes All Obstacles from the Path of Every One Who Wishes an ANGELUS Player-Piano

A small first payment—such as you would have to pay for a player-piano not so good—will bring an ANGELUS player-piano to your home tomorrow. The balance of the purchase price may be discharged in small monthly portions. And if you have a dumb piano, or a player-piano of lesser worth, we will take it in part payment.

Demonstrations gladly given at any time, in private rest rooms, without any obligation on your part to purchase.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

With a most truthful dramatization of Gene Stratton-Porter's powerful story, "Freckles," by Nell Twomey, the play is proving as great a success as was the novel. This play will be seen at the Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night. A dramatization of the best seller of all the best sellers should in itself be sufficient to create a dramatic furor, for it must be remembered that over a million people have read "Freckles," and have raved over it. There is no disputing the fact that for strength of its beautiful simplicity, the story stands as a masterpiece. These attributes inculcated into such a picturesque environment as the great "Limberlost" swamp, are far stronger where the eye aids the remaining senses than where all is left to the imagination. Twomey has brought out, with a vivid forcefulness, every prominent incident; he has been religious in sticking, absolutely, to the text and so those who are familiar with the splendid nature of the Irish boy; with his pure love for "The Swamp Angel;" with his sense of right and wrong; with his friends and his enemies; with his sweet songs and ready wit, will know "Freckles," far better and will admire him more after they have seen the play.

Wee & Lambert's production of the most thrilling of society drama "A Girl of the Mountains," which has created a favorable sensation throughout the country, will be the attraction at the Plainfield theatre on Thursday afternoon and evening, November 28. Its tense story, astonishing novelty, wonderful realization of Western scenes and incidents and the way in which it is donne, combined in marvelous entertainment that holds the attention of the auditor for the opening scene to the final curtain is reached. The story deals with a young Western girl, Nellie Bonn, who has been betrayed by Richard Thurston. Nellie becomes cognizant of the awfulness of her past and when in late years the man comes for her, Nellie informs him that he has passed out of her life and that she is done with him forever. Nellie later meets a young mining engineer, Victor Lambert, who loves her and whom she loves. She accepts his devotion and ends by engaging herself to him. She will not marry him, however, without telling him the truth, and this she does in a scene of no slight dramatic power. In the absence of her lover the girl's betrayer reappears and tries to win her again, she defies him, the lover returns, a hand-to-hand fight ensues and the betrayer is shot. At this point Cupid steps in and makes the love route smooth, and all ends as should be.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

After many postponements, due to the tremendous amount of preparation required, the big Drury Lane melo-drama, "The Whip," had its premiere at the Manhattan Opera House recently. The event is of interest in that it marks the first attempt of years to revive interest in the popular old time form of entertainment, melo-drama; also in that the presentation comes in the most lavish and spectacular effort in the history of American melo-drama. The production of "The Whip," which was brought intact from Drury Lane theatre, London, where it ran for over two years, is the heaviest undertaking from a scenic standpoint, that has ever thrilled the throng that flocks to Drury Lane to enjoy the traditional melo-drama and pantomine that reign there. "The Whip" is a story of high class sport, contering about a crack race horse, form which it takes its name. It requires a setting of thirteen massive scenes and includes many sensational incidents, among them an automobile collision, the wreck of a rapidly moving express train and a desperately contested horse race with ten entries. Race horses and hunting hounds are employed in large numbers in addition to an extensive cast. The premiere was a great success and circumstances connected with it indicates a long and successful run for this unusual offering.
